ANOTHER PITT BOY WRITES

Expressing His Sympathy For and Devotion to Greenville.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Mar. 19, '96.
EDITOR REFLECTOR:—Some weeks ago the friends of the town of Greenville and of the REFLECTOR were very much pained to hear of the total destruction by fire of about half the business part of the town, but glad that through the heroic efforts of some of her citizens some of the business part of the town was saved from the greed of the devouring flames.

From what has already been said it is evident that no effort on the part of the citizens was spared in fighting the seething monster, but no amount of heroic effort could extinguish one spark of fire unless assisted by something else, and that something in the case in hand was water. Consequently to combat fire successfully there must be work and water. That the one was present is abundantly demonstrated by the fact that the stores of Brown & Hooker are still standing. The absence of the other is equally as well demonstrated by the fact that where once stood valuable property is now a mass of blackened ruins.

Anyone who knows Greenville and her inhabitants knows also that the burned district will not long remain vacant, and soon even better and more commodious structures will be rising to take the place of those lately destroyed.

But while all these things are going forward would it not be well to take precaution against such a calamity, and one which may occur at any time? This subject of water supply has been brought before the people though the warning columns of the REFLECTOR a number of times, and each time the warning was allowed to pass without any effect more than the expression of a hope of the citizen that fire would not come their way. A number of plans have been suggested by different ones through the REFLECTOR all of them more or less adequate, but none of those plans had assumed anything like definite shape until Mayor Forbes called the meeting of the citizens a few days ago. It was a great pleasure to note the active part taken in the meeting by some of the older, more conservative citizens, and it is to be hoped that they will not forget that conservatism ceases to be a virtue when dealing with an aggressive enemy. I was glad to see that in this meeting the plan of a regular system of water works was suggested and discussed, and that some of the most prominent and progressive citizens were enthusiastically in favor of such a system. Other towns in the State have tried it with success, why cannot Greenville? This would not only prove a safeguard against fire, but would also prove of great benefit to the town in placing it before the eyes of the world; and as a result many good citizens would be added to the town. Bring on the water works by all means, and thereby protect the property already there, and induce others with money and energy to come among you.

And now in conclusion, it is to be hoped that Mayor Forbes will continue to call meetings, and that the REFLECTOR will continue to be in the future what it has been in the past: the faithful monitor and promoter of the welfare of Greenville.

IN NORTH CAROLINA.

Matters of Interest Over the State.

The Republican State Convention has been called to meet in Raleigh May 14th.

The Salisbury World on one page of the paper of the 18th, reports the death of seven persons in and near Salisbury.

The Salisbury Herald says that Rev. A. L. Coburn conducted funeral services over the remains of four persons at one time in that town on Thursday.

On Sunday morning last at one of the white churches of Concord two very bright mulatto women walked in and seated themselves among the whites. It created indignation on that part of the congregation that noticed them and knew them to be negroes.

Had Better Watch Out.

Sheriff B. W. Edwards, of Greene county, with a party of friends, spent several days this week in Washington City. Congressman Woodard was taking them around to various places of interest, and with them called upon President Cleveland. When Sheriff Edwards was introduced the President remarked, referring good naturedly to his own career as sheriff: "You had better watch out or the people will be putting you in the White House first thing you know."

Petition for a Change.

Today a petition asking the railroad company to give a better and quicker train service over this road was circulated among our business men. The request embodied in the petition is for the schedule of the present mail train to be shortened an hour or more each way, add for a morning train from Parmele to Kinston, returning in the afternoon. Every one, without exception, to whom the petition was carried signed it. There may be some wishing to sign it who could not be seen at the time of taking it around, but if they will call at the REFLECTOR office this evening or tonight an opportunity will be given them. The petition will be forwarded by Monday morning's mail.

Nine Times Three.

Three things to love—courage, gentleness and affection.

Three things to govern—temper, tongue and conduct.

Three things to think about—life, death and eternity.

Three things to fight for—honor, country and home.

Three things to hate—cruelty, arrogance and ingratitude.

Three things to delight in—frankness, freedom and beauty.

Three things to wish for—health, friends and a cheerful spirit.

Three things to avoid—idleness, loquacity and flippant jesting.

Three things to admire—intellectual power, dignity and gracefulness.

In a Deep Study.

SATURDAY, MARCH 21TH, 1896.

It is denied that the dinner and reception given by the British Ambassador this week in honor of Secretary and Mrs. Olney had any international political meaning, and stated that it was one of the regular entertainments which had to be given later than usual on account of the Embassy having had to go into official mourning for the death of Queen Victoria's son-in-law.

