LOCAL NOTES AND TOBACCO JOTTINGS

BY O. L. JOYNER.

There is some as pretty land in the eastern part of Martin county as there is in the State.

One of the prettiest all around crops of tobacco that we have seen this year is cultivated by Mr. J. S. Jenkins on the farm of Col. R. W. Wharton.

From the up-country tobacco curers that have come to Pitt this year we learn that the tobacco crop up there is not at all flat tering. The unfavorable weather in early Spring caused very late plants and just about the transplanting season for that section it turned off very dry and caused a bad stand. The crop is a late one, but if seasons are good from now until curing time a good crop may be saved. They say that so far the crop has been less troubled with insects than any crop for several years.

A Hoofless Porker.

Mr. John Griffin, who lives a few miles in the country from Greenville, has a pig five weeks old that has no hoofs on either leg. The legs extends from the body to the first joint and there is no sign of hoofs at all. The porker is fat and eats hearty and can get about on those stubs at a "Little Steve" gate. It was born in this condition.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

GREENSBORO, N. C., July 19, '95
The North Carolina Press Association has just closed its twenty third annual session, held at Greensboro, and by the time this is read many of the editors will be enjoying the sea breezes at Morehead. The session has been a delightful one, the largest attendance in some years, and Greensboro has entertained the editors handsomely indeed.

After the close of Thursday's session the press men were taken on an excursion to Guilford Battle Ground, and spent an hour or two walking over this spot rich in historic interest. The Press Banquet took place at the Benbow House at night.

Greensboro is a delightful town, full of energy and push, and her achievements along the line of industrial improvements and manufacturing enterprises were marvels to most of us. The industries and public institutions located here will be spoken of more elaborately in later articles.

TILLERY, N. C., July 20.—A terrible accident happened here yesterday about 2 o'clock, in which Mr. Geo. K. Mayo, foreman of the North Carolina Lumber Company's Mill, lost his life. The best medical attention was secured, but could do him no good. He died last night at 2 o'clock.

EVERY AFTERNOON (EXCEPT SUNDAY)

They are Starting the fight for and against the free coinage of silver in Georgia. On the 18th inst., a big convention was held at Griffin where very strong resolutions were passed favoring free coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1, and not waiting for any co-operation from any other country. Senator Morgan, of Alabama, made a three hours speech which greatly pleased the Convention. Mr. Morgan is the recognized equal of any man in America to-day in point of information and intellect. In fact he is probably the best equipped all-around man in public life now. We will make extracts in the next issue from this great speech. One will suffice for to day. In reference to the silver question as it now stands he said:

"And now and here, just as soon as possible, this controversy should be settled—no more evasion—no more straddling—no more postponing. The country and the business of the country, regardless of personal or party ambition or success, want it settled and they are entitled to have it settled as quickly as can be. Let business and the laws know and understand each other, and adjust themselves accordingly, for not till then will the country be prosperous and at ease again. "We of the United States, of all people of the earth, by this time ought to know, and I think we do know, the great unwisdom of tampering with and dodging questions vital to the country. This delayed, much more, and sickness, prostration, paralysis and death are near at hand. And much will, I venture to say, depend upon the action of this convention; and with a heart full of wish for its complete success, it will, I do hope, come manfully and squarely to the work and announce its views in no uncertain terms."

North Carolina has a Home at Goldsboro opened in 1891; value of property $15,000; cash and etc., $2,000.

New Hampshire has a Home built about eighty years ago; it is located at Concord; value of property $54,000.

New Jersey's Odd Fellows' Home is at Trenton; been in operation ten years; property worth $20,000; cost per inmate $2.42 weekly.

The Missouri Odd Fellows' Home will be dedicate in May, in connection with the session of the Grand Lodge.

Connecticut has a Home at Fairview worth $25,000, acquired since July 1892; a per capital tax of $2 per member is levied for maintenance and to create a permanent fund.

The German Odd Fellows of New York have a Home for their aged brethren, at Unionport; also an Orphanage; very fine buildings. There is an Odd Fellows' Home at Hollis, L. I., with seven inmates. It was incorporated in 1891, and has property worth $25,000.—Ex.

The Billville's Banner.

Camp meeting opens in Billville on the first Sunday in August. We have already applied for a license to eat.

We are now living on home raised watermelons. They are not substantial, but Providence has made them mighty filin'.

We are a strong believer in woman's right—the right to hold the ooby and have breakfast on time and save trouble.

The strong-minded members of our family are now wearing bloomers; but we've come to the conclusion that the old lady's dress doesn't fit us.

Our friend Dr. Joe Jacob's has invited us to a banquet in Atlanta and if the Lord spares life, and the roads are good, we'll reach there with our appetite about the first of September.

