Work for Them.

We talked with several merchants about the effect of Friday's big tobacco break upon their sales, and every one said there was a marked improvement. This shows where the merchants are benefited by the tobacco market. Now can't they see that factories paying out large sums weekly to operatives would still further improve their sales?

A Pleasant Day.

The picnic out at the Henry Brown farm, near Mt. Pleasant, on Friday, was an occasion long to be remembered by the attendants. The crowd was large and they had an all around good time. The dinner which was served about 1 o'clock, was a splendid one and sufficient for even a larger number of people than were present. A large platform was provided for the dancers and it was made good use of all day. A string band from Robersonville furnished music. The managers deserve much credit for the excellent manner in which they conducted the picnic. Everything passed off pleasantly and in the best of order.

The Rice Birds and Dog Days are Here.

The rice bird made his annual appearance on the proverbial 20th of August. Residents of the coast heard the well known chirp, as the birds crossed the "sound" wending their Southern routes to the inviting fields.

It is notoriously true that the first appearance of these birds is on the first East winds that favor us after certain phase of the moon in August, which usually happens on or about the 20th.

Equally true is the fact that mocking birds do not sing in dog days and it is sure indication when those days begin.—Wilmington Messenger.

Church Services.

Methodist church.—Sunday School at 9:30 A. M. Preaching at 11 A. M. and 8 P. M. by Rev. G. F. Smith.

Episcopal church.—Sunday School at 9:30 A. M. Preaching at 11 A. M. and 8 P. M. by Rev. A. Greaves.

Baptist church.—Sunday School at 9:30 A. M.

Presbyterian.—Sunday School 9:30 A. M.

A Slight Error.

There was an error of 10,000 pounds in our report of the amount of tobacco on the Eastern Warehouse floor Friday. We wrote the figures 40,000 but the type made it appear 50,000. Not wishing to send out false figures as to what the Greenville market is doing we made this correction. We want to hear from any market in the State that can show up 40,000 pounds on one warehouse floor, or 109,000 on four floors.

Large crowd in town to-day the colored folks forming a majority of them.

It is believed that Greenville now has 3,000 or more inhabitants. There is talk of a census being taken soon.

Between tobacco curing and fodder pulling the farmers have about all they can look after. They will soon be through with both these crops.

By request of the citizens of Burke county ex Gov. T. J. Jarvis will make a speech at Morganton on Tuesday. He and Mrs. Jarvis are still at Connelly Springs.

Mr. E. B. Dudley brought the REFLECTOR three small eggs laid by one of his hens. One of these is the smallest chicken egg we ever saw, being not much larger around than an ordinary lead pencil.

The entire REFLECTOR force, from the devil down, returns thanks to Mr. J. J. Nobles for a basket of peaches which he brought in this morning. They were the finest and best soft peaches we have seen this season.

Winking---Blinking Buying FALL & WINTER GOODS, Wait for Me. FRANK WILSON,

The King Clothier.

It is stated that "Miss Mae Christen was married in bloomers at Chicago, Tuesday." A woman who spells her front name that way may be expected to do something extraordinary almost any minute.—Charlotte Observer.

It is generally agreed by horse men in this city that an unusual per cent of horses have what is known as the "big head," a species of disease which often afflicts the human race. The question now uppermost among horsemen is "who did they catch it from?"—Raleigh Press.

Commissioners Sale,

By virtue of a decree of the Superior Court of Pitt county made at September term, 1889, in a cause therein pending entitled, Laney M. Briley et als versus Martha A. Rouse et als, I will on Tuesday, the 17th day of September, 1895, before the Court House door in Greenville, sell at public sale to the highest bidder for cash, all that certain lot or parcel of land known and designated in the plan of the town of Greenville as lot number four in the old portion of said town, bounded on the north by lot number three, on the east by lot number sixteen, on the south by second street and on the west by Cherry Hill Cemetery, containing one half an acre more or less.

ALEX L. BLOW, Commissioner, Greenville, N. C. August, 15, 1895.

The REFLECTOR is indebted to some one for a nice melon. A colored boy walked in with it Friday evening and said "Mr. King sent this to you," but as that is all he told we don't know which Mr. King to thank.

EVERY AFTERNOON (EXCEPT SUNDAY)

A 16-year-old girl in Montgomery county, Tennessee, eloped with a young man whom her parents had forbidden to visit her and they were married. The father of the girl pursued them and killed her husband.

John R. Gentry, the famous North Carolina pace horse, greatly disappointed his admirers and backers by his defeat at the Chicago races on Thursday. Joe Patchen easily won three straight heats from Gentry, making the race a one-sided affair.

