LOCAL NOTES AND TOBACCO JOTTINGS.

BY O. L. JOYNER.

Good tobacco is selling high just now. We have seen several farmers recently who have been selling tobacco on other markets and all of them that we have seen say it is selling as well in Greenville as anywhere they have been.

The loose tobacco sales on the Richmond market for the year ending September 1st, 1895, was nearly four million pounds less than for the year ending September 1st, 1894. Four million pounds is a considerable fall off with a market like Richmond that never sold at its best, but about eleven millions pounds. There are some facts on record concerning the origin and growth of the Richmond market that would be interesting reading matter to some of our North Carolina tobaccoists.

There is a considerable squabble now going on between the South Carolina markets, and the Danville Va., markets, or rather by the newspapers of these places. The Florence, South Carolina, Messenger has some very hard things to say about the Danville warehousemen. It makes some allegations about the Danville people that we don't believe are true, and the Danville Journal retorts back in very plain language to the South Carolina editors. All of this kind of stuff will not aid the South Carolina markets at all in building themselves up nor does Danville in our opinion need such notoriety and the Journal need not remind the world that Danville is the largest tobacco centre in it. The people already know it.

We have been to the Atlanta Exposition and have returned all safe and sound. Aside from the pleasure of the the trip in traveling through the splendid country traversed by the Atlantic Coast Line in reaching the Gate than any ever produced. My Clothes, Hats and Furnishings, I'm talking about. Look over the stock; it's complete now, and see if you don't agree with me. One of two things I always mean to do: To sell you better goods than you get elsewhere for the same price; to sell you the same goods lower than you get them.

FRANK WILSON,

The King Clothier.

City we saw nothing that impressed us so much in the way of an exhibit as that made by the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., of Winston N. C.

No North Carolinian that loves home and is proud of the great State of his birth will visit the Exposition without feeling ashamed that North Carolina has no building in which to make an exhibit, a creditable exhibit, to the world of her varied industries and inexhaustible resources. As we stood at the entrance and surveyed the Exposition grounds just in front of us was the Georgia building, to our left and slightly on a summit the mammoth structures of the the New York and Pennsylvania rose in commanding appearance, and in our front dotted here and there were the buildings of the various Southern and Western States. To all of these we went and for the time being, so to speak, lived as it was, in the grain fields of the Mississippi valley, then in a few mountains, then were traversing the cotton fields of the black lands of Arkansas. Getting tired of this we stepped into the land of sunshine and flowers. Florida truly has placed its great natural advantages before the world by the creditable exhibit that it is making at the Cotton States and International Exposition.

After making a partial tour of the different States and seeing the attractive products of North Carolina scattered around here and there, anywhere, among the rush of thoughts that come to our mind was what a golden opportunity of advertising our natural advantages, to the world has been neglected. But notwithstanding the disadvantages under which our people who made exhibits labored, the products of the State and the individual exhibits were equal to those of any other State and it was frequently remarked that if we had had a building ours would have been the best exhibit there.

For correct letter and note heads you should see the splendid lot of paper just received at REFLECTOR office.

ATLANTA'S ATTRACTION.

The Great Exposition Increases in Interest.

From the California building where our last article closed one can next visit the Machinery building. Here are hundreds of different pieces of machinery in motion, making almost everything that can be imagined from a common brass pin up. Type setting machines and printing presses caught the eyes of the newspaper folks.

The next building is the Mineral and Forestry. This is a rustic structure the outside covered with sections of many varieties of trees just as cut from the Georgia forests. Within is a vast collection of minerals and woods from various States. Here North Carolina is well represented, her display of minerals being the best in the building. The huge gold nuggets attract the attention of every one.

Then on around the south-western end of lake Clara Meer the Agricultural building is reached. Here the States vie with each other in showing products of the soil and orchard. This building alone is worth a trip to Atlanta to see. A striking feature of it is the display made by the Seaboard Air Line of the resources along its road.

This completes the list of buildings containing general exhibits, but there is yet one other large structure situated just to the right of the Georgia building and main entrance. This is the auditorium with a seating capacity reaching the thousands. In this concerts and public meetings are held. During our stay Gilmore's famous band—40 pieces—of New York, gave several concerts daily.

Following the course in which we have briefly mentioned the different buildings, one gets a fair idea of how to visit the Exposition proper to advantage.

And it is far better to have system about it, following a continuous route, than to wander aimlessly through the different building.

And now before taking up the side attractions—midway heights and the foreign villages—we went a word about North Carolina. No Tar Heel can visit the Exposition without a feeling of shame when he sees the result of the niggardliness of our last Legislature in refusing to make an appropriation for a State display. True the State is fairly well represented and has some creditable exhibits there, but they are mainly the outcome of private enterprise and are so scattered through the different buildings as to almost lose their effect. In the Seaboard Air Line exhibit North Carolina was largely drawn upon, but that road receives and is entitled to the credit for this. In the same building, Agricultural, the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., of Winston, makes an exhibit that is highly creditable to that enterprising firm. In the Manufacturers and Liberal Arts building, Belmont School has a splendid exhibit. In the Transportation building Tysen & Jones, of Carthage, have a fine display of buggies and carriages, and there are also some other exhibits scattered here and there, all of which had they been collected together in a State building would have done the Old North State credit and honor.

The State Treasurer has issued to Simon Brog & Co., of New York, $12,000 in North Carolina 4 per cent bonds. The firm had refused heretofore to take them, being angry because the Treasurer would not accede to its demand regarding the 6 per cent. North Carolina railroad construction bonds.

An Albany grape grower says: In the packing house you will see children eating grapes all day at any time they like. I never saw one of them separate the seeds from the pulp. I never do myself. Now, I have known that country for twenty years, and I never heard of a case of appendicitis.

