To the Memory of Joe Joyner.

BY Z. MOORE.

O present! pass with gentle step
The graves where loved ones sleep,
Where fondness kneels to offer prayer
And memory turns to weep.

The hopes of all the past lie here
Entombed beneath the sod;
And, baptized in the tears of grief,
They've joined the church of God.

Then why lament, vain, selfish heart,
Or wish to call them forth,
The spirits back to heaven gone,
The earth gone back to earth.

The sweetest flowers soonest fade
And rare fruits first decay,
So memories of a year ago
Is all that's left to-day.

The Price of a Kiss.

A lady in town sent a book by mail to a gentleman friend in another town and not having time to write a letter she placed a strip of paper inside the book on which was written "Have only time to send a kiss now." Another lady wrote a word above her initials on the wrapper. When the book reached its destination the word and initials on the wrapper excited the suspicion of the postmaster and he went inside the package. Finding the strip of paper with the kiss on it he required the young man to pay 40 cents extra postage on the book. The lady received a letter of thanks, of course, but a postscript was added that it would be cheaper to send the kisses by express next time.

The Raleigh News and Observer will, on July 1st, issue a sixteen page Public School Edition. It will be handsomely illustrated and will contain a history of the public school system of the State, and the institutions under State patronage, sketches of all the graded schools in the State, and articles by prominent educators.

LOCAL NOTES AND TOBACCO JOTTINGS.

BY O. L. JOYNER.

Mr. R. B. Hester, of Rocky Mount, is spending a few days with friends here.

Two more new prize houses will be commenced in a few days. With these the market will open the coming season with thirteen large buildings for handling tobacco.

Everything is being done now on this market to make it the banner market of the east. If the warehousemen, buyers and farmers will do their duty the coming year will see Greenville leading all the other eastern markets by at least a million pounds.

During the discussion on tobacco culture at the last meeting of the Tobacco Growers Association, Mr. G. T. Tyson told a very good anecdote to illustrate the necessity of growing good tobacco. He said up in the mountain section one morning a traveller was passing along and noticed a small boy digging away assiduously. He inquired of him what he was after to which the boy replied, "After, you say, why, I am after a gopher, and if I don't get him there is no breakfast to-day." He said if the farmers in the eastern counties didn't grow good tobacco they wouldn't get any money as king cotton had long since outlived its usefulness and farmers were forced to grow tobacco and good tobacco at that or they would not get much money out of it.

Mr. R. B. Hester, who moved away from this county three years ago to Rocky Mount, visited the tobacco quarters Friday morning. He said that it did not look like the same old town. So many new prize houses and warehouses had gone up since he was here that he was utterly astonished at the rapid progress that Greenville was making as a tobacco market. We told him that Greenville had carefully avoided a boom but had slowly taken advantage of the natural advantages and that the experimental result was proving so satisfactory that now it was no trouble to get investments that added to the internal improvements of the town. We told him to come back five years hence and we would show him a city of 5,000 inhabitants.

In 1894 the railways killed 1,823 of their employees, or 904 less than in 1893 and injured 23,422, or 8,307 less than in 1893. The passengers killed numbered 324, an increase of 25, and the injured numbered 3,034, a decrease of 105. This commendable saving in limbs of railway employees is ascribed by the Inter-State Commission in part to the decreased number employed and in part to the increased use of automatic appliances that have rendered railway employment much less dangerous.

Miss Myra Skinner at Hotel Macon, who recently returned from school and brought with her Miss Leonard Pitts, of Selma, Ala., for a visit, had with them Misses Bessie Jarvis, Annie Perkins and Bettie Tyson to spend yesterday evening and take tea.

New York is clean out of sight on curiosities. Now they have one in the shape of a baby that is only three-quarters of an inch in length and weighs about half an ounce. It's a boy and we expect he will step into Cleveland shoes some of these days.

Ex-Gov. Ben B. Tillman, of South Carolina, says he will fight before the gates of hell for free silver. We've got our opinion of any man who won't take up for his own home. Ben, we expect, will fight before and behind those same said gates if he don't look out.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, June 21, 1895.

This has been an anxious week for the Republican brethren. Although every conceivable expedient had been resorted to to prevent the precipitation of a fight over the silver question in the convention of the Republican Leagues at Cleveland, Ohio, they have been in a state of dread every hour that the convention was in session lest their plans should miscarry and the fight be started which would spread like wildfire through the entire party.

