A MODEL FARMER.

Editor Reflector:

It was the writer's pleasure on the 22nd of April to visit Cottendale and Southwood, farms belonging to Mr. R. B. Cotten, of Falkland township. I stopped first at the Cottendale farm and at the ringing of the door bell was met by that estimable lady, Mrs. Cotten, who North Carolina feels proud to own. She represented our State as one of the committee at the Worlds Fair in 1893. After a very pleasant conversation with her I drove to the center of the farm where I found Mr. Cotten giving his overseer some of his excellent ideas about the preparation of some tobacco lands. We then drove to one of his several pack houses where we examined a large lot of tobacco. Mr. Cotten is one of the most scientific farmers in the State, and also the largest tobacco grower east of the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad.

His Cottendale farm has a big canal which runs through the centre of it and carries the waters to the Tar river, a distance of three miles. He has a nice pasture on this canal where he keeps his cows, sheep, goats and hogs. His farm is so completely terraced and ditched that the water fall is 40 feet to the mile. He runs 26 plows and 40 tobacco barns, plants 170 acres in tobacco, 250 in corn, 75 in oats and 21 in potatoes. He also keeps up with the rain fall during the year. He says in January the rainfall was 6.70 inches, February was very light, March 9.20 and April 6.11. Mr. Cotten is decidedly one of the best farmers in our knowledge. The farmers of Pitt would do well to consult with him and get some of his excellent ideas.

OLA FORBES.

To day Mr. A. C. Tucker brought another sample lot of his last year's cotton crop to town—just thirteen bales in the lot. He sold the lot through at 5.70.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Death of Mr. B. F. Bryan—Taylor Philpot Marriage.

BETHEL, N. C., May 10th 1895.—Mr. W. L. Stallings and brother, of Jamesville, were in town yesterday and to-day.

Mr. John L. Taylor was married to Miss Virginia M. Philpot on Wednesday evening at the bride's father, Mr. W. W. Philpot, D. C. Moore, Esq., officiating. There were six couples in attendance. A reception was held at the groom's father in Bethel.

The little son of Mr. G. B. Whitfield, about four years old, was killed by lightning yesterday evening, and its mother and a young man by the name of Willie Thorne were both knocked down by the shock and came near being killed. Mrs. Whitfield's condition is thought to be critical. Dr. Grimes says she will probably recover. Mr. Thorne is much better to-day. The little boy was buried this evening, funeral services conducted by Rev. W. A. Forbes at Mr. Whitfield's.

Mr. B. F. Bryan, ex-post master at Bethel after a long and lingering illness with consumption, died at his home on James street Tuesday night. Funeral services were held in the Methodist church of which he had been a faithful member for more than thirty years, by Rev. W. A. Forbes Wednesday evening at 4 o'clock. He was buried by the "I. O. O. F." in the presence of a large concourse of people. He leaves a widow and four children. May the good Lord guide, protect and comfort them in this their sad hour of bereavement.

NEWS OFF THE WIRE.

Served by our "Leased" Underground Cable—(Limited).

The Delaware Legislature adjourned without electing a Senator, 211 ballots having been taken during the session. Just prior to adjournment the Speaker of the House declared H. A. Dupont elected, which will cause a contest in the United States Senate.

There are eight candidates for the vacant Collectorship of the Fifth North Carolina District, with ex-Congressman John S. Henderson probably in the lead.

Consider . . .

Yourself personally invited to spend as much time as you like examining goods, even if you never buy a cent's worth. This store is a store; yet it is an exhibition. There are many things here—Clothes, Hats, Furnishings—that will please the eye and grace the person, with a touch upon the pocketbook so light as to never irritate.

IN NORTH CAROLINA.

What is Happening Over the State.

Elizabeth City people have had a meeting and subscribed $65,000 for a cotton factory.

A runaway horse dashed into the Battery Park Bank at Asheville and did damage to the office furniture to the extent of about $25. United States Senator Jeter Pritchard was in the bank at the time, and received a slight cut on the wrist from broken glass and a painful kick on his right knee. The horse was severely cut, and had to be taken to a veterinary surgeon.

A horse which pulls a street car between the depot and the Benbow Hotel, in Greensboro, hauling the car up town, broke loose from it and the single tree fell down on his heels, frightening him so that he rushed up the street at a fearful rate of speed. Being blind, he ran into two horses hitched to a hack, broke the tongue of the hack, then he rushed on into an old wall near the hotel with a fearful crash driving a large piece of board into his breast and killing himself.

