A PERFECT SUCCESS.

The Play Thanksgiving Night.

"Among the Breakers," at the Opera House, under the management of Miss Bessie Jarvis, was a roaring success throughout and elicited much applause. It was well rendered and every character sustained beyond expectation. A crowded house greeted the amateurs and they were at their best.

Miss Eva O'Hagan in the double role of Mother Cary, a fortune teller and the wife of David Murray, deserved special mention for its difficult rendition, being a character that took a deal of hard study to assume. The general verdict was that it was admirably sustained and far above the average.

Miss Sallie Lipscomb as Miss Minnie Daze executed her part well and was highly praised by all. She made quite a hit in her refusal of Peter Paragraph who was making love to Bess Starbright.

Miss Jennie James, as Bess Starbright, a waif cast up by the waves, was as bright and fascinating as ever and captured the audience with her beautiful acting. She was met by an acknowledgement of her beauty as she first entered.

Now Biddie Bean, Miss Henne Sheppard, was a true Irish girl, and was highly appreciated for her bright, snappy acting and was a "biddie, endade." It is always with satisfaction that you can listen to her for she is well up in her parts and has excellent talent.

G. E. Harrison, as David Murray, was grandly impersonated and he played the villain with that tact that he alone possesses and captured the audience by his acting.

Larry Divine, W. J. Corbett, Murray's assistant, was an Irish lad with a heart brim full of merriment and love for Biddie Bean and displayed that love at every opportunity and soon convinced

Of Winter in the air these days that makes brisk trading. Never before were we so well prepared for the fall and winter trade as now. See us for anything in CLOTHING from the everyday business Suit to the most expensive Suit. Overcoats, Underwear, Hats, Scarfs, Shirts, Hose, Gloves, etc. Everywhere you'll note that prices are at the lowest notch at which honest reliable goods can be sold.

FRANK WILSON,
THE KING CLOTHIER.

Biddy of it and married her. His Irish brogue was up to date and his character perfect.

Hon. Bruce Hunter, F. M. Hodges, the old man character and father of Bess Starbright, was a hard role, but Frank was equal to the task and mastered it to the satisfaction of all.

Clarence Hunter, Bruce Hunter's ward, "Judge" Ollen E. Warren, always up in any character he may choose, was at his best and made love with a vengeance to Bess Starbright and was successful.

Peter Paragraph, a newspaper reporter, R. Hyman, with pencil and note book in hand was up to snuff and always on the alert for an item, and with love in his heart for Minnie Daze as big as a barrel, was himself in great shape, and took well.

Last, but not least, was Scud, Hunter's body servant, J. K. Westbrook. He was on time and at the right place every pop, and with his "great tribulations" mastered the negro character as well as we ever saw it and kept the audience in an uproar continually. Westbrook is great and his timely hits were well received. His whistling solo was fine and he received an encore.

The plot to the play was good and well laid and could be readily caught on to and the best of its kind we have witnessed. Too much praise cannot be bestowed on the manager and we hope they will soon present another.

The orchestra was composed of Woodard, piccolo; Forbes mandolin; Warren, guitar, and they discoursed sweet music throughout the evening which was hugely enjoyed by those present and added much to the evening entertainment.

The proceeds of the play amounted to $50.

There was a humming time out at the tobacco warehouses again to-day. The Eastern had another of those running over breaks.

Our Mr. R. L. Smith has gone to Kansas City for 100 head of horses and mules and will be back in a few days. Wait for them they will be sold at panic prices. Just received a car load and they must go. R. L. SMITH & Co.

Hell Versus the Penitentiary.

A negro who stole a cow from the editor of the Forest City Ledger was recently sent to the penitentiary for four years. If all the fellows who steal from editors were sent to the penitentiary it would be so full of them that their feet would stick out of the windows. In our 20 odd year's experience publishing a paper we have accumulated $8,000 of subscription debts that we will take one fourth of a cent on the dollar for. Our deliberate opinion is that the men who have defrauded us out of the just fruits of our labors are as guilty of the theft in the sight of Almighty as the negro who stole editor Green's cow. It is no consolation to think that they will not escape hell in the next world as easily as they have the penitentiary in this. — Mt. Airy News.

