Albemarle Presbytery.

IN SESSION WITH THE GREENVILLE CHURCH.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON SESSION.

The afternoon session was occupied chiefly with receiving reports of officers and committees and various missionary work performed by Presbyters appointed at the last meeting of the Presbytery.

The Agent on Education reports five candidates preparing for the Ministry.

A Memorial was presented by the Westministers League, of Albemarle Presbytery, requesting sanction to the League and appointment of a Presbyterial-League agent. Sanction was granted and Rev. C. G. Vardell appointed agent.

Dr. F. H. Johnson, whose term of office as trustee of Davidson College had expired, was re-elected to that office.

A resolution was passed to pay fifty per cent of the expenses of the Presbytery's trustee of Davidson College.

The Presbytery decided to hold its Spring meeting at Kinston on invitation of Rev. C. G. Vardell.

Rev. C. G. Vardell was granted reluctant leave of absence on grounds of pressing business.

EVENING SESSION.

A Foreign Mission session was the order of business for 8 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Services began with the usual devotional exercises, followed by reading of the report of Agent of Foreign Missions by J. I. Foust. The report made certain suggestions which were afterwards adopted in a resolution.

1st That one or more sermons on Foreign Missions be preached by each Presbyter during the year.

2nd That parishes attempt to put into execution some more successful method of raising funds.

3rd That Women's Foreign Missionary Societies be encouraged.

The adoption of the report was followed by short Missionary addresses from Drs. Morton, Payne and Rev. W. T. Walker.

The services closed with the hymn "From Greenland's Icy Mountains" and the Presbytery again went into business session.

New arrivals. Dr. Eugene Daniels, Raleigh, Rev. E. N. Wharton, Warren-ton.

Prof. Dinwiddie was excused on plea of leaving for Washington to-day.

THURSDAY MORNING SESSION.

Session opened with usual devotional exercise and reading of the minutes of yesterday's meeting. After which a report was offered by Home Missionary Committee, setting forth rapid progress in the work.

A circular letter from the Synod committee on the missionary work in the Presbyterian districts stating its nature, object and progress was read and endorsed.

A resolution was passed to appoint a committee of three to devise means of bringing Peace Institute into close relation with the Presbyterian Synod.

At 11:15 Divine services were held, Dr. Morton and Rev. L. McLauren officiating. The latter preached from Ps. xxxii, 1-5.

Subject:—Sin, its confession, and forgiveness.

After Divine services, it was resolved that examinations of candidates for the University should be a order of business for the afternoon session.

On report of Dr. Payne upon work among the colored people, a committee was appointed to examine as to the expediency of organizing a colored church at Washington and licensing J. A. Williams, col, as a minister.

Committee—Dr. Johnson, Payne, Revs. Hines and Walker and Elder Geo. Brown, of Washington.

Resolution passed to convene this afternoon meeting at 2.30 instead of 3.00.

Dr. Eugene Daniels, of Raleigh is to preach this evening at 8 o'clock.

At an entertainment given for the benefit of the Methodist church of Moultrie, Ga., a few nights ago, the prettiest young ladies of the town arrayed themselves in their best costumes and sold kisses to the boys for ten cents apiece. "As a natural consequence," says the Albany Herald, "the church debt has been paid in full, a nice surplus left, and the young men of Moultrie are bankrupt."

THANKS! To All for Waiting.

I'm Back with a Big line of Stylish CLOTHING FRANK WILSON, The King Clothier.

A Distinguished Son of Pitt County.

We have been shown by Col. I. A. Sugg a photograph of Dr. David R. Wallace, of Waco, Texas. Many of our older citizens will be pleased to hear that Dr. Wallace is prominent and prosperous in his profession in the great State Texas. Dr. Wallace was born and raised in Pitt county near Falkland, was a highly esteemed citizen and cultured gentleman while in his native State. He is now Neurologist and Consulting Physician at the Waco Natatorium, and Medical Referee of the Provident Saving Life Assurance Society. He moved from North Carolina forty years ago, and is now sixty years old. His picture shows great vigor and mental force and strong personal character, indicating the true type of the genial Southern gentlemen that he is. It is a pride indeed to hear of the good fortune and fame of any Tar Heel, but especially are we glad to hear that the sons of Pitt are honored wherever they go.

Forbes & Moye's prize house will soon be completed.

A Good House.

The amount of tobacco sold by the Eastern Warehouse is commented upon by all who attend the sales. This popular house is full nearly every day, and often cannot get all that comes on its floor. To-day the entire floor space was taken up and piles of bright weed covered the driveway clear up to the entrance. The Eastern is managed by a team of hustling men, and they know how to get good prices.

EVERY AFTERNOON (EXCEPT SUNDAY)

John J. Ingalls, of Kansas is an avowed candidate for the United States Senate. The people of the South will rejoice to see him left at home.

The rebellion still goes on. There seems to be at present no sign of the end, but even more active preparations are being made to press it more vigorously.

Wake Forest College has opened with better prospects than ever. Dr. J. L. M. Curry made the opening address and like every thing he does it was good.

