THE LEGISLATURE

FRIDAY.

The Senate passed a bill regulating freight shipments by providing that nonperishable freight must be shipped within five days, and if not, the railway is liable for twice the amount of the freight. Perishable freight must be shipped within two days, and if not, the company is liable for twice the freight and $10 penalty for each day's delay.

The principal new bills introduced were: To regulate the hours of labor in factories, making 9 hours a day's work, or not over fifty-four hours a week; for bidding employment of children under 13 years; forbidding employers not to make agreement not to join labor unions. No women or children are to work between 10 P. M. and 6 A. M. No child under 14 is to be permitted to clean machinery while in operation. The bill also fixes nine hours as a day's work on State contracts.

To provide for the election of the Commissioner of Labor Statistics by the Legislature on joint ballot; to prevent the adulteration of candy; to allow farmers to ship quail and other game out of the State.

There was a sensation in the Senate, caused during a discussion of judicial fairness, by a statement of Senator Carver (Republican), who said that in a suit of his, United States Judge Seymour had been intimidated by a layman, and that thereby Carver had lost half his property.

ALMOST WRECKED.

The A. T. Co's Large Prizey Liable to Collapse at Any Time.

The hard winds of last Friday night and Saturday nearly wrecked the large five-story prize house of Hooker & Bernard occupied by the American Tobacco Company. The South end of the first story is bulged and careened until it is about three feet out of position, and the windows are shattered. The west side is sunk in and warped out of shape and the entire ground floor is badly strained. From the second story up the building seems to be intact, but with the immense weight of the building and large stock of tobacco bearing on the displaced first story it is doubtful if the building can be saved. Its appearance became so dangerous Saturday that the hands deserted it, and the remainder of that day and Sunday the collapse of the building was looked for at any moment. It is standing yet, and efforts have been made to brace it, so that hands can go in and remove the stock of tobacco.

Hundreds of people have been out to look at it. This is the same building that blew down last July when raised to the fourth story and injured several workmen. The loss caused by its present condition will be heavy upon the owners, even if it can be saved short of a total loss. The American Tobacco Company have some tornado insurance on the stock of tobacco but not near enough to cover the large quantity stored in the building.

The disaster is indeed an unfortunate one, as besides the loss sustained to the building and stock a large number of hands will be temporarily thrown out of employment. We hope the building may be saved from falling and can be strengthened to make it substantial, but the outlook for it is bad.

The Wilson Mirror advocates the extermination of whiskey selling, while the two largest home advertisements in that paper are of bar-rooms. That is consistency with a great big O.

Josephus Daniels has resigned as Chief Clerk in the Interior Department at Washington and returned to Raleigh to devote his whole time to the News & Observer. He is a power in this, his chosen profession, and it is better for North Carolina to have him here at the head of this paper than to have him in Washington.

Hon. Thos. J. Jarvis is no longer a United States Senator, his successor, Hon. J. O. Pritchard, having arrived in Washington and been sworn in. Senator Jarvis' term has been short, but it is not on record that any other man ever made such a representation and took so prominent a stand in such a short while as he did. He retires for a while from public life and no man in North Carolina who has been in public service as long as he has can have the consolation of knowing that he has made fewer mistakes than Hon. T. J. Jarvis. It has always been a pleasure for this State to honor him and he has fulfilled every expectation. He will again in time be called into service.

The Southward Movement From New England.

The advantages of the South for manufacturing seems to have taken complete hold of all New England. It looks now as if there would be all at once a general movement of New England mills to this section.

The Boston Herald publishes a two-column article of interviews with prominent New England manufacturers in Lowell, Fall River and Lewiston, all of whom concur in the belief that the future development of spinning and weaving will be in the Southern States. In all the interviews emphasis is laid on the labor question and especially upon this subject. While the arguments in favor of the South are all undoubtedly true it may be that these interviews are published to constrain the Legislature in the New England States to let the labor question alone. Whether this is so or not the agitation of the subject is directing attention to our advantages.—Charlotte Observer.

Gold and Silver.

Something everybody wants, something all can get by securing a copy of Vick's Floral Guide for 1895, a work of art, printed in 17 different tinted inks, with beautiful colored plates. Full list, with description and prices, of everything one could wish for vegetable, fruit or flower garden. Many pages of new novelties, enclosed in a chaste cover of silver and gold.

Unusual and astonishing offers, such as Sweet Peas for 40 cents a pound, $300.00 for a name for a New Double Pea, etc. If at all interested in seeds or plants send 10 cents at once for a copy of Vick's Floral Guide, which amount may be deducted from first order, to James Vick's Sons, Rochester, N. Y., and learn the many bargains this firm is offering.

NORTH CAROLINA NEWS.

Happenings Here and There Over the State.

Ella Norwood, who killed her own child, and was sentenced to be hanged at Durham, has had her sentence commuted to life imprisonment by Governor Carr.

Sanford Express: It is said that during the recent big freshet in Deep River a party of sportsmen killed 35 rabbits on an old fence in the lowlands near Gult where the high water had caused them to take refuge.

A Pointer.

Satan always finds something for idle hands to do. A very large percentage of criminals comes from a class who will not employ their brains and hands in the prosecution of some useful enterprise. Boys who grow up in idleness give no promise for the future. Those having the training of children in hand should bear this fact in mind and bend their energies toward instilling in the youthful mind a love for honest toil. By paying proper attention to this subject parents and teachers can relieve themselves of a vast burden of responsibility and become conspicuous factors in solving the problem of lessening criminal expenses.—Durham Sun.

The Hatteras Light House.

Capt. Mills, engineer secretary of the light house board, has returned to Washington from an official trip of inspection to Diamond shoals, off Cape Hatteras, N. C. He reports as the results of his investigations as to the character of the sands and coast, that he found nothing to change the opinion of the light house board that it is entirely practicable to erect a light house on the shoals.

Congress has made an appropriation of $200,000 to begin the work and limited the total cost to $500,000. The plans are in an advanced state of preparation.

An interesting Coincidence.

Maj. J. W. Wilson, Chairman of the Railroad Commission, recalls to memory an interesting coincidence in connection with the election of United States Senators by the Legislature. In the General Assembly of 1885, Hon. Thos. W. Mason was in the Senate and Hon. Lee S. Overman was a member of the House. Both of these gentlemen made the leading speeches in that General Assembly, the one in the Senate and the other in the House, nominating Hon. Zebulon B. Vance for United States Senator. In the present General Assembly Capt. Mason and Mr. Overman were themselves the nominees of the Democratic party for the same high position. —Wilmington Star.
