THE Whole Store

is richly abloom with veritable triumphs of Merchandise and price wonders for—

SPRING & SUMMER

For three months prior to the opening of the Spring season we did vigorous and active work squeezing out from the various stock everything not quite up to date in point of present fashions. That policy was wisest, as results fully show. Our store is now full of the spic-and-span Novelties of the current period.

Silks, Hosiery, Dress Goods, Trimmings, Suits, Gloves, Shirt Waists, Skirts, Ribbons, Neckwear, Laces, Linens, Embroideries, White Goods, Mattings, Rugs, Draperies.

In the foregoing, and kindred, lines we invite you to a collection that is absolutely fresh, diversified and positively as low, or lower in price, than you'll find elsewhere. Original, dainty and exclusive styles in the goods you want will be prodigally displayed this week.

If You

Want a baby Shoe or Slipper, a child's Tan Shoe, a girl's Shoe or Oxford Tie, a boy's Calf, Tan Vici Lace, Spring-heel Oxford, a Ladies' Colored Button, Lace, Pretty Black, Tan Lace Oxford, Handsome Turned Lace or Button Shoe, a man's Black, Tan Oxford, Southern Tie, nice, fashionable, Patent Leather Shoe, Easy, Light-Black, Tan Vici Summer Shoe. If you want to get anything in the Shoe Line, for infant, child, boy, girl, lady or gentlemen you can be furnished them. Better, quicker, cheaper and more satisfactory by Weekly Crop Bulletin.

The reports of correspondents of the Weekly Crop Bulletin, issued by the North Carolina Section, for the week ending Saturday, May 2d, 1896, indicate very favorable conditions, both for work and growth of crops. Cool nights the first few days of the week brought the mean temperature slightly below the normal, but the last five days were warm, bringing the average for the week about four degrees per day above the normal. Fine seasons occurred nearly everywhere on May 1st and 2d, the largest amounts exceeding an inch along the central portion of the State. The general prospects are now very favorable indeed, and farmers are working in good spirits.

EASTERN DISTRICT.

Reports are nearly all quite favorable for this District; very few places did not share in the beneficial showers of May 1st and 2d, and the conditions have been fine, both for farm work and for growing crops. Cotton-planting continues, but approaching completion; much has come up with promising stand and looks vigorous; some being chopped. Corn about planted, except on bottom lands; stand fair, with fine green color and growing rapidly; but little was prevented from coming up by previous drought; some little damage by cut-worms reported. Setting out tobacco plants progressing, and planting pea-nuts will be general during next two weeks. Gardeners, wheat and oats have improved; Irish potatoes look fresh and promising; sweet potatoes have sprouted nicely and a few have been set out. Large shipments of berries and peas to the North.

CENTRAL DISTRICT.

Quite heavy rains occurred in a few central counties, washing lands to some extent; in others the weather continues too dry. Planting late corn is going on vigorously; corn is quite large for the season. Cotton has not come up quite as well as hoped for, but the good seasons at the end of the week will improve the stand. Wheat looks well but is heading low; spring oats have improved; rye has rusted some. Sweet potatoes have sprouted well. Transplanting tobacco commenced to be pushed in a few counties the last of the week, which indicates advanced growth of plants. Many reports still received of damage by potato-bugs, bud and cut-worms in corn and insects on tobacco, but the rainy weather will diminish these pests.

WESTERN DISTRICT.

Showers which occurred throughout the District on the last three days of the week were just what was needed and came in time to prevent any serious damage which had been threatened by drought. There seems to have been really very little damage by dry weather, but everything was greatly benefited by rains. Cotton is up with good stand in some places, but many farmers have not yet finished planting cotton. Corn-planting is generally about finished, except late corn, and where up is looking well. Those who have not finished planting are rapidly getting the seed in the ground. All small grain is reported in good condition as a rule. Tobacco plants are plentiful but setting out has not begun yet. Farmers well advanced with work.

They Better Let Chicken Alone.

The Newbern Journal says the colored folks there are very much worked up over the capture of a chicken rooster. A colored man was giving a dining, the chief dish being the rooster in question. When the fowl was brought in to be served the assemblage was thrown into consternation by the rooster moving around in the dish and crowing.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 6TH, 1896.

For the past two years one of the most absorbing question of this nation has been the free coinage of silver, and yet it has been left for a North Carolina Statesman a few weeks ago to discover that he does not know "of a more worthless issue, or one that is less attainable, or that promises fewer practical results, at the ratio that is proposed of sixteen to one." This late discover is no less a personage than the Hon. John S. Henderson who so ably represented his district in Congress. He has the record, too, of being an earnest advocate of the free coinage of silver during his entire service in this capacity and now finds that he was then advocating a "worthless issue."

The question naturally arises why this great discovery?

