World's Proverbs.

If you would be a sage among fools, never express an opinion.

It is easier to win applause than to make converts.

When the rack is empty the milk-pail leaks.

One dyspeptic stomach can sour a whole family.

Man has a reputation to make, woman but one to lose.

Few have sufficient command of language to know when to keep still.

Be more cautious in lending your influence than your money.

Killing time is the commonest kind of fool suicide.

The world cannot afford to do without reasonable pleasures.

Fashion cares less for what you say about its character than about its clothes.

Read what you write when it is cold, and you may not be so warm over it.

The printer got John Horne's chicken item mixed up yesterday. Instead of fifteen chickens from two eggs it was two chickens from fifteen eggs. He reports eleven hough, to day.

NEARER HOME.

What is Happening Over the State.

Mr. Montford McGehee died at Raleigh at the age of 73.

A new life-saving station is to be built at Core Banks.

S. Otho Wilson was sworn in as Railroad Commissioner on Monday.

The Aurora says that three carloads of monazite, worth $1,000 has been shipped from Shelby.

Arrangements have been made for the immediate beginning of work on a $100,000 cotton mill at Salem.

The Methodist parsonage at Pleasant Grove, in Union county, was destroyed by fire Wednesday. The fire was caused by a defective flue.

An old man named Reams, from Virginia, was waylaid and murdered in Nash county on Sunday. His assassins believed that he had money with him.

On the next Sunday after the Shemwell-Payne tragedy the pastor of the Methodist church of Lexington preached a sermon against capital punishment.

While up in her room attending to her infant child near midnight Mrs. C. H. Whorton, who lives on Pollock street, was struck in the arm by a pistol ball fired from inside the lot by some one. It fortunately inflicted but a slight flesh wound.—Newbern Journal.

The fishermen tell us that fishing has been almost a complete failure this season. When the nets were first put out the freeze came and destroyed nearly all of them. And the run of fish has been small. Taking the small number of nets in use and the light run the season has been a failure.—Washington Progress.

The building and loan associations of the city had a meeting and decided to bring action to test the law in regard to the act to regulate assignments. Mr. C. L. Hunter will bring action for the Mutual Building and Loan Association. The case will be tried at Lincoln court before Judge Robinson, and will be taken immediately to the Supreme Court.—Charlotte Observer.

THE WOOL IN MY CLOTHING

Grows on a sheep's back and not on a cotton stalk. It would be a good idea for you to see that your Spring Suit is made of the kind that grows on a sheep, because it is better in every respect—wears better, looks better, holds color better and is finer.

Our $5, $8 and $10 Spring Suits are made of this kind of wool and they fit just like tailor made. All grades, all colors and all shapes.

Fat or lean, I can fit you.

FRANK WILSON,

The Leader in Clothing.

P. S.—I can take your measure and make a beautiful Suit of Clothes.

About Advertising.

An exchange says the following on this important subject:

It is continuous effort that pays in advertising as in everything else. A business man doesn't keep his store open one day in the week, or one week in the month, or three months in the year. If he advertises that way that is the impression people will get. It is continuousness that has made each letter in the word "Royal" before the words "Baking Powder" worth over $2,000,000. The owner of Royal Baking Powder recently refused $12,000,000 for his business—a business built up and fostered by persistent advertising.

People are very forgetful. They have to think pretty hard to remember the vice presidential candidate two campaigns back, and yet he was pretty well advertised at the time. It has been truly said that the time to advertise is all the time. In business there is no such thing as standing still. A business man must go forward or he will fall back. Even if you do just as much business this year as you did last, some other fellow is doing more business and he is getting ahead of you.

Don't forget to hand your subscription to the carrier.

Up in the Air.

A company has just been incorporated at Springfield, O., for the discovery of the heirs of the vast Holmes estate in England, said to be worth $400,000,000. It was left by James Holmes, a South sea trader, and William Himrod, of New York, is said to be one of the heirs.

The odds are 100 to 1 that there is no such estate. Similar announcements are made from time to time, and thousands of people in this country have been bled by unscrupulous swindlers.

There are no estates in England worth millions of dollars awaiting American claimants. Our ministers and consuls have frequently made this statement but it has no effect. Just so long as people love money and lack common sense and information they will be the victims of the lawyers and agents who work the unclaimed estate racket.

In the past few years it has been announced that various persons in Georgia were attempting to recover million-dollar inheritances in Europe. Not one ever succeeded. They spent the money they could spare on the agents who were swindling them and that was the last of it.

People hunting big estates, as a rule, will have to accumulate them by their own efforts.—Atlanta Constitution.

The outlook now is that there will not be any great interest in the town election to be held the first Monday in May. The new town charter which was put through the Douglas Legislature changes the wards so that the control of municipal affairs can be taken out of the hands of Democrats and turned over to Republicans. What the outcome of this is to be cannot now be predicted with any degree of certainty, but judging from the way Republicans have always managed things where ever they had control not much good can be hoped for. The REFLECTOR would say this much to the Democrats, however: There is to be an entire new registration during this month. Let every man of you see that his name is properly registered, put out a good ticket in every ward, and then do your best to elect that ticket even if the chances do seem against you.

