A Splendid Little Mirror.

The REFLECTOR is a splendid little mirror of the local news of Greenville. It came to us yesterday enlarged, showing life and vigor. We trust that all of brother Whichard's hopes may be fully realized. Greenville should give him the heartiest support. Du-ham Sun.

THE WOOL IN MY CLOTHING

Grows on a sheep's back and not on a cotton stalk. It would be a good idea for you to see that your Spring Suit is made of the kind that grows on a sheep, because it is better in every respect--wears better, looks better, holds color better and is finer.

Our $5, $8 and $10 Spring Suits are made of this kind of wool and they fit just like tailor made. All grades, all colors and all shapes.

Fat or lean, I can fit you.

FRANK WILSON,

The Leader in Clothing.

P. S.--I can take your measure and make a beautiful Suit of Clothes.

TOBACCO FRECKS.

Editor Reflector:

The cause mentioned in Friday's REFLECTOR of tobacco frecks or what some call "frog eyes," is, in my opinion, a mistaken idea. Having been reared in a tobacco field I have had ample opportunity to study this as well as other diseases of the plant in question. We find several causes for this disease, few of which can be remedied under any circumstances. The main cause, however, is in the way the guano is used on the land. To prevent specks from appearing on the leaf, however poor the land, not more than one hundred pounds of guano should be used to the thousand hills, or four hundred pounds to the acre. This should be drilled in the furrow, when dropped in the hill a less amount should be used. On strong land ninety pounds is sufficient. Too much manure will make it speck, or freck, in a wet or dry season.

There is what we call the "wet weather speck" which can be avoided only by thoroughly draining the land. As a proof of "wet weather speck" notice that this is first seen in springy places, or near where water stands. In these wet places it is better to "lay by" the tobacco with a daggen as you would corn so that the water will sink to middle of row.

Now, it is reasonable to suppose that breaking up the row in plowing is against nature and will not only check growth in tobacco but in any plant. So with each plowing get a little further from it so as not to tear up the roots as they make their way to middle of row. By so doing not only specks, or frecks, but burning, or firing, at bottom of plant will frequently be prevented. C. M. BILLINGS.

BY AFTERNOON (EXCEPT SUNDAY).

In several States municipal elections were held the first of the week. The weather seems to have been unfavorable for voters.

Another evidence of the ignorance of the Clerks of the Legislature is shown from the fact that they locate eight townships in Jackson county in Johnson county, and the Magistrates for these townships have been certified for Johnson county and would have to be sworn in this county, one by one their errors are coming to light.

Governor Carr has taken a stand in reference to the mortgage matter to see if he cannot get the relief of the people who are now oppressed by this nefarious legislation. He has written a letter to the Attorney General asking if he has got the power to institute proceedings against the Secretary of State restraining him from furnishing for publication the act known as "An Act to regulate assignments and other conveyances of like nature in North Carolina" until it could be determined whether it passed the Legislature and whether its enactment was procured by fraud and forgery.

The last Legislature appointed three additional Magistrates for every township. They were to go into office on April 1st, 1895. If any of them have not qualified the office is vacant, says the News and Observer, and they cannot now be sworn in by the Clerk of the Court. It would be illegal for him to attempt to do so. This vacancy can only be filled by the Governor where a Magistrate fails to qualify in the time specified by law. We guess the Governor will not make many appointments as they would be useless, we already have plenty of Magistrates. It will be saving much expense to the State to leave these offices vacant. No credit, however, ought to be given the Legislature for this saving of expense.

High Salaried Men.

The highest salaried employe in the United States is supposed to be the president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, Henry B. Hyde. He receives annually $100,000. John A. McCall gets $75,000 to be president of the New York Life. Samuel Spencer receives $50,000 a year for telling Pierpont Morgan what he knows about railroads. Mr. Cleveland receives $50,000 and a house and lot for being President. Dr. Dewey's salary as president of the New York Central Railroad is believed to be $50,000. Cornelius Vanderbilt's cook receives $16,000 a year. The sheriff of New York used to make $100,000 and over every year but his wings have been clipped. Masini receives $50,000 a season for singing his mighty tenor in Madrid. Jean de Reszke received $5,000 for singing one song,—"Salut demeure" from "Faust." Patti's contract called for $5,000 a night when she was at the height of her fame, but she had to give $500 of it to her agent. Taral the jockey, has made $30,000 in a single season. President Felix Faure, of the French republic receives $250,000 a year. Admiral Greer's pay is $6,000. An English general's pay is $27,50 a day and the pay of an English admiral is $10,000 a year. Ambassador Bayard receives $17,500 a year. Sir Julian Pauncefote, British ambassador to this country receives $30,000 per annum. Britain's ambassador to France, the best paid diplomatic personage in the world, receives $50,000 a year.

