CAN YOU SHOOT?

Some Rules That Will Lesson the Danger in Handling a Gun.

A correspondent of the American Field sends that paper the following rules, which if carefully observed by those carrying weapons will avoid many sad accidents:

1. Never under any circumstances point a gun toward a human being.

2. Never carry it so that if it were accidentally discharged it would even endanger the life of a dog.

3. Always think which way your gun is pointed, and if a companion is in the field with you, no matter how near or how tempting the game appears, do not shoot until you know where he is; a stray shot may be sufficient to destroy an eye forever.

4. Never carry a loaded gun in a wagon.

5. Never carry a loaded gun over a fence; put it through and then get over.

6. Always carry a gun at half cock; if a breech loader, never let the hammer rest on the plungers.

7. Never get in front of a gun. if you are falling, drop it so that the muzzle will be from you.

8. If the cartridge sticks, the stout blade of a knife will probably extract it; if not, take out the other cartridge, cut a straight stick and poke it out from the muzzle; even then do not get in front of the gun.

9. After firing one barrel, take the cartridge out of the other and examine the wad to see that it is not loosened, as it sometimes is after a heavy recoil, for should it get into the barrel it is liable to burst the gun.

10. Never set a gun up so that if it should fall the muzzle would be toward you.

11. Never keep a loaded gun in the house.

Follow these rules, be self possessed and the fields will afford you sport without danger.

Holmes, the murderer of Benjamin Pitzel, who has been on trial in Philadelphia for the past several days has been convicted of murder in the first degree and must hang unless something comes in later to save him. His attorney will endeavor to get a new trial, which it seems to us he ought to have because he was without counsel until after the jury had been selected, and pre-emptorily forced into the trial by the presiding judge. If no trial is granted there will be an appeal to the Supreme Court.

Durant, the man who has been on trial in San Francisco for the last two or three months for the murder of Blanche Lamont in Immanuel Church on the 3rd day of last April, has been found guilty of murder in the first degree. He is also now to be tried for the killing of Minnie Williams. He protests his innocence very earnestly since his conviction and says it all seems like a dream to him. The case has attracted attention in all parts of the United States, and not many people are surprised at the verdict.

No Domestic Animals.

Japan is a land without the domestic animals. It is this lack which strikes the stranger so forcibly in looking upon Japanese landscapes. There no cows; the Japanese neither drink milk nor eat meat. There are but few horses and these are imported mainly for the use of foreigners. The freight cars in the city streets are pulled and pushed by coolies, and the pleasure carriages are drawn by men. There are but few dogs, and these are neither used as watch dogs, beasts of burden, nor in hunting, except by foreigners. Foreigners will soon break up this monotony. They will place the American hog there to squeal for food and to become food, and others will take cats there to sing on sheds "Oft in the still night." They will have animals.

A Raven-Fed Preacher,
Monroe people have for the past week been treated to a series of sermons in every way unexpected, and perhaps not very well appreciated. A man by the name of Boyd came to town last Friday and began preaching in the court house every afternoon and night. With him were his wife and one child. Congregations and collections were both quite scanty, till Saturday the family took its position on the court house square and awaited for a congregation. The preacher took up his accordeon and played a little, but no congregation assembled. Night came, and they were still there, supperless and without shelter for the night, the preacher saying that he had no money to pay for his board, and that he would not return to the boarding house. Some gentlemen made up enough to pay for their supper and night's lodging, and since then they have been getting enough to pay their way by the help of being asked out to different meals, as some of their hearers have been doing. The preacher says that he is a reformed drunkard and is doing the Lord's work in the way that he is directed, and that the Lord is taking care of him. When some one asks him out to dinner he considers that the good Samaritan is sent by the Lord. He certainly has implicit faith in something or somebody, for he sat on the public square all Saturday evening with not a cent in his pocket and no prospect for either any supper or a bed for the night, and sat as quietly and undisturbed, too, as would a man whose barns were full to overflowing.
He holds allegiance to no denomination, and seems to be a free lance in every respect. He preaches and sings and his wife prays and sings.—Monroe Journal.
Mr. E. St. John, Vice President of the S. A. L., has granted to all employes in the service of the road three months, a trip to Atlanta. Wives and dependent members of families will also be given transportation.

According to Contract.

A man the other day employed a carpenter to partition off a part of his study and particularly instructed the workman to make the partition sound-proof. The carpenter declared that he could do this effectually with a filling of sawdust. When it was finished the man stood on one side and called to the carpenter on the other:

"Can you hear me, John?"

No, sir, not a bit," was the prompt reply.

Making a Lamp Noxious.

Some women, through motives of economy, turn the flame in a kerosene lamp low, when necessary to leave it burning, yet not needed to read or work by, a thing they would not do if they were aware that the oil consumes just as fast, but the gas does not burn, hence is thrown off into the room giving the horrible odor, which is not only offensive to smell, but poisonous to human life. The gas thus thrown off is capable of causing diphtheria and some contagious fevers. If the lamp must burn, leave it well turned up and put a big shade around it.

In his address at Ann Arbor, Mich., recently, Senator Hill suggested three amendments to the Constitution, one making the Presidential term six years, and making the President ineligible to a second term; the second providing for the election of U. S. Senators by the direct vote of the people, and the third authorizing the President to veto objectionable parts of a bill without vetoing the whole bill.

A WISE MOVE.

The County Commissioners Will Sell the Market House Lot.

Pitt county has a wise and progressive Board of Commissioners. They are thorough business men and their acts show that they have the best interests of the county at heart. In the last few years they have inaugurated many improvements that speak volumes to their credit and prove of great benefit to the people. Among these may be mentioned the dam across the low lands north of the river bridge at Greenville, the improvements at the County Home, the bridge across Grindle creek at the Carney place, and so on. Then at their October meeting they gave out a contract for building vaults in the Court House for the preservation and protection of county records, something that has long been needed. Now this has been followed up with another step, which we believe the people generally will commend. At this meeting on Monday they passed an order to offer for sale the entire lot in front of the Court House, upon which the Market House is situated, and apply the proceeds to paying for the vaults and making some other needed improvements about the Court House, thus saving the necessity of drawing on the people for taxes to meet these payments.

This lot as it stands is not bringing a penny of revenue to the county, and the only way to obtain any benefit from it is to sell it. The county gave the town permission to place a Market House upon the property, which with its improvements and general appearance affords the greatest eyesore and nuisance to be found in town. The REFLECTOR believes a large majority of the people of Greenville would rejoice to see this Market House removed and its obnoxious surroundings wiped out. Even if the contrary were true, the county is under no obligation to sacrifice a desirable lot to a use from which no benefit is derived, when by selling it and using the funds as they propose the entire county will be materially and permanently benefited.

The Commissioners have made a wise move, and the people are with them in it.

Mr. Schultz, what new goods have you? Cans. New York and Mountain Roll Butter, Buckwheat, prepared P. R. Molasses, Oat Flakes, Dried Apples, California Prunes and Raisins cleaned Currants, etc.

Don't forget the lecture in the Baptist church tonight.