The Republican enemies of Mr. Benjamin Harrison evidently regard him as a formidable candidate for the Presidential nomination, and are beginning to line up to accomplish his defeat. Ex-Pension Commissioner Dudley, of Ind., whose efforts towards carrying that state for Mr. Harrison in 1888 by means of the notorious "blocks of five" system, which afterwards caused him to find Washington a safer place of residence than Indiana, and who became a bitter enemy of Mr. Harrison because that gentleman, although willing to accept the benefit of his trickery, declined to associate with him or even to recognize him after he became President, is again posing as a Republican leader. And it is no secret in Washington that Dudley's object in again entering politics is to work against Harrison's nomination.

State department officials regard the story that Great Britain is preparing to forcibly obtain control of the Nicaragua canal as belonging to the class which always become more or less frequent during midsummer, which is also known as the "silly season." Such a course on the part of Great Britain would be equivalent to a declaration of war against the United States, and few men of common sense could be made to believe that Great Britain desires a war with the United States.

Secretary Carlisle has completed the regulations under which the $5,000,000 appropriated by the last Congress to pay deferred sugar bounties will be disbursed. Copies of these regulations will be forwarded to the sugar planters and as soon as all requirements have been complied with the money will be paid. It is probable that there will not be enough to pay the full amount intended by Congress. Should that be the case when all the claims are in and tabulated the claims will all be scaled down. It will take some months to arrange all these details and Treasury officials do not think they will be completed and the payments made before about the last of the year.

Commissioner Lochren says he has nothing to conceal in connection with the dismissal of one hundred employees of the Pension Bureau, which are to go into effect July 1, and which have created a stir among the friends of those dismissed, because several ex Union soldiers and Miss Key, a granddaughter of the writer of "The Star Spangled Banner," were on the list. Judge Louchren says of the matter: "In making these selections we took those whom to dismiss would not be so great a hardship as it would have been to others in the office, who perhaps did not in some cases stand so high as clerks. In making up the list of those who were to go out we were governed by the desire to keep our best clerks in the office. As to publishing the list, it was on my judgment that it was not given out. And my reason for not doing so was that we did not wish to cast a stigma on any who were thus legislated out of office. It is not against many of these clerks that they were not as efficient as other clerks, and it should not prevent their getting employment elsewhere."

History of Henry VIII.

A small boy in one of the Germantown public schools wrote a composition on King Henry VIII. It read as follows: "King Henry 8 was the greatest widower that ever lived. He was born at Annie Domino, in the year 1066. He had 510 wives besides children. The first was beheaded and afterwards executed, and the 2d was revoked. Henry 8 was succeeded to the throne by his great-grandmother, the beautiful Mary Queen of Scots, sometimes called Lady of the Lake, or the Lay of the Last Minstrel."--Exchange.

The Dax and Pau districts of France are flooded by heavy rain storms. Large tracts of territory are submerged, factories stopped and railway traffic is almost entirely suspended. No loss of life is reported.

It is rumored that Miss Frances E. Willard, president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, who is now in England, is about to be married to an English gentleman of wealth and position and of prominence in reform work.

The republican newspapers of France are satisfied with the speech delivered by Minister Hanotaux in the chamber of deputies Monday, but the radical and socialist press are unanimous in denouncing the government's action in sending warships to Kiel.

The marine hospital service is advised of the detention at the gulf quarantine station of the British ship Monrovia from Rio Janeiro. She had one fatal case of yellow fever at port of departure and twelve cases and two deaths in transit.

The Dix Neufieme Siecle, Paris, asserts that the Chinese government has ceded to France a port in the Pescadore Islands. The Siecle adds that France will probably acquire the whole Pescadore group, as the result of her interference conjointly with Germany and Russia.

The military governor of Santiago de Cuba has issued an order prohibiting the people of that city or of the towns and villages in the Province from leaving for the open country between sunset and sunrise. Any person disregarding this order will be shot by the troops on sight.

The most important expedition that has landed on Cuban soil from the United States was landed June 10th at Arenas River. It consisted of 100 men 1,000 repeating rifles, 2,000,000 rounds of ammunition and $350,000 in gold, under the command of Colonel Hernandez. They left Key West, June 6th, and sailed for Bahama Island where they took on the men and cargo. 6 | 17

"Boys," said a teacher in a Sunday-school, "can any of you quote a verse from scripture to prove that it is wrong for a man to have two wives?" He paused, and after a moment or two a bright boy raised his hand.

"Well, Thomas," said the teacher, encouragingly.

Thomas stood up and said: "No man can serve two masters." She question ended there.