It was made perfectly clear at this week's meeting of the House committee on Naval Affairs that the Democrats favor a larger increase in our navy than the Republicans do. The Democrats on the committee, led by Amos Cummings, who was chairman of the committee in the last House, wanted to provide for the building of six battleships and 25 torpedo boats, but the most they could get the Republican majority of the committee to agree to was four battleships and 15 torpedo boats.

If the Republicans of the House were not made ashamed of themselves by Representative McCreary's speech against the adoption of the resolutions censuring Ambassador Bayard, which he declared were "prompted by prejudice and partisanship," they are not constituted as other men are. Of course Mr. McCreary had no idea of preventing the action which he knew had been fully determined upon before the resolutions were reported to the House, but he had the satisfaction of showing the action up in all its littleness and narrowness.

Secretary Smith's exercising his discretion about opening to public settlement some 2,000,000 acres of land which was a part of an Indian reservation in Utah was the cause of his being abused to a considerable extent on the floor of the Senate. These lands contain valuable deposits of asphalt—enough it is said to supply the demand for the entire country for years to come and Senator Gordon stated in reply to the criticism of Secretary Smith for not opening the lands to the public that it was only because the Secretary wished to protect the interests of the government against rapacious persons and corporations seeking to control these deposits, and because he believed that the government ought to receive some benefit, either by royalty or otherwise for these mineral deposits that he had not opened the lands to settlement. Senator Vilas, who became familiar with the subject while he was Secretary of the Interior, also defended the policy adopted by Secretary Smith. Senator Vest joined the Republicans in criticizing Secretary Smith.

Ex-Gov. Campbell of Ohio, who has been in Washington for several days, puts a positive end to talk about his being the Presidential candidate of the party by declaring that he will under no circumstances allow his name to go before the Chicago convention. He thus added force to the advice he gives the Democratic party in relation to the coming national convention. He says: "Every man who goes to the convention as a delegate should go pledged to support the candidate and accept the platform of that convention. No matter who may be named to make the canvass; no matter what the platform may contain, they should be accepted, and the only hope of party continuation lies in their acceptance. A delegate who goes to Chicago with the intention to stay it the majority agree with him and accept his candidate or make his platform, whether on finance, tariff, or what else; who means to bolt if his notion of men and measures is voted down, is a traitor in advance. He has no business in the convention. He should stay at home."

Never Satisfied.

"Yes, my eldest daughter married for money."
"She is happy, of course?"
"Far from it. While she has everything one could wish for, she is far from being happy. She loved another."
"Your second daughter also married, did she not?"
"Yes, she married a man for his good looks."
"I suppose she is happy."
"Indeed she is not. While her husband is a good provider, he can't afford to give her what her eldest sister receives, and, consequently, she is unhappy."
"And your youngest daughter, the one I always thought so much of, is she married?"
"Yes, she married a man for love."
"Ah, sensible little girl!"
"But her husband is very poor!"
"Still, with all her poverty, she loves the man of her choice, and is of course, happy?"
"No, indeed. She is the unhappiest of the three.—San Francisco Wave.

Representative Grosvenor, of Ohio, is recognized as one of the leading McKinley men in the House, and it may be mentioned in passing that Grosvenor also has a record as a hoodoo of the first water. However, Grosvenor is making himself the laughing stock of Congress by the ridiculous claims he is making for McKinley. He says that McKinley will receive 620 votes on the first ballot at the St. Louis convention, which would be one hundred and sixty-odd more than would be needed to nominate him. That McKinley is leading is certain and that he will win if he can make a dicker with Quay and Platt is probable. But it is certain that he is a long ways from having enough votes in sight at this time to win upon the first ballot or any other ballot, and his ability to make a trade with Quay and Platt will depend entirely upon how much strength he can control without them. If he has enough to win with the addition of the votes controlled by Quay and Platt and will give them as good terms as Reed has given them, there is little doubt that he could be the nominee.

A Small Boy's Observation in Europe.

We had a great time when we landed. All our trunks had to be opened by the custom-house inspectors to see if we had any cologne or cigars in 'em. I don't see why they call them custom-house officers, though. Their costumes weren't anything wonderful. It took Pop a half an hour to get his trunks all through, because he said the inspector didn't know the language. Pop says he asked him what nation he belonged to, and the man said he was Hinglish, and Pop told him he'd never heard of any such people; where did they live? In Hingland, the man said. Where's that? asked Pop, and the man nearly fainted; and then Pop gave him a half a crown, and the man said he guessed he needn't open any more trunks, because a man as ignorant as he was wouldn't have sense enough to try to smuggle anything in anywhere.