What the Editor Sees and Hears.

One of the great trials of the newspaper profession is that its members are compelled to see more of the world than any other profession. Through every newspaper office day after day go all the vanities that want to be reaped, all the revenge that wants to be wreaked, all the mistakes that want to be corrected, all the dull speakers that want to be thought eloquent, all the meanness that wants to get its wares noticed gratis in order to save the tax of the advertising column, all the men who want to be set right who never were right, all crack brained philoosophers with stories as thin as their hair and as gloomy as their finger nails in the morning bereft of soap—all the bores who come to stay five minutes but talk five hours. Through the editorial and reportorial rooms all the follies and shams of the world are seen day after day, and the temptation is to believe in neither God, man or woman. — Ex.

A Sensible Girl.

The Leaksville Gazette is informed that at a church in the neighborhood of Oregon, Rockingham county, there was to have been a weddidge last Sunday morning at 8:30 o'clock. The wedding guests arrived in due time, the minister was in waiting and bride elect stood like a queen amid her maids of honor. But the prospective groom tarried, and an hour rolled wearily away before his arrival.

When at last he came it was plainly and painfully visible that the young man had lingered too long at the wine cup. That he was drunk and in no condition to stand before God's altar and to take upon himself a solemn vow was obvious.

The young lady whom he was to wed was quick to perceive his want of respect for herself and the occasion and like a sensible woman she requested that he be not allowed to leave his buggy or enter the church. Later she sent him a note telling him that she hoped never to see him again.

Baptist State Convention.

The Baptist State Convention meets in Greensboro December 5th.

Rev. Dr. R. H. Marsh, of Oxford, is president of the convention. Rev. Dr. A. M. Simms, of Raleigh, will preach the introductory sermon.

On December, 4th, the day before the convention, the Baptist Young People's Convention will meet. This is in charge of a committee of two, Rev. R. Van Deynter, of Burlington, and Rev. U. S. Blackwell, of Elizabeth City.

At the Forks of the Road.

"Any game in this neighborhood, my friend?"

"Seven-up an' draw poker."

"I mean, any live game?"

"Looky here, stranger, ain't the two what I jest mentioned live enough fer you?"

"Yes, but I mean animals—any animals around here?"

"Well, ther's erbout ten "blind tigers," but ef you don't know the ropes, the revenue men'll have you up as a witness 'fore you can say 'Jack Robinson!'"

The taxable value of property in this State for 1895, as made up in the office of the State Auditor, is as follows: Value of land, $115,082,723; town lots, $43,006,141; total, $158,088,864. Personal property, $76,391,037. Railway property, $24,501,899; Pullman cars, $31,043; telegraph and telephone lines, $212,602; steamboats and canals, $299,003. Grand total $259,634,419.

THANKSGIVING.

How the Day Was Observed in Greenville.

Thanksgiving Day dawned beautifully, and it was a charming day throughout. As had been predicted, the business houses followed their established custom and were all closed—with the exception of the barrooms.

The morning part the day had much the appearance of the Sabbath. At 11 o'clock services were held in both the Episcopal and Baptist churches. At the former lay services were conducted by Maj. Harding. A collection was taken for the Thompson Orphanage amounting to $7.85

The services at the Baptist church were conducted by Revs. G. F. Smith and C. M. Billings. The latter preached an excellent sermon from the theme "Christ's mission in the world was to provide for the physical as well as the spiritual needs of suffering humanity." At the close of the sermon a collection was taken amounting to $29.22, which was distributed among three orphanages, as follows: Odd Fellow's Orphanage, $6.40; Oxford Orphan Asylum, $6.56; Thomasville Orphanage, $16.26.

The King's Daughters brought cheer into a number of homes by distributing provisions to the needy poor of the town.

The good dinners enjoyed by our people were numerous, the festive turkey and usual trimmings figuring conspicuously on many boards.

In the afternoon there was a little mixture of amusements. The boys played foot ball in the Academy grove, the races out at track interested a large crowd gathered there, and the colored brass band gave several serenades.

The day closed with the presentation of the drama "Among the Breakers" at the Opera House, and a party which little Miss Irma Cobb gave her friends at the home of her father, Mr. R. J. Cobb.