10 slate pencils for 1 cent at Reflector Book Store.

The Manufacturer, of Philadelphia, says: "Bimetallism is no novelty. It is 4,000 years old. Gold monometallism is not yet ninety years old; in this country, not twenty-five years old. Bimetallism for centuries was a triumphant success. If we may judge by the conditions prevailing in the treasury at Washington, gold monometallism is a failure."

A New Antidote.

It would be well, say the Petersburg Express, for every reader of the following paragraphs, to cut them out and preserve them. The white ash is abundant in many parts of this and the adjoining state, and it would be advisable to keep the drug stores supplied with the leaves.

A little girl of this vicinity was cured of a rattle snake bite recently, by the use of a strong decoction of white ash leaves, taken internally, and also applied to the wound. The decoction was not used until the day after she was bitten. Had it been used immediately after receiving the bite, there would probably have been no swelling at all.

There is a species of black snake not poisonous, which always fights the rattle snake when he meets him, and always kills him. But in the encounter, he generally receives many wounds from the fangs of his poisonous antagonist. These he cures by chewing white ash leaves and supplying his saliva, charged with the pulpy juice as a sort of liniment. The instinct of the reptile suggested the remedy to man.

The drought in northern Texas and the Indian Territory is the most severe in many years. Wells are dry and courses are dried up. Stock water in large ranches has given out and herds are continually on the move for water.

Those who have never known prosperity can hardly be said to be unhappy, it is from the remembrance of joys we have lost that the arrows of affliction are pointed.

More hearts pine away in secret anguish for unkindness from those who should be their comforters than for any other calamity in life.

To rejoice at another's prosperity is to give content to your own lot; to mitigate another's grief is to alleviate or dispel your own.

A dealer who is shrewd and wise Is very sure to advertise; And to become, as he grows wiser, Still more and more an advertiser

You will find that a dollar will buy more at my store than a dollar ever bought before. This a broad statement, but it is true. The only way to account for this lowness in prices is the fact that a little profit is all I expect. To simply say my line of dress goods are pretty is not doing them justice, they are more than pretty, dainty and sensible novelties that combine style and wear and satisfaction. My line CLOTHING and GENTS FURNISHINGS is in reach of every one. I have the nicest and cheapest ever brought to this town. Don't forget to see me before buying.

OUR SCRAP BOOK.

Look Through and See Whose Faces You Find.

Miss Ellen Brownloe left this morning to visit friends at House, and from there will go to Tarboro.

Col. R. W. Wharton, of Washington, was here to day with a lot a tobacco. He is a strong believer in the Greenville market.

Miss Estelle Little, daughter of W.W. Little, of Pactolus, died Thursday evening of typhoid fever. The family have our sympathy.

Bank Examiner Joyce who has just made his report to State Treasurer Worth says that in his examination of the State banks he finds that there is more money on deposit and the banks in better condition than at any time since the war. He says also that he is assured that the State was never more prosperous, and that this is particularly in the cotton section.

DEATH OF MARGARET BELL.

I write the obituary of our beloved cousin, Peggie Bell as she was generally called. She was born the 6th day of January 1815 and died the 14th day of October 1895. She had many friends and was loved by them all. She never made any open profession of religion. She was a strong believer in the old school Baptist. She had a hope. She believed if she was saved it would be a poor sinner saved by grace alone. Her disease was lung trouble. She leaves two nephews behind, the nearest relatives to mourn her loss. May the Lord comfort the bereaved

E. J. HARDEE.

Married at Durham.

From the Durham Sun of the 23rd we clip the following notice of the marriage of our townsman, B. E. Parham. The couple will reach Greenville Saturday evening:

At the residence of the bride's father, in this city, at 10 o'clock this morning, Miss Ora Jones, daughter of R. M. Jones, was united in marriage to B. E. Parham, of Greenville, N. C., Rev. W. C. Tyree, officiating. A number of relatives and friends were present, among them W. A. Parham, father of the groom, Misses Mollie and Ninnie Parham, sisters of the groom, Miss Mamie Parham, Fred Crews, of Oxford, J. Hugh Parham, of Raleigh, W. E. Dorsey and J. Y. Parham. The bride and groom left on the D. & N. at 10:55.

FROST BITES.

And we had showers today.

It did not stay cloudy long.

Christmas is two months off today.

A new lot of Capes, Dress goods, Trimmings and Shirt Waist Plaids, at Lang's.

The Rocky Mount Fair will be held from Nov 6th to 9th.

Car load of choice Prairie Hay, cheap, $1.00 per 100 at S. M. Shultz.

The weather is pretty enough, but a rain would be welcomed.

Just one week from today and Sells Brothers big circus will be here.

The Hotels and Restaurants all buy their Butter from me. Why? because I keep the best.

D. S. SMITH.

The Washington Cornet Band will run an excursion from Washington to Greenville on the day of the circus.

Mr. Whichard says that he found no cigar at the Atlanta Exposition that could equal the Southern Leader, at D. S. Smith's.

The North Carolina Christian Convention meets in Farmville on next Tuesday and continues in session three days.

Morris Meyer has a supply of nice apples, pears, oranges, lemons, bananas, grapes and fresh candies that he is selling cheap.

Report reached here by train Thursday evening that during the day two fights had occurred in different townships in Edgecombe county, one of the combatants being killed in each fight. No particulars could be learned.

The Big Circus.

F. W. Busey, in charge of advertising car No. 2 of Sells Bros' circus, arrived here with Thursday evening train to have new bills put up and distributed. Like all the others connected with Sells' circus, we found Mr. Busey an exceedingly clever and pleasant gentleman. He says the circus will be here in splendid shape next Friday and will give our people a great day. We have talked with a number of traveling men who have recently seen Sells' circus and they all say it is the best on the the road.
