Wedding Bells.

Mr. Charles Edward Perkins, assistant solicitor of the city of Philadelphia, and Miss Carolina Virginia Harding, of this city, were married Wednesday, June 12, at 8:30 A. M. The ceremony was performed in St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal church. The officiating clergymen were Rev. Alban Greaves, rector of the parish, assisted by Rev. N. Colin Hughes, of Chocowinity, Beaufort county. The ushers were Messrs. W. F. Harding, of Charlotte, F. C. Harding, of Greenville, Colin H. Harding, of Washington, Rob't C. Strong and W. D. Pollock, of Kinston, and Rob't Kornegay, of Goldsboro. The best man was Mr. George Perkins, of Philadelphia, brother of the groom. The maids of honor were Misses Bessie Harding and Carrie Hughes.

The elegant, graceful and dignified manner in which the ushers performed their duties added very much to the pleasure of the occasion.

The little maids of honor were as charming and beautiful as nature and their white robes would permit, as they floated along serenely to their places.

The chancel altar, lecturn and organ were most elegantly adorned with flowers and wreaths, and three beautiful arches crossed the floor high over the heads of the bride and groom. The beauty of the decorations is due to the elegant taste and skillful fingers of Mrs. Laura Miller and Miss Josephine Payne.

The ceremony was short, impressive and emphatic. We know of none more beautiful.—Kinston Free Press.

The bride is a niece of Maj. H. Harding of this town.

BROWN EYES.

BY V. W.

Once I was light hearted, knew nothing of care,
Time passed by unnoted, year after year.
'Mid the gay throng of beauty I carelessly moved,
For my heart was my own, I never had loved,
My bosom was then a stranger to sighs
But 'tis not so now, since I saw those brown eyes.

The power of beauty, with pleasure I saw,
Yet passed them all by with an air non-chalance,
My heart was untrammelled, as free as the wind,
And visions of love ne'er troubled my mind,
But my heart Cupid's arrow no longer defies
Since hurled from the depths of those lovely brown eyes.

I have seen the soft dawn steal over the mountain,
Have watched the bright drops that burst from the fountain,
Have wandered where slept the moon's silver sabbon
The brightest of all is bright I have seen
But never have yet beneath the blue skies
Seen aught to compare with those lovely brown eyes.

I have wondered where flowers of every hue bloom,
Shedding around them fragrant perfumes
Have called them—the brightest, together have twined,
Have thus, all the hues of the rainbow combined.
Yet they would not compare with the soft light that lies
In the beautiful depths of those lovely brown eyes.

The earth is abundant with scenes fit to charm,
To make every heart with rapture glow warm;
And the sea has beneath its wild, roaring waves
The brightest of gems in its unfathomed caves;
The heavens are mirrored with stars in the skies,
But not are so bright as those lovely brown eyes.

Must I quietly suffer and famish from thirst
While the purest of streams around my path burst.
Or must I consent in darkness to move
While near me is shining the light that I love.
Oh, no! I'm resolved, some means to devise
To know the possessor of those lovely brown eyes.

Reports coming in from all over the county say that tobacco is growing fine.

Small Yield.

The Washington Messenger says the potato crop in that section is averaging only about fifteen bushels of primes and number two potatoes to the acre. About the same average prevails in this section, as we heard one planter say his crop was yielding ten barrels of prime and five barrels of culls per acre. With such a small yield it looks like the price of potatoes should go higher.

Yesterday evening a match game of base ball was played between Wilson and Tarboro colored clubs at Wilson which resulted in a victory for Tarboro by a score of 19 to 9. This morning the same clubs at the same place played another game and Tarboro was the winning club again—14 to 9. Several of Greenville's best players went up to assist Tarboro.

Not long ago a young man won a prize, a biscuit, for being the ugliest man in town. Yesterday he showed us another biscuit which he said a young lady had just given him to remind him that he was still ugly enough to "take the cake."

The members of the Methodist Sunday School will meet at the church Friday night at 8 P. M. to complete arrangements for children's day exercises and the picnic. A. B. ELLINGTON, Supt.

The reputation of Riverside Nurseries is going abroad. This morning Messrs. A. Warren & Son expressed a large box of flowers to Norfolk to be used in the commencement exercises of Norfolk College. They were beautifully arranged and looked just too meet. Under the gentle touch of Ollen no wonder.

MANNISH WOMEN DENOUNCED.

