WEATHER CROP BULLETIN.

The reports of correspondents of the Weekly Weather Crop Bulletin, issued by the North Carolina State Weather Service, for the week ending Saturday, October 5th, 1895, indicate a very unfavorable week. The temperature was considerably below the normal, with frosts three mornings, damaging tobacco and other crops considerably. Drought continues to prevail, practically no rain having fallen anywhere. Cotton is very poor crop, is nearly all open, and will be all gathered much earlier than usual. All late crops have been injured by the drought, and turnips are nearly ruined. Gathering corn is under way, but fall plowing continues at a standstill.

EASTERN DISTRICT.

The past week has been very cool and dry, with more than usual amount of sunshine. Frosts occurred on the mornings of the 1st and 2d. The drought continues unabated, injuring peas, potatoes and turnips, and killing young berry plants. Wells and streams are low, and some mills have stopped running. Cotton, which has opened very rapidly and is poor crop, will probably all be out by end of October. Corn was beyond possibility of injury and is being housed. Peanuts being stacked. Rice crop is fair. Second crop of Irish potatoes poor. Very little planting and no fall plowing has been done.

A Good Teacher.

Miss Mary Dail, of Snow Hill, sister of Miss Carrie, so well and favorably known in Greenville is teaching school at Forbes' school house, three miles from here. Miss Mary was one of the young ladies who received the five year certificate from the Normal School at Greensboro last year and is well equipped as a teacher. We congratulate the people in that neighborhood upon securing Miss Dail as their teacher.

 To buy him a Suit of Clothes.

RICHER AND HANDSOMER

Than any ever produced. My Clothes, Hats and Furnishings, I'm talking about. Look over the stock; it's complete now, and see if you don't agree with me. One of two things I always mean to do: To sell you better goods than you get elsewhere for the same price; to sell you the same goods lower than you get them.

FRANK WILSON,
 The King Clothier.

Big Break and High Prices.

Tuesday's weather was good for the farmers to handle their tobacco, and the result was that the warehouses had tremendous breaks to-day and there was a large crowd here. We talked with many of the farmers and without exception they were well pleased with the high prices obtained. Several counties were represented on the breaks.

The solonic victory obtained by Gov. Culberson, of Texas, in his war on pugilists and pugilism is carrying into practical operation the motto of Gov. Vance, of North Carolina, composed for a society of the Young Men's Christian Association—"Be virtuous and you will be happy; but you won't have much fun."—Norfolk Virginian.

It speaks well for the shipbuilding of the early days when the schooner Polly, built in 1805, at Amesbury, Mass., is still seaworthy. Another veteran is the schooner Good Inlet, built in 1813, at Braintree, Mass., yet in active service.

DID YOU BUY YOUR HUSBAND

His last Suit of Clothes? Most ladies do buy their husband's Clothes. Its right that they should. A man don't know what looks well on him and besides he don't know a good piece of goods from a common piece. His wife does and its to his interest to let her buy his Clothes. He saves money by it and is more becomingly dressed. Speaking of Clothes I have a very nice line for Men I bought at a bankrupt sale which I will sell at a very low price—about one-half its real value. I have Suits from $2 up. Don't fail to see me before buying. I have also a nice line of Dress Goods and Notions that I am selling cheaper than any man in town. When in need of SHOES remember my stock is complete and will sell them cheap.

The Next Senate.

It is said that the next United States Senate—that is, the one commencing on the 4th of March next, will consist of forty-two Republicans, thirty-nine Democrats, six Populist and one vacancy. The question of the constitutionality of the election of a successor to Senator Higgins, of Delaware, is a highly interesting one; but the Senate will, no doubt move deliberately in the matter. The Boston Post says on this subject:

"The Republicans have a plurality, but not a majority; therefore they will be unable to organize unless they can effect a coalition with the Populists. They can hardly afford to combine with the Populists just on the eve of a national election. But they want the patronage which is controlled by the majority, and some of the hungry ones would willingly take long chances in order to secure it.