Some miscreant placed a cross-tie across the track of the Norfolk & Western road near Pamplin City, Va, causing the engine and eight cars of a freight train to be thrown down an embankment and wrecked. The engineer, the oldest in the service of the road, was instantly killed.

A young man in New Orleans shot a young lady because she refused to marry him. The girl's father hearing the pistol shots rushed into the room and the young man shot him also. Going out of the house he knocked down a sister of the young lady. All the fools are not dead yet, but this one ought to be.

An exchange says—and we give it to our readers as the words of truth. Honor to the true man, who takes his life in his hands, and, at all hazards, speaks the word which is given him to utter, whether men will hear or forbear, whether the end thereof is to be praise or censure, gratitude of hatred.

On July 28th, 1890, Mrs. Charles Prickett dropped a bowl of butter in a well at Attalla, Ala. On Thursday the well was cleaned out and the bowl found. In it the butter still remained intact and as pure and fresh as when put in the well.

Respect Women.

There is nothing manly, my dear boys, in making light of women. For your mother's sake, honor the sex. Never use a lady's name in an improper place, or at an improper time, or in mixed company. Never make assertions about her that you think are untrue, allusions that you feel she herself would blush to hear. When you meet with men who do not scruple to make use of a woman's name in a reckless and unprincipled manner, shun them, for they are the very worst members of the community—men lost to every sense of honor, every feeling of humanity. Many a good and worthy woman's character has been forever ruined and heart broken by a lie, concocted by an unprincipled villain, but believed by people of good principles, who are too ready to believe slander or condemn imprudence as crime. The smallest thing derogatory to a woman's character will fly on the wings of the wind, and magnify as it circulates, until its monstrous weight crushes the poor unconscious victim. Remember this if you are tempted to repeat or listen to a scandalous story.

Outdoor Work Preferred.

Some years ago a young Irishman was hunting for work among the farmers of a Western town at harvest-time.

He made his application to a benevolent looking farmer who was attracted by the young man's frank, merry face, but was not really in need of extra help.

"Can you cradle?" he asked, after a moment's hesitation.

"Cradle is it?" repeated the young Irishman, in bewilderment. "That Or can, sorr, bein' the owld-st at-elivin children; but," he added, persuasively, "couldn't yez give me a job out ay-dures, sorr?"

Several warehouses with large quantities of freight were burned at Milwaukee, Wis., causing a loss of nearly $500,000.

He Paid the Bill.

Chinamen have "ways that are peculiar." Mr. Plugmaker, a Winston tobacco manufacturer, demanded pay of his Chinese blunderman for a garment John had not returned. The almond-eyed fellow was averse to handing over the money, saying that this particular garment had never been sent to him; but he decided to do so when a policeman was called in and a neighbor, whom he had consulted, told him that Mr. Plugmaker was a gentleman and would not make such a demand unless he was positive that he was right.

"Me payee," said John, "but first me swear you!"

He explained that he would get a chicken, and that Mr. Plugmaker must cut off its head, and if the blood spurted away from the manufacturer he was telling the truth, and if it spurted towards him he was guilty of falsehood and attempt to swindle. Amused and curious Mr. Plugmaker told John to bring forth the fowl.

John produced a chicken and a keen-edged knife of strange pattern. After an incantation and burning of incense, he laid the tobacco man the blade. Mr. Plugmaker whacked off the fowl's head at a single stroke, and the blood spurted away from him.

"Allee rightee!" exclaimed John with a grin.

And he promptly paid the money.—Winston Tobacco Journal.

A Seeming Inconstancy.

Some years since, Dr. —, now the popular president of a flourishing western college, was the pastor of a congregation in an eastern city. He was one day preaching with great earnestness and, in defining his position on the question at issue, said: "In the language of the immortal Luther, 'Here I stand; I cannot do otherwise, God help—'"

He had not finished the familiar quotation when, owing to the fact that he was unconsciously on the very edge of the platform, he fell off and down a distance of about three feet.

He quickly picked himself up, and, on entering the pulpit again, he said: "God helping me I will not change my moral position, but I will take my stand just a trifle farther from the edge of the platform."

The sermon proceeded without any further quotation from the "hero of the reformation.—Ram's Horn."

There seems to be too much of a spirit among farmers to take up with strangers going through the county, who offer them inducements in the way of trade. They seem to be suspicious of men who are doing business in town; men who are responsible. The business men of the town are not robbers who want your money for nothing. The people of the country must not think that a man can do business for nothing long, nor make fabulous and unjust profits. Competition in trade is such in these days that big profits are impossible. Stick to the business men of your own vicinity and they will stick to you.—Durham Sun.