Governor Carr gives some interesting facts regarding the State farms. The crop of corn is expected to be 154,000 bushels, and of pork there will be 132,000 pounds. At the Caledonia farm there are 2,500 acres in corn, 1,900 in cotton, 130 plows, 570 convicts. At the Northampton farm 212 convicts, 1,200 acres in corn, 650 in cotton, and 50 plows. At the Halifax farm 146 convicts, 38 plows, 1,100 acres in corn, and 425 acres in cotton. At Roanoke Rapids there are 77 convicts. The health of all is remarkably good.

A writer in one of the current English magazines who has been making a study of centenarians over there, finds that in all cases they have been married, have lived a quiet life, usually in straightened circumstances, and that the women greatly outnumbered the men. But he also deems it worthy of remark that London and its suburbs contained at the last census "no fewer than twenty one centenarians," while Dublin had five and Glasgow two—showing that city life is not altogether inimical to long life. It is worth noting that in Massachusetts with a population less than one half that of London, no fewer than eighteen centenarians died in 1893, the last year for which we have a report, or nearly as many as London had living at about that time. Curiously enough too, there were two single persons among them, a man and a woman. They were, however, among the youngest in the lot. Eleven of the eighteen were women.

What are you Worth?

The Augusta Chronicle asks this question and says the man or woman who reads it will at once turn to the pocket book and the bank account. But that is not what we mean when we repeat the question.

Did you ever ask yourself the question and answer it honestly, what am I worth to my family; to the town I live in; the world? If I should die would the public regard it a loss, or would the only cause for regret be the amount of my funeral expenses?

These are not always very comforting questions, but it might do us good to look them squarely in the face every now and then, and see how well we feel after a truthful interview with ourselves. If we cannot answer honestly that we are valuable to those among whom our lot is cast; if we are not doing anything to make those about us happier and the world better in so far as we can influence it in our circumscribed sphere, then it is time we were making good resolutions, and carrying them out.

Don't imagine, because your circle is small, and your opportunities limited, that you have no showing. The fifth wheel under the wagon is just as important to its progress as the big wheels on the side. The man that puts the shoes on the racer is as indispensable to the result of the race as the showily dressed jockey or the rich owner. If you are doing your duty in the sphere of life that you are in, whether it be a congenial sphere or not, then you are worth something to the world. If you are not doing your duty, and giving the best work that is in you, you are falling short of your opportunities. Wherever your lot is, do what you find to do with a will; take a friendly interest in the welfare of those about you; lend a helping hand where you can; say a kind word when the opportunity offers; take an interest in public affairs, and stand for the right, and you will find that the public recognizes the fact, and holds you in esteem. "Act well your part, there all the honor lies."

"Mamma Is Here Now."

It was in the Pennsylvania station one morning last week. In one of the waiting room seats there sat a tired, worn-looking man with a boy of perhaps three in his arms. The little fellow's shoes were only half buttoned, his hair was awarwardly combed and his stockings were awry. At the man's side sat two little girls of perhaps five and seven. Their frocks were buttoned crooked, but the younger had her hair combed in a pitiful attempt at curls. The man kept glancing at the clock. By and by the elder little girl spoke:

"Is mamma here yet?" she asked.

"Let us see," the man said.

The forlorn looking quartette rose and straggled out to the platform. There some men were just lifting a long pine box from a wagon. The man looked at it a moment.

"Come," he said, "let's go back; mamma is here now."—Washington Post.

It is often said that Christians are no more honest than other people. Whatever of truth there is in that requires the substitution of the phrase, church members, for "Christians." There is not a dishonest Christian in the world, and never was. A dishonest man is not a Christian. He may bow his head, cross himself, or weep at the name of Jesus, soar on wings of ecstasy when he hears descripts of heaven, and recount with unction the date, the hour; and the minute of his conversion but if he is dishonest he is not a Christian. The fundamental maxim of Christianity is: "Provide things honest in the sight of all men." It is an awful day for any man when he says within himself: "I know that this is dishonest, but it is the custom of the trade, and I must do it or sink." He is at least the half brother of a man who commits forgery, robs tills, or makes false entries.—New York "Christian Advocate."

Reunion and Picnic.

There was only a small attendance today upon the reunion of Bryan Grimes Camp of Confederate Veterans. We were sorry to note the lack of interest in the organization, and had hoped to see so many old veterans present as to insure the permanency of the reunions. Those who came enjoyed the occasion. There was dinner and speech making,
the latter being by Messrs. E. A.
Moye and W. F. Brand, the latter from Greene county.

Mr. Brand was the most interesting figure at the picnic. He is now in his 76th year and is a veteran of Mexican war. He had with him an overcoat, a blanket, a knife and a cane that he brought home with him from that war and has kept in his possession 47 years. The old veterans gathered around to look at these, and listened with great interest to Mr.
Brand's recital of many of his adventures in Mexico. Tears gathered in the old man's eyes as he looked around and said: "My dear comrades, we have much to thank God for. Most of our companions in arms have been summoned to the grave, while for some reason not known to us we are still spared. Let our last years be so spent that when the summons comes to us we may be ready to meet death."

The police census of Charlotte has been finished and the city is shown to have 19,853 people. The number of whites is 10,857; of blacks 8,726, making the majority of the white population 2,131.

Big Breaks.

The Greenville tobacco market shoves right ahead. Big breaks are the order every day now and prices hold right up to the top notch. To-day the Planters and Eastern were both full, and the Greenville and Star very near full. Many farmers come in over night now so that the sales can get an early start in the morning, and even then it takes nearly all day to get through.