Some of the Fusion clan headed by Richmond Pearson are in Raleigh trying to do something to relieve the Legislature from the odium that has come upon it from the passage of the mortgage law. So far they have only been able to arrive at the conclusion that it was passed by the Clerks, or somebody, they don't know who. They don't want to fix this on any of their own party but they can't connect anybody else with the transaction. The original bill as introduced by Mr. Smith, of Stanly, has been found, and shows that he had a clause excepting cash borrowed at the time of the execution and also for supplies, but the Finance Committee, whose chairman was the "reformer," Hileman, struck out this and left the bill as it now stands. So it will be seen that when introduced by a Democrat it was all right and protected the farmer, but when the Fusionists got a chance at it they "whacked" out these excepting clauses and gave it its present destructive effect. This would look as if they did intend it to apply to all transactions. Mr. Pearson first tried to get Gov Carr to call the Legislature to together to repeal the act, but the Governor would not even consider the proposition so Pearson, Walser & Co. are hanging around the Supreme Court room to see what help they may get there. This is a wonderful state of affairs but just as good as might be expected when the people trust such a crowd as has had charge since the election.

LOCAL NOTES AND TOBACCO TOTTINGS.

BY O. L. JOYNER.

Work has commenced on the new warehouse. It will be 80 by 140.

Mr. Geo. Harrison, who has been on this market since August last, left last week for his home in Graubville county.

Quite a number of new buyers are expected to locate on this market next year. Some are now making inquiries about locating here.

Would it not be a profitable investment for some of our merchants to build a smoking tobacco factory? Start it at first on a small scale and if the trial proves a success enlarge it to meet the requirements of the trade.

This has been a most remarkable spring. Snow and rain have been the order for some time. From the time the plant beds were prepared till the last week in March there was very little weather suitable for work, and as a consequence of the heavy rains upon the newly manured plant land much of the strength is washed away. And our farmers had better keep a close eye to this and when the plants get large enough they should be refertilized. Exactly how this should be done we are unable to say, for on one or two occasions we undertook that job and as a result numbers of plants died. Those who are accustomed to practicing this every year say the best time to do it is just before or during a rain, then all the fertilizer is washed off the plants and into the ground. If it is not convenient to put on the fertilizers during a rain a sprayer should be used.

AT A SOUTHERN BALL.

A Drummer's First Experience with Kentucky Fair Women.

They Said Such Things and Did Such Things That He Was Surprised—It Was All a Big Practical Joke.

"Speaking of practical jokes," said a drummer at one of the hotels the other night, "I was the victim of one of the most embarrassing I have heard of for a long time. It was during my first trip south, and, not being familiar with the people of this part of the country, I thought I had found a really sociable place, when three young 'swells' of the town with whom I had been talking the evening before asked me to go with them to a dance that was to be given at a female seminary a few miles from the city. I had been away from home for some time, and not having had the pleasure of being in the company of young ladies I was fairly delighted at the idea of spending a pleasant evening."

"I told them I would be pleased to go, and, after hurried preparation, we started. The young men laughed at the idea of my paying anything toward the carriage hire, and I felt that I had never been in the company of a more hospitable set of men."

"When we arrived at the place the dance had already begun. We left the carriage in care of a negro man and entered the ballroom. Of course, I felt very strange at first among so many strangers, but my companions seemed to feel quite at home, and insisted that I should meet some of the young women at once. One of the young men took me by the arm and led me across the room to where there sat a young woman who was rather pretty and had an extremely neat appearance."

"After receiving an introduction to her I sat down and started a conversation. Soon she was talking at an astonishingly rapid rate. I became rather interested in the girl, but was very much surprised to learn that she was the twentieth daughter of a wealthy farmer. At last she began to talk and laugh so loudly that I began to feel a little embarrassed, and asked her if she did not want to dance. She was on her feet in an instant, and we had danced a few steps when she suddenly yelled out at the top of her voice: 'Don't! Don't! Oh, don't hold me so tight. I am full of dynamite!' And she uttered a yell that made the cold chills run up and down my back."

"I turned her loose in an instant, and stood simply horrified. I felt like swearing when the other people in the room only laughed and went on dancing. I did not know what to do. I knew I had done nothing I should not have done. Intentionally at least, but I started up to her with an apology, when one of my companions came up with a young woman on his arm. He gave me an introduction to her, and asked me if I would not dance the next set with her. I did not feel like dancing a bit, but there was no way of getting out of it, so I told him I would."

While we were sitting down waiting for the next dance she told me she had been married fourteen times and had a thousand children at home. I thought she was just trying to joke me, and asked her where she lived.
 She said she lived in Heaven. I knew something was wrong with her, and I made up my mind right there that I would not dance with her. I asked her to excuse me a moment and, without waiting for a reply, rushed across the room toward the door. I thought to myself that if I once got on the outside I would never attend another 'swell dance' in Kentucky."

"I had got within a few feet of the door when an old woman ran up and threw her arms around my neck.
 She yelled out that I was her lost son, who ran away from home four hundred years ago, when I was a mere child. I tried to tear myself away from the woman, and she fainted at my feet. I made a dart for the door, and when I reached the threshold I looked back and saw several persons carrying her off the floor, I was dazed. I expected to be arrested every moment. I saw a man outside and asked him if there was not a train leaving that place soon. He said there would be one going to Louisville in about an hour, and I concluded to wait around the little station until it was ready to leave. I do not remember to have ever heard a more welcome sound than the whistle of that train, after spending an hour in silent misery. I reached my hotel in this city shortly after midnight, but I could not sleep.
 I had learned on the train that I had been to an insane-asylum ball, and I was as mad as a hornet."

"The next morning the young men came around to the hotel and apologized, and now they are the best friends I have in the city."—
