JOHNNY'S MOTHER.

FRANK L. STANTON.

Johnny's pa—he took an' died we'n Johnny wuz so small
He couldn't tell you how he looked—
if he wuz short, or tall,
Or had a beard, or anything; fer boys,
w'en they ain't growed
Ain't good at keepin' things in min'—
so Johnny never knowed.

Bot jest you mention "mother" to Johnny, an' you'll see!
Fer purty soon he'll tell yout 'at he knows her to a "T";
'Cos w'y? W'en Johnny's pa wuz gone an' things wuz lookin' slim,
His mother kep' a-livin' on, an' went an' worked fer him!

She kep' him jest as neat an' nice 'as any boy in town,
She'd take him to the factory, an' there she'd set him down;
An' Johnny'd hear the spindles hum, an' stare all roun' the place
An' then the girls 'ud love him some an' pat his rosy face.

An' w'en the man at run the shop warn't lookin', like they does,
An' couldn't see his mother, or tell wher' Johnny wuz,
She'd come a-creepin' up to him, an' hug an' kiss him so
He couldn't hardly ketch his breath, or see the spindles go!

An' w'en her work wuz over she'd call him "good" an' sweet,
An' take him in her arms, an' walk through all the crowded street;
An' cook his supper fer him, an' they'd have cakes an' tea,
An' his mother'd ask a blessin' jest as happy as could be!

But by an' by, w'en Johnny growed to be right stout an' tall
He said he guess they'd turn about an' he'd jest work for all!
He tol' his mother: "Stay at home!" jest wouldn't let her stir—
An' w'en the store folks paid him off he'd give it all to her!

An' so, they kep' a-livin' on; an' w'en his mother said
She guess she'd marry some one else—his father bein' dead—
Then Johnny, he jest cried an' cried; but soon he wiped his eyes
An' said: "I'll take keer of her w'en the other fellow dies!"

IN NORTH CAROLINA.

Matters Of Interest Over the State.

The people who are crying hard times, and the newspapers that are publishing the same stories, should open their eyes to the actual situation. North Carolina built more mills last year than the whole of New England. —Newbern Journal.

A gentleman who has traveled recently over a large part of the State says that from what he has heard, he thinks that while the cotton acreage will be increased to some extent, that in Eastern North Carolina, the great increase will be in the tobacco acreage, hence the usually large sales of fertilizers. —Goldsboro Argus.

A two year old child, daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Holton, of Baird's creek, Pamlico county, was accidentally killed on Wednesday, April 1st. Two men who were preparing to build a house on the opposite side of the road from Mr. Holton's residence, threw down a heavy pole off their shoulders, without knowing that the child was about them. It fell across her body, causing death in about two hours. —Newbern Journal.

A Silverware Co. has sent A. B. Ellington samples of their goods to sell here. He will have them at the store of Ricks & Taft on Monday, April 6th, where the ladies are invited to call and see them.

MURDER IN SECOND DEGREE.

Such is the Verdict of the Jury—Sentenced 20 Years in Penitentiary.

Friday evening the jury in the case against The. Jenkins, Lanier Jenkins and George Davis returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree. Judge Boykin at once passed sentence upon the two Jenkins boys, giving them each 20 years in the penitentiary, but reserved judgment on George Davis for the time being. Counsel for the defense made a motion for a new trial, which motion was overruled, when notice of appeal to the Supreme Court was given. Later George Davis was granted a new trial.

Following is a brief synopsis of particulars of the murder: On the evening of January 11th Patrick Whitehurst was in Bethel. He was drinking some. A crowd of negroes led by William Jenkins, The Jenkins Lanier Jenkins and George Davis were following Whitehurst taunting him with songs and trying to provoke him into a difficulty. Whitehurst went into Robert Staton's bar. The negroes stood outside and sung "Pat is a dude," &c, and had another song in which were the words: "I don't want to kill you but will fix you so you can't go back to Kansas." Whitehurst left the bar and went to Blount's store, the negroes following him. Whitehurst asked them to sing songs like they did on the State farm. Elbert Jenkins, a younger brother of the others, said "You better sing them yourself, you know them." Whitehurst turned around in the door of the store and asked what he said. The others said to Elbert "Say what you d-n please, we are at your back." Whitehurst had a brick in his hand which he threw over the heads of the crowd out into the street. A heavy cudgel was passed to William Jenkins, with which he struck Whitehurst a blow on the head, knocking him senseless to the floor. Whitehurst was taken up and carried off and a doctor summoned.

