

DAILY REFLECTOR.

Vol. 1. Greenville, N. C., January 22, 1895.

No. 37.

In Use Two Hundred Years.

Mr. J. W. Smith, Superintendent of the County Home, showed us a small gold finger ring that has been in his family for several generations. He says the ownership of the ring can be traced back among his ancestors for two hundred years. It is valuable for its history and age.

Accepted With Thanks.

To-day Mr. W. G. Lamb, representing Daniel Miller & Co., of Baltimore, invited us into his sample room to take our choice of the beautiful line of cravats he has along. We accepted the invitation and got a beauty. No drummer shows a better line of dry goods and notion samples than Mr. Lamb, and he has taken large orders here.

Those Bonds.

The Board of County Commissioners have been in session again to-day examining the Harrington and Thigpen bonds, but the last time we went to the Court House there was no likelihood that they would get through to-day. The Board will meet from day to day until the examination is completed. So much argument arises between the attorneys that the matter proceeds slowly.

New Law Firm.

Mr. John E. Woodard, of Wilson county, and Mr. F. C. Harding, of Pitt county, have formed a law partnership at Greenville. Mr. Woodard for four years was solicitor of the third district and was a popular, able and proficient officer. Mr. Harding graduated at the University in 1893 and after receiving license to practice law, returned to the University and completed the course leading to the degree of L. L. B. Mr. Harding is a Pitt county boy and recognizing that there is no better county in the State than Pitt, comes back to make Greenville his home.

THE LEGISLATURE.

SATURDAY.

The principal new bill in the Senate was to reduce expenses of public institutions one-third and to appoint a general board of three members to visit all institutions and see that this law is enforced.

The bill passed extending two years time for beginning work on the Norfolk, Wilmington and Charleston Railway.

There was a long debate on a most absurd bill introduced by Lindsay, Populist, changing the code in regard to Thanksgiving proclamation so it would read: The Governor is empowered to request all Christians, men and women, whenever he may deem proper to offer prayers before Almighty God to avert from the State tyrannies and oppressions of unequal laws and baneful effect of acts of wicked rulers and people, and moreover to render thanks to Almighty God that conditions are no worse than they are. Lindsay made a ridiculous speech in which he said there was nothing this year for which farmers and laborers should give thanks.

Abell, Democrat, offered amendment inserting word "political" before word "conditions" in bill. This caused great laughter. Starbuck, Republican, said there was much to be thankful for, and Moody, Republican, ridiculed the bill, which was then tabled.

The Senate at 12:30 on motion of Adams, Democrat, adjourned until 3 o'clock Monday afternoon as a mark of respect to General Lee's memory. House session lasted only a half hour and no business was done.

All the men recommended to the Legislature to be appointed as Magistrates in Bladen county are negroes. This, too a "refawm" body! What next? We shall see what we shall see.

Marion Butler has developed into a protectionist. Now you will hear the other Populists saying they are protectionists, too. So the prediction made when Fusion first started, that the Populists were just an aid to get the Republican party back in power, is coming true.

G. Z. French, the leader of the Fusionists in the House, is being shown up pretty badly on his record in the legislature of 1868 and 1869. How a respectable Populist or Republican either can consent to be led by this self confessed receiver of money from the hands of Littlefield & Co., who bankrupted the State, is one of the mysteries which characterizes this reform body now in session in Raleigh.

It appears that the reform legislature has increased its employees over the last one so as to make the cost $3,570 more. This is not much in keeping with the bill that has been introduced to reduce the salaries of officers. The legislature would do well to begin at home first and reduce their expenses. Then they could with some appearance of consistency talk about cutting down salaries. One thing this legislature certainly needs, and that is consistency.

A Misnomer.

The News and Observer is abundantly able to hold its end down in any controversy, and we do not mean to take a hand in its fight with the Populist organ, but we cannot refrain from quoting a sentence or two from an editorial in Mr. Butler's paper in reply to the News and Observer, who had dared to criticize the fusionists for displacing a white man by a negro in the organization of the Legislature. The Populist organ says:

"The negro is a citizen. He has to bear the burdens of citizenship. He is entitled to the dignities and honors of citizenship whenever his intelligence and character qualify him for them, and the white man is entitled to them upon no other ground."

"To make the negro's real or supposed racial inferiority an argument for denying to him the honest fruits of his achievements is to do him a great wrong—is to do great wrong against elementary ethics—is, in plain speech, wicked."

And the name of this Populist organ is "The Caucasian"! It is all right for the Caucasian to to make love to the Africans, if it wants to, but had not Mr. Butler, under the circumstances, better get his Legislature to change his paper's name?—Charlotte Observer.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(Special Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, January 21, 1895.

—Mr. Jones, of Virginia, tried to fight the war on the floor of the House Friday, while discussing pension matters. Thirty years ago Robert Edward Lee accepted the terms of surrender in good faith, and what he, the greatest Virginian since Washington, did the rest of us can do. Mr. Jones will serve Virginia better by working on a satisfactory finance bill.

The Confederate Veteran Association held appropriate services Saturday night in their hall in this city in honor of Gen. Lee, that being his birthday.

Mr. Cleveland says if this Congress fails to adjust financial matters satisfactorily he will not hesitate to call another session.

Secretary Lamont objects to the proposed improvement of Turner's cut, a part of Pasquotank river.

Saturday at two o'clock eulogies on Senator Vance began—The first speaker was Senator Ransom, who was followed by Senator Jarvis. Senators Morrill, Sherman, Chandler, Dubois, George, Vest, Blackburn, Gray and Call will also pay a tribute to Vance.

The tiff in the Senate, between Gorman and Hill was a struggle for the leadership of the party. Both wish to be President. Senator Ransom silenced Mr. Hill in the midst of the wrangle by threatening him with some caucus secrets.

Senator and Mrs. Jarvis are making preparations to leave for North Carolina. The election of Pritchard to take Vance's place and of Marion Butler to take Ransom's was expected. When Marion Butler was here, about two weeks ago, he was confident that the understanding would be carried out in every particular.

A number of Senators were at work last week trying to frame a bill on which the President and the silver men can agree. It is thought they have succeeded.

Suit for Possession.

There was a right interesting case tried to-day before Justices G. M. Tucker and J. A. Lang over the possession of property held by tenants. B. F. Anderson & Co., have been conducting a bar room in the Bernard corner near the Court House. On the 10th of December Anderson obtained an option from Bernard to rent the property again this year provided they could agree as to terms of rent. On the 31st of the same month Anderson sold out his interest in the business to his partner and on the strength of this sale Bernard rents the house to W. L. Cobb. In the meantime another partnership is formed between Anderson's former partner and R. Greene, and they want to hold the building under the Anderson option. The suit for possession is between Cobb and Greene, both claiming the right to occupy the building.

The jury has returned no decision yet.