After all the trunks were passed, Pop asked a man where the baggage-car was, and that man couldn't speak English, either. He asked Pop what and Pop says again, Where's the baggage-car? and just then an American that had been over before says to the men, he means luggage-van, and the man said, Oh! wy didn't ee si so? Pop says he thinks that's Welsh, which is a language he never liked, anyhow. The only welsh thing he ever liked was a rabbit, he said. Wots your name asked the Baggage-man. Drake, says Pop. Well your van is the seventh car up. It's marked with a D. Do you know a D when you see it? Pop, said he guessed so. He'd seen one once, and he had an idea that it ooked like a p without a pedestal, or a B cut in two. That's it, said the man. Well, you put your luggage in the van marked with a P without a pedestal, and when you get to London you can go and claim it. But suppose somebody else claims it said Pop. That's his affair and yours, not mine says the man and he walked off. Then Pop found out that they don't give checks over here, and he said he guessed the reason was that they preferred cash.—Harper's Round Table.

tration; the one evil is dissipation.— Emerson.

—Among the 1,000 persons making up the population of Alfred, Me., are 24 between the ages of 80 and 90 years.

—Springfield, Ill., is built on 5½ square miles of ground and has 30,- 000 population, who owe $902,350 and —Among the Mongolians, Indians and negroes, the internal cavities of the nose are more largely developed than among the Caucasians.

—A woman working in a factory at Coloma, Mich., for 75 cents a day, last week fell heir to a fortune of $62,000 through the death of an uncle in Ger-—The tapir's snout is an extension of his nose. This singular animal is regarded by some naturalists as the intermediate class between the elephant and the pig.

—The whale's nose is on top of his head, at least his nostrils are situated there, through which he expels the columns of water during the action known as "spouting." Whales only spout when they are feeding.

—The shovel fish uses his nose as a tool to make his living. By means of his nasal protuberance he turns over the mud of the bottom of the sea and unearths the worms and small shell fish on which he feeds.

—The treasury circulation statement issued February 1 gives the amount of gold in the United States, outside the treasury, as $499,110,535. The amount of all kinds of money in circulation is placed at $1,589,720,607, an increase since January 1, 1896, of $10,513,883. The per capita circulation is $22.47.

—Strangely enough, the city of Philadelphia has never had a fitting monument to its most illustrious citizen, Benjamin Franklin. But it will have at least two in the near future. Justus C.
Strawbridge, of Philadelphia, has commissioned John J. Boyle to model a statue of Franklin, and another statue of him will soon be erected by the Fairmount Park Art association.

THE NEGRO IN THE SOUTH.

Customs in Regard to His Treatment Are Slowly Changing.

The southern people say that a northern man, after living south a few years, is a fierce negro-hater, far outdoing the southern man in his antagonism to the negro race, much more intolerant of the negro's inherent characteristics. It is, however, the northern people who are helping the negroes to educate themselves. This is not said in criticism of the southern people, for conditions were made for them long ago, and their feelings and opinions in regard to the whole negro question are the result of hereditary environment, which will in time be changed by the new conditions.

It is simply impossible for them to look at the negro as we do. Illustrations of this are constantly met in going about the city. One morning, when starting for the fair grounds, a bus driver on his way back from the grounds drew up his horse to the walk, where several were waiting for the car, and said if we would make up a load he would turn around. When we started off there was room for two more in the bus and room for one on the seat with the driver. I sat next to the driver on the inside, and we had gone only a few rods when a neatly-dressed, very respectable young colored woman and a boy, also well-dressed, signified by a slight gesture that they wanted to ride. The driver did not see it, so I said: "There are two passengers." He drew up to the walk and the woman and boy got in.
The driver looked around at them, and then, utterly regardless of their feelings, said in a loud voice: "If I had known it was a nigger I wouldn't have stopped." But he did not turn them out. A few rods further an Italian, dirty and ill-kept, stood with his harp by his side, as if he also were waiting for a ride, and our driver pulled up his horses and pointed to the seat beside him; but the harpist was not ready to go, so we drove on.

It is simply a confliction of ideas.
A young southern woman was shocked because we two northern women went to lunch in the negro building. She acknowledged that a colored cook always prepared her meals, and a colored waiter always served her, but to go to a restaurant where a colored man's brain managed the business, and a colored man or woman might occupy a table next to you—that she could not conceive of a white person's doing.

