GREENVILLE, N. C.

And its Unsurpassed Hospitality at The Time of the Greenville Races.

This modest little town, the county seat of Pitt, has for many years occupied prominence as the home of a number of distinguished men, notably, Gov. Jarvis, the late Louis Latham and others, and more recently has become conspicuous as one of the best tobacco markets in the State, but it was reserved for the recent week of races, say the visitors, to earn another distinguishing title—that of being the most hospitable town in North Carolina.

The New Berne contingent who attended the races, every one of them of whom is a Past Master in the art of entertaining, and therefore eminently qualified to express correct opinions on the subject, never weary of declaring that in all their lives they were never so royally entertained as upon this occasion.

The hospitality was not of that perfunctory nature, that devolves upon a committee or select few to offer, but was spontaneous, universal, and of the most hearty and generous character. All and every class sought to outdo the others in the manner and earnestness of their attentions, and the result, was one continuous round of delicate, rational and most enjoyable entertainment.

The attentions of Mr. Skinner, the hotel proprietor, were pronounced and are especially mentioned—his earnest and courteous treatment of his guests being from a hotel standpoint, as gratifying as they are elsewhere unusual.

To sum up, the occasion was a symposium of generosity, a carnival of hospitality, a "dream of pleasure and the apotheosis of North Carolina's great-heartedness.

In this instance the town is appropriately named, as the ville will long live Green in the memory of those whose good fortune it was to share its generous and unbounded hospitality of Race Week.—Newbern Journal.

Whichard Items.

WHICHARD, N. C., April 21st, 1896.

The weather continues fine for the farmers. Fair and hot, but getting rather dry. Cotton is coming up a little.

W. A. Fleming, of Hassell, was here again Saturday. He must be getting some encouragement here in his line of business insurance.

Whichard is not on a boom, but three new houses (one store and two dwellings) are going up here now.

W. R. Whichard went to Greenville last Friday. On his return, when in about five miles of home, he was taken very sick at his stomach, which lasted two or three hours. He says tell the Editor "He doesn't take any more deviled crab in his'n."

The Greenleaf Johnson Lumber Co., are getting on fine with their work. They are moving about a quarter-million feet of logs per week.

J. W. Roberson, General Superintendent of the G. J. L. Co. here, visited his family in Martin county, Saturday and Sunday. His little son, Cushing is with him this week.

THE PLAN OF ORGANIZATION.

As Amended and Changed by the State Executive Committee.

We publish herewith a carefully corrected copy of the Democratic Plan of Organization in North Carolina, as amended and changed at the recent meeting of the State Executive committee. All Democratic conventions hereafter will be held, and all Democratic candidates will be nominated according to this amended plan, and therefore every Democrat should read it and learn its provisions. It is as follows:

PRECINCT ORGANIZATION.

1. The unit of county organization shall be the voting precinct. In each precinct there shall be an executive committee, to consist of five active Democrats, who shall be elected by the Democratic voters of the several precincts in the meetings first called by the County Executive Committee. And said committee so elected shall elect one of its members as chairman, who shall preside at all committee meetings.

2. The chairman of the several precinct committees shall compose the County Executive committee, which shall meet at the same time and place as the county conventions first held in each election year, and elect a chairman of said county committee, who need not be a member of the committee, and he shall preside at all meetings of said committee, and shall hold his place until his successor shall be elected. A majority of said precinct chairmen, in person or by proxy, shall constitute a quorum. The county committee shall likewise appoint a central committee of five, who shall act in its stead when the county committee is not in session.

3. In case there shall be a failure on the part of any precinct to elect its executive committee for a period of thirty days, the county executive committee shall appoint said committee from the Democratic voters of said precinct.

4. The members of the precinct committee shall elect to any vacancy occurring in said committees.

5. The County Executive committee shall call all necessary county conventions by giving at least ten day's notice by public advertisement in those public places in each precinct, at the court house door, and in any Democratic newspaper that may be published in said county, requesting all Democrats of the county to meet in their respective precincts on a common day therein stated, which said day shall not be less than three days before the meeting of the county conventions, for the purpose of electing their delegates to the county convention.

At the State and district conventions the delegates from the different counties may disregard the vote of their respective counties to any candidate, provided two-thirds majority of all his votes from the county consent thereto.

2. The chairman, or in his absence, any member of the county, senatorial, judicial and congressional committees, shall call to order their respective conventions, and hold chairmanship thereof until the convention shall elect its chairman.

4. The executive committees of the senatorial, congressional and judicial districts, respectively, shall, at the call of their respective chairmen, meet at some time and place in their respective suance of said call, or no election shall be made, the precinct executive committee shall appoint such delegates.

PRIMARY.

Sec. 6. At every precinct meeting there shall, before delegates to the county conventions are elected, be a vote taken for the different candidates for office, whose names may be presented, and the delegates shall vote in the county convention their respective precincts in accordance with this vote; that is to say, each candidate shall receive in this county convention that proportion of the vote to which the precinct may be entitled which he received in the precinct meeting. The chairman and secretary of the precinct meeting shall certify to the county convention the vote received by each candidate at the precinct meeting.

