WHERE LOVE IS.

A maiden asked if I could tell
Where love is,
Ah, me, said I, that's hard to say,
Where love is.
Then on her way she went perplexing
The question gave her soul was vexing.
Shine out, bright star, attend her
Where love is.

A youth then begged me just to say
Where love is
Ah, no, said I, you'll find the way
Where love is.
Away he went his heart rejoicing,
The song of birds his courage voicing.
I know kind fate will lead him
Where love is.

They met, this youth and maiden fair,
There love is.
And ask no more, nor doubt nor care
Where love is.
And now with hands and hearts united
Their vows to heaven have truly
plighted,
May kindly power protect and keep them
Where love is.

Erect a Monument.

It has been suggested that a small monument be erected to the memory of the unknown soldiers who are buried in Cherry Hill Cemetery. Soon after this cemetery was donated to the town the bodies of these soldiers were removed from the old graveyard on the Green's mill road and placed in the public portion of the cemetery. These soldiers are unknown, but nothing would be more fitting than to place a small shaft to mark the spot where they are buried. A suitable monument could be secured at very little cost—and it should not be a hard matter to raise enough by voluntary contributions. Any one wishing to make a donation for such a purpose can hand the amount to Mr. W. L. Brown, who has charge of the cemetery, and all amounts will be duly acknowledged through the REFLECTOR.

LOCAL NOTES AND TOBACCO JOTTINGS.

BY O. L. JOYNER.

We notice that a good deal of tobacco seems to be growing up spindly. Farmers keep an eye to this and plough deep, else you will have plenty of buttons to soon.

The eastern Tobacco Growers has now one hundred members and at the next meeting we expect equally as many more. We hope to see a large number from the adjoining counties at the next meeting on Saturday before the 4th Sunday in June.

The Greenville REFLECTOR seems to think Kinston will have a hard time building up a tobacco market. The REFLECTOR don't know the kind of people that live here. They are slow to start—are too conservative—but when they do start a thing they keep at it until it is made a success, if success be possible. A great amount of tobacco is planted around Kinston and our people will make Kinston a first-class tobacco market. We believe it will be the leading tobacco market of eastern Carolina in a few years.—Kinston Free Press

If Kinston doesn't have a hard time building up a tobacco market it will undergo an experience that no successful tobacco market in North Carolina or Virginia has ever witnessed and a phenomenal experience it will be. Probably the REFLECTOR doesn't know the Kinston people, neither are we impressed that the Kinston people know what is required to build up a successful tobacco market. Now for the Free Press and every other paper that is urging new enterprises of any kind we have the very highest regard and we regret very much that the Free Press should mistake our words of caution for opposition for we have nothing but friendly and kindly feelings for the news paper undertaking to build a tobacco market.

To Be Enlarged.

Mr. S. C. Hamilton tells us the Greenville Lumber Company will begin work at once enlarging their plant to double the present capacity. A two-story building 30 x 140 feet for the saw mill will be put up and fitted with improved machinery. New brick and iron dry kilns will be built and an addition 50 x 80 feet made to the planing mill. With these improvements the mill will be equal to any in this section. We are glad to note such evidences of prosperity with the company and bespeak for them a correspondingly increased patronage.

TOBACCO GROWERS MEETING.

The Tobacco Growers Association met at the Court House in Greenville pursuant to adjournment, and was called to order by the President J. J. Laughinghouse, Esq., at 2:30 A. M. Saturday, June 8th, 1895.

Mr. Joyner explained the absence of the Secretary who declined to serve on account of press of business, whereupon E. M. Pace was elected to fill the vacancy.

The Committee appointed at the organization on by-laws &c., being called for, Mr. Moye explained why they were not ready to report.

On motion of Mr. Joyner that the present Committee be discharged and a new one be appointed, to report at the next meeting, the chair named O. L. Joyner, E. A. Moye and C. D. Rountree.

Mr. Joyner at this juncture made a talk explanatory of the objects of this association Mr. Moye urged that all tobacco planters join by giving in their names and lend their aid to further the objects which was for the purpose of benefitting the planters of this county.

Mr. G. T. Tyson, was called upon and stated that the committee on by-laws who he had expected to do the work had disappointed him, but while upon his feet he gave some wholesome advice to new beginners as to what was essential to secure top prices. Good tobacco he stated was the only way, and to realize big prices they must make it fine. Common tobacco, like cotton, was too low to talk about.

Mr. Harris made some pertinent remarks on the subject of patent laws.

