The Queen of the Seasons to the Queen of May.

I come to greet thee, Queen of May,
 To yield my vassals to thy sway.
 First Winter, rough and stern erewhile,
 Now shorn of storm and blast,
 Comes asking with thy gracious smile
 Forgiveness of the past.
 Then light and glad some Queen of May,
 With bursins, buds, and bright spring,
 In foliage green and cherry gay,
 Her tribute hastes to bring.
 And offering with exultant mien
 Her fields red-ripe with grain,
 Comes Summer, too, to claim a fair Queen,
 A place among your train.
 And Autumn, gay in spite of sadness,
 Presses close with eager gladness,
 To fling her wreath of russet leaves,
 'Mid Spring's fair flowers and Summer's sheaves.

—M. in Richmond Dis. atch.

A Romantic Story.

W. S. Guthrie is in the city today gathering data to be used in an pithy exceedingly and diverting story, which will be published in Saturday's DAILY REFLECTOR and next weeks EASTERN REFLECTOR. The romance, for such it is will be of particular interest to Greenville people, in as much as a number of our best citizens figure conspicuously in the role of characters. The article will appear under the caption of "Jolly Old Josh" and will have a practical as well as sentimental side; will profit as well as amuse. Be sure to read "Uncle Josh" in Saturday's REFLECTOR.

Two Things He Admires.

A young man who spent some time in Greenville and recently left to accept a position in another town, writes back for the DAILY REFLECTOR saying it is "hard to do without it." He also takes occasion to inquire after the Greenville girls and adds that "none are more beautiful and charming." That young man wears a level head.

NEWS OFF THE WIRE.

Served by our "Leased" Underground Cable—(Limited).

Four men were killed in a street fight at Newbern, Tenn.

Mrs. Martha Wallen, of Blackwater, Lee county, Va., stabbed Mrs. Jane Wallace to death with a pitchfork. The killing was the outcome of jealousy on the part of Mrs. Wallen.

Arch Brown, son and private secretary of Governor Brown, of Kentucky, and a Mrs. Gordon were both shot and killed by the enraged husband of the woman who caught them in criminal intimacy.

One hundred and twenty-nine ballots for United States Senator have been taken by the Delaware Legislature with an election no nearer in sight than when the voting for Senator began fifteen weeks ago.

A Jacksonville, Fla., negro shot and killed his wife because she did not make soup to suit him. While being conveyed to prison he was taken from the officers by a mob of masked men who put him "in the soup" by filling him full of bullets.

Democratic Ward Meetings.

The Democratic voters of the Second and Fourth Wards of the town of Greenville are requested to meet at the following places on Friday night at 8 o'clock to-wit: Second Ward at the Mayor's office.

Fourth Ward at the Court House.

For the purpose of nominating candidates for Councilmen to be voted for on Monday the 6th inst.

A merchant said that the dull business in his line just now made him sympathize with the editor, for he was sure it is hard work to get news for a daily paper such weather as this.

A Georgia goldbug editor says "silver makes him laugh." This is a great truth. It brings a smile to the faces of millions of people. The faintest jingle of it puts us in a roaring good humor.—Greensboro Record.

The oyster is making plans for his summer vacation.

The cows and the fish dread the approach of fly time.

No, Maude, dear, the single tax is not a tax on bachelors.

Well Dressers.

Come to me because they know a good thing when they see it. They can get the very best styles of up-to-date Clothing and Furnishing Goods at much less price than elsewhere. Extravagance is not necessarily a part of well dressing—fact is, frequently the best dressers are the most economical. They know "chic" styles and where to find them. They are not led astray by superfluous gab from other houses but come steadily on to me, where they get what they want at the right kind of price. You can do the same. I invite you to do so.

IN NORTH CAROLINA.

What is Happening Over the State.

The governor has offered a reward of $90 for the capture and delivery of John Council to the Sheriff of Gates county. Council is a murderer.

Court convenes in Kinston next Monday, Judge Hoke presiding.

Startling Figures.

In considering the proposition to call a State constitutional convention, the people of Virginia should not lose sight of the startling figures presented some time ago by Mr. Eugene Withers, member of the General Assembly from Danville. According to these, in Virginia there are 126 judges, drawing salaries; the same work is done in North Carolina by 20. The salaries of Virginia judges amount to $122,200; of the North Carolina judges, $47,000. Virginia has 117 prosecuting attorneys; North Carolina, 16. The Virginia prosecuting attorneys are paid $84,500; in North Carolina, $25,000. The total cost of judges and prosecuting attorneys in Virginia is $206,700; in North Carolina, $82,000; or, in other words, in these two items of State expenses, North Carolina saves over Virginia $123,000.—Lynchburg Advance.

