LOCAL NOTES AND TOBACCO JOTTINGS

BY O. L. JOYNER.

Old Stocks. :

There probably never has been a time in the history of this market when the market has been as bare of old stocks as at the present time. Practically the last vestige of old stocks of wrappers has disappeared, double old cutters are hard to find, smokers are almost equally so, while the big accumulation of old stocks of fillers have gradually disappeared until there are not five hundred hogsheads to be found, hunting every nook and corner in the market. In fact the position in working stocks is stronger than at any time for the past five years. Already manufacturers are making inquiries for the '94 stocks, and dealers have disposed of liberal quantities of their not over large stocks.

Business having been so unsettled for the past twelve months, speculators have been wary of buying anything that they could not find immediate sale for. In consequence of this, speculators touched working stock very light. Hence it will take no very large demand to clean up the '94 stock of these goods that are in the hands of speculators.—Danville Journal.

W. L. Pender and D. D. Overton had a five mile bicycle race Thursday. Pender made the distance in 14½ minutes and Overton in 14¼ minutes.

IT CAME TO-DAY.

The Hundred Thousand Mark Passed.

Fridays have developed into record breakers for the Greenville tobacco market. Every day during this week the sales were good, averaging about 20,000 pounds per day the first four days, but the quantity that came in to day was a surprise to everybody. Just think of it! there were 125,000 pounds of tobacco brought to Greenville. Our people never saw the like before, and it looked almost like a circus day around the warehouses.

Tobacco began coming in by day break, and when the sales started at 10 o'clock there were rows of wagons around every warehouse waiting to get in. There was more tobacco by fully 20,000 pounds than could get on the warehouse floors and it had to be stored away in the prize houses.

The Star opened the breaks with 25,000 pounds and fairly made the price hum. It sold away up yonder, and the sellers were never better pleased.

Ola Forbes rang his new bell for the second sale at the Planters, and made the nice lay out of 28,000 pounds for the buyers to bid on. It was fine, too, and he spurred them on to the very top notch.

When they struck the Eastern there was such a sea of tobacco that the boys said they had to stay themselves up with some dinner before tackling it. This excellent house just broke the record of the Greenville market. There were 700 piles on the floor which aggregated 50,000 pounds, and twenty loads more had to be stored. When a 60 feet addition was recently made to the length of this house somebody wanted to know if they ever expected to fill up so much room. But to day showed. The floor was full, the drive way was full, and even then more room was needed. So much tobacco going there is sufficient proof that prices at the Eastern are all right.

Winking---Blinking

FRANK WILSON,
The King Clothier.

The Greenville had the closing sale with 16,000 pounds. Leon Evans says that while he has not got the largest house and cannot get quite so many pounds on his floor as the others, he would like to see anybody sell for higher prices than he does. And right then the "parson" spoke a parable.

Another great thing about this big break is the prices at which tobacco sold. The REFLECTOR took particular pains to go among the farmers on every floor and ask him about prices. Not a dissatisfied man was found on the wholebreak. On the contrary we received such answers as these: "Never saw prices higher" "It is selling better than I ever knew." "Better prices were never had in Greenville than to-day." "I am delighted with my prices—could not ask for better." There were many other similar expressions. Please the sellers and everybody else is pleased.

Like we have said before, just watch Greenville—she is going above 5,000,000 pounds this season.

A Big Dou't.

Don't dodge a bicycle rider. Stand still and the rider will get along all right. Posts, trees, stoves, &c, never dodge, and only beginners ever run into them. If you see a bicycle coming straight at you, don't dodge; if you do will confuse the rider. If you stand still "in the middle of the road" or whenever you happen to be the rider will take care to give you plenty of room; but if you go dodging to get out of the way, the chances are there will be a collision and you will be the worst hurt of the two. Therefore don't dodge.

Holding up trains is still the fad away out West. The latest was in Nebraska, where an express train was blown open and looted.

The Treasury gold reserve is dwindling down close to the safety line again, and there is not much surplus above the $100,000,000 limit.

There is somewhat of a stir in Washington City over the discovery that there are irregularities in the office of the Librarian of Congress. A $35,000 shortage is reported.

Ohio Democrats at their convention in Springfield, nominated ex-Gov J. E. Campbell by acclamation for Governor. The platform adopted by the convention embraced as its money plank the financial clause of the last National Democratic Convention.

