TELEGRAPH NEWS.

A fire at Hillsboro destroyed three dwellings valued at $7,000.

Robert George shot and killed a woman named Ella Shaffred near Hamlet.

Mayor Link, of Durham, who became violently insane at his wedding, died at Greensboro, Saturday night.

The trolley car strike in Brooklyn is still on. A number have been killed. The militia have been out in full force.

Two ladies in Birmingham, Ala., were stopped by highwaymen and forced to surrender their cash and valuables to them.

The steam tug Sea King having in tow several barges filled with coal, came very near being wrecked off Long Island Sound last Friday night. The barges and twelve persons were lost.

Reports from all over the West and Northwest indicate that last Friday night's snow storm was the severest for years. From four to nine inches of it fell, and business and traffic everywhere was impeded.

Laugh.

Learn to laugh. A good laugh is better than medicine. Learn how to tell a story. A well told story is as welcome as a sunbeam in a sick room. Learn to keep your own trouble to yourself. The world is too busy to care for your ills and sorrows. Learn to stop croaking. If you cannot see any good in the world keep the bad to yourself. Learn to hide your pains and aches under a pleasant smile. No one cares to hear whether you have the carache, headache or rheumatism. Don't cry. Tears do well enough in novels, but not in real life. Learn to meet your friends with a smile. The good humored man or woman is always welcome but the dyspeptic or hypochondriac is not wanted anywhere, and is a nuisance at last.

THE LEGISLATURE.

TUESDAY.

Principal new bills in the Senate to-day were: To make appropriation for free schools, and to withdraw appropriation from University.

Bills passed to amend Code, regarding collection of fee by Superior court clerks; to prohibit prize fighting in the State, making the penalty $500 fine or—years imprisonment for principals and abettors; permitting partidges and other game to be shipped from State.

Bill to reduce marriage license fee to $1.50 was tabled.

Announce was made of ratification of act to change time of holding courts in Craven and Bertie counties.

The principal new bills in the House were. To amend the general school law and to abolish the office of county superintendent and devolve his duties upon the county commissioners or their clerk; to levy a tax on all public ferries in the State; to regulate the sale of liquor; to regulate teaching in public schools.

The bill to extend the age of consent to twelve years passed third reading after an amendment that the punishment of offence against girls between the ages of ten and twelve shall be a fine or imprisonment and not fine and imprisonment, and with a requirement that the girl has never before fallen from virtue.

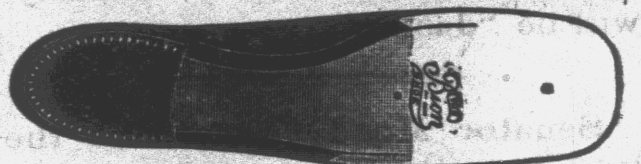

Other bills which passed were extend the publication of the colonial records to 1790; to divide the funds of the State Firemen's association, three-fourths to white and one-fourth to colored firemen; to allow farmers stock mutual fire insurance company to have branches in each county.

A bill changing the method of drawing juries was tabled.

President Cleveland has sent a message to Congress in reference to the condition of the Treasury with suggestions of means of relief. Now let Congress do its part.

It is said that orders have been sent out to the various counties to send in their list of Magistrates to be appointed by the Legislature. Not much will be known about these lists until they are read in the Legislature but we venture the assertion that they will be "dadies."

Senator Moody says that the bill changing the county government is now ready and would be introduced yesterday. He says that the office of Commissioner will not be abolished but the present boards will be allowed to hold on until their terms expire. He says that the Commissioners will be elected just like members of the Legislature with this exception, that a voter instead of voting for five men will be allowed to vote five times for one man. The magistrates are to be appointed as now by the Legislature. So it seems that the much "cussed" boards of County Commissioners are not to be abolished. May be some credit would have been given the august body now in session in Raleigh for not doing this if Major Guthrie had not let the cat out of the bag when he said in an interview that the office of Commissioners would not be abolished because there was "constitutional impediment." The credit due them is this it seems. They don't do it because they cannot. It is a good thing that we have a constitution and it is to be hoped that this Legislature will not abolish it. However, we are daily looking for a bill to be introduced to this end.

Don't be a Grumbler.

What a happy world it would be if all discontent were thrown out. Many young people complain about their work, that it is menial and beneath persons of their talents and training, where all honorable work is ennobling. Ambitions are best realized by the faithful performance of the present duty, however humble it may be. The doing of a lowly service may be the best which the employer uses for bringing out the strength of his employees. Generally an employer will see to it that "he that is faithful in that which is least" has the opportunity to become "faithful also in much." A life spent in brushing clothes and washing crockery and sweeping floors—a life which the proud of the earth would have treated as the dust under their feet; a life spent at the clerk's desk; a life spent in the narrow shop; a life spent in the laborer's hut—may yet be a life so ennobled by God's loving mercy that for the sake of it a king might gladly yield his crown.

True Definition of Culture.

There is a mistaken idea that "culture" means to paint a little, to sing a little, to dance a little, and to quote passages from late popular books. As a matter of fact, culture means nothing of the kind. Culture means mastery over self politeness, charity, fairness, good temper, good conduct. Culture is not a thing to make a display of; it is something to use so modestly that people do not discover all at once that you have it.—Atchinson Globe.

Printer's ink remarks that the man who does the most kicking about hard times is almost invariably the one who does the least advertising.

Learned men tell us that in Latin that the word editor means "to eat." In the United States it means to scratch around like blazes to get something to eat.

Franklin's Chess Table.

The most interesting piece of furniture in the reception room at the residence of Mrs. E. D. Gillespie is a table which no one nowadays would presume to call a chess table; but such it is, and was the prized property of Mrs. Gillespie's famous grandfather, Benjamin Franklin. Mrs. Gillespie says that her mother, who was three years old when Franklin died, could remember seeing the great philosopher and statesman while away hours over the chessmen. The table is of mahogany and of ordinary height, though rather small.

The top is scarcely a foot square, and it looks as though there was little room for the royal game. There is a sliding piece, however, that comes out just under the top in some manner similar to that of the pieces used in the modern roll-top desk. At the back there is a long, upright sliding frame in which is stretched a piece of silk. This Mrs. Gillespie's mother recalled seeing Franklin raise to keep the wind from blowing out the candle by the dim light of which the game was played.—Philadelphia Call.

Eloquence Interrupted.

During a political campaign, a well-known lawyer in a western state was addressing an audience composed principally of farmers. Like a wise speaker—and a shrewd candidate—he tried to suit his speech to the occasion.

In a tone which he evidently considered both cordial and honest, and with a winning smile, he began:

"My friends, my sympathies have always been with the tillers of the soil. My father was a practical farmer, and so was my grandfather before him. I myself was born on a farm, and was, so to speak, reared between two stalks of corn."

Here his eloquence was rudely interrupted by the trumpet tones of a farmer in the rear of the hall.

"Jimminy crickets!" he shouted, "if you ain't a pumpkin!"

The house "came down," and the candidate, for the moment, at least, was sadly embarrassed.—Youth's Companion.

The Coming Fair.

NEWBERN, N. C., Jan. 30.—This city is making extensive preparation for the coming fair, and the progress so far made indicates that it is going to be the best exhibit the Association has yet made. I have just had a long talk with the enterprising secretary, Mr. Charles Reizenstein, and he tells me a great many new and interesting attractions have been secured. The exhibits will be numerous and varied, and the racing will be fine. The railroads will give lower excursion rates than for any of the former fairs which will greatly increase the crowd. Everything points to a good fair. D.