A Thought for the Day

What is the cure for gossip? Simply culture. Good natured people talk about their neighbors because, and only because, they have nothing else to talk about. Everybody must talk about something. On some subject or another everybody must have something to say or give up society, and out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh. That of which the mind is full—that with which it is furnished—will come out in expression. The very simple reason why the world is full of gossip is that those indulge in it who have nothing else in them. So it is that the true cure for gossip is culture.—Dr. J. G. Holland.

LOCAL NOTES AND TOBACCO JOTTINGS.

BY O. L. JOYNER.

The cool nights that we are having are very bad on young tobacco plants.

Every farmer should constitute his farm an experiment station of which he is the director. By this the highest attainments of agriculture can easily be reached.

In these times of low prices and small profits, it requires the most careful thought and judgment to make much money on a farm and unless system and judicious management is exercised the debit side of the P. and L. account will be the larger.

How many farmers in the county who keep an accurate account of all monies expended and received on sales of products? Unless this is done there is no possible means of telling whether the business is paying or not. Every crop should have a separate account in order to tell which is the best money crop. No sensible man would keep a herd of six cows very long before he would find out which was the best milker and then set about to either increase the value of the sorry ones or get rid of them. Precisely is that the case with cereals. Every farmer should know which of his crops is paying the best and then go to work to improve the sorry ones. So also should this same idea be carried into the different fields. See which are paying and which are not and then go to work to improve the unimproved lands.

And Mr. Whichard says Greenville is to have a fire engine and then the next worst thing needed is a white fire company. During the past three years we have seen a few small fires in town and at nearly everyone. Seth Hooker was the most conspicuous figure there dodging in and out betwixt the flames, directing and darning and never losing his self possession. His bold and daring risks have been the comment of spectators wherever a fire has occurred and while we have never heard him express himself in regard to the organization of a company, yet we believe he will head a company of good men and surely there is no man in Greenville better qualified or adapted to admirably fill the position than he. Let us have him.

AN INDIAN MYTH.

A Curious Tradition That Prevails Among the Osages.

How They Secured Their Souls from the Male Red Bird, and Their Bodies from the Female Red Bird.

The Osages, in common with many other tribes, believe that the constellations are gods and goddesses, says the Milwaukee Journal. They have a tradition to the effect that once upon a time the Osages possessed neither bodies nor souls. They appealed to a divinity known as the Male Red Bird, who furnished them with souls in the bodies of birds. Thus they pursued existence for awhile in the likeness of feathered creatures. In this guise they first visited the earth. There they met another divinity called the Black Bear. He offered to serve them, and they asked him to visit the various constellations with a petition in their behalf. They wanted human bodies for themselves. The Black Bear went successively to the sun, to the moon, to the morning star, to the constellation of the deer head—meaning the Pleiades—to the constellation of the goose foot, and finally to the Female Red Bird, who was found brooding on her nest. She it was who granted the request which others had refused, giving to the Osages the bodies in which they have since dwelt.

The sun is a god devoutly worshiped by most Indians. The ceremony of the sun dance, as performed by the Sioux and Poncas, has often been described. Everybody has heard how the warriors torture themselves, one part of the performance gone through with by the young braves consisting in attaching themselves to the dance pole by lariats passed through loops of their own skin, then freeing themselves by dashing away on horseback or otherwise. For three days and nights they dance, gazing continually at the sun by day and at the moon by night, while it is supposed they swallow neither food nor water. As a matter of fact, however, the dance pole is planted usually in a spot near which certain succulent roots grow. These they pluck up slyly, eating them and sucking the juices. Among the Sioux Indians the buffalo bull is importantly associated with the sun dance. Oddly enough, in ancient Egypt the sun god Ra was associated with the deified bull called Apis.

"An Accomplished fact."

"Grandma, may I take that piece of chocolate you left on the table? I will be so good!"

"Yes, you may take it."
 (The little girl does not move.)

"Why don't you go and get it?"

"Oh! grandma, dear, I ate it first!"—L'Annunziatore.

Where are You Going my Pretty Maid.

"Where are you going my pretty maid?"
"To ride my bicycle, Sir," she said!
"May I go with you, my pretty maid?"
"There's not room for two, kind sir," she said.
"I'm quite in despair, my pretty maid," he replied.
"That with you o'er hill and through dale I can't ride,"
"Oh now kind sir, don't so badly feel, For I need no escort while riding my wheel,
But if I were you and I wanted to ride, O'er hill and through dale by somebody's side,
I know very well what I would do, I'd go buy a bicycle built for two."