7. Each precinct shall be entitled to cast in the county convention one vote for every twenty-five Democratic votes, and one vote for fractions of thirteen Democratic votes cast by the township at the last preceding gubernatorial election: Provided, That every voting precinct shall be entitled to cast at least one vote, and each precinct may send as many delegates as it may see fit.

8. The chairmen of precinct committees shall preside at all precinct meetings. In their absence any other member of said committees may preside.

COUNTY AND DISTRICT CONVENTIONS.

1. The several county conventions shall be entitled to elect to their Senatorial, Judicial and Congressional conventions one delegate and one alternate for every fifty Democratic votes, and one delegate for fractions of over twenty-five Democratic votes cast at the last preceding gubernatorial election in their respective counties, and none but delegates or alternates so elected shall be entitled to seats in said conventions: "Provided, That every county shall have at least one vote in each of said conventions.

Provided further, That in all county conventions in which delegates shall be selected to attend any State, Congressional, Judicial or other convention, a vote shall be taken in accordance with the plan of organization as to the candidates whose names may be presented to such county convention. The delegates shall be selected from the friends and supporters of each candidate voted for in proportion to the number of votes he shall receive in such county convention, and no other instructions shall be given: Provided further, That when only one candidate is presented and voted for at such county convention, it shall be lawful to instruct for such candidate.

2. At every county convention, before delegates to State, Congressional, Judicial, Senatorial or other conventions are chosen, there shall be a vote taken for the different candidates for office, whose names may be presented, and the delegates shall vote their respective counties in accordance with this vote: that is to say, each candidate shall receive in the State, Congressional, Judicial, Senatorial, or other conventions, the proportion of the vote to which the county may be entitled which he received in the county convention. The chairman and secretary of the county convention shall certify to each convention the vote received by each candidate at the county convention, and no other instruction shall be given: Provided that where only one candidate is presented it shall be lawful to instruct for him.

At the State and district conventions the delegates from the different counties may disregard the vote of their respective counties to any candidate, provided two-thirds majority of all his votes from the county consent thereto.

2. The chairman, or in his absence, any member of the county, senatorial, judicial and congressional committees, shall call to order their respective conventions, and hold chairmanship thereof until the convention shall elect its chairman.

4. The executive committees of the senatorial, congressional and judicial districts, respectively, shall, at the call of their respective chairmen, meet at some time and place in their respective districts designated in said call. And it shall be their duty to appoint the time and place for holding conventions in their respective districts, and the chairmen of said respective committees shall immediately notify the chairmen of the different county executive committees of the said appointment, and the said county executive committees shall forthwith call conventions of their respective counties in conformity to said notice, to send delegates to said respective district conventions.

STATE CONVENTION.

The State convention shall be composed of delegates appointed by the several county conventions. Each county shall be entitled to elect one delegate and one alternate for every one hundred and fifty Democratic votes, and one delegate for fractions over seventy-five Democratic votes, cast therein at the last preceding gubernatorial election, and none but delegates or alternates so elected shall be entitled to seats in said convention; Provided, That every county shall have at least one vote in said convention.

GENERAL RULES.

1. At all conventions the delegates shall be selected, as near as may be, from the friends and supporters of the candidates voted for.

2. Such delegates—or alternates of absent delegates—as may be present at any Democratic convention, shall be allowed to cast the whole vote to which their precinct or county may be entitled.

3. In all conventions provided for by this system, after a vote is cast there shall be no change in such vote until the final result of the ballot shall be announced by the chairman of said convention.

4. All Democratic executive committees shall have the power to fill any vacancies occurring in their respective bodies.

5. The chairmen of the different county conventions shall certify the list of delegates and alternates to the different district and State conventions, and a certified list of said delegates and alternates to the State convention shall be sent to the secretary of the State central committee.

6. It shall be the duty of the county committee, and of its chairman, to furnish such information and make such reports to the chairman of the State committee as he may desire.

CAVES OF YUCATAN.

Were the Abodes of People of a Prehistoric Race.

Scientific Expeditions Sent Out from Pennsylvania to Secure Relics of a Race Anterior to the Mayas.

If there is one thing more than another which archaeologists would hail with delight it would be the discovery which would unlock the mysteries of the Maya stone monuments and give to the world the keys to the history of the early races of Central America, as the discovery of the Rosetta stone unlocked the history of ancient Egypt. There has been for many years a dispute as to the degree of antiquity which is to be accorded to the remains that are found in Central America. One savant carries them back to a time almost contemporary with ancient Egypt, while another will not allow that they are much earlier than the days of the Montezumas or the time of the discovery of the continent by Columbus. If the Maya tongue was as open a book as the records of ancient Egypt this question might be settled. Who were the builders of Uxmal? Where came the ancient race that carved the strange figures and characters that are found on the altar slabs at Palenque? No one can tell. After years of research we are but a little closer to the heart of the riddle than we were half a century ago.

