THE INEVITABLE.

I like the man who faces what he must
 With step triumphant, and a heart of cheer;
 Who fights the daily battles without fear
 Sees his hopes fail, yet keeps unfaltering trust That God is God; that somehow, true and just
 His plans work out for mortals; not a tear
 Is shed when fortune, which the world holds dear,
 Falls from his grasp; better, with love, a crust
 Than living in dishonor; envies not Nor loses faith in man; but does his best.
 Nor ever murmurs at his humbler lot,
 But with a smile and words of hope, gives zest
 To every toiler. He alone is great
 Who by a life heroic conquers fate.

Women and Their Ways.

Women have worn corsets from the earliest times. The mummy of the Egyptian princes who lived 2,000 years before Christ, was discovered in 1872, and round the waist was a contrivance closely resembling the modern corset.

In Albania the men wear petticoats and the women wear trousers. The women do all the work and their husbands attend to the heavy standing around.

A competent authority declares that over a million and a half of the women of this country earn their own living.

The average height of 1,000 French women is five feet one and a half inches, of 1,000 Russian women is five feet three and a half inches.

There are said to be 536 lady physicians practicing medicine in the cities of the United States.

It is stated by an authority on education that nine-tenths of the world's teachers are women.

More than one hundred callings, professions and occupations are open to the women of the present day.

THE RACES.

There was a large crowd out at the track Friday afternoon to see the races, the first since the track was built. Some splendid horses were entered and good time was made in all the heats.

FIRST RACE.

The first race was between Simon, owned by J. W. Parker, of Farmville, and John G., owned by B. W. Edwards, of Snow Hill.
 1st heat won by Simon by half neck, time 2:51.
 2nd heat won by John G., time 2:50.
 3rd heat won by John G., time 2:48.

SECOND RACE.

The second race was between George D., owned by B. W. Edwards, and Burnett, owned by B. W. Burnett.
 1st heat won by George D., time 2:58.
 2nd heat won by Burnett time 2:55.
 3rd heat won by Burnett, time 2:56.

Following these were some scrub races participated in by several local horses. Everything connected with the occasion passed off in good order and good judges say they were as fine races as they ever witnessed. Smith's and Humphrey's bands were both out to furnish music.

NEWS OFF THE WIRE.

Served by our "Leased" Underground Cable—(Limited).

Two 17 year-old boys attempted to wreck a train near Good water, Ala., because the engineer would not let them ride. They were captured and jailed.

A terrible hail storm visited the country adjacent to San Antonio, Texas. The roofs of houses were beaten full of holes by the hail stones.

After a three days' trial Charles A. Garitee, a well-known Baltimore attorney, was sentenced to six months in jail at hard labor, and to pay a fine of $100 for perjury.

J. S. Marable has in his possession a curious specimen of fowl. It is a chicken and yet a guinea. Its head and feet are identically like a guinea's. Otherwise it has the appearance of a hen.—Salisbury Herald.

Weather Hints.

Watch the sky for what are called "mares' tails." These appearing after clear weather show the track of the wind in the sky. A rosy sunset predicts fair weather. A red sky in the morning foretells bad weather. A gray sky in the morning means fine weather. If the first streaks of light dawn are seen above a bank of clouds, look out for wind; if they are close to or on the horizon, the weather will be fair. In general, soft, delicate colors in the sky, with indefinite forms of clouds, means fair weather; gaudy unusual colors, and hard edged clouds mean rain, and probably wind.

A dark, gloomy, blue sky is windy; but a bright, light blue sky indicates fine weather. Generally, the softer clouds look the less wind (but perhaps more rain) may be expected; and the harder, more "greasy," rolled, tufted, or ragged, the stronger the coming wind will prove.

A bright yellow sky at sunset presages wind; a pale yellow, wet; orange or copper colored, wind and rain.

These are some of the most important points about weather which have been set down in the books by old and experienced sailormen.—Harper's Young People.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, D. C. April 26, 1895

President Cleveland has a right to feel offended with any Democrat who believes that he contemplates or has even contemplated taking any step that would even seem like an attempt to coerce Federal office holders into advocating his view of financial matters. No one is surprised that Republicans should pretend to believe that the President has such intentions; they have always misrepresented his acts as well as his intentions, but it is certainly surprising that any Democrat, in view of Mr. Cleveland's record on the subject of office holders taking an active part in political matters, should be willing to accept such a story. President Cleveland doesn't differ from other men, in wishing to see his views on finance, or any other public question, adopted by his party, but he has no idea of asking or of allowing office holders to neglect their legitimate duties in order to advocate his own or anybody else's views on finance or any other political subject.

The much talked about Alliance incident will soon be satisfactorily settled. Secretary Gresham this week received a dispatch from Minister Taylor saying that the Spanish government would accede to all of the demands of the United States in the Alliance affair, and that the captain of the gunboat that fired on the Alliance would be punished for so doing.

Now that it has been settled that the Supreme Court will hear arguments on the petition for a rehearing of the income tax cases on May 6, and expected that a full bench will sit on that date, everybody is trying to discover some method of ascertaining how Justice Jackson will vote, as his vote is likely to be the deciding one as to a rehearing, and if favorable thereto, as to the constitutionality of the law. Justice Jackson, although a Democrat, was appointed to the Supreme Court by President Harrison. He was made a U. S. Circuit Judge by President Cleveland, during his first term.

Worth Repetition.

