FOUL MURDER.

J. B. Bonner, of Aurora, Shot Down and Robbed.

[Special to Reflector.]

WASHINGTON, N. C., Nov. 25.—

Sunday forenoon information reached here that J. B. Bonner, a prominent and wealthy citizen of Aurora, had been foully murdered Saturday night.

About 7:30 o'clock that evening Mr. Bonner went to the office of A. Hunwell to collect a draft, and is supposed to have returned to his store to put the money away and then started home. Nothing more was heard of him until 8 o'clock Sunday morning when his dead body was found in a vacant lot just across the street from his residence. Two bullet holes were in his forehead, but there were no signs of a scuffle except in a ditch near the street. There were tracks of two men, wearing about No. 9 shoes, leading across the field from where the body was found.

There was no one at Mr. Bonner's home at the time of the murder. His children had gone to church, and on their return home went by his store and asked for him. Learning that he had gone home they went on home also, and seeing no light in his room supposed that he had retired. Nothing wrong was suspected until breakfast time Sunday morning when they sent to his room to have him called and found that he had not been in his room at all. Search for him was made at once, when his body was found as above stated.

Mr. Hunwell says that Mr. Bonner started home from the store about 8 o'clock, and his wife spoke of hearing two pistol shots and some one cry "Oh, me!" but thought nothing of it, as it was no unusual thing for devilish boys to shoot and holler as they were going away from town on Saturday nights.

Mr. Bonner was in the habit of carrying a large pocket-book on his person in which he kept some papers and the keys to the drawers of his safe. This book was gone, but it is not thought that he had any money of consequence about him when murdered. An examination of the store and safe, Sunday morning, showed that nothing there had been troubled.

Relatives of the murdered man came here Sunday afternoon and telegraphed to the State farm at Weldon for blood hounds and also for a special train to bring them down, but the superintendent advised that the tracks were then so old that it would be impossible for the hounds to trace the murderers.

Up to this time there is not the slightest clue as to who committed the murder.

Mr. Bonner did a large mercantile and Banking business at Aurora, and was one of the most prominent men of the county.

In addition to the work the town is having done on the driveway of Dickerson avenue, they are having a sidewalk built on the north side of that street from the railroad to Washington street. This is a good improvement.

THERE'S A FORETASTE

Of Winter in the air these days that makes brisk trading. Never before were we so well prepared for the fall and winter trade as now. See us for anything in CLOTHING from the everyday business Suit to the most expensive Suit. Overcoats, Underwear, Hats, Scarfs, Shirts, Hose, Gloves, etc. Everywhere you'll note that prices are at the lowest notch at which honest reliable goods can be sold.

FRANK WILSON

THE KING CLOTHIER.

To Help the Needy.

The King's Daughters here are taking steps to make a Thanksgiving offering for the benefit of the needy poor of the community, and thus bring cheer into the homes of those who have not so abundant cause for thanksgiving as the more fortunate ones. With this purpose in view they have placed a basket at the store of J. B. Cherry & Co. where may be deposited any articles of provision or clothing our citizens may wish to contribute. Remember "he that giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord," and even the smallest gift "In His Name" shall in no wise lose its reward.

On Friday, the day after Thanksgiving, these noble women will take a dinner out to the inmates of the County Home. Anyone wishing to contribute to this can send donations to Mrs. J. B. Cherry early Friday morning.

While enjoying the many blessings God has bestowed upon us, let us not forget the poor.

Mirror of a Town's Doings.

The newspapers of a town are its looking glasses. It is here you see yourselves as others see you. You smile on them, and they smile back at you; you frown on them and you are repaid in kind. They are the reflex of a town. If the town is doing business the newspapers will show it in its advertising columns. If the merchants are spiritless, shiftless fellows, whose stores are jumbles of junk and jam, the newspapers will show it by the lack of space they take. If you want the world to know that you have a live town, you can only let it be known through its newspaper.—Perham, Minn. Bulletin.

He Assumed Too Much.