District Attorney R. B. Glenn fixed the bond of Holland, the defaulting cashier of the Charlotte bank, at $15,000. A number of Holland's friends stepped up voluntarily and asked to be allowed to signed the bond, several of them signing for $10,000 each. When the amounts were footed up the aggregate showed $91,000. Mr. Glenn said it was the most remarkable bond he ever saw.

The first State crop report of this year has just been issued by the Department of Agriculture. That condition of wheat as compared with that in average years is 86 per cent.; oats, 78; rye 84; rice, 84. The condition of preparation for corn is 92 per cent.; cotton 73; tobacco, 91; decrease in cotton acreage, 28 per cent.; increase of logs raised, 26 per cent; efficiency of labor 92 per cent.

The Southport Leader has entered in dead earnest upon its undertaking to secure a souvenir silver service to be presented in behalf of the State to the United States Cruiser Raleigh, named in honor of the capitol of North Carolina. The editors of that paper have written the REFLECTOR to suggest some young lady in Greenville who would assist them by raising some subscriptions here for that purpose. If any one or two young ladies will do this we will be glad to confer with them and report their names as solicitors for Greenville. This is a matter in which the whole State is interested.

A CHICAGO VIEW.

On the subject of Southern development the Chicago Tribune says: "The most attractive field for investment this year is the South, according to the statements of those who have shown their faith by their works, as well as by the testimony of financial men who have recently visited that section.

"Not only has the attention of visitors been attracted to the South, but a tide of immigration has set in that direction greater than in any year of its history. It is said to equal Western immigration in the days when the mining sections of the Rocky mountains and the agricultural States of Kansas and Nebraska were passing through the period known as the 'boom'.

"Much of the capital heretofore seeking investment each spring in the mines, lands and cattle of the West is being diverted to the South this year, financial observers say, and they give numerous reasons for the change. In the first place of the South, they say, are making a greater effort this year to attract capital and immigration than ever before. The Southern railroads have extended them more assistance than formerly in advertising the advantages of their territory and by making unusually low rates to immigrants. Silver mining is no longer an attractive industry for the investor. The partial failure of crops in many of the far Western States has temporarily checked the tide of immigration in that direction, while the fencing of ranges and the consequent depression in the saddle-growing industry has made live stock investment the least attractive of all.

"The gulf coast of Florida and Texas has been the heaviest beneficiary of late investment and immigration, as shown by the statements of financiers and investors, but Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina and some points of Arkansas have received a share of Northern capital and new blood. A considerable portion of this capital has been drawn from New York, but Chicago has also furnished a large amount."

Smoking a Ground for Divorce.

The record of anti tobacco legislation has been broken by a Minnesota legislator who has introduced a bill making it possible for a woman to obtain a divorce from her husband on the ground that he uses tobacco to excess.

It will be a difficult question to determine what excessive smoking is, and if many of the court-rooms are placed in evidence, with their air clouded and heavy with fumes from cigars and pipes, and the floor covered with the expectoration of the jurors, even the judge and the lawyers, to say nothing of the spectators and jurors, may find that they are as liable to lose their wives as the defendant in the action. Cigar manufacturers in other States can enclose divorce coupons in their boxes, and in place of prizes with smoking or chewing tobacco or cigarettes, guarantee against proceedings, a copy of the Minnesota divorce laws, and the address of a lawyer, whose services are paid for by the year by the manufacturers will be an acceptable gift to the consumer. The next step in anti-tobacco legislation is awaited with anxiety.—Tobacco Leaf.

Always Say Grace.

A clerk and his country father entered a restaurant Sunday evening and took seats at a table, where sat a telegraph operator and a reporter. The old man bowed his head and was about to say grace, when a waiter flew up, singing: "I have beefsteak, pork chops, and codfish ball." Father and son gave their orders, and the former again bowed his head. The young man turned the color of a blood-red beet, and touching his arm, exclaimed in low, nervous tone: "Father it isn't customary to do that in a restaurant!"

"It's customary for me to return thanks to God wherever I am," said the old man.

