NEW VOLUME.

To-day the DAILY REFLECTOR begins its second half yearly volume. It made its appearance as an experiment just six months ago and has not missed an issue since. While it has not had a very flattering patronage the paper has managed to keep going, though it has not been all that we would like to make it. However, we cannot make advances in this direction faster than the patronage will justify. We can make the paper both larger and better, but not unless more patronage is given it.

Again, if those who are patronizing it would pay promptly it would lighten our labor materially. There are some who have paid just as regularly as the months came around without waiting to have their attention called to it; some others have not been so promptly, and still some others owe for several months. We hope all who do owe will now settle at once and let us begin the new volume square. If you wait for us to hunt you up you consume that much of the time that ought to be given to hunting news. Out of town patrons can remit by mail.

We started out six months ago to give Greenville just the kind of daily paper the people wanted, and that is still our purpose. The paper will be improved just as fast as the patronage it receives will permit.

BOY DROWNED.

James Dailey Loses His Life While Bathing.

(Special to Reflector.)

KINSTON, N. C., June 10.—Late Saturday afternoon James Dailey, a youth 16 years of age, and another boy named Bell went down the river to go in swimming. While out near the middle of the stream Dailey either became exhausted or was seized with cramp and sank beneath the water. The river is said to be between 30 and 50 feet deep where he sank, and his body has not yet been recovered though parties are still searching for it. One of the saddest scenes that can be imagined was the heart-broken father walking up and down the banks of the river, all day Sunday, wringing his hands in grief and looking out longingly for the water to give up the body of his son.

Let Us Celebrate.

While the Pleasure Club are making preparation for the 4th of July races, would it not be a good idea for the town generally to take steps to have an old fashioned 4th of July celebration that day. There are people who would come just to see the races, of course, but a celebration would bring hundreds more. Many interesting features for the day could be gotten up.

A Milwaukee girl of 17 shot herself because her mother slapped her and an Illinois boy of 19 hanged himself because he was required to do house work. The spirit of young America is very proud and sensitive these days. Parents will have to be very careful.

Good Manners.

Don't forget to say "Good morning!" and say it cheerfully, and with a smile: it will do you good, and do your friends good. There's a kind of inspiration in every "Good-morning," heartily spoken that helps to make hope fresher and work lighter. It seems really to make the morning good, and to be a prophecy of a good day to come after it. And if this be true of the "Good morning," it is so also of kind, heartsome greetings; they cheer the discouraged, rest the tired one, somehow make the wheels of life run more smoothly. Be liberal with them then, and let no morning pass however dark and gloomy it may be, that you do not help at least to brighten by your smiles and cheerful words.—Orange (Va) Observer.

A printer in making up forms one day in a hurry got a marriage and grocer's notice mixed up so that it read as follows: John Smith and Iba Quarry were united in bonds of good sourkraut which will be sold by quart or barrel. Mr. Smith is a highly esteemed cod-fish a ten cents a pound while the bride has nice fresh shoulders to display.

EVERY AFTERNOON (EXCEPT SUNDAY)

The Sunday-school convention which met at Ayden yesterday was largely attended and was a capital good meeting. More Sunday-schools were represented than ever before since it was organized. The discussions were interesting and entertaining. Prof. W. H. Ragsdale was elected President and Mrs. J. D. Cox was elected Secretary. The delegates elected to the State convention were Rev. P. S. Swain, Mrs. J. D. Cox and Miss Nannie Cox.

Those present say Ayden is a good place to hold a convention.

If there ever was a man famous for giving surprises that man is President Cleveland. When Secretary Gresham died, the people had no trouble in suggesting his successor but no one at first thought of Attorney General Olney. It soon leaked out, however from the White House that he would be promoted. At once it was suggested that his place would be filled either by Hoke Smith or Post Master General Wilson and that Don Dickerson would take the place of the one appointed to succeed Mr. Olney. This was believed until the appointment was made when it was Olney for Secretary of State, and Harmon for Attorney General. His name had never been mentioned for the place, and yet since he has been appointed it is learned that he is one of the foremost lawyers of the Central States. He is a resident of Cincinnati and a former law partner of Governor Hoadley. He will doubtless surprise the country by making a first class officer.

An extra census bulletin has just been issued showing the number of persons 10 years of age and over engaged in gainful occupations in 1890.

ures are: Population 10 years of age and over, 1,147,446: of which 559,764 are males, and 587,682 females.

All persons in gainful occupations—males, 422,170; females, 115,193. Total, 537,363.

Engaged in agriculture, fisheries, and mining—males, 318,711; females, 55,648. Total, 374,359.

Engaged in professional service—males, 8,971; females, 3,325. Total, 12,296.

Engaged in domestic and personal service—males, 29,083; females, 42,177. Total, 71,266.

Engaged in trade and transportation—males, 28,171; females, 628. Total, 28,799.

Engaged in manufacturing and mechanical industries—males, 37,234; females, 13,415. Total, 50,649.

One Consolation.

A neighbor had been spending an hour in Mrs. Wilson's sitting room, engaged in talk which, as the speaker herself confessed, "sounded like gossip." Some of it she had "never mentioned to a living soul before." She mentioned it now "only in the strictest confidence."

