Every one should live to do good, and not for himself alone. There is not much happiness in selfishness But the man who lives for others bestows blessings upon them and is blessed in return by the giving. The lives of some men are like Dead Sea; no first week stand continued for the giving out to anything, while those of others were likened unto the waters of the Sea of Galilee, constantly giving out their energies and resources, and wherever they go shedding the light of God. Such lives are like a blooming pathway through the desert. _Durham Sun.

North Carolina Mills.

The annual report of State Labor Commissioner Lacy gives the following valuable information, which shows North Carolina's progress:

There are 256 cotton and woelen mills in active operation and 11 in course of construction There are 913,458 spindles and 24,858 looms. This is a very good showing when the fact is considered that in 1870 there were only 30,000 spindles. There are 15,752 persons employed in mills, and the amount of capital employed is $15,000,000, or about $952 to each employe. Of these, there are 4,888 men, 6,175 women, and 4.789 children, of whom 1,558 are under 14 years of age. The mills have consumed 123,658,000 pounds of cotton, or about 309,000 bales. Twenty-six counties have produced 78,473,949 pounds of yarn thirteen have produced 97,742,655 yards of domestic; six have produced 51,737,547 yards of plaids two counties, Forsyth and Cabarrus, have produced two million yards of woolen goods, Forsytleading with 1,800,000.

The steps of the solons have thus early turned in the direction of Washington to lay their plans in the scramble for pie anext the opening of Cougress on December 1st.

Evangelist W. P. Fife has just closed a meeting at Winston in which 900 professions are reported. This large number, too, on the heels of a meeting recently held in the same city by Sam Jones. The citizens of the city gave Fife and his co-workers $1,400, which we venture is more than any stationed preacher there received for a whole year's labor. An escort of 4,000 people followed him to the depot to bid him fare well. If a local minister should receive such treatment and attention as this he would think the millenuium had dawned.

The Supreme Court has decid ed the case in reference to who is State Librarian. It will be remembered that the Legislature elected one but the vote showed there was not a quorum when he was elected, therefore the present incumbent held on to the office. The Librarian elect brought suit for the office. The Supreme Court decided that the present incumbent is entitled to the office as there was no legal election. This decides virtually the case of the Penitentiary Directors as the same points of law were involved in both. The court says that panion will receive this beautiful though there was a quorum at the Ualendar free and besides, The DAILY beginning of that days session Companion free every week until and would so continue until a di- January 1, 1896. The Fine Arts building of the Nashville Centennial Exposition will be a reproduction of the Parthenon at Athens. It will stand on a terrace in the centre of the exposition-grounds, with a lake of fifteen acres on one side, and a military plaza of ten acres on the other. Around the lake and the plaza and the Parthenon S. Mary's. will stand the twenty main buildings of the exposition, all con structed of white staff and in Greek Colonial style. At present the finishing touches are being put on the grading of the park; the Administration building is nearly complete, the stone foundation of the Parthenon is being laid, and architects have submitted plans for six of the main buildings, the construction which will be begun as soon as decisions on them have been liton, S. Martin's. made.

The exposition will be open for one hundred days, beginning September 1, 1896. It is to be held to celebrate the hundredth anniversary of the admission of Tennessee as a State into the Union.—Richmond Dispatch.

At the depot this morning the attention of the Herald reporter was called to a gentleman and two ladies who went up the Wess tern road. Their names were not learned but the reporter was told that the gentleman was an ex-Governor of Ohio and the ladies were his wife and mother. The three were very old people, the ex-Gov. it was stated, being 80 years old and his mother 100. The age of the wife was not told us. The mother was as active and looked to be younger than her son. -Salisbury Herald.