For the third time he bowed his head, and the son bowed his head, and the telegraph operator paused in the act of carving his beefsteak, and bowed his head, and the journalist put back his fish ball, and bowed his head and there wasn't a man who heard the short and simple prayer that didn't feel a profounder respect for the old farmer than if he had been the President of the United States.

What is Sound Currency?

What is a sound currency?

The Philadelphia Bulletin seems to think that this is a question of which aspirants to the presidency fight shy. They are ready enough that paper says, to tell what would constitute a bad currency, but not so ready to tell what would constitute a good currency. Some of these distinguished gentlemen who won't enlighten us as to what would constitute a good currency will no doubt be found to be advocates of what the western papers style a "red-dog, wild-cat" currency. That is to say, they denounce the 50-cent silver dollars, holding that they would of themselves constitute an unsound currency. So also, they denounce as unsound currency greenbacks, silver certificates, national bank notes, and all sorts of national currency except gold and silver.

Now who will be the first of the aspirants to the presidency to tell us what sort of currency would satisfy him? What would be a "sound currency"? Would it be a currency based upon nothing? That is to say, circulating notes such as we had before the war between the States, which were based upon specie and credit? In those ante-bellum days are "independent" banks, as they were called, were allowed to issue circulating notes upon specie to the amount of two or three dollars of the bank's notes to every specie dollar it had in its vaults. You don't believe that anybody favors this sort of currency now? Well, inform yourselves in the premises, and you will find that the whole question is opened when the affirmation is made that the National Government must have nothing to do with furnishing any other currency than gold and silver.

Let some presidential aspirant clear up this matter.—Richmond Dispatch.

Lied.

Yesterday at residence on Montgomery avenue, Shake Rag, N. C., after a lingering illness, brought on by the excessive use of tobacco, Cicero Ledbetter, husband of Mary Ellen Ledbetter, 1846, Ella Margaret Ledbetter, 1851, Viola Hope Ledbetter, 1853, Realization Ledbetter, 1856, and Pomme d'Terre Ledbetter, 1871, age 109 years 6 months and 11 days. Funeral private. Relatives of his late wives are cordially invited.

"Has our husband went away
After such a lengthy stay?
Yes, he's found the land he sought,
And he knowest what is what,
For, no matter what he did,
Now he knowest quid est quid."

The above notice tells its own sad tale. Such truths as these come home to us with crushing force. They say in language which cannot be misunderstood: Beware of tobacco, tea, coffee, chocolate, etc., or some day you will be a corpse.

I am glad to notice on the part of the friends of humanity a strong effort to encourage those who wish to quit the use of tobacco. To break off the use of the weed is one of the most agreeable methods of relaxation. I have tried it a great many times, and I can safely say that it has afforded me the deepest joy.

To violently reform and cast away the weed and at the end of the week to find a good cigar unexpectedly in the quiet, unostentatious pocket of an old vest affords the most intense and delirious delight.

A WOMAN'S WAY.

She Stood Up in the Car for Her Little Son.

That the ways of women are passing strange was again proved by an incident on a Main street car the other evening. A gentleman rose to offer his seat to a lady who had just entered with her little boy. Seeing the seat vacant she sent the boy to occupy it, while she clung to a strap. She was evidently very tired and would have enjoyed a seat, but preferred to care for her son first. Presently a lady left the car and the one standing took her seat. Next to her was a serving maid with a pretty baby on her lap. The lady asked permission to hold it, and, the request being granted, she cooed and talked and played with the child for a half hour, utterly oblivious of her own boy's jealous cries and frantic efforts to attract attention.

Lobster Beds Becoming Empty.

Unless measures for their preservation are promptly taken the lobster fisheries of New England will soon be worthless. Fishermen themselves who have in the literal sense been killing the lobster with the golden egg which provides them a livelihood, are beginning to feel alarmed at the rate that the supply of lobsters is diminishing.—Providence Journal.

Don't Let

Every merchant who beats a tattoo through the columns of the news papers make you dance to his music. If you do you'll soon be taking steps that would set Carmencita to shame. Everything in my Spring Clothes, Hat and Furnishing Goods, Dry Goods, Shoes, Notions, and Dress Goods stock is good. We shun the dangerous association with the very cheap and court the favor of honest quality and the lovers of it. The fineness of the fabrics, the selectness of the patterns and the honesty of the qualities are far more eloquent than the loftiest words.