Mr. Wilson found it hard work to restrain himself, and as soon as the woman was gone he took Mrs. Wilson gently to task.

"Mary," he said, "I do think you ought to be ashamed to encourage Mrs. Goss's visits. You can't really enjoy hearing your neighbors pulled to pieces in that style."

"No, George," answered Mrs. Wilson, "I can't say I do. But then, as long as she is here I know she isn't talking about me."

It was a clever answer, but it may be doubted whether Mr. Wilson thought it quite covered the case.

The Caucasian says the Populists tried to set the Democrats a good example by not sweeping Democrats from every office. The fact is the confusion legislature did its best to get all the offices for its own members. It was the most disgraceful scramble for office on the part of the confusionists ever seen in North Carolina.

Disturbed the Solemnity.

It was children's day exercises at the Sunday school. The arrangements were for the school to make an entry into the church, where the audience was already seated. Accordingly a hundred children formed in line and marched in at one of the side entrances. They marched and sang "Hold the Fort." The superintendent led the way. On entering the church they were beginning the second line, which runs:

"See the mighty host advancing,
Satan leading on."

The audience was quick to appreciate the situation, and a ripple of amusement went through the church. The awkwardness of his position dawned upon the superintendent, and he turned very red. Some of the children laughed outright. A breakdown seemed imminent, when some one began singing, "Onward Christian Soldiers." This was taken up by the school and a successful entry was made.—Ram's Horn.

One Woman's Heart.

A shameful story, a story that ought to be incredible, is printed for truth in Kate Field's Washington:

A well-dressed young woman recently went to one of the taxidermists of the Smithsonian Institution, carrying with her in a cage a bright canary bird.

"I have hunted all over the city for a bird of just this color," she explained, "because I want him to match a gown I am having made."

She wished the taxidermist to kill it and set it up, that she might wear it as an ornament!

Thousands of women wear birds on their hats, the more is the pity; but probably no civilized woman ever before bought a live bird and killed it or had it killed, for such a purpose.

Lively Expectation.

A little boy of five years, who was very fond of stewd mushrooms, and who had the idea—which is commoner than it ought to be—that mushrooms are the work of toads, was found sitting on the lawn with his eyes fixed intently on the ground.

"What are you watching?" his mother inquired.

The little fellow raised his finger to insure silence.

"Sh!" he said, "I saw a toad hop along here, and I'm waiting to see a brushroom spring up."

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Gathered From All Sections of the Country and Paragraphs

The Mormons and Gentiles have had a clash in Uinta county Wyoming. A Gentile complained to the county attorney that a Mormon was living with two wives. The Mormons threaten to lynch the man who made the complaint.

The dedication of the confederate monument at Oakwood cemetery, Chicago, took place Thursday in the presence of the most distinguished assemblage of officers of both the union and confederate armies that has ever been together in the west.

The agricultural department has made an important improvement in its system of securing crop returns. The new plan is to have a correspondent in each township of every state instead of as under the present plan of four reporters in each county.

AT WASHINGTON.

Secretary of State Walter Q. Gresham died Tuesday morning at his rooms in the Arlington hotel.

Preliminary funeral services of the late Secretary Gresham were conducted in the east room of the White house Wednesday.

The chiefs of divisions in the departments at Washington have been placed under the civil service regulations, by and order of the president.

The public debt statement issued Saturday afternoon shows a net decrease in the public debt less cash in the treasury during May of $5,436,611.88.

Ex-Commissioner of the Internal Revenue John W. Mason indorses Judge Goff, of West Virginia, for the presidency as a southern republican candidate.

The comparative statement of the receipts and expenditures in the United States treasury for the month of May, shows a gradual diminution of the deficiency during the past ten days.

President Cleveland has issued a proclamation that flags will float at half mast on all government buildings for ten days as an expression of national bereavement of the death of Secretary Gresham.

The habeas corpus case of Eugene V. Debs, et al., growing out of the great railroad strike at Chicago last summer, was decided in the supreme court of the United States Monday. The writ was denied.

The supreme court of the United States Monday decided the Geary Chinese exclusion act to be constitutional and incidentally affirmed the general right of the United States to exclude aliens of all kinds.

A telegram to Washington from Indian Agent Wisdom at Muskogee, I. T., reports that Chief Perryman and Sam Grayson, treasurer of the Creek nation, have been arrested by an armed mob of Creek citizens. The trouble grew out of the $209,000 per capita payment and the 8 per cent. paid financial agents for the passage of a bill appropriating it by congress.

IN FOREIGN FIELDS.

With the adjournment of the Reichstag, the Berlin officials begin their holidays.

It is reported that the Countess Castellane (Anna Gould) has separated from her husband.

President Cleveland's portrait will illuminate the night during the festivities attending the opening of the Baltic ship canal.

Capt. E. M. Pace is quite a novice at card writing and gets them up in nice style. He has placed the REFLECTOR under obligations for a supply of cards for the editor's superior.—Greenville REFLECTOR.

There is nothing of the novice about "Ed" Pace, whether it is as a card writer, tobacco warehouseman or all 'round clever fellow. He's an artist with the pen, an adept at selling tobacco and a genius in his make up as a gentleman. Be more cautious in your use of words, Dave, or your language may convey quite a different meaning from the compliment intended.—Henderson Gold Leaf.
