WHEN DAYS WUZ LONG.

When days wuz long an' skies wuz clear.
 But work is work and life is real,
 I won't never do a half way feel.
 Ez if yer'd s'deter like to drift
 Away in dreams, ez floats a tiff
 Uv wand'rin' sunshine cross the floor,
 No, staided days, in dreams, is best;
 Them long bright hours is long since
 I ast,
 The spring of life can't alter last,
 For autumn comes an' brings the rain,
 An' life ne'er looks the same again.

But ez I said, the spring-time brings

To me a sense of better things,
 It takes me back full forty year,
 When days wuz long and skies wuz clear.

 For the

Cost of Fire Insurance

Mr. George W. Crocker, in an article in the North American Review, shows that fire insurance costs in the United States more than twelve times what it does in France, about seven times what it costs in Germany, and four times what it costs in England. The relative cost of $100 worth of insurance in various countries follows, and will prove suggestive: France, 8 cents; Germany 15 cents; England, 20 cents; Australia, 30 cents; Austria, 38 cents; Russia, 61 cents; United States 51.

SPECIAL TRAIN SUNDAY.

For the Rifles and Others Going to the Unveiling.

Through the efforts of Agent J. R. Moore, who is always ready to exert himself in any direction that is for the accommodation of our people, a special train has been secured to run from Kinston to Parneto on Sunday to take the Pitt County Rifles and all others from this section wishing to attend the unveiling of the Confederate monument at Raleigh on Monday. This special train will pass Greenville about 10 o'clock Sunday morning. The following telegram was received by Mr. Moore yesterday:

WILMINGTON, N. C., May 15th.

To J. R. Moore, Greenville, N. C.:
 Yours 14th. We will arrange to run special train Kinston to Parneto Sunday, 19th, to connect at that point with train on Tarboro branch to accommodate Greenville Military Company and other parties desiring to attend unveiling at Raleigh. Will arrange special coach for Military Company to go through.

H. M. EMERSON.

This special train will enable several members of the company, and quite a number of people who could not leave home on Saturday, to attend the unveiling, and there will no doubt be a great many to go. The date of the unveiling on Monday would make it impossible for a many people to attend unless they could get advantage of a train on Sunday, and they appreciate what the clever agent has done in this direction.

NEWS OFF THE WIRE.

Served by our "Leased" Underground Cable—(Limited).

Smallpox is still raging in Staunton, Va., several new cases breaking out every day. There are also many cases at Lexington, Va.

At West Bingham, Pa., five men were killed and three others injured by the explosion of a large boiler.

Forty-one dwellings, a hotel, church and city hall in Pratt City, Ala., were destroyed by fire.

Very few people coming to town, and the streets look dull.

Mr. W. R. Parker says if the REFLECTOR will let the weather alone a few days it may stay fair until after the unveiling. All right we will keep hands off that long and take it as it comes. But if you don't look out it will rain.

STORMY TIMES IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

There is a prospect of stormy times in South Carolina. The Governor has issued a pronouncement from which we make the following extracts. It sounds like war times:

"The people of South Carolina have always been law abiding and respect the constitution and courts of the United States, but when the judges of these courts wantonly invade and trample under foot the recognized rights of our people guaranteed by the Federal constitution, they have a right to assert themselves and maintain their sovereignty and independence. This they have ever done and will continue to do, and will resist with all the means within their power, usurpation and tyranny of partisan politicians in high places, who disgrace the judicial ermine. We cannot, nor have we the desire to resort to arms to resist his unjust decree, but we can and will expect the united effort of liberty-loving people to thwart the conspirators who are plotting the overthrow of our civilization. In this struggle we confidently rely on the sympathies and moral support of lovers of good government and State's rights throughout the Union. The sovereignty of the States, within their proper spheres, is as dear to Massachusetts and Ohio as it is in South Carolina, and the principle cannot be struck down here without receiving a mortal blow elsewhere.

"It is unfortunate that the passions and prejudices excited by the war in regard to the negro should influence the opinions and feelings of judges in dealing with this vital principle, but it will follow inevitably that if this principle is once destroyed, this country will be convulsed with a revolution for the restoration of the liberties of white men that will far eclipse that other fatal struggle for the emancipation of the blacks.

"A crisis confronts us, an issue has been thrust upon us without our consent at a time when peace was hovering over the State. South Carolina is enjoying an era of industrial improvement, factories are being built in greater number than elsewhere in the South. The credit of the State ranks higher than ever in its history, our bonds not being purchasable at a premium of less than ten per cent. The march of progress is about to be stopped; the black pall of negro domination hovers over us; we must meet the issue like South Carolinians. There are only two flags, the white and the black; under which will you enlist? The one, the white, peaceful flag of Anglo-Saxon civilization and progress; or the other, the black flag of the debased and ignorant African, with the white traitors, who are seeking to marshal the negroes in order to gain political power? It is fortunate that the issue comes at this time when a constitution is to be made guaranteeing white supremacy once and forever. The Constitutional Convention must be controlled by white men, not white men with black hearts, not negroes. The world must be shown that we are capable of governing ourselves and that, constitution or no constitution, law or no law, court or no court, the intelligent white men of South Carolina intend to govern here. Let the man who undertakes to lead the ignorant blacks against you suffer as he did in 1876, and remember that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. I will not call the Legislature together. They can do nothing. An appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States, but under the red tape and technicalities surrounding it, a decision cannot be had in time to affect the election of delegates. It must be a free, open fight. I appeal to the sovereign people of South Carolina, the wisest and the safest and purest tribunal, to protect their homes and liberties. They have never failed to respond to duty. The government of the people must and shall be perpetuated, and we are ready to lead the fight under the white man's flag.