Bishop Doane, of Albany, N. Y., one of the New York State University regents, in an address to the graduating class at St. Agnes's School, Albany, said:

"One gets sick and tired of the way in which the talk of woman's location fills the air. I have had occasion here to say what wrong to womanhood these women's rights would be, and I have no desire to recall a word. Numberless names on these modern 'millinery petitions' mean only the thoughtless and good-natured yielding to persistent pursuit, just as legislative majority votes stand, in not a few instances, for a mistaken courtesy or an unmanly cowardice. I believe that will yet save this State and nation from the aggravated miseries of an enlarged, unqualified suffrage, which, in its universality of male voters, is our most threatening danger to-day.

"But if we are to be visited with this infliction as a well-earned punishment for many national sins, then I believe that when we have tasted its bitterness we shall be brought back, perhaps through anarchy and revolution, to a Democracy which shall demand for its existence government by men whom education and actual Americanism of vital interest in the nation qualify to govern. Meanwhile, when motherhood shall be replaced by mannishness; when neglected homes shall furnish candidates for mismanaged offices; when money shall buy the votes of women, as it does now themselves; when the fires of political discord shall be lighted on the hearthstone of domestic peace; when the arrogant assertion of demanded rights shall have destroyed the instinctive chivalry of conceded courtesies; when 'woman,' as has been well said, once the superior, has become the equal of man—then he reaped whirlwind of some violent political reaction will be gathered in tears by those who are showing the wind in the mad joy of the petroleuse of the French revolutions.

"If equality meant similarity of rights and duties, then the harmony of nature and the balance of the world would be destroyed. The vocation of womanhood is the highest and the holiest in the world. Guard it, my dear children, in your own selves from the desecration that would drag it into the publicity and prostitutions of political strife."

It Sounds Like a Fake.

At the meeting of the Wholesale Grocers of the south a few days ago, one enthusiastic gentleman said:

"Grover Cleveland, President of the United States, receives a salary of $50,000 a year. He should be given $100,000 and elected for life."

The New York Mercury, commenting on this incident and the applause that followed, says:

"A certified check for $500,000, drawn on a National Bank within easy gunshot of the Mercury office, was in the hands of a capitalist for investment in Southern enterprises on the morning when this announcement was telegraphed from Atlanta. So disgusted was he that the south, or that leading business men of the south, could applaud such action as this that he vowed that not a dollar of that money or any other that he controlled would ever go south of the Potomac River."

He was a queer business man, if the incident is genuine, who would refuse to make an investment in the South because a few grocers wanted to make Cleveland President for life. There are more admirers of Mr. Cleveland in New York and New England than in the South, and the gentleman with the "certified check for $500,000" will have a difficult time to invest his money if he depends more upon sentimental ideas than upon business principles.

It would have been a calamity if Grant had been elected for a third term. It would be a calamity if Mr. Cleveland or any other man should ever aspire to a third term. The man who is said to refuse to invest $500,000 in the South because a wholesale grocer wanted Mr. Cleveland to be President for life is the most grotesque and unbusiness like individual now at large.

We have never seen a single man in the South who wanted Mr. Cleveland for a third term, and if the man with the $500,000 check, if there be such a man, will come this way we will convince him of this fact and show him where he can get 6 to 8 per cent. on his $500,000.—Raleigh Observer.

What Caused the Hard Times.

Judge Hubbard, of Iowa, says it is the existence of co-operations.

George Gould says it is the hostility to corporations.

The farmer says it is the low price in wheat.

The silver men say it is the action of Wall street.

The Wall street men say it is the action of the silver men.

The manufacturer says it is the fear of free trade.

The consumer says it is the fear of free trade.

The debtor says it is the creditor.

The Democrats say it is the Republicans.

The Republicans say it is the Democrats.

The Populists say it is both.

The Prohibitionists say it is whiskey.

The preacher says it is the devil.

Now, what is your idea?—Conductor and Driver.

A Maryland man who was kicked by a woman who had agreed to marry him concluded that if he couldn't get her it would be some comfort to get about $5,000 of her cash and sued for that amount of damages, but the Judge knocked him out by deciding that a Maryland woman in Maryland had a right to change her mind as she wanted to before she finally surrendered and permitted herself to be yoked.

The authorities of the town of Bessemer, Mich., where they have an anti-saloon law, couldn't understand why the bananas sold in the town produced intoxication until they bored into some and found them loaded with a jam-up article of tangle-leg.
