Her father at once began efforts to relieve her. She had a narrow escape from death, but by his efforts, assisted by Dr. F. W. "Johnny Get Your Gun."

Three young men in town went together to call on a young lady Sunday afternoon. It so happened that a boy lived where they went, and the boy owned a goat. The three young men walked in, three hats were hung on the rack, but when they started out only two hats were there. After a brief search the goat was discovered on the back porch making a meal of the missing hat.

I am sitting down on High Prices to make room for Fall Goods. Great reduction all round.

THE KING CLOTHIER.

The Concert Last Night.

A large and appreciative audience greeted the class of orphans from the Oxford Orphan Asylum last night and well were they paid. The class is composed as follows: Girls—Adeline Bennett, Elizabeth Porter, Elizabeth Pittman, Penelope Munden, Mary Horton, Ethel King, Margaret Hays, Lillie Williams, Harriet Boggan. Boys—Harris Horton, Claude King, Oscar Hawley. The singing was as good as we ever heard, the voices blending well together and every one in the class shows remarkable training. The bass voice of little Claude King was grand, he could reach low notes with ease. They were accompanied by Mr. N. M. Lawrence, the Superintendent, and one of the lady teachers. Mr. Lawrence made a timely talk and a good one.

EVERY AFTERNOON (EXCEPT SUNDAY)

The case against Mrs. Pattie D. B. Arrington for libel has been continued until next January. She will plead her own case and promises some startling evidence.

It is said that preparations for a big silver meeting at Clinton on the 7th of August are being made. Hon. A. M. Waddell, Maj. W. A. Guthrie and Senators Pritchard and Butler have been invited to speak. Col. Waddell has not as yet accepted and we predict that he will not be caught in the trap of speaking at a third party meeting under the name of a Silver Assemblage. The plan will not work though it is being pushed by Senator Fowler.

The jury in the case of the Water Works in Raleigh decided that the "Pond" is a nuisance and must be removed. They stood 11 to 1 all night, but next morning agreed and brought in a verdict accordingly. An appeal will be taken. If the Supreme Court confirms the decision of the lower court it will be quite a hardship to the company. It is estimated that it will cost at least $25,000 to remove and put in new machinery besides an additional yearly cost of $1,500 or $2,000.

B. A. Milliken, the private Secretary of Senator Harris, of Tennessee, entered the house of Judge Philips, of Washington, D. C., on the night of the 4th of July, and went to the room of his daughter, Miss Gertrude. When she roused from sleep he was standing over her with a handkerchief saturated with chloroform. He had tried several times during the day to see her but she had declined to see him because he was under the influence of whiskey. The result was that he went to her room that night as stated above. The young lady and her sister gave the alarm when he fled, but was pursued and arrested. He was taken to the station house, and there made the statement that he accidentally stumbled into the room while under the influence of whiskey and was released upon his own bond. He then made his escape and has not been heard from since. Miss Phillips is still very sick from nervous prostration. The family of Milliken are trying to hush the matter up with money but Judge Phillips declares that he shall be punished to the fullest extent of the law. Judge Phillips is well known in North Carolina.

TOBACCO MEN IN SESSION.

The Tobacco Growers' Association met at the Court House in Greenville, July 13th, 1895, and was called to order by G. F. Evans, Esq., Vice-President.

Minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

Mr. O. L. Joyner stated that the committee to be appointed under the By Laws, on "Information" he thought should be attended to as time was of some consideration in the matter of their duties.

The chair appointed J. Bryan Grimes, Grimesland; J. S. Harris, Falkland; G. T. Tyson, Greenville; W. A. Darden, Hardeesville; R. S. Eyans, Greenville; T. Bland, Jr., Johnston's Mill. The section under which they are called to act is as follows:

"There shall be appointed at the annual meeting in June a committee to be known as the 'Committee on Information,' to be composed of six members, residing in different sections of the tobacco growing territory, whose business it shall be to observe closely the crop condition, to note as nearly as possible the mean temperature and average rain-fall for the immediate section in which each lives, to make note of any ravage that may be inflicting the tobacco fields and in general to make a thorough report at each meeting of the association, and also to make a report of any other matter arising under their observation pertaining to the tobacco crop."