The colored folks had a big festival out at the Planters Warehouse Friday night.

EVERY AFTERNOON (EXCEPT SUNDAY)

The Southern Baptist Convention met in Washington yesterday. There are about three thousand delegates and visitors present. This is the largest delegated ecclesiastical body in the world. There are many noted men present. Several important measures are to come before the body, among which are the Baptist Young People's Societies, and the question of union with the Northern Convention.

The Executive Committee of the State Fair met in Raleigh the evening of the 8th. It was declared that no fair could be held unless a sufficient sum, which is $3,000, could be raised to pay premiums. Secondly, that the Raleigh people should raise this amount. Col. J. S. ... the President, subscribed ... of the amount. A committee was appointed to raise the amount and see if the railroads would give a rate of one cent per mile.

Ordered that the pauper order of J. W. Crisp and wife be made $5 00.

MAKING AXES.

A Business Once Carried On by the Village Blacksmiths.

But Labor-Saving Machinery Has Robbed Them of Their Monopoly and Greatly Cheapened the Production—An Inferior Article Made.

Within the memory of men now living, the manufacture of axes was quite generally carried on by country blacksmiths, who employed the time when regular work was dull in making axes to sell customers, says Hardware. A good tool was required to stand in hard and frosted timber, and not every blacksmith was able to do the work. Those who possessed the most skill found the demand for their axes increasing, and so it came about that the miscellaneous work of the shop was abandoned by an occasional wielder of the hammer, who devoted his time largely to the production of his specialty. He soon found that the mountain streamlet hard by the old shop could be harnessed by means of an "overshot" wheel, to drive a trip hammer to lessen his outlay of physical force and to increase his output, and thus by degrees the modern shop was elaborated.

Until the power hammer came into use the ax was formed either by punching a small hole through a bar of iron, and then gradually enlarged to form the eye of the ax, or the bar of iron was hammered thin in two places, after which it was folded together so as to bring these cavities opposite each other to form the eye. In either case, as soon as the eye was formed, the cast steel was welded on to form the bit or cutting part of the ax, and the blades and head were given their respective shapes, to conform to the customer's design, according to the workman's ability.

It being difficult to punch a hole straight through a thin, wide bar of iron, that method of forming the eye was not greatly used, and was altogether abandoned as power hammers came into use and all axes were "plated" under the hammer. A few small shops continue to make axes after this manner, but all manufacturers of importance now form the eye either by the use of rolls or by means of punches. The punch seems to be growing in favor among manufacturers, but each method has its warm supporters.

In early times no attention was paid to finish. The one great aim was to produce an ax which would neither break nor bend when thin enough to chop easily. Clearly then, as now, the best maker of axes was the one who could bring about this result; but strife among manufacturers to secure trade, and the desire of buyers to get nicely-finished goods, has gradually led to the production of tools which are beautiful and sometimes good. It is not to be implied that beauty of finish necessarily implies inferiority of quality. On the contrary, some makers study to combine in a high degree both quality and finish; but the decided tendency of the trade has been of late to please the eye, and at the same time produce something so cheaply that, if dealers could be deceived, would enable the deceiver to book large orders.

So marked has been the decline in prices at which axes have been sold during the past decade that the cause must be sought, in part, outside of the fact that materials are cheaper and that labor-saving machinery lessens cost of production. Often cheaper and unsuitable materials are used, and machine methods of manufacture are adopted, which are not warranted, some even going so far as to make axes entirely of soft steel, give them a nice finish and sell them to those who will have axes very cheap.

WHERE OLD CAR HORSES GO.

Many Go to Europe, Which Is Burdened with Its Equine Population.

Just as we are getting rid of our horses by substituting electric traction on street railways, the inhabitants of European countries are complaining that their equine population is increasing beyond all reasonable bounds. Electric traction has as yet made comparatively little progress there, and we are dumping on their shores many of our worn-out old car horses, to such an extent that from one country—Scotland—an energetic protest has just gone up.

In France they are no better off.
 Recent statistics show that that country has no less than 3,000,000 horses, and that the horse population of the cities (about 800,000) is continually increasing at a greater rate than the human population.
 This, without doubt, is due to the increase of urban street-car lines, which are making much progress in France, especially in the smaller cities. In Paris there were twenty-five years ago 70,000 horses, now there are 120,000, which travel, collectively, every day a distance equivalent to two and one-half times the circuit of the globe.

