Weather Bulletin.

Snowers today and tonight, fair in the interior Wednesday.

Gamely Items.

There was no preaching at Salem last Sunday evening owing to the bad weather.

Mr. F. M. Kilpatrick is smiling again, it's another boy.

Misses Fannie Mosley and Emily Roach spent the past week with relatives here.

We think the fair will be poorly represented from our neighborhood.

The cold weather has put the farmers badly behind with their work.

THE LEGISLATURE.

SATURDAY.

The most important new bills introduced in the Legislature today were: To prevent double and unjust taxation; to abolish trusts, monopolies, and combinations; and to protect private corporations; to prevent working of female convicts on public roads; to repeal the appropriation to the State Guard to amend the building and loan association laws; to require Superior Court clerk to record all money they receive.

Bills passed amending the charter of the Wilmington and Southern railway; to incorporate the People's Fire Insurance Company; to amend the charter of Winston; so that the people will elect a Mayor; to amend the charter of Warrenton.

A Populist senator created a sensation by declaring that he would not vote to amend charters for political reasons only. The Senate made the State temporary bill the special order for next Tuesday. The committee reported it favorably.

Bills were read for hours of opening and closing of bar rooms; presenting duties of solicitors and paying them a salary.

The bids for the public printing were opened by the legislative joint Committee on Printing. M. F. and J. C. Steward, of Winston, were the lowest bidders, their bid being 27 cents per 1000 and 60 cents for plain work, and 52 cents for rule and figure work, and they will no doubt get the contract, though the committee defers the award until next week.

Only a small and irregularly gathered Hill Thespian Company at the Opera House Monday night, but their performance was so good one and is generally praised by those who were present. They deserve a liberal patronage. An entirely new programme is given every night.

DAILY REFLECTOR.

D. J. WHICHARD, Editor.

Entered as second class mail matter.

Senator Ransom's prospect for the Mexican mission seems to be brightening every day.

The bill to reduce the official bond of the Treasurer of Pitt county was tabled on last Saturday.

The "Big Five" have dispersed after having been in Raleigh for two or three weeks. Their purpose in assembling was to shape legislation to suit themselves. They prepared, especially to consider the freedom bill, and the County Government bill. The former was introduced in the Legislature and made the special order for to day. This bill is about what was outlined even before the Legislature met, so no very great wisdom is exhibited on the part of the "Big Five" in its preparation. The County Government bill has not as yet reached the Legislature. This is what has hung fire. Cases after cases have been held night after night and nothing could be done. No agreement could be reached. The "Big Five" scattered, and reassembled and tried the effect of their august presence, and overpowering eloquence, to get everybody together but it was all in vain. Finally they gave up and left for their homes and this wonderful production has gone into the hands of the "little fourteen" seven Populists and seven Republicans. What will be its fate cannot be even conjectured now. It is said this "little fourteen" will consider at least three bills, and may evolve one from the three. These are the one which has been left as a legacy to them by the "Big Five." one introduced by Mr. Ewart, and one which has not been offered but much talked of reducing the Commissioners to three and having a committee of audit. How ungrateful this Legislature seems. The "Big Five" left their work at home, paid their board, gave sleepless nights and toil to prepare a bill that would be the admiration of the age, and then for the body to refuse to receive it.

What a set-back for the "Big Five!" But so is life. May be that all will be for the best, at least this is all the consolation we can offer them.

SHODDY BUSINESS

We notice the big horse head advertisement of the Lyon Manufacturing Company appearing in some of our State exchanges. It is to be hoped not one of them took it at the significant price of four dollars. The cut is 8 inches long and 3 columns wide, occupying space of 24 inches or more than one column. Now, be honest gentlemen, and say how many of you would have done the same amount of advertising for one of your home merchants, from whom you ask and receive favors it may be and to whom you ought to feel indebted in consequence, at the price paid you for this business? We pause for reply.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

The REFLECTOR has also been curious to know what some of the papers in which the horse-head advertisement appears are getting for it. We received a proposition from the house sending out this advertisement offering the big (?) sum of $8 for its insertion three months, but they were notified that they could get that space in the REFLECTOR three months for $20, and nothing less. We presume that about the same offer was made to other weekly papers in the State, and its appearance so soon in a number of them leads to the belief that they were eager to accept the offer made them. If this is true to say the least of it such papers reflect discredit upon the profession in the State. It is not dealing honestly, either, to charge home patrons who support a paper one price for space and then sell it to outside concerns at half or less than half price. The EASTERN REFLECTOR charges $75 a year for a column, with a small increase in price for smaller space or shorter time, and nobody gets space in it at a less rate. If a paper has any favors to show in the way of special rates, the home patron who stands with it year by year is more entitled to such favor than the outsider who only wants space semi-occasionally. In justice to themselves the home patrons of some papers ought to investigate and see if they are being treated fairly in such matters.

MUD CAKES.

Little Things Caught in the Snow
Drift or Pulled out of the Mud.

The snow has nearly dissipated.

Get ready and go on the excursion tomorrow.

Tucker & Edwards lost a good horse this morning with pneumonia.

Hundreds of buzzards were noticed flying over town Monday afternoon.

The snow has left many people with sore eyes and colored glasses are popular.

Buy Cotton, Sack Meal at the Old Brick Store.

The weather was bright enough this morning but is cloudy and threatening again this afternoon.

The roosters are trying their lungs at crowing early these nights.

The weather grown still better and gets more people in the notion of going to the fair.

Mr. L. H. Pender has received the prettiest wheel ever brought here. It is a new model Columbian.

The planing mill of the Greenville Lumber Co. is shut down for a few days waiting for dry timber.

Wright D. Bird, colored, who stole some money from Mr. J. Q. Smith about Christmas, was caught all this morning.

Newspaper advertising ought to be specially valuable in winter. On cold, stormy days people have little or no time to stop and read bill boards, card bills and similar outdoor reading. They prefer a cozy nook with a newspaper.

THAWED OUT.

People on the Go—Weather or no
Weather.

Rev. G. A. Oglesby left this morning.

Mr. R. R. Cotton, of Falkland, has been in town to day.

Mrs. Allen Warren has gone to Washington to visit her daughters.

Miss Annie Cox, of Grifton, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Laura Anderson.

Mr. E. C. King, telegraph operator at Falkland, has been in town to day.

Mr. W. R. Whichard, Jr., agent for the Coast Line at Whichard spent to day here.

Miss Florence Starkey slipped down on the platform leading to the dining room Sunday evening and came near breaking one of her arms.

Fanchon To-Night.

You should go to the Opera House to-night and see "Fanchon" by the Geo. A. Hill Theatre Co. This is a splendid play and will have many new features in it. Remember that by patronizing their company you not only witness select plays, but are helping the public school building fund as well. They have their own scenery, along for the different plays and it is beautiful.

Died.

Mrs. Delilah E. Doughty, who slipped down on the ice Friday a week ago and hurt herself very badly, died Monday night at 9:15 o'clock. She was about 65 years old and had long been a resident of Greenville. She was a member of the Baptist church, professed faith in her Saviour at an early age, and lived a consistent christian life. No lady in the community had more friends and was held in higher esteem than she. The deepest sympathy of our people is extended to the daughter and many relatives who mourn their loss. Burial will take place at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning in the Baptist cemetery.