Recently the inquiry has taken another turn and the effort has been made to ascertain something about the prehistoric races that it was supposed might have preceded the Maya Indians in the occupation of the Yucatan peninsula. There are in the hills of Yucatan many caves, not large in extent, but which it was believed would, upon investigation, show in the deposits which might be found on their floors some traces of prehistoric man in that region. The earlier races found shelter in caves, built fires there, and in the refuse of the ash heap are found the bones of the animals they consumed and the fragments of the tools, utensils and weapons that they used. Relics of importance might be found in the hill caves of Yucatan, and so an expedition was sent out from the University of Pennsylvania to examine these caves and investigate the "kitchen middens," or "culture beds," as science calls the soil of which the floors of these caves is composed. The expedition was in charge of Henry C. Mercer and was known as the Orwith expedition, and Mr. Mercer has written an entertaining and valuable account of their researches. Ten caves were examined, and the method followed was that usually employed in such cases. Trenches are dug across the floor with great care, the earth removed in layers and carefully examined for relics and fragments of pottery, bones of animals, arrowheads and other weapons. It was hoped that there would be found traces of a race anterior to the Mayas. In this the explorers were doomed to disappointment. They did not find any traces of the prehistoric man; but they found that the people who came to the caves were generally identical with the race that had reared the cities whose ruins have excited so much attention and wonder. They brought with them whatever degree of culture they were possessed of and had not developed after their arrival in Yucatan. It was also established that these people had reached the country in geologically recent times. It will thus be seen that not all the results of the expedition were of a negative character and that some of them were of importance from a scientific point of view. It was ascertained that in all probability the ancient Mayas were cannibals. They were an agricultural people and not given to hunting to any great extent.

Nearly all the caverns contained water, and it was that fact which first led these earlier races to resort to them. The party devoted its entire time to cave explorations and did not study the ruined cities. The fact was established that no prehistoric race preceded the Mayas on the Yucatan peninsula, but no fresh clues were obtained as to how far back into the past that occupation extended.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Not for Carriage Wheels.
It is not generally understood as it should be, perhaps, that bicycle wheels seldom or never are subjected to lateral strains. They need to resist only those strains which pass through their own plane and in this plane only have they any strength worth speaking of. This is worth remembering when the use of wheels of this type is being considered for three or four wheeled vehicles, where the conditions are essentially different and where, in turning corners rapidly, or in going over ground that causes the vehicle to be inclined sideways, a very considerable lateral strain may be brought upon the wheels—a strain which the ordinary bicycle wheel is, very properly, entirely unfitted for. This is to be considered also in connection with devices for attaching two bicycles side by side to make a duplex or four-wheeled machine of them. Neither the frame, the bearings nor the wheels of a properly constructed bicycle are adapted to such use without injury.—Chicago News.

CATARRH.

His Worst Enemy Defeated by
P. P. P., Lippman's
Great Remedy.

FOR THREE YEARS HE SUFFERED—COULD HARDLY BREATHE AT NIGHT—ONE
NOSTRIL CLOSED FOR 10 YEARS.

Mr. A. M. Ramsey, of DeLeon, Texas, was a sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form. Truly, his description of his sufferings seem little short of marvelous. Instead of seeking his couch, glad for the nights coming, he went to it with terror, realizing that another long, weary, wakeful night and a struggle to breathe was before him. He could not sleep on either side for two years. P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, cured him in quick time.

DE LEON, TEXAS.
Messrs. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga.: Gents: I have used nearly four bottles of P. P. P. I was afflicted from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet. Your P. P. P. has cured my difficulty of breathing, smothering, palpitation of the heart, and has relieved me of all pain. One nostril was closed for ten years, but now I can breathe through it readily. I have not slept on either side for two years; in fact, I dreaded to see night come. Now I sleep soundly in any position all night. I am 50 years old, but expect soon to be able to take hold of the plow handles. I feel glad that I was lucky enough to get P. P. P., and I heartily recommend it to my friends and the public generally. Yours respectfully,
A. M. RAMSEY.

THE STATE OF TEXAS—County of Comanche.—Before the undersigned authority on this day, personally appeared A. M. Ramsey, who, after being duly sworn, says on oath that the foregoing statement made by him relative to the virtue of P. P. P. medicine is true.

BAKER & HART. NEAR FIVE POINTS.

How to Get Rid of Caterpillars.

After reading the article in Tuesday's REFLECTOR about caterpillars, Maj. H. Harding explained to us how he gets rid of these pests to fruit trees. He says the butterflies deposit their eggs in September, enclosing them in a small pod on the twigs of the trees. If undisturbed these eggs hatch out in the first warm days of April, and the caterpillars form a nest just below the pods. Maj. Harding says the best and easiest time to destroy the insects is during the latter part of February or early in March before the trees begin to bud. By means of a step-ladder the pods containing the egg deposits can be found very readily and may be destroyed by breaking off the pod, or by cutting off and burning the twig around which it is fastened. It is rarely the cause that more than two of these pods are found on one tree.
