

DAILY REFLECTOR.

Vol. 1.

Greenville, N. C., January 18, 1895.

No. 34.

Narrow Escape.

Some boys hunting rabbits, Thursday afternoon, in the edge of Skinnerville, set fire to the grass and came near burning the house occupied by Mr. W. J. Yancey. The boys should be learned better.

Succeeds His Father.

Mr. S. T. White has purchased the mercantile business of his father, Capt. C. A. White. Sam is a splendid young man of good business qualities, has had much valuable experience under his father, and will meet with success.

Building Notes.

Another tenant house is going up on Ninth street in Forbestown.

Mr. J. S. Smith is building a stables on his premises.

Lumber is being hauled to build a store near the Planters' Warehouse.

The large fertilizer storage house near the depot is nearly completed.

Mr. J. R. Moore is building three small tenant houses near the depot.

The King House is receiving a new dress of paint.

Tobacco Cloth at Lang's

Too Much of It.

Begging is getting to be a nuisance. Every tramp that comes along, and many able bodied people who are too lazy to work, take a turn from house to house and store to store putting up one pretext and another to get money. Greenville has a generous hearted people, but their liberality is often imposed upon. They have given money recently, a large part of which was soon spent for whiskey. No real needy case should be turned away, but something should be done if possible to protect the people from professional beggars.

THE LEGISLATURE.

WEDNESDAY.

In the Senate to day the principal new bills introduced were to prevent the issue of free passes by railways; to incorporate the Southern Manufacturers' Fire-Insurance Company; to amend the Constitution in regard to enforcing the anti-trust law. This bill proposes to add to article 14 of the Constitution the following:

"Monopolies and trusts shall never be allowed in this State, and no incorporated company, co partnership, or association of persons in this State shall either directly or indirectly combine or make any contract with any other incorporated company, foreign or domestic, through their stock holders, or with any co-partnership or association of persons in any manner whatever, for the purpose of fixing the prices or for limiting the production or regulating the transportation of any product or commodity. This shall not prevent farmers from shipping the products of their farms together."

In the House the chief bills were to prevent discrimination by railways in giving free passes; to abolish the office of County Superintendent of Public Instruction; to prevent lynching; to relieve building and loan associations from paying taxes.

John W. Brown, of Granville, was elected enrolling clerk.

There was a heated debate over a bill to require the county commissioners to reduce the bonds of P. & county officers, in the course of which the Fusionists bitterly denounced the system of county government, and gave notice that it would be entirely repealed.

The REFLECTOR is indebted to Mr. Chas. Reizenstein, secretary, for a complimentary ticket to the Newbern fair during the week beginning February 18th.

Senator Hill continues to attack the income tax but so far he has been "downed" in all of his amendments by the Senate. It is evident that the tax will be collected, at least for this year.

The bill to reduce the bond of the Sheriff of Pitt county came up in the House Wednesday. There was right much cross firing upon it and it was finally referred. It will probably come up again this week.

A syndicate has been organized, in Baltimore to deal in North Carolina lumber. John L. Reper, of Norfolk, is president of it, and the headquarters of the company will be in Norfolk. The organization represents an output of 300,000,000 feet per annum.

Old Dominion Line Dinner.

The third annual dinner given by the Old Dominion Steamship Company to its officers and agents took place Friday evening, on board of the steamer "Old Dominion," in New York. The President of the Company, Captain H. A. Bourne, presided, and was supported by Mr. W. L. Gailauden, Vice-President; Mr. C. P. Fischer and Mr. William Rowland, Directors. At the conclusion of the dinner, the President reviewed the work of the Company in general during the past year, and the Vice-President spoke of matters relating to the Traffic Department. Captain George W. Cousin, of the steamer "Old Dominion," gave his personal reminiscences of the coastwise trade; Mr. George V. Sloat, Superintendent Engineer, referred to matters pertaining to the Engineers Department, and many other of the officials spoke during the evening.

