

DAILY REFLECTOR.

Vol. 1.

Greenville, N. C., December 31, 1894.

No 18.

Sixty Marriages in one Month.

Since taking charge of the office Dec. 6th, Register of Deeds King has issued fifty-two marriages licenses, twenty-eight to white couples and twenty-four to colored. Ex-Register Harding issued eight licenses between the first and sixth of the month, making a total of sixty licenses for December.

A Good Thing.

We heard some business men talking Saturday about how dull everything seemed with the tobacco warehouses closed for the holidays. Last week gives an idea of what the business of Greenville would be without a tobacco market.

Sunday Schools.

Below are the officers of the several Sunday Schools of the town for the year 1895:

METHODIST.

Superintendent--A. B. Ellington.
Assistant--Wiley Brown.
Secretary--L. H. Pender.
Treasurer--S. A. Congleton.
Librarian--Ollen Warren.
Assistant--Jarvis Harding.
Organist--Miss Bessie White.

BAPTIST.

Superintendent--C. D. Roundtree.
Assistant--W. F. Burch.
Secretary--J. B. Jarvis.
Treasurer--J. J. Cherry.
Librarian--John Ivy Smith.
Organist--Miss Rosalind Roundtree.
Assistant--Miss Annie Perkins.

PRESBYTERIAN.

Superintendent--B. D. Evans.
Assistant--Prof. B. E. Goede.
Sec'y and Treas--W. I. Boswell.

EPISCOPAL.

The old officers are re-elected, but we were unable to get the names to-day. Will give them later.

Opens Tomorrow.

Prof. Ragsdale requests us to announce that his school will open to-morrow, and not next Monday as is reported in town. He asks the parents to please send in the boys at the opening and not wait until next Monday.

Keeper Appointed.

Mr. J. W. Smith has been appointed keeper of the home for the aged and infirm until the Board of Commissioners can fill the vacancy by election next Monday. We suppose they will then elect Mr. Smith for the year. He is an excellent man for the place.

Not Open Before Spring.

It has been reported that the public school here would be opened soon, but this is a mistake. The committeemen request the REFLECTOR to state that as the new building is not yet ready for use the school will not be opened until sometime in the spring, hardly before April. Due announcement of the opening will be made.

Property Transfers.

The following transfers of real estate have been made through Henry Sheppard real estate agent.
Greenville Lumber Co., to Charlie Cobb, two lots.
Greenville Lumber Co., to Jos. Whitty two lots.
Greenville Lumber Co., to Mrs. A. M. Evans, one lot.
Greenville Lumber Co., to Irvin Joyner, one lot.

Consecration.

Bishop Watson will hold service in St Paul's Episcopal church to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock, at which time the building will be consecrated. Revs A. Greaves, of Kinston, N. Harding, of Washington, N. C. Hughes, of Chocowinty, Frank Joyner, of Aurora, Lutha Eborn, of Tyrell, and other ministers are expected to be here and assist in the consecration. There will also be services to-morrow night.

DAILY REFLECTOR.

D. J. WHICHARD, Editor.

Subscription 25 cents per Month.

Entered as second-class mail matter.

The old year is drawing near its close. With the setting of today's sun the bright orb of day sinks behind the western hills to shine no more on the year 1894. Ere it rises again Father Time will have drawn death's mantle close about the old year and laid it to rest with the years "that were but are no more," and the glad New Year will be ushered into existence. We weep over the departure of the old, and in an instant fling aside the tears to give place to rejoicings in welcoming the new. Farewells are bid to day; welcomes to-morrow. 'Twas ever thus! The years speed by on fleeting wing and time is changing all things. We give a parting glance at the old year, lingering in fond remembrance upon its joys and prosperities, striving to forget its trials and adversities, and turn with hopeful expectation to what the new year will bring us. There are experiences in the past from which we may all profit, and with the lessons learned from these may we take courage for the future, and press forward to make each succeeding year the best of our life.

On and after Tuesday, January 1st, no New York official can ride on any street car; or any railroad without paying the fare the same as any ordinary individual does. Nor can he use, free of cost, any telephone or telegraph line. The new Constitution, Art. 13, Sec. 5, expressly prohibits public officials from accepting free transportation, or the free use of the telegraph or telephone lines.

People are not shocked as often as they pretend to be.

Some of our patrons have hesitated about taking the DAILY REFLECTOR so far because they were already getting the weekly edition and did not wish to take both. Of course we do not expect them to take both editions, but as most of the subscriptions expire the first of January and there were only three more weeks between the time of starting the daily and the close of the year, the remaining three issues of the weekly were delivered to all subscribers to complete the time paid for. As these subscriptions have now expired we expect them to take only one of the editions—either the daily or the weekly—but would prefer all people in town to take the daily. Those who are still paid ahead on the weekly can have the amount transferred to the daily if they so desire. If the DAILY REFLECTOR is to be continued it must look mainly for its patronage to the town people, and it should be taken in every home, by every business man, and have a good advertising patronage. The short time it has been published indicates the kind of a paper we intend to give you. No work or pains has been spared to make the little paper newsy and interesting, and from the many kind words it has received we believe the people are pleased with it. Increase the patronage of the paper above what it now is and the size will be increased accordingly. The trial has shown that we can publish a daily paper, and if the people want it to be permanent and larger let them rally to its support and we will meet their wants.

Voice from the hearth of stairs—
"Mary, has the morning paper come yet?"

Mary, (who has just begun to say good-bye to George)—"How shall I answer him, my dear?"

George—"Tell him of course the paper has not come yet, as we are just going to press now."—

The clever proprietors of the Furniture and Racket Store caught us hunting items with almost frozen fingers in Saturday's blizzard, and put us in a pair of nice warm gloves. They keep a good line of them.

From no source has the DAILY REFLECTOR received more compliments than from the ladies of the community, and we appreciate nothing more highly than the many nice things they have been saying about our little paper. Bless their souls! we had rather please the good women than anybody else. If they can have their say about it, the daily paper is a permanent thing.