A warrant was at once sworn out against William Jenkins and he was arraigned before a Magistrate on Monday following. The seriousness of Whitehurst's injury not being known Jenkins was released after giving a $200 for his appearance at Court. Later the condition of Whitehurst grew worse and William Jenkins run away. Whitehurst died on Thursday. In the meantime warrants were issued for the other two Jenkins boys and for Geo. Davis who had also disappeared, and they were caught and held as accomplices to the murder.

Superior Court.

The following cases have been disposed of since last report:

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C. April, 3rd, '96.
[From our Regular Correspondent.]

The party flag has been hoisted over democratic headquarters, in Washington, and the work of the campaign begun. An entire building has been secured, on fifteenth street, just above Pennsylvania avenue. It will be occupied as headquarters for the Democratic Congressional Committee, and the National Association of Democratic Clubs, the two having the same secretary, Mr. Lawrence Gardner. There will also be room in the building for the National committee, should it desire to establish in Washington either a branch or its principal headquarters. Senator Faulkner, the chairman of the Congressional committee, and all the other members are preparing to make a very determined effort to overthrow the present enormous republican majority in the House, and they are perfectly satisfied that there is much more than a fighting chance for success. A careful study of the returns of the '94 elections in all the Congressional districts shows an unusually large number of districts carried by very small majorities by the republicans, and a comparison of the votes in the same districts for '92 will show that this result was brought about in many of them simply by democrats remaining at home. There is very little doubt that a majority of the next House will be democratic, if the full democratic vote can be got out. The Congressional committee will make special efforts in that line, in districts which are naturally democratic. The failure of the republicans of the present House to keep the promises they made on the stump will, it is expected, help the democrats in all districts where the class of voters who never permanently ally themselves with either party hold the balance of power. Many of that class voted with the republicans in '94, who may be induced to vote for a democrat this year.

Senator Vilas, who was President Cleveland's first Postmaster General, is especially well qualified to speak on the subject of government mail subsidies. He made the Senate amendment to the Post office appropriation bill, giving $80,000 additional compensation to the Oceanic Steamship Company for carrying the mails from San Francisco to Hawaii and other points, the text for some interesting remarks in which he said that the mail subsidy system, which he opposed when he was Postmaster General, had entirely failed to give a more expeditious or better mail service. The supporters of the subsidy defended the amendment on the ground that it was made necessary by the competing subsidized Canadian line of Pacific Steamers.

There is rather a nasty row among the republican members of the House committee on Public Buildings and Grounds over the old question of a site for a new Government Printing office. While no open charge has been made, it was stated by Representative White, of Illinois, that Chairman Milliken had railroaded a bill through the committee which provides for the purchase of a site at a price twice as high as a site just as good could be bought for. On the other hand Chairman Milliken intimates that Mr. White is over friendly to those who are interested in the much talked about Mahone site, which has figured somewhat disreputably in this matter for some years. That much is publicly said. What is privately said is of such a nature that it would not be safe to print unless you had indisputable legal proof to back it up with.

According to the opinion of Mr. Henry E. Queen, a prominent Kentuckian now in Washington, Secretary Carlisle will be the democratic candidate for President. Mr. Queen says of Mr. Carlisle as a candidate: "He would carry Kentucky by at least 40,000 majority, and he would not fail of success in a single southern state. To the Eastern and Middle States democrats he would be particularly acceptable. As far as Kentucky is concerned there is an end of party dissensions, and henceforth the Blue Grass democrats will be found working in harmony, and the electoral vote of the state will be cast for the democratic nominee, whoever he may be."