"If the six Populists decide to act as a unit upon all political matters that arise, they will practically be in control of the Senate. By casting their votes with either party they can always make a majority. Nobody knows just what policy they will pursue, but it is quite plain that they will hold the key to the situation. They can make their own terms. No bill can go through without their approval. No appointments of clerks or other officers of the Senate can be made unless they agree. They will be in a position to dictate the policy of the upper chamber. The outlook is not very cheering for the Republicans. They have an enormous majority in the lower house, but they will be utterly helpless in the Senate. They will be at the mercy of Mr. Peffer and the two senators from Nevada, who can make speeches as long and as tiresome as the ebullitions of the late Mr. Blair, of New Hampshire. No wonder Mr. Reed looks gloomily upon the prospects."

Women in Journalism.

There is no work better suited to a well educated, sensible, refined woman than newspaper work and they are today doing excellent work on the great newspapers and magazines of the country. Heretofore a woman journalist was regarded as a curiosity in North Carolina, but the brightest and most resourceful local writer in the State is a woman, Miss Addie Williams, who pushes the pencil for the Charlotte Observer. The Durham Recorder, one of the most original weeklies in the State is edited by Mrs. Al Fairbrother and last week's Fayetteville Observer stated that it would increase the little army of women writers for the press by adding the names of two ladies to its staff who will do special work on that paper. Editors are recognizing the growing need of feminine representation in the newspaper offices. Journalism is the best field yet open to woman to exert her influence on modern society.

The future will see dozens of women in journalism in this State to where there is one now. Journalism is a profession in which they need not come so much in contact with the busy, bustling world as in other professions and occupations which require brain work. For the most part no workers are so isolated as writers.

The Express has watched their work and been charmed with it, and while we are not in favor of putting the ballot in their hands we are decidedly in favor of throwing open to women every avenue of honest work where they may become self-sustaining and independent. Marriage is a high aim for women but is by no means the only one.

All honor to the women journalists! They are going to put the impress of their purity of thought upon the pages of the journals with which they are connected.—Saxford Express.

The Zero of Temperature.

No explorer has yet been able to hang his cap on the north pole, nor has the chemist in his laboratory yet succeeded in reaching what may be called the north pole of his researches—namely, the zero of temperature, or the temperature of celestial space. This zero has been defined as that point of temperature at which gas particles would give no pressure and have no volume, a condition which, it is said, would take place at a temperature of 274 degrees below the freezing point of water. Unlike the arctic explorers, however, who have a number of roads open by which to approach the pole, the chemist has only one route by which to reach the chilly destination he seeks, and that is by the liquefaction of all the gases. This, the textbooks state, has already been accomplished, but the chemist in search of the zero temperature knows better.

Though compressed hydrogen when expanded yields a mist, the victory over this baffling element has not been achieved, and as the experiments in this direction are difficult and costly it seems probable that the explorers will reach the north pole, by balloon or otherwise, long before the chemists reach their zeroic temperature, the temperature of celestial space. One practical result the chemist names as a reason of his researches after the zero temperature is that should it ever be reached we could then completely transform heat into mechanical power, whereas at present we succeed in getting only about 10 per cent so converted.—Chicago Interior.

Both Good Shots.

"My wife is an expert in handling a rifle. Put up a coin for a target, and she'll hit it in the center every time."
"That's nothing. My wife rifles my pockets of all the coin in them and never misses a dime."—Detroit Free Press.

It is said that it costs about $50 to ascend Mont Blanc.

Asbestos.

As asbestos comes from the mine it is of a greenish hue, and the edges are fringed with loose fibers. The more nearly white asbestos is the better its grade. The length of fiber is also of great importance, the longest being the most valuable. From the mines the asbestos is taken to the manufactories in the United States.

In a Dream.

In Lough Erie, near Carrick-on-Shannon, Ireland, an ancient black oak canoe, without nail or rivet, was lately discovered in a strange way. A Mr. Mulligan dreamed that he saw a canoe at the bottom of the lake. The lake was dragged and the canoe found.