Governor Hastings and Hon. Matt Quay, of Pennsylvania, passed through the city Saturday night returning from Atlanta. As it happened, there was quite a crowd at the depot awaiting the arrival of a newly married couple, and the platform was pretty much a mass of humanity. And the two distinguished gentleman naturally concluding that Salisbury had turned out enmasse to meet them, came out upon the platform of the coach, and Senator Quay expressed his thanks at the manifestation of friendliness "the good people of your city have given us." The Senator is probably wondering yet why the crowd raised such a laugh at his expression of gratitude for attention shown him.—Salisbury World.

An Admonition.

There are a great many young men in this world—nice young men who are coming on to take the places of the older ones. They are coming on rapidly, too.

Young man, hear a word. Learn to wait before you try to prance. Don't hunger and thirst after a boudoir car while you are junior clerk and have to sweep out the store and run errands.

If you are a young physician, don't expect to make it all in the first year. Your father, perhaps, rode four or five horses to death before he was able to put Brussels on the floor, and lean back in his easy chair and announce that he would answer no calls after six p. m.

If you are practicing law, remember that the old attorney whose office you are sweeping out wore white hair, and not much of that, before he began taking whole farms for single fees in small cases. And bear in mind, too, that they didn't spend every cent of it as fast as they got it.—Orange (Va.) Observer.

A Free Bait Catches the Sucker.

Whatever is free goes. It doesn't make any difference whether we need it or not, folks take whatever is offered for nothing. They sometimes go so far as to buy whatever is cheap, but this is nothing like the hot cake style in which free things go. One day this week a medicine vander had his box fixed upon the street, giving free drinks of his medicine, at the same time saying that it tasted bad, and there was nothing pleasant about it, but whoever wanted, some cold come up and take a drink. Up marched both black and white men, perfectly healthy, and drank the unpleasant stuff merely because it was free.—Monroe Journal.

Original Observations.

Democracy can never die, but it is dreadfully sick just now.

Many presidents and cashiers are haunted with bank-owe's ghost.

Unkind words are the briars that choke the flowers in the garden of the heart.

Let's take the gold-bugs to the gold cure establishment and have them treated.

The world frowns upon men who fail and reserves its smiles for those who are successful.

In crime as in horse racing, the fast ones come under the string first, if the judges do their duty.

Take love out of life and there would be no sunshine in the soul or happiness in the heart.

Every good thought, molded in the mind and born of the brain, is a flower filling the heart with fragrance.

It is astonishing with what wonderful fortitude we can bear misfortunes—when they come to other people.—Orange (Va.) Observer.

A Fatal Defect.

We have received a story entitled "A Dark Deed," which is respectfully declined. The first chapter opens with, "It was midnight." That is all right. It is often midnight—at least seven times a week—but the author forgets to add, "and silence brooded o'er the city." This is a fatal oversight. Silence always broods over a city when it is midnight in works of fiction—nowhere else. We can't print a story in which silence does not brood at midnight.—London Tit-Bits.

Should Read More.

It is generally conceded that this is a reading age, yet one who comes in touch with the general run of humanity as do the doctors, lawyers, ministers and editors, sees every day, people unable to converse on or to understand the doings of the age because they read neither books nor newspapers. The price of such a knowledge and the time to acquire, at least, an intelligible part is in the reach of nearly all and it is their own fault.

The man who undertakes to be intelligent and does not read the newspapers, at least, is like a lawyer without a knowledge of law, a doctor without a knowledge of materia medica, a preacher with a knowledge of the Bible. You see the point? Then read a part of your rest time. You will find it pays in more ways than are mentioned here.—Burlington News.

Much Truth in This.

We believe that there is a great deal of sympathy wasted on the farmer. For several years in North Carolina the poverty of the farmer has been discussed. The truth of the matter is that as a class they are better off than town people. There are few farmers in western North Carolina who have not got a year's provisions ahead all the time, while most of our city cousins think themselves fortunate in being well provided with the necessities of life a month ahead. Some farms in the east are mortgaged. This is bad, but not as bad as a large majority of town people who have nothing to mortgage.

It is not right to be always misrepresenting the farmers. They are by no means the poorest class of people.—High Point Enterprise.