There will be no political reorganization of the employes of the Senate. This was definitely settled at a conference of representatives of the Republican and Democratic Senators, and was brought about because the Republicans did not want to agree to the demands made by the Populists for voting with them to elect the Secretary and Sergeant-at-Arms nominated by them early in the session, nor the Democrats to make a deal with the Populists to vote against them. Under the new arrangement the Democratic Secretary and Sergeant-at-Arms will be retained, and each Senator, regardless of politics, will be given his pro rata share of the minor positions.

WHY DO WE DO IT?

Perhaps some sage can tell me, for, indeed, I'd like to know—
The secret of the titles that I hear where'er I go.
There's Brown, who studied medicine, attaining some renown,
Whose wife I hear referred to now as "Mrs. Dr. Brown."
What reason for the custom can the wise ones give to me?
Why not as well refer to her as "Mrs. Brown, M. D.?"
Because O'Shea is on the bench why should we always say,
In speaking of his charming wife, "There's Mrs. Judge O'Shea?"
Is she a judge by marriage? Was she wedded to the court?
There should be some good reason why the title should she sport.
If one should wed a justice, pray advise me would she be Entitled to be known by all as "Mrs. Jones, J. P.?"
If not, what reason can we give for speaking as we do
Of "Mrs. Major Cannonball" or "Mrs. Bishop Pew?"
Do titles go to families for use of every one?
And if they do, why aren't they used by daughter and by son?
Why not a "Miss Lieutenant Sharp?"
Why not a junior, too?
At least let's be consistent in the things we try to do.

Original Observations.

Sure to follow suit—the costs.
It is the peanut politician who gets well roasted.
Policy controls a lot of people as well as politics.
It is better to meet adversity with a smile than a kick.

He was a well to do looking stranger, and when he had retired for the night the landlord said to his wife, "If we don't get a good speck out of him, I'll miss my guess."

After he had been there a week he "cleared," leaving his bill unsettled. "Well," said the landlord's wife after they had talked the matter over, "you have missed your guess."

"Yes," said the landlord humorously, "I have missed my guest."—Boston Courier.

CATARRH.

His Worst Enemy Defeated by
P. P. P., Lippman's
Great Remedy.

FOR THREE YEARS HE SUFFERED--COULD

HARDLY BREATHE AT NIGHT--ONE

NOSTRIL CLOSED FOR 10 YEARS.

Mr. A. M. Ramsey, of DeLeon, Texas,
was a sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form. Truly, his description of his sufferings seem little short of marvelous. Instead of seeking his couch, glad for the night coming, he went to it with terror, realizing that another long, weary, wakeful night and a struggle to breathe was before him. He could not sleep on either side for two years. P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, cured him in quick time.

DE LEON, TEXAS.
Messrs. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga.
Gents: I have used nearly four bottles of P. P. P. I was afflicted from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet. Your P. P. P. has cured my difficulty of breathing, smothering, palpitation of the heart, and has relieved me of all pain. One nostril was closed for ten years, but now I can breathe through it readily.
I have not slept on either side for two years; in fact, I dreaded to see night come.
Now I sleep soundly in any position all night.
I am 50 years old, but expect soon to be able to take hold of the plow handles.
I feel glad that I was lucky enough to get
P. P. P., and I heartily recommend it to my friends and the public generally.
Yours respectfully,
A. M. RAMSEY

SPIRITS OF TURPENTINE.

Some of Its Uses in the Arts and Manufactures.

Very few people have any correct notion of the number of uses to which the products of turpentine have been put.
Let us mention some of the different ways spirits of turpentine enters into the arts and manufactures. Many who read this article by gaslight will remember when they read their newspapers by the smoky light furnished by "camphene." This was before the introduction and use of petroleum. Camphene is prepared by mixing the recti-fied oil of turpentine with alcohol. Although kerosene is now so cheap, the rectified spirits of turpentine is still used for illuminating purposes in some backwood sections of the south.

Perhaps the most common uses of the spirits of turpentine are those in the arts, where it enters into the preparation of paints and varnishes, and especially in the manufacture of india-rubber goods. The paint and varnish industries take about 5,000,000 gallons annually, while the rubber industry requires about 3,500,000 gallons a year.