The negro has, however, made a great stride by this exhibition. Not so much by the simple showing what they can manufacture as by the fact that they are allowed to do it in such a peaceable and even friendly way, and have brains enough to manage their department, and to manage it so well. It seems there was some misunderstanding at the outset, for their are notices put up all through the negro building stating that colored people are not restricted to their own building, but are at liberty to go where-ever they please inside the grounds, enjoying the same privileges as their white neighbors.—Springfield (Mass.)

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

—No receptacle for soiled clothing, even if handsomely decorated, should be kept in a sleeping apartment.

—Steamed Fig Pudding.—Moisten two cupfuls of finely grated graham bread crumbs with half a cup of rich milk. Mix into it a heaping cupful of finely chopped fresh figs and a quarter of a cup of sugar. Add last a cup of sweet milk, turn all into a pudding dish, and steam about 2½ hours. Serve at once with orange sauce.—Good Health

—Poached Eggs.—Break two eggs into scalding water to which have been added a little butter and half a teaspoonful of vinegar. Let cook till the yolk is set, then dip out with a skimmer. On a heated platter place small squares of toasted bread moistened well with cream, and place an egg on each, dust with salt and serve.—Orange Judd Farmer.

—Piquante Sauce.—Put a tablespoon of butter in a small saucepan and set over the fire until brown; add a tablespoon of flour and mix until smooth; thin with a cupful of stock and stir until it boils. Have two tablespoonfuls of finely chopped onions, one gill of vinegar, one tablespoon of capers, a sprig each of thyme and parsley cooked in a saucepan; add to the sauce; season with salt and a pinch of cayenne; stir all together well and serve.—West-

GET A GOOD SAFE.

GREENVILLE, N. C., Feb. 26th, 1896.
J. L. SUGG, Agent Victor Safe Co., Greenville, N. C.

DEAR SIR:—I am pleased to say that the Victor Safe you sold me some five or six years ago preserved in tact all its contents in the late fire in Greenville on the 16th inst. The safe stood at a point in my office in the Opera House block that must have been one of the hottest parts in the great conflagration. It contained many papers and other things of value. When it was taken out of the ruins and opened, some twelve hours after the fire, everything in it was found to be safely preserved and in good condition. I cheerfully make this statement of facts in recognition of the valuable service rendered me by this safe and you are at liberty to make such use of it as you may see proper.

THOS. J. JARVIS.

The Victor Safe is made in all sizes, convenient for home, farm, office or general business use. Every Safe sold with a guarantee to be fire proof. Prices range from $15 up.

The man who at the present day is, we might say overworked, and is considered indispensable by every thoughtful man.—Richmond Dispatch.

A Good Company.

Smithfield, N. C., March 12, 1896.
Mr. Carey J. Hunter, Superintendent Union Central Life Insurance Company for Virginia and North Carolina, Raleigh, N. C.:

Dear Sir: I am in receipt of your company's check for $2,000.00, it being for policy No. 62,941 in your company for $2,000.00 on the life of the late Dr.
L. L. Sasser, my beloved husband.

That the most vigorous and healthful should promptly provide life insurance, which is the cheapest and surest means of creating an estate and protecting one's loved ones, is plainly illustrated in Dr. Sasser's case. The wisdom of his insuring cannot be doubted by anyone now.

He regarded no company the superior of the Union Central, and I am glad to say, that while he had policies in two other old line companies, the Union Central is the first to pay the claim.

The proofs of death left Raleigh the 8th inst., the check is dated in Cincinnati the 10th, and I am in possession of it the 12th.

Each insurer would like to know that his policy would be promptly paid to his loved ones at his death, that being the time of need and object of the insurance.

I most cheerfully recommend the Union Central to those desiring or needing life insurance.
(Signed) JULIA W. SASSER.
—News and Observer.

A Merited Success.

Some time ago the Union Central Life Insurance Company issued a policy contract which claimed to give the insured the greatest possible guaranteed advantages, and we are glad to note the great prosperity with which it met, being evidenced by large gains in business in North Carolina, as well as elsewhere.

Their State Agent, Mr. Carey J.
Hunter, of Raleigh, N. C., is now superintendent for Virginia, New Mexico and North Carolina, and we rejoice at his splendid success.—News and Observer.

White & Speight will take pleasure in showing you any of those latest desirable policies used by the Union Central Insurance Co. They make a specialty of the 20 payment guarantee which is the very latest on record. See them and do good to yourself in old age or to your family in case of death.