No answer which is reasonable seems now to be in sight but if a gold-bug is elected President and John S. Henderson should be found occupying some remunerative position, somebody might say "I told you so." It is passingly strange to hear a North Carolinian utter such expression as has recently been given forth by this man, who has been looked upon as a wise leader heretofore and this too in the face of the fact that nine-tenths of the white citizens of his State believe that the most important question now before the American people is the free coinage of silver at the ratio of sixteen to one. So important an issue it is that it threatens to disrupt a party that has existed almost from the foundation of this government. It is a great pity that Mr. Henderson ever conceived that his opinions are necessary now. North Carolina must present a solid front for free coinage and never slacken her effort until silver and gold stand on equal footing in this government, Mr. Henderson to the contrary notwithstanding, and unless we are mistaken he has advanced rather than retarded the onward march of silver.

Character is greater and higher than money, intellect, or love, because it determines the use and direction of these three. It is the character of the rich man which determines whether he shall be a benefactor or a curse to society. It is character which determines whether love shall be a passion working havoc in human life or a grace beautifying and ennobling life. Character is the determining force behind money, intellect, love, and to it is the greatest force in human life. Realizing this, all will appreciate the necessity of careful thought and thoughtful care in building character.

TEMPERANCE DEPARTMENT

Here is a good item from the Athens Banner: "The lark was up to meet the sun, and carol for his lay; the farmer's son took down his gun and at him blazed away. The busy bee arose at five and burned the meadows o'er; the farmer's wife went for his hive, and robbed him of his store. The ant rose early, his labors to begin; the greedy swallows flew that way and took his lordship in. Oh, bee, birds and ants be wise, in proverbs take no stock; like me refuse to rise until half-past 8 o'clock."

The late P. T. Barnum, whose ability as a financier is well known, in one of his addresses made this challenge: "I will undertake, and give bonds for the fulfillment of the contract, that if the city of Philadelphia will stop selling liquor and give me as much as was expended there for liquor last year, I will pay all the city expenses; no person living within her borders shall pay taxes; there shall be no insurance on property; a good dress and suit shall be given to every poor boy, girl, man and woman; all the educational expenses shall be paid; a barrel of flour given to every needy and worthy person and I will clear a half million dollars by the operation."

The Inebriate Becomes the Insane.

Dr. Crothers, of Hartford, Conn., who has had long experience in the management of institutions for the inebriate and insane says that "inebriety is the active cause of from fifteen to fifty per cent. of all insanity; from thirty to eighty per cent. of all idiocy; from sixty to ninety per cent. of all pauperism, and from fifty to eighty-five per cent. of all crime," and then asks the question, "Who can estimate the relief of the tax payers by the removal of the perils to both property and life from drunkenness?"

Shingling his own roof.

Chaplain McCabe tells the story of a drinking man who being in a saloon late at night, heard the wife of the saloon keeper say to her husband, "Send that fellow home; it is late." No, never mind," replied her husband, "he is shingling our house for us." This idea lodged in the mind of the drunkard, and he did not return to the saloon for six months. When passing the saloon keeper in the streets, the latter said, "Why don't you come around to my place any more?" "Thank you for your kind hospitality," replied the former victim, "I have been shingling my own roof lately." The industrial aspect of the temperance reform is embodied in this illustration.—Temperance Advocate.

Right to the Point.

Destroy the whiskey habit or it will destroy you.

I oppose drink because it opposes me. The work I try to do it undoes.—Bishop C. D. Fors.

The great cause of social crime is drink. The great cause of poverty is drink.—Bishop John Ireland.

"No drink, no drink." None made, none can be had.

How will you build up sentiment by keeping your mouth shut? A closed trap can't catch flies.

Some people believe that whiskey will be drunk even if it is not made.

Ten Reasons for Signing the Pledge

1. It is your protest against strong drink.
2. It will benefit your health.
3. It will save your purse.
4. It will save you from temptation.
5. It will be a definite starting point in your history.
6. It will save you time.
7. It will be a sufficient answer to those who tempt you to drink.
8. It makes a strong obligation.
9. It makes it easier for others to do the same.
10. It will be a great help to your neighbor and weaker brother.

TIT FOR TAT.

"Hullo, little girl! Will you tell me the news?"

For I haven't had time to examine the papers,

And I'm anxious to know how a tiny mite views

The ubiquitous blot of political capers.

"Has anything happened that's funny or queer?"

Do you favor the party they claim is elected?"

Are the words of the editor, think you, sincere?"

Has the weather come around as the bureau expected?"

"Is it true Lobengula the king's really dead?"

Have the rogues of the 'Lib,' turned at last in contrition?"

And do you not fear you must stand on your head

To read with your paper in that strange position?"

"Oh, ess, I will tell oo the news," she exclaimed,

And thus from the paper inverted she read:

"The wicked old sparrow,

Wif his bow an his arrew,

Has shooted that poor little Cock Robin dead.