This is a queer world. A Philadelphia clerk says he stole from his employer in order to keep a temperance paper, of which he was editor, going. Stealing to reform others is certainly a unique crime.

TRACING TYPHOID FEVER.

Interesting results have attended the investigation of a typhoid fever epidemic at Stamford, Conn., where there are 180 cases. It has been shown that the germs of the disease were distributed with the milk sold by one milk dealer. At the beginning of the investigation it was ascertained that all the cases were in houses on this dealer's milk route. He procured from several farmers the milk which he sold, but, as these farmers sold milk to other persons who had not been attacked by typhoid, it was inferred that the milk had become infested after it passed into his possession. Bacteriological analysis has shown that the water, taken from a well on his premises, with which it was his custom to wash his milk cans, is very seriously polluted, and that the water of several other wells in the neighborhood of his house are in a dangerous condition. A typhoid fever epidemic at Montclair, N. J., a year ago, was traced to a milk dealer, as it were also a similar epidemic at Waterburg, Conn., three or four years since and one at Springfield, Mass., more recently; and in this connection the statement is made that in "Great Britain, during the last few years, the infection of the milk supply, proceeding from cases of typhoid in the families of dairy farmers or milk dealers, has been shown to have been the cause of twenty five local epidemics of this disease, involving 3,000 cases and nearly 400 deaths."

The fact is about being established that, next to drinking water, milk is the most fruitful source of typhoid fever, which is another argument for guarding it with the most scrupulous care. It may be said that the theory of former years, that typhoid fever is taken into the systems through the air we breathe has been exploded and that the fact has been established that in practically all cases it comes with the liquids we drink. There is a large measure of protection in the knowledge of this fact.—Charlotte Observer.

General Wade Hampton tells William E. Curtis that he never knew a man to be scared to death in battle, although there were a great many cases of death which might be attributed to this cause. Men were repeatedly found dead upon the field without wounds upon them. He does recollect, however, a case of a man whose death was caused by his being drifted into the confederate army. He had an intense horror of being forced into the service and immediately after he learned that he had been conscripted was taken ill. The provost marshal believed that he was feigning and attempted to punish him, but the man kept growing worse and finally died from no disease but the dread of going into the army.

What Advertising Does.

Major Moses P. Hanby, says
 the Boston Herald, tells of a busness concern with a nominal capital of $160,000, only $30,000 of it paid in, that has divided in a single year, among three partners,
 profits to the amount of $750,000,
 and that exclusive of salaries of $50,000 and $25,000 drawn by two members of the firm. Ten years ago one of these partners was a drug clerk on a small salary in a Western town and is now one of the millionaires of New York.
 "Without newspaper advertising
 I might have made a living," he said, "but it was advertising that made me rich, and advertising a very simple commodity at that."
 Another concern, which began by investing $10,000 a year in newspaper advertising, increased the amount every year according to their increase of business, and this year expects to spend $1,000,
 000. These are only specimen
 bricks of the enormous profits realized from shrewd newspaper advertising.

The low price of cotton has proved to be a blessing in disguise by impressing upon the farmers the necessity of diversifying their crops. Certainly the South has too long neglected the work of raising her own supplies
 of all kinds, and the production of more grain and vegetables will materially promote her prosperity.
 —Salisbury Herald.

The New York Advertiser wants
 to know how the western people are to protect themselves against the tornadoes of winter and spring. The Charlotte News says that is easy enough. Come South where the tornado and cyclone is not cultivated. That is the sensible solution of this question and the westerner is beginning to realize it.

In New York during 1894 the sum total of defalcations was $9,- 000,000. In North Carolina that year the total was only $8,100.

How He Did It.

"I understand that your son went west intending to rise with the community," said the neighbor.
 "Yes. An' he did what he started out fur."
 "How?"
 "He hedn't been there a week before a cyclone struck the town."—

The Meeting.

A large congregation heard Rev. B. J. Moorman at the Methodist church last night and all were delighted with his discourse. He preached ably and eloquently from the text "Speak to the children of Israel that they go forward." At the close of the sermon there were several requests for prayer. There will be a prayer service at 5 o'clock each afternoon and preaching at 8 o'clock.

Salts Good for Something Else.

One of the most successful chicken raisers in the county tells the Herald of a cure for cholera that he tried with good effect. He had lost a number of fowls and gave them common epsom salts—a strong solution in their drinking water and mixing it with corn meal dough. After eating of this only three chickens died. This was last fall and not one has died from cholera since. He also fed parched corn every other day, in connection with the salts, and found it very beneficial.—Salisbury Herald.