It cannot be too often repeated that Virginia and North Carolina and South Carolina have the great advantage over the other tobacco States in making and curing fine cured tobaccos. In this we excel; for this tobacco there is constant and profitable demand. It is therefore senseless and suicidal to attempt to compete for the common tobaccos of the world, as if we could do this; and if we could and then do better by far, why not confine our planting to the most profitable kinds and risk no failure of such crop? The great risk and great loss to all planters and dealers is that there is more made than is suitably prepared for. The men, State and county lines don't make the better tobacco nor the latitude, it is the intelligent land selection, preparation and cultivation and cure all combined that those makes the right kind of crop as who have paid for by experience know Virginia and North Carolina ought not to be in the business of making five cent crops, as we did last year.

As to dark tobacco, the same is true. There is demand for all the rich, dark and silk mahogauies that the land will make at paying prices, and nearly all else outside is loss of land and labor, time and money.—Southern Tobaccoist Richmond.

Well-Grown Children.

We are informed of two little (?) girls at Oriental, Pamlico county, which show remarkable weight for their ages.

One is Jennie Aldridge, daughter of Mr. John Aldridge. She is twelve years of age and weighs one hundred and forty-eight pounds.

The other one, is Katie Tunnell, daughter, of Mr. John Tunnell. Her growth is more remarkable still, she is but nine years old and yet she weighs one hundred and forty-four pounds. Both the children, as may well be supposed are strong and healthy.—Newbern Journal.

The Hasty Word.

To think before you speak is so wise an axiom that one would hardly think it needful to emphasize it by repetition. And yet in how many cases the hasty temper flashes out in the hasty word, and the latter does the work with the pain and the precision of the swift stiletto! Singularly enough, the hasty word oftentimes wounds those who love one another dearly, and the very closeness of their intimacy affords them opportunity for the sudden thrust. We know the weak points in the armor of our kinsman and friend; we are aware of his caprices, and ordinarily are tender and compassionate even of his vanities and his small fancies and whims; but there dawns a day when it is written in the book of fate that we shall be as cruel as we are loving. We are cold, or tired, or hungry. We are anxious over unpaid bills, or our expected letters have not arrived, or one of the children is ailing, and we dread the outcome of the malady. So politeness fails us, fortitude is vanished, philosophy is in obedience, and we say that which we repent in sackcloth and ashes. But though the hasty words may be forgiven, it is not at once forgotten. It has flawed the crystal of our friendship; the place may be cemented, but there is a shadowy scar on the gleaming surface. Oh, if the word of haste had been left unspoken; if the strong hand of patience had but held back the sword as it was about to strike!

What Always Cools Their Ardor.

Probate Judge Ferris to-day effectually suppressed the spirit of riot in his court room. Two attorneys became personal in their remarks before the court, and one invited the other "outside." The Judge at once stopped business and said: "If you men really want to scrap, have it out here. I'll not take judicial notice of it." Afterward the judge said: "That is the only way to cure these boasters, who are always talking about what they will do on the outside. An invitation to have it out right now invariably cools them down."

The greatest meeting of Confederate veterans that has been seen in many a year will take place about a month hence at Houston, Texas.

Chickens as Weather Profits.

A grizzled and gray Montgomery county farmer formed one of a group of men who were discussing weather signs in the Tribunal Market yesterday. "I always know when there is to be a wind storm," he said, "by watching the turkeys and chickens go to roost each night. In calm weather the fowls always roost on their poles their heads alternating each way; that is, one faces east, the next west, and so on. But when there is going to be a high wind they always roost with their heads toward the direction from which it is coming.
 There are reasons for these different ways of roosting, I take it.
 When there is no wind to guard against they can see other danger more readily if they are headed in both directions, but when wind is to rise they face it because they can hold their positions better. But the part I can't understand," he concluded, "is how the critters know the wind is going to rise when we mortals lack all intimation of it."—Philadelphia Record.

A new fashion that is just beginning to grow in vogue is that of writing letters in pencil rather than with pen and ink. When once it is doubtful whether anything but legal documents and business papers that must be preserved will ever be prepared in the old style. Letters are generally shorter nowadays than they formerly were, are more hastily written, more frequent and sei-dom worth keeping for any length of time. They are not the elaborate efforts of bygone days, that were often cherished for their intrinsic worth. The pencil, which is far more convenient than the pen, is therefore, taking its place in the great mass of casual correspondence. The greatest and busiest writers in the world are newspaper reporters.
 They write with pencils, and they are in the swim with the fashonables.—Ex.

Great quantities of two cent U.
 S. stamps, counterfeited in Canada are being seized in this country. They are a clumsy counterfeit. The ink is darker than the shade on the genuine stamps.
 The counterfeit has more blue in its composition than the genuine color, which contained a large mixture of orange. The paper used came in small sheets, and the Treasury department officials think it was obtained in England.

A new town bell was hung Friday evening and Night Policeman Daniel can pull his string again. Pity but what we had a town clock to tell the hours instead of the bell having to be ringing.

Carp Caught in a Field.

To-day Mr. Lunsford Fleming, of Pactolus township, brought several very large German carp to town, the fish running in weight from 7 to 10 pounds. Something peculiar about these fish is that they were caught in Mr. Fleming's field. The freshet in the river caused the water to back up a large ditch and overflow the field and seeing signs of the fish breaking in the water. Mr. Fleming placed a net across the ditch and caught ten of them. We did not know before that there were carp in Tar river, but Mr. G. E. Harris tells us that some of the skimmers catch one now and then while fishing for shad.