But spirits of turpentine has other uses not so well known to most readers.
How many would enjoy their snail oils
and other vegetable oils if they knew that they were adulterated with turpentine oil? How many invalids know that their medicines contain spirits of turpentine, or that the liniment or ointment which relieves their aches and pains is largely composed of turpentine?--Lee J. Vance, in Appleton's Popular Science Monthly.

SMUGGLING BY RAILWAY.

Engineering Appliances as Carriers of Contraband Goods.

There is a story of several years
standing to the effect that one time,
a locomotive on one of the lines running across the German-Russian frontier was used most successfully as a carrier of contraband goods, and that the fraud, so long practiced, was discovered only while overhauling the engine in the repair shops. The exact circumstances cannot now be called to mind, though the essential facts of such illegal use having been made of a legitimate piece of engineering work is brought back to memory by a recently published item which chronicles

a somewhat similar bit of deception.
The Belgian customs authorities, it appears, knew for a long time that large quantities of jewelry were smuggled over the French border, but how it was done puzzled them. In the luggage van of the express which runs between Paris and Brussels is a case which holds the accumulators when the train is electrically lighted. A key of the case is held by the conductor of the express, a foreman porter and an excise official of the border station,
but none of these ever appear to use it. The other day, as the train ran into Quèvy, the border town, a customs inspector took it into his head, more through officiousness than suspicion, to open the chest. To his amazement,
it was filled to the lid with watches,
chains, rings, bracelets and all kinds of dutiable jewelry. It was found that the foreman porter at Quèvy had, for a long period, been carrying on a contraband traffic for a well-known Paris jeweler, who, it is said, had had to disgorge heavily, both in jewelry and hard cash, in consequence of the disclosures
of his frauds.--Carrier's Magazine.

GET A GOOD SAFE

GREENVILLE, N. C., Feb. 26th, 1896.
J. L. SUGG, Agent Victor Safe Co.,
Greenville, N. C.

DEAR SIR:--I am pleased to say that the Victor Safe you sold me some five or six years ago
preserved in tact all its contents in the late fire in Greenville on the 16th inst. The safe stood at a point in my office in the Opera House block that must have been one of the hottest parts in the great conflagration. It contained many papers and other things of value. When it was taken out of the ruins and opened, some twelve hours after the fire, everything in it was found to be safely preserved and in good condition. I cheerfully make this statement of facts in recognition of the valuable service rendered me by this safe and you are at liberty to make such use of it as you may see proper.

THOS. J. JARVIS.
The Victor Safe is made in all sizes, convenient for home, farm, office or general business
use. Every Safe sold with a guarantee to be fire proof. Prices range from $15 up.

Store Broken Into.

Friday night some one broke into the store of Mr. W. H. White by effecting an entrance through one of the rear windows. A suit of clothing, size 40, a pistol, some cartridges and about 25 cents in change that had been left in the money drawer are the only articles that have been missed so far. The thief closed the window after he went out. Attention was first directed to the robbery by finding a lot of clothing scattered on the counter when the store was opened this morning, indicating that the thief had picked over to find a suit to fit him.

WORK THE ROADS WITH CONVICTS.

EDITOR REFLECTOR.—We saw some weeks ago that our County Commissioners were thinking of working the roads by convicts. Wonder if they have quit thinking of it? We hope they will take such a step, as we think it will be better in every way. That we have poor roads is well understood. That they would be better if worked by convicts is equally well known to those who have traveled in Lenoir or any other county where it is done.

What shall be done with State prisoners is a question that has puzzled every government that ever existed. It is unwise and unjust that they should compete with honest labor, and is a bad policy whenever tried. And we see it right here in our own North Carolina today.

Rome in the classic ages tried banishment and twice came near being overrun by her former subjects. France in the reign of terror was desperate enough to try to kill them all. This they found very expensive, as the government was at great cost to bury all its subjects, and they finally quit the custom as burial ground was growing scarce. So we see it has been a vexation to all nations, and it is surely one to us to get our roads worked. So let's dispose of both questions at once.

HONK INTEREST.

Or in other words DON'T BE FOOLISH. We want you to know that we are squeezing prices down to the very lowest points of competition that it is possible to give them. We point with pride to our prices as phenomenal in price-making for their extreme reasonableness.