COSTLY AUTOGRAPHS.

Columbus' Signature Brought 4,000
 Francs at an Auction.

At a Paris autograph sale in December, 1890, the signature of Christopher Columbus (which is, probably, one of the most fantastic sign manuals ever used) brought 4,000 francs. The only existing piece of manuscript in Titian's handwriting was knocked down at 3,000 francs, and one with Cromwell's signature attached brought in exactly half that sum. Alfred Morrison, a great English collector of autographs, was present at the sale, and paid a sum equal to 4,000 francs for the only letter written by Corneille that has ever been on the market. The last letter written by Napoleon to Empress Marie Louise, was disposed of at the same sale bringing 4,000 francs, and several signatures of Louis XIV. and Henry IV. fetched
 1,000 francs each.

A Remarkable Family.

On one of the estates of Count Potocki, in Galacia, Austria, the very rare event of a mother, daughter and granddaughter each giving birth to a son on the same day occurred, says the London Standard.
 The mother is forty-eight, and the infant son is her sixteenth child.
 The daughter, who has presented her husband with his eighth, is thirty-three years old; and the granddaughter, who was married last year, is not yet quite sixteen. All the three new-born sons are strong and healthy, and the same may be said of their mothers, who belong to the Polish peasant class.

A STARTLING STATEMENT.

American Women Spend $20,000,- 000 a Year for Chewing Gum.

A recent bulletin of the Young Women's association contains the following statement, which is signed by Charlotte Carne, and which she claims is not exaggerated, but founded on the best authority.
 She says: "We have in the United States a population of 60,000,000—with an average of one minister to every 800 souls. The total population of the foreign field (counting Mohammedans and Catholics) is 1,- 181,000,000 — with only 2,923 ordained Protestant missionaries—an average (in round numbers) of one missionary to every 400,000. The annual expenditure for Christian work in the United States by Protestant church members is $80,000,- 000. This $80,000,000 is expended for the evangelization of 60,000,000 people, $1.33 each. The annual expenditure of Protestant Christians in the United States for foreign missions is $4,000,000 for the evangelization of 1,181,000,000 — one-third of a cent each. Every year we women of the United States
 spend $125,000,000 for dress goods, $25,000,000 for kid gloves, $20,000,- 000 for ostrich tips and, most appalling of all, $20,000,000 for chewing gum."

LITTLE THINGS.

A good-bye kiss is a little thing,
With your hand on the door to go.
But it takes the venom out of the sting
Of a thoughtless word or a cruel fling
That you made an hour ago.

A kiss of greeting is sweet and rare
After the toll of the day,
And it smooths the furrows plowed by care,
The lines on the forehead you once called fair
In the years that have flown away.

'Tis a little thing to say, "You are kind;
I love you, my dear." each night,
But it sends a thrill through the heart,
I find—

For love is tender, as love is blind—
As we climb life's rugged height.

We starve each other for love's caress,
We take but we do not give;
It seems so easy some soul to bless,
But we dole the love grudgingly, less and less,
Till 'tis bitter and hard to live.

WITH OUR KODAK.

Just This Many Faces Were Caught.

Rev. A. Greaves came over from Kinston this morning.

Mr. R. H. Hayes left this morning for Chase City, Va.

Mr. R. J. Cobb returned Friday evening from Norfolk.

Miss Sophie Jarvis is visiting Miss Aylmer Sugg in the country.

Solicitor C. M. Bernard came home Friday evening from Nashville where he had been at court.

Mr. J. H. Blount returned
Friday evening, bringing Mrs.
Blount with him. She is cordially welcomed to Greenville.

Dr. C. J. O'Hagan came home
Friday evening from Baltimore where he had been attending the National Medical Convention.

Fertilizer Sales.

We notice that a late report from the State Agricultural Department said there had been considerable falling off in the sale of fertilizers in the State this year. But one dealer in Greenville tells us that in this county and section the sales for this season show a large increase over last season. Pitt county is preparing for big crops—potatoes and tobacco especially.

$100,000 For Fertilizers.

The REFLECTOR has been talking with some of the fertilizer dealers to get an idea of the quantity sold in Pitt county this season, and the estimate arrived at is 3,500 tons of ammoniated goods, besides kainit and lime.
The cost of this quantity of fertilizers in round numbers is about $100,000, which amount goes out of Pitt county for this item alone. The farmers will have to make good crops to be able to pay such a large sum.
Large crops are calculated for and we hope they will come fully up to expectation.
