TERRIBLE EXPLOSION.

Another Boiler Does its Deadly Work.

(Special to Reflector.)

GRIFTON N. C., Jan. 17th.—About five miles from Grifton Mr. Theo. Bland has a gin that was run by an engine. Yesterday evening the boiler to the engine exploded, instantly killing Mr. Theo. Bland, Jr., and a colored man named John Smith. Another man was wounded but not dangerously. The cause of the explosion is not known.

Bishop Watson.

It is announced that Bishop Watson will go to Long Island City next week to take charge, for a few months, of the Episcopal Diocese of Long Island, during the absence of Bishop Littlejohn, who will go to Europe soon. The request came to Bishop Watson officially, through the standing committee of the Diocese of Long Island. Mrs. Watson will accompany the Bishop to Long Island and will remain with him during his administration of the affairs of that Diocese.—Wilmington Star.

Off the Track

As the South bound freight train was leaving Parmele, Wednesday afternoon, a bumper to one of the cars pulled out causing the car to jump the track, and delaying the train for ten hours. No damage was done to the train.

THE LEGISLATURE.

TUESDAY.

The principal new bills introduced in the Senate to-day were: To reduce the salaries of state and county officers, to abolish county boards of education, to regulate the business of life insurance, to reduce the expenses of the State guard, to reduce the bonds of the Sheriff of Pitt county, to change the date of Thanksgiving-Day to some day in September, to reduce charges of tobacco warehouses.

The bill to reduce the Pitt-county Sheriff's bond passed after a warm debate, in which the fusionists were bitterly attacked.

The Democrats asserted that it was a private bill and that thirty days notice should have been given, whereas there was no notice. They also contended that the repealing clause of the bill repealed all laws in regard to all sheriff's bond. The fusionists say they intend to pass a general bill covering all bonds which were increased as in this case. An effort was made to adopt a resolution instructing the Senators and representatives in Congress to vote against all bills which do not advocate free coinage of silver and the abolition of all banks of issue.

The principal new matters at the House session were: A resolution in favor of the popular election of Senators; bills to amend the charter of Winston; to abolish the Railway Commission; to abolish the death penalty; to repeal the section of the Code in regard to public printing.

Petitions were filed in seven election contests. They were all against Democrats.

The House and Senate at noon met and canvassed the vote for State Treasurer, declaring William H. Worth (fusionist) elected.

A joint caucus was held Tuesday by the Populists and Republicans and Butler and Pritchard were nominated for the United States Senate. This carries out to the letter the contract made last summer between these parties and shows to what depths parties can descend.

A bill has passed the Senate reducing the bond of the Sheriff of Pitt county from ninety-two thousand dollars to seventy-two thousand dollars, and giving the right to appeal from the decision of the commissioners to the courts, and when this appeal is taken giving it precedence over all other cases for trial. It has been sent to the House and now awaits its action to become a law.

Mr. Ewart has introduced a bill to abolish the Railroad Commission, when in the Legislature before he was one of its most zealous advocates. Mr. Butler also worked and voted to establish the present commission, and yet they propose now to abolish it. This is done for the purpose of getting out the Democrats and then they will immediately establish another probably one man power and put one of their party in. Such conduct has never before been witnessed in North Carolina, and it shows that they believe the only way to get the offices is for this Legislature to put them in, knowing that the people will overthrow this mongrel set in 1896. It even makes Republicans blush to see what steps this body is resorting to to carry out their desires.

When to Advertise.

There's nothing on earth so mysteriously funny as a newspaper advertisement. The prime, first, last and all the time object of an advertisement is to draw custom. It is not, was not and never will be designed for any other human purpose. So the merchant waits till his store is so full of customers that he can't get his hat off, and then he rushes to the newspapers and puts in his advertisement. When the dull season gets along, and there is no trade, and he wants to sell goods so badly he can't pay rent, he takes out his advertisement—that is some of them do; but occasionally a level-headed merchant puts in a bigger one, and scoops all the business, while his neighbors are mortgaged to pay the gas bill. There are times when you couldn't stop people from buying everything in the store if you planted a cannon behind the door, and that's the time the advertisement is sent on its holy mission. It makes light work for the advertisement, for a chalk sign on the sidewalk would do all that was needed and have a half holiday six days in the week; but who wants to favor an advertisement? They are built to do hard work, and should be sent out in dull days when a customer has to be knocked down with hard facts and kicked insensible with bankrupt reductions in prices before they will spend a cent. That's the aim and end of an advertisement, don't try to get them to come when they are already sticking out of the windows, but give them your advertisement right between the eyes in the dull season, and you will wax rich and own a fast horse, and perhaps be able to smoke a good cigar once or twice a week. Write this down where you will fall over it every day. The time for a merchant to draw business is when he wants business, and not when he has more business than he can attend to already.—Lumberton Robesonian.

Against Confederate Pensions.

So major H. L. Grant, who himself draws a pension from the Yankee side of the line, although able bodied and unwounded, has introduced a bill in the State Senate to repeal the act pensioning, at a poor pittance, the wounded Confederate soldiers of this State. He would take from them, wounded and maimed, helpless and starving though they be, the poor pittance that their own State has provided for them and which their own home people willingly pay, while he himself draws a Federal pension for helping to wound them at the head of a negro regiment! And this is the man whom many Old Confederate soldiers voted for in the late election on the Fusion ticket against Ben Aycock for the Senate, and by whose votes he was elected. This is how he repays them: He and Marion Butler "pull" for Abe Middleton, their burly negro henchman, in preference to a one-legged Confederate soldier, as assistant doorkeeper, and now he wants their pension taken from them.—Goldstoro Argus.

We thought from the Secretary's statement about its close that the last State fair at Raleigh was the most successful financially that has been held, but the fact comes out now that it fell short $4,000 of paying expenses.
