THE LEGISLATURE.

MONDAY.

In the Senate the following are some of the important bills introduced:

By Senator Fortune to prevent the sale of inferior and low grade oil in North Carolina.

By Senator White, of Alamance to provide for chattel mortgages separate from mortgages on real estate; also bill to prevent working female convicts on the public roads; also bill to repeal the merchants' purchase tax; also bill to prevent usury.

By Senator Adams, to extend the provisions of the Code to amend the charter of the Wilmington, Norfolk and Charleston Railroad Company.

By Mr. Snipes, to incorporate a bank at Edenton.

By Mr. Grant, to amend the State pension laws.

Resolution to memorialize Congress with regard to the repeal of the 10 per cent. tax on State Banks, fails of adoption.

Resolution memorializing Congress to repeal the internal revenue laws.

Mr. Abell introduced a resolution recommending the enactment of a law in Congress providing for the coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1.

In the House, by Mr. Turner, of Mitchell, Resolution that seats now occupied by J. T. Payne and D. D. Carlisle, of Robeson county, be declared vacant.

By Mr. Smith, of Gates, for protection of girls and the promotion of charity.

By Mr. Williams, of Craven, to regulate surveying.

By Mr. Leary, bill to amend the charter of the town of Edenton.

By Mr. Crawford: Bill to provide for the working of convicts on the public roads in McDowell county.

Mr. Williams, of Craven: Bill to provide an election law for the State of North Carolina.

The bill to repeal the law of 1893, requiring the public printing to be let to the lowest bidder, which was the special order, came up and was argued at full length, the Democrats contending that the effect would be to give a bonus of some $3,000 to a Republican or Populist pet; the opposition contending that they having the power, intended to pass the bill and give the printing to a Republican or Populist.

On a motion to refer the bill to the Committee on Elections, the yeas and nays were demanded, and resulted yeas 43, nays 72.

Then several substitutes were offered by the Democrats, and voted down.

The Republicans met again in caucus Monday night and nominated Jeter C. Pritchard of Madison for United States Senator for the short term. This is equal to an election. The bargain made between Butler and Pritchard & Co has been carried out so far. It only remains that Butler be elected to fill the long term and the contract will be complete. Pritchard and Butler the successors of Vance and Ransom! My country what a fall.

Mr. Ewart has introduced a bill to abolish the office of county commissioner and in its stead to create a body of three to be known and styled "County Trustees" and to appoint five additional magistrates in every township besides the vacancies which this Legislature is to fill. This will insure a majority of Populists and Republicans on the Board of Magistrates in every county in the State. Then these Magistrates are to meet in April, 1895 and select these three "Trustees" who are to go into office in twenty days and hold until the regular election in 1896. Just think how they have been bellowing for years that all officers should be elected and yet all of these offices are to be filled and not a single vote cast by the people. Why did they not order an election in the spring or summer and let the people elect these Magistrates and "Trustees" if they are honest in their pretensions? Any man with a spoonful of brain can see that their action in every particular gives the lie to their professions. Such high-handed robbery to get offices has never been seen in North Carolina. The present officers named above were not elected by the people. Those provided for are not to be. What is the difference? Their highest and only motive is office. This is but a beginning.

He Put it on in the Back Yard.

It comes pretty direct to the Sun that a member of the legislature went into a store in Raleigh and after telling the clerk that he belonged to that august, or Januanybody, 'the legislator,' as he called it, this is what occurred:

"Have you any shirts?"

"Yes," replied the clerk, showing him some for a dollar a piece.

"Have you any cheaper than these?"

The clerk showed him some fifty cent ones and he purchased, remarking that it suited him better.

"Have you a place here where I could go to put it on?"

"No place but the back yard," replied the clerk; and he went out in the back yard and put it on. They say this is a fact.—Durham Sun.

Hold on Boys.

Hold on to virtue, it is above all price to you, in all times and places.

Hold on to your good character, for it is and ever will be your best wealth.

Hold on to your hand when you are about to strike, steal or do an improper act.

Hold on to truth, for it will serve well and do you good throughout eternity.

Hold on to your tongue when you are just ready to swear, lie, or speak harshly, or use an improper word.

Hold on to your temper when you are angry, excited, or imposed upon, or others are angry about you.

Hold on to your heart when evil persons seek your company and invite you to join their games, mirth and revelry.

MORTALITY OF WARFARE.

France Has Lost Millions of Her Sons in Battle.

The Annales d'Hygiene Publique recently published an interesting article on the loss of life caused by the wars in which France has been engaged in the last half century. At the beginning of the revolution the standing army numbered about 120,000. In the course of the year 1793 the footing was increased to 1,380,000, of which about 1,200,000 marched off to the various battlefields. In 1798 there was hardly one-third of this legion alive. Ten years later—that is, after the wars in Belgium, along the Rhine, in Egypt and the Vendee—there were again 677,588 soldiers in the French army. In the period between 1800 and 1815 the wars of the consulate and the empire cost the country, according to Thiers, 2,000,000 men, and according to Charles Richet, 3,000,000.

The years of the restoration and July government were comparatively peaceful for France. Under the second empire France had again heavy losses by the Crimean war, the Italian campaign, the campaigns of China and Mexico, and, finally, the Franco-Prussian war of 1870-71. In the oriental campaign of 1854 to 1856 95,615 of the 309,000 soldiers who took part in it were buried in foreign lands. The Italian campaign cost the country 10,200 men, and 1,000 of the 8,000 sent to China in 1860 never returned. There are no trustworthy reports as to the losses in Mexico, but in the Franco-Prussian war 139,000 Frenchmen were killed and 143,000 wounded.

Mr. E. C. King, telegraph operator at Falkland, spent to-day here.

Mr. J. S. Joyner, of Baltimore, a Pitt boy, arrived last night to spend a short while here.

Master Milton White left this morning for Raleigh to enter upon his duties as page of the House.

Sheriff R. W. King left this morning for Raleigh. He went by Bethel to take a woman named Mattie Edmonson to the asylum.

Prof. Charles Foust, a former teacher of Greenville Institute but now a lawyer of Abilene, Texas, arrived on Tuesday evening's train and went out to Falkland to see his sister, Mrs. J. S. Harris.

At the Opera.

The DAILY REFLECTOR makes its best bow to Miss Jesse Dair, of the Chick Medicine and Concert Co., for the compliment she paid it in last night's entertainment. She was representing a news boy on the street and in her song made neat references to the paper.

In another part of the performance Miss Dair showed marvelous strength in her teeth, catching large weights and swinging them too and fro. As a grand finale to this she took up 160 pounds in her teeth and walked across the stage with it. She was also drawn up to the ceiling by her teeth and suspended there for several minutes. This feature of the entertainment will be repeated to-night. The entire performance last night was splendid. Mrs. Chick's songs and Mrs. West's dance being heartily enjoyed, and the farces producing roars of laughter. Dr. Chick was a mountain of fun in himself. Mr. John Glennon rendered the latest New York craze "And Her Golden Hair Was Hanging Down Her Back" in a very happy style.
