Managing a Daughter.

First—You can't do it; the man who can must be more than mortal.

Second—Give her own way; it will save her the trouble of taking it.

Third—Pay for her dresses if you can afford it. Her dress-maker will sue if you don't.

Fourth—If she takes a fancy to any man you don't want her to marry, tell her your heart is set on her marrying him and swear she shall never marry any other. You can then give her a free hand and she wouldn't have him if he was the only man left.

Fifth.—If there is any man you want her to marry, kick him out of your house, forbid the servants to admit him, distribute man traps and spring guns and bulldogs all around your grounds, lock her in her room and vow if she marries him you won't leave her a penny. You will not have to wait long after that for the elopement.

Sixth—If she has no voice encourage her to sing whenever you give a party. It will attract attention to her and give your guests an excuse for complimenting her. Never mind the neighbors.

Seventh—If you are a poor man, teach your daughter how to dance and play the piano. She can learn cooking and dress-making and those things after she is married.—Peck's Sun.

On the State Farm.

Superintendent Leazer, of the penitentiary, on his return from a visit to the State farms on the Roanoke, says the crop of cotton is about two thirds as large per acre as that of last year, but as there is an increase of 500 acres he believes it will be as great in amount as last year's crop. As to its value he expects it to be worth $55,000 more. The corn crop is very large, and a careful estimate of it is 125,000 bushels.

RICHER AND HANDSOMER

Than any ever produced. My Clothes, Hats and Furnishings, I'm talking about. Look over the stock; it's complete now, and see if you don't agree with me. One of two things I always mean to do: To sell you better goods than you get elsewhere for the same price; to sell you the same goods lower than you get them.

FRANK WILSON,

The King Clothier.

Wait, Its Coming Sure.

Sell's Brothers' magnificent and stupendous shows will exhibit in Greenville, Friday Nov. 1. Their enlarged and varied confederation for 1895 include the Grand Regal Roman Hippodrome Races, Three Ring Circus, Elevated Theatre Stages, Performing Animals of all descriptions, Tropical Aquarium, Australian Aviary, Fifty Cage Menagerie, Arabian Caravan and The Gala-day Street Parade. Among the many rare and attractive features exclusively presented by them will be found the only pair of living giant Hippopotami; the remarkable Educated Seals and Sea Lions, Rooster Orchestra, Trilby the Riding Peacock, Giant Kangaroos, a whole flock of Ostriches and hundreds of novel features. There are also scores of the most eminent charioters, male and female jockeys, bare-back riders, and aerial and other performers, and a program not only stupendous, but most exciting, select and refined in character, all of which will be fully presented in Greenville, Friday Nov. 1. The grand, gorgeous street parade absolutely eclipses any pageant ever seen, takes place at 10 a. m. on the day of the exhibition; two performances daily, afternoon and evening. Special excursion rates on all railroads.

Are You a Help to Your Husband?

Of course all ladies help their husbands all they can. When one don't help its because they don't know how. I know how you can help your husband and save a nice little sum, that is if you have got to buy any DRESS GOODS, NOTIONS and SHOES, by trading with

H. B. CLARK.

You will find that a dollar will buy more at my store than a dollar ever bought before. This a broad statement, but it is true. The only way to account for this lowness in prices is the fact that a little profit is all I expect. To simply say my line of dress goods are pretty is not doing them justice, they are more than pretty, dainty and sensible novelties that combine style and wear and satisfaction. My line CLOTHING and GENTS FURNISHINGS is in reach of every one. I have the nicest and cheapest ever brought to this town. Don't forget to me before buying.

The Alliance had expected to buy property at Cary and establish a shoe factory, and thought that they had done so, but when the property was put up at auction last Monday Mr. J. C. Angier at Carey was the highest bidder and the property went to him. It is said he bought it for the Carey Lumber Co. The officers of the Alliance say that this will not stop the creation of the shoe factory, but will cause it to be located some where else.

Improvement in Cotton Prices.

Cotton sold in Raleigh yesterday for nine cents and, from the advance which set in some weeks ago and is still maintained, it is probable that it will go still higher.