Some of the sufferers by the recent big fire at Durham are having trouble in getting the insurance companies to settle their losses. There should be a law compelling prompt payment by insurance companies. When a person takes a policy with a company he should receive the protection for which he pays.

STATE NEWS.

Record of Matters of General Interest

The Gazette says 14,100 stamps in the Washington postoffice were ruined by the humidity of the atmosphere.

Miss Annie Faison, of Garysburg, while playing with a supposed unloaded pistol, shot herself through the arm.

At Bay Creek church, Pamlico county, about a week ago, Mr. Geo. Wheelington knelt to pray and died while in an attitude of prayer.

The town of Clinton votes a school-tax of 50 cents on the $100 valuation of property, and $1.50 on each poll. This is the heaviest school-tax ever voted in North Carolina.

Mr. H. A. Kirman, of Hickory Point, has lost nearly 300 chickens in two weeks with cholera. He has also lost 60 hogs.—Washington Gazette.

The apple crop in the mountains in the Western part of the State is this year immense. They have retailed at Mt. Airy as low as 10 cents a bushel.

About 225 brandy distilleries have been registered in the county so far. It would appear that the supply of liver regulator will be abundant for winter use, sprig bites, and such other calamities, to which the human flesh is heir.—Wilkesboro Chronicle.

Your Town.

The Durham Sun talks good sense in the following editorial paragraph:

If you have made up your mind to live in a town then stand up for it, say all the good things you can about it, and if you know positively no good, then preserve that silence in regard to its merits that is considered golden. Do what you can to help along every man who is engaged in a legitimate business. Don't send away for every nice thing you want and still expect the home men to keep a stock to suit the whim of one or two possible customers. The success of your fellow-townsmen will be your success. No man liveth to himself, and no man does business independent of his fellow business men. Take your home paper. Don't imagine that dailies fill up all the space, there are many little crevices of good cheer, social sunshine, personal mention in a home paper that the big dailies do not care for and do not print. Don't abuse your neighbor, the main difference in the number of his faults and your own is that you see his through magnifying glass of criticism and yours in a glass darkly. That ill-omened bird, the croaker, can do the town more harm in a minute than two good citizens can repair in a month.

Sca'ped Tickets.

It is announced in the papers that the Supreme Court of Georgia has rendered a decision declaring that scalped tickets must be accepted by the railroad companies. The case is stated as follows:

A year ago a man named Lovejoy bought a coupon, good from Atlanta to Washington over the Richmond and Danville road. The ticket was originally sold at Memphis by the Memphis and Birmingham railroad. It was issued for the Grand Army of the Republic Encampment at Washington. The original purchaser sold it in Atlanta to a broker. Lovejoy admitted to the Richmond and Danville conductor that he had bought the unused coupon in Atlanta. He was put off the train, and in his suit got $150. The Supreme Court sustained the verdict.

Now You're Shouting.

Some of the judges of the State are not allowing men to come into court with their coats off and order coatless men to leave the court room or put on their coats. Custom prompts a man to wear an outer garment called a coat and in hot weather nothing but custom, fashion, pride or whatever you may please to call it, makes him wear a coat. It is not indecent for him not to wear a coat, and we arise to ask, if it may please the court, what right has a judge to dictate to a man what kind of apparel he shall wear in the court room, so long as he is decently clad? If this thing keeps on, how long will it be before we will have to wear a regular court dress?—Monroe Enquirer.

The Charlottesville (Va) Daily Progress, speaking of the financial question, says: "Here is a nation of 70,000,000 souls, which has struggled along for more than a hundred years against the combined world to establish the principle of personal, political and religious liberty, and the doctrine of government by the people for the people it has reached a condition of development that makes it wholly independent of the rest of the world and has brought the whole world to bear tribute to its greatness and glory—and yet it has citizens who declare that it cannot establish a financial policy for the benefit of its own citizens without the consent of the effete governments that have everlastingly opposed its progress! Because the shynocks of the old world have their heads upon the throats of a small minority of the citizens of America, forsooth, the masses of the people must be denied the privileges and benefits of a liberal and beneficent system of finance that would bear equally upon all classes and give the greatest good to the greatest number! This is the whole thing in a nut shell."

Hard? Yes.

The New York Times has kept count of 685 companies and firms which have raised wages up to Monday last, the number of employes thus benefited being 514,000. In the face of these figures it must be tolerably hard for those who are trying to convince the people that for the lack of the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 the country is going to hell in a hand-basket, to deep their countenances.—Charlotte Observer.