All things come to him who waits. One day last week the Sheriff levied on our cow; but a railroad engine killed her on the way to the courthouse and we got $50 damages and settled with the Sheriff for $25.—Atlanta Constitution.

A Spider Marked with a Human Face.

Mr. Geo. Henderson, jr., has a veritable curiosity in an extraordinarily marked common garden spider. On the back of the hinder half of the spider (the large rounded or oval part) are markings which distinctly outline a human face, eyes, nose and mouth; even to little indentures at the proper places to resemble nostrils. Each feature is in regular and natural position. To get the best view of the face the spider must be looked at with his head toward the spectator, as the mouth is about the middle of his back and the eyes and the upper part of the face farther towards the rear. The shape of the body is not unlike a human head, and in color it is a dull white and thus makes the resemblance still more striking.

Mr. Henderson is keeping his pet in a little box and supplying him with insects and leaves to keep him alive as long as possible. He takes pleasure in showing him to visitors.—Newbern Journal.

A MUSICAL PRODIGY.

How He Secured a Liberal Musical Education.

Eight years ago New York city went wild over little Hofmann. He created an excitement the like of which we did not see until Paderewski appeared here in 1892. He was such a little fellow that it looked almost as though he could be carried away in the pocket of a greatcoat. He was only ten years of age, but he played the piano marvelously. Gerry tried to stop his playing in the public, claiming it was injuring the boy's health. The father said: "But what am I to do? I am poor and I am earning this money to complete little Josef's education."

Commodore Gerry then said: "Will you take him off the stage for six years if you receive money enough to support yourself, his mother and him, and to give him the best instruction for that length of time?"

The father replied that he would gladly do so, and Commodore Gerry within a week raised a sum of money sufficient to yield a yearly income of five thousand dollars. This he placed in the hands of trustees, who were bound to remit to Mr. Hofmann in quarterly sums for six years. The lad was taken back to Europe, became the favorite pupil of Rubinstein and only a few weeks ago appeared again in public, justifying by his playing the highest promise of his boyhood days.

Millionairess or Billionairess.

We must participate, with permission of the Yankees, in their delight that a lady worth forty million pounds a year will shortly visit New York. She may, naturally, while steamers are temptingly running 'twixt America and England in six days, find it seductive to take a look at London, where she would indeed be a somebody and find all the shops kept open day and night on purpose to oblige her. The lady in question is a Chilean of the name of Senora de Cousino. She is fortunately a woman of mature years—the chances of her eloping are, therefore, lessened, while the chances of the old boys are increased. She ranks as the richest woman in the world, and who is her male equal? She is a woman of excellent culture and business capacity—these diminish the chances of the fortune hunters; she must be won for his worth. The senora's tastes are simple, but accurate. She is great on the subject of mines and ranches, and does not delight in grand dinners. This is all that is known as yet of the manifold millionaire, and, naturally, as such, most adorable of women.—London Court Journal.

The Largest Bible.

The largest Bible in the world is a manuscript Hebrew Bible in the Vatican, weighing three hundred and twenty pounds.

AN EQUINE PENSIONER.

Old Horse in Kentucky That is Well Cared For.

There is a horse in this city reputed to be thirty-seven years old, which is still fat, sleek and skittish, but through the provisions of a will made by its former owner it is not allowed to do any work. "Old Gilbert" is the name of the animal, and it is now in the possession of Mrs. Phelon, who resides on Pearl street. When Mrs. Fannie Sharp died, about six years ago, she left five hundred dollars for the purpose of keeping "Old Gilbert" in ease and comfort the remainder of his days. She expressly stipulated that the horse should not be required to do any work, and should be well fed and cared for. These requirements have been carried out, and "Old Gilbert" leads the life of a retired capitalist or pensioner. He appears to be good for several years yet, and if allowed would probably put in many an honest day's work. "Old Gilbert" is a bay gelding, about fifteen hands high, and well proportioned. He must have been rather frisky in his youth, for fully twenty years ago he ran away with Councilman John Higdon and his sweetheart, now Mrs. Higdon, smashed the buggy in splinters, and nearly frightened the life out of the young people. He was well up in horse years then. He served four years during the war and came out with a scratch. Just which side he was on it is not remembered, and it is barely possible that at one time or another he followed both the federal and confederate flags. — Owensboro (Ky.) Messenger.

And Then He Went Home.

"Mr. Stalate," she murmured, "do you remember when in 1894 we sat up to watch the new year in?"

"Yes," he replied, rapturously.

"Well—don't you—don't you—"

"Don't I what?"

"Don't you think we are beginning rather early this year?"