Rev. J. C. McCall.

The writer and subject of the following letter, which was written to the Murfreesboro Index are both so well known in Greenville that no comment is necessary, except to say that everybody here fully endorses the sentiment of the letter.

Editor Index:—Will you allow me the privilege of introducing through your paper, to the people of Murfreesboro, my very dear friend and brother, J. C. McCall, who goes by appointment as pastor of the Murfreesboro M. E. Church?

It has been my pleasure to live in Greenville, N. C., with Bro. McCall, rooming at the Macon Hotel and eating at the same table with him during this year, 1894, and have found him pleasant, congenial, pious and a thorough Christian gentleman. The people of Greenville, with whom he mingled socially and religiously, learned to love him, and speak only in his praise. And now as we must part with him and give him to you, we ask that you receive him kindly, hear him gladly, mingle with him freely, and take the very best care of him. He deserves all this and more beside.

Being in the singular number, with you and me, he is fond of the fair ones. I heard him say the other day, that he had about one year more studying to do, and then he was going to better his condition in life. Who knows but what he, or some influential friend, had an eye to just that in being sent to Murfreesboro, where the pick of the East collects?

I would like to say to Mr. J. B. Brewer, and my other Baptist friends in that section, to join in with the Methodist people in making this modest young man feel at home. May God bless him and make him abundantly useful, is the prayer of one who loves him.

"DEAR OLD THACKERAY."

Side Lights That Show His Lovable Traits in Family Life.

A characteristic story of "dear old Thackeray" is told by Mrs. Ross in her reminiscences. "Thackeray was a constant visitor," said she, "in Queen's square, and a great favorite of mine, though he played me a trick on my fifth birthday which remained a standing joke between him and the 'young revolutionist,' as he afterwards used to call me, because I was born on the 24th day of February. My birthdays were always celebrated by a dinner, when I was allowed to dine downstairs and to invite the guests. Few children could boast of such an array of friends; this one included Mrs. Norton, Lord Lansdowne, Tom Taylor, Richard Doyle, C. J. Bayley and Thackeray, who gave me an oyster, declaring it was like cabinet pudding. But I turned the tables on him, for I liked it so much that I insisted, as queen of the day, on having more. I still possess a sketch he made for the frontispiece of 'Pendennis' while I was sitting on his knee.

"Thackeray often dropped in to dinner, generally announcing himself beforehand in some funny way.

"A nice leg of mutton, my Lucie,
I pray thee have ready for me;
Have it smoking and tender and juicy,
For no better meat can there be—
was one of his missives."

The Twelve Chosen.

An English paper printed for young folks recently offered a prize for a list of the twelve greatest living men of all nations. The following is a list according to the votes given by the competitors, and it is interesting that there are two Americans among them, for English children are not thought to be much interested in affairs over here. The boys and girls evidently thought electrical invention came next to statesmanship, for they ranked Edison right after Gladstone and Bismarck, and before soldiers, actors and explorers: 1, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone; 2, Prince von Bismarck; 3, Thomas Alva Edison; 4, Marquis of Salisbury; 5, German emperor; 6, Henry Irving; 7, H. M. Stanley; 8, Lord Rosebery; 9, Viscount Wolseley; 10, John Ruskin; 11, Gen. Booth; 12, President Cleveland.

Come to Our Climate.

The papers all over the State, and even in the towns near about us, have been speaking of the skating the cold weather afforded, but there has not been ice enough around Greenville to skate on since the big freeze two years ago. This speaks well for our climate. While other sections are freezing hard we are just moderately cold.

TELEGRAPH NEWS.

MYRTLE WILSON. *

The entertainment last night at the Opera House by the Chick Medicine Company was indeed good and everybody enjoyed it. Mr. West's character sketch was the best we have seen him in yet. The afterpiece "The Henpecked Husband" was right up to date and elicited much applause. An entire change of programme for to-night.