Mr. C. D. Rountree spoke upon the subject of public roads leading into Greenville, and specially the approaches from the other side of Adams' bridge it needed to be tresselled, to make it passable during a rise in the creek.

Mr. O. L. Joyner stated he had thought of bringing the matter to the attention of the County Commissioners.

Mr. W. A. Darden said the bridge had recently been put in repair and was itself all right, but the trouble was the approach from the Greene county side which sadly needed attention.

Mr. G. T. Tyson said he was glad to see the feeling that prompted this association to take the public road under their protecting wing, and gave some information relative to the standing of the Adams' bridge matter before the last Legislature, and cited another important roadway that should be opened to save the people a great distance in reaching the market.

Mr. J. S. Harris moved that a committee of three, which was afterwards increased to five, be appointed to make the proper effort to secure the co operation of the land owners through whose land this proposed road would run, with power to act before the County Commissioners. The chair appointed G. T. Tyson, J. W. Allen, Thos. Allen, J. S. Harris and O. L. Joyner.

Mr. Sugg stated he was heartily in accord with the motion and was sure if the proper steps be taken that the gentlemen interested would look at the matter from a business point of view.

No further business appearing the association adjourned to meet Saturday before 4th Sunday in July.

G. F. EVANS,
E. M. PACE, Secretary.

Forsaken Boom Towns in Kansas.

According to the Wall Street News "there are twenty well-built towns in Kansas without a single inhabitant to waken the echoes of their deserted streets." It is said that Saratoga, one of these deserted villages, has "a thirty-thousand-dollar opera house, a large brick hotel, a twenty-thousand-dollar school house and a number of fine business houses with nobody to claim even a place to sleep." All of this came about by booming on borrowed capital without resources enough to pay the interest. People moved away from these towns as a new way of paying old debts.

Did Alone in the Woods.

William Quate, who served through the late war and was a good soldier, and who lived about five miles North of Greensboro, on a farm, went out Monday afternoon to the woods to do some chopping. At night he had not returned and his wife finally aroused the neighbors and search was made for him, but not until yesterday morning were the searchers successful. About daylight his dead body was found beside a log upon which he had been at work. There were no evidences of violence and it is supposed he died in a spasm, as he had been subject to epilepsy for years. The Record says he was about 55 or 60 years old.

Too Common in the Profession.

"Sir," she said, "I am a woman with a past."

The theatrical manager shook his head.

"The woods," said he, "that is to say, the wood wings, is full of 'em now."

"But," the fair creature pleaded, "not only have I a past, but it has been continued without change right up to the present time."

But the manager was obdurate.

Advantage of Publicity.

He—Well, I must be off, going to the station to meet my wife's eldest sister.

She—But she can find her way to your house.

He—She can. But if I meet her in public I won't have to kiss her.

The Way to Conquer.

"I'll master it," said the ax; and his blows fell heavily on the iron, but every blow made his edge blunt, till he ceased to strike.

"Leave it to me," said the saw; and with his relentless teeth he worked backward and forward on its surface, till they were all worn down or broken; then he fell aside.

"Ha! ha!" laughed the hammer; "I knew you wouldn't do it; but I'll show you the way." But at his first stroke off flew his head, and the iron remained as before.

"Shall I try?" said the soft small flame. They all despised the flame, but he curved gently round the iron, and embraced it, and never left it until it melted under his irresistible influence.

There are hearts hard enough to resist the force of wrath, the malice of persecution, and fury of pride, so as to make their acts recoil on their adversary; but there is a power stronger than any of these, and hard, indeed is that heart which can resist love.

Passed Through the House.

Mr. Thos. A. Morrow, from near Oaks, who was in town Saturday, says that on last Thursday while he and his family were sitting in the house during a severe electric storm, a streak of electricity passed through the house, coming in at one door and going out at the other door on the opposite side of the house. It passed in about four feet of his son. It was about the size of the blaze of a large lamp.—Graham Gleaner.