Mr. J. B. Grimes was in favor of some decided action on the part of this association and moved that a committee of five be appointed to investigate and get all the data in regard to the patent laws, &c. The chair named on this committee J. B. Grimes, E. M. Pace, E. A. Moye, O. L. Joyner and L. F. Evans.

A. J. Moye stated what had been done at a meeting held at Farmville and moved that this association pledge itself not to purchase this patent looping process for curing tobacco.

And the association pledge itself to protect anyone who might use the system.

Mr. Joyner moved an amendment to Mr. Moye's motion that the association do not pledge itself to the support of anyone who might use it but that the association pledge itself to protect anyone in any test case that might come up before the courts.

Mr. Grimes asked for information as to the best plan to protect plant beds after the tobacco crop had been set out and if the sowing of peas upon the bed would not be sufficient to save it from weeds and grass that the same bed might be used again.

Mr. Pace answered him by stating that a good located bed would improve each year if planters would take it when thoroughly dry and cover it over with leaves or pine tags and these bushes weighted down, and the following February when ready to burn remove the rubbish, stir up the leaves by reversing the same, putting the brush on the ground, leaves on top and with a garden sprinkler give it a good sprinkling of kerosene oil and fire it. This would be sufficient. It was on motion agreed that when the association adjourned, it would meet at the Court House in Greenville, Saturday before fourth Sunday in June at 2 o'clock.

Some 75 names were enrolled as members, and each one was requested to urge his neighbor to become a member and be present next meeting. No further business appearing the association adjourned.

J. J. LAUGHINGHOUSE, Pres.
E. M. PACE, Sec.

CHURCH ETIQUETTE.

The next time your journey leaves you stranded in the great and delightful city of New Chick-oradalphia on the Sabbath, if you should go to the church of St. Indolence—I can recommend it as having the slowest singing and the softest pew cushions, with a preacher to match, in the city—you will see the following "Suggestions to Worshippers:"

"Fall or slide in the pew nearest the aisle. Stay there. Do not sit erect, but lop. Rest one elbow on the arm of the pew; support the side of the face with the outspread hand.

"Do not rise during the singing of the hymns. The fact that you played tennis or base ball all Saturday afternoon or walked four or five miles around a billiard table Saturday night, entitles you to a little rest on Sabbath morning.

"Extend your feet as far under the pew as you can without sliding off the seat. Gratefully and politely cover your mouth with your hand while yawning during the sermon. If your minister is looking at you, cover the mouth with both hands; at the close of the yawn, bring your jaws together with a cheerful snap.

"After looking at your watch, always turn your head and gaze longly and earnestly toward the door.

"Do not move if a stranger, accompanied by his wife and daughter, attempts to enter your pew. Permit them to climb over your legs, no matter how much it may annoy you.

"Do not annoy strangers who may enter the church by looking at them, or even glancing in their direction. If they really want a seat, they will find one without the obstructive interference of other people.

"At the close of service, remark aloud, but to yourself, that you are hungry as a shark, and set off for home at a brisk trot."
—Sunday School Times.

Progressive Lovemaking.

A few evenings since two girls were walking down Inniss street, talking about their best young men of course. At least one of them was.

"Charlie was up to see me last night," she said with a twitter.

"That's twice a week, isn't it?" inquired the other.

"Yes;" and she blushed and giggled.

"I suppose he'll come three times in the next week?"

"I suppose so."

"And four times the next?"

"That's what brother says."

"And five times the next?"

"That's what sister says."

"And six times the next?"

"That's what aunty says."

"And seven times the next?"

"That's what papa says."

"And then what?"

"Then we'll get married; that's what everybody says"

"And then what?"

"And then I won't see him any more of an evening; that is what mamma says."—Salisbury Herald.

The Bible is against bloomers, negligee shirts for women and men's cravats. If you don't think so, peruse this from the book of Deuteronomy: "The woman shall not wear that which pertaineth to man, for all that do are an abomination unto the Lord thy God."

ART IN LETTER WRITING.

Send Cheerful Epistles, But Let Them Be Sincere.

The popular woman does not write doleful letters; she waits till she is in a better frame of mind before beginning them, for she realizes that there are burdens enough in life without adding to them by inflicting pessimistic epistles on her friends.

If she writes a letter of condolence it seems to come from the heart, for if it does not sound that way she will not let its coldness further grieve a bereaved one; and if she sends congratulations to a bride or a mother she makes a point of recollecting or looking up some rousing good wishes that have the ring of genuine interest.

One woman drops a fragrant flower in a letter, not to a gushing schoolgirl, but to an old lady or a tired mother of an exacting family, and by this bit of sentiment—not sentimentality—keeps her memory green in the hearts of her friends.—