This expectation is based, in great part, on unfavorable crop reports and the consequent belief that the crop is a short one, especially in Texas. But this is not the only factor. In cotton, as in everything else, the price is regulated by the law of supply and demand. And the statistics of the past ten years show that fluctuating demand has as much to do with prices as varieties in supply. Of course the production in any given year must be considered in connection with the surplus from the year preceding. For instance in 1891 the crop is placed at 8,655,000, yet the average price in in New York market, as estimated by the Federal Bureau of Statistics, was 8.60 cents, while in 1893, with a crop of 6,700,000, the average price for the year was only 8.56 cents. In the latter year there was a large surplus estimated to have been left over from the preceding years, while there had been comparatively little increase in cotton manufacturing. Besides, the demand for raw material from other countries was small. Again in 1884 with a crop of 5,713,000 bales, the average New York price of cotton was 10.88. In 1890 it had risen to 11.07 on a crop of 7,311,000, and in 1894, with almost the same crop (7,527,000), it sold down to 6.94 cents on the year's average.

As far as prices are determined by supply the United States governs the cotton market, only 20 per cent. of the world's crop being produced in other countries. But as far as activity of demand is concerned we are to a great extent at the mercy of Europe, and a significant fact in connection with the advancing price of our raw cotton is the increased output of the English factories and the beginning of cotton manufacturing in China and Japan. During the eleven months ending September 1, 1895, England exported 1,166,673,000 pounds of manufactured cottons, against 1,150,168,000 pounds last year—an increase of 16,505,000 pounds in the output for the eleven months. In addition to this the cotton milling industry in this country has been enormously increased within the past twelve months.

These facts, with the general revival of business in all parts of the country, shows with sufficient clearness that larger demand has as much to do with prices as the prospect of a short crop.—News and Observer.

Grovers Trip to Atlanta.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 18.—Secretary Hoke Smith saw the President to-day and consulted his convenience about the coming visit of Mr. Cleveland and his cabinet to the Atlanta Exposition. Afterwards Vice-President Baldwin, of the Southern Railway, called upon the Secretary and preliminary arrangements for the trip were made.

The President party will leave Washington in a special train over the Southern Railway at 11 p. m., Monday, the 21st, and will arrive at Atlanta at 4 o'clock the next afternoon. The President will be accompanied by members of his cabinet and their wives and by Private Secretary Thurber and wife. Mrs. Cleveland has not yet decided to go. She does not like traveling and usually avoids long journeys when possible.

The Presidential party will leave Atlanta on the evening of Wednesday, the 23rd, after the reception at the Capital City Club. No definite hour of departure has been fixed, but it is presumed that it will be 12 or 1 o'clock. It is expected that the special train will arrive in Washington between 6 and 7 o'clock Thursday evening.

The train will pass through Charlottesville, Lynchburg and Danville, Va., Salisbury and Charlotte, N. C., Spartauburg and Greenville, S. C., and Gainsville, Ga.

Alas, Poor Motorman.

A motorman's life is not a happy one. While the self satisfied conductor is chinking the coin in his pocket, jangling the register, pulling the bell cord or blithely mispronouncing street names, the motorman is silently grinding out his life at the brake, his mind strung to its utmost tension, and his hands and arms never for a moment idle. Yet he's the one to be blamed whenever an accident happens, without a thought being given to the many calamities which have been avoided through his alertness and precaution.—Boston Transcript.

About one hundred of the North Carolina press arrived here Monday night and this morning. Many ladies are with the party. Most of to-day was spent in the Exposition grounds and the Tarheels are delighted with what they found there to interest them. To say that this is a great Exposition does not tell the story. It surpasses by far what many of us expected to find. Wednesday the editors will continue their sight seeing and Wednesday night will go to Nashville to visit the Tennessee Centennial. (Returning here they will make brief stops at Chattanooga and Lookout Mountain, and then take in the Exposition a day or two more. D. J. W.

Burial of Maj. Latham.

The remains of Hon. L. C. Latham, attended by Dr. C. J. O'Hagan and Gov. T. J. Jarvis, were met at the depot last night by the Greenville bar in a body and many friends, and conveyed to his late residence. This evening at 3:30 o'clock the burial services were held in the Methodist church and thence to the Episcopal church yard, conducted by Rev. G. F. Smith. A large concourse of relatives and friends were in attendance and the sympathies of all were mingled with the tears of the fatherless. The following were the honorary pallbearers: Messrs. Allen Warren, J. B. Cherry, E. A. Moye, I. A. Sugg, McG. Ennrl, C. A. White. Active—J. G. Moye, G. B. King, F. G. James, R. R. Cotton, C. O'H. Laughinghouse, L. I. Moore.