"An' en," she continued, "the awfulest fmg

Has happened. You never could guess if you'd try.

Poor little Jack Horner

He sat in the corner

An' there wasn't a plum to be foun' in the pie.

"An' dis is the reason poor doggie got none:

"Old Towser," she read, "was the victim of theft,

Tause old Murver Hubbard

She went to the cupboard,

An she eated and eated till nuffin was left.

"An' Little Boy Blue went wif Little Bopeep

To see the old lady that lived in a shoe,

Wif little Miss Netticoat

In her white petticoat,

An' the longer she stood, why, the shorter she grew.

"An' Daffy-down-dilly has come into town,

An' Tom, Tom, wif piggy is off on a run,

An' I'll tell oo a story

About Jack and Menory,

An' now I dess, mister, my story is done."

—Lippincott's.

To Be Expected.

The "new woman" orator was becoming eloquent.

"Shall we permit man, our former tyrant," she demanded, "to flaunt in our faces forever that which shall serve to remind us of our days of docile and servitude?"

Intense excitement and cries of "Never!" "Never!"

"Let us wipe out all that savors of that past life!" cried the orator. "Let us blot out the memory of it for all time!"

Cries of "Hear! hear!"

"Let us put the Goddess of Liberty in bloomers this very day!" shouted the orator, in conclusion, and the shout that went up nearly wrecked the building.—Chicago Post.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE.

Hints Which May Be Useful to Busy Women.

Very light sunshiny rooms can bear Indian and Pompeian reds in draperies and colorings. They have a cool effect even in midsummer.

The green coat so fashionable in oak may be given to it by using a satin of lampblack, mixed with linseed oil and turpentine. Rub the stain well into the grain of the wood, and finish with orange shellac. The shellac will change the black to green. Ash may be stained a dark green in the same way.

A novelty in the house of a woman who can afford to indulge in such novelties is a boudoir with the walls covered with rose pink crepe paper. The covering of each panel is gathered in the center under a large American beauty rose, made of flower paper, but so perfect that it looks as if fresh from a greenhouse.

The meringue on pies and puddings, which should be a dainty foam several inches high, is often but a crust of leather, produced by too hot an oven. After making a meringue it should be spread roughly but evenly over the surface of a pie or pudding that is nearly but not quite cold. Turn the heat off your oven and bake it about 20 minutes. When finished it should be a delicate brown. Professional makers of fine pastry dry or cook meringues in a very slow oven from half to three-quarters of an hour, and then brown them slightly with a salamander.

Dessert and tea services, or, in fact, china of any kind that is ornamented with gold, should never be washed with soda in the water. The safest plan to prevent chipping the edges is to have a clean wooden tub with a cloth in the bottom; in this put hot water and a piece of soap; rub the soap on a brush or with the hand to make a good lather, wash the china in the lather, and rinse in clear, warm water; then stand it on cloths spread on a table to drain, or in one of the wooden drainers specially prepared for the purpose. Wipe on a clean tea-cloth; then, when quite dry, polish the gold by rubbing it well with a dry soft wash-leather.

Pretty everyday dollies are made from those of the fine hemstitched linen sold in the stores, with a border of two rows of feather stitching in white silk next the hem. If, in addition, an edge of fine durable lace, such as torchon, is added, they are nice enough for everything except state occasions.

A desirable out of door wrap for the house-worker may be made large and loose, reaching to the knees, with big sleeves and a hood attached. This can easily be slipped on over the dress when there are windows to wash, clothes to hang on the line, or other out of door work to be done in cold or chilly weather.

The best cleanser for sponges is a strong solution of borax, in the proportion of a tablespoonful to a pint of hot water. It will not only cleanse the sponge, but disinfect it, destroying all micro-germs or parasites. —Chicago Inter Ocean.

TOLD HIM TO HOLLER.

Representative Bailey Found a Very Obedient Claqué.

Representative Bailey is one of the most picturesque figures in congress. He affects constitutional law, wears a broad expanse of shirt front, tosses a mass of wavy black hair and glories in a sweeping Texas sombrero. Mr. Bailey's boast is that Texas congressional districts are as big as New England states. He is the subject of a story and it would be wrong to tell who is the author of it, as Mr. Bailey is a hot-blooded man. The story is that when Mr. Bailey first entered public life in Texas he was comparatively unknown. He was anxious to forge to the front, however, and to make himself heard on every occasion. A large meeting was to be held in a neighboring town. Bailey went to it on horseback. He fell in with a traveler, and in the course of conversation about speakers, remarked: "Did you ever hear of Bailey?" The yokel replied that he had not. Well, said Bailey, "he is a good speaker, and is going to be there to-day. If you get a chance, yell for him and you will get a speech worth listening to." The traveler promised. The meeting came off, and several speakers were heard. Finally there was a lull, and then some one in the audience began to yell: "B-a-i-l-e-y! B-a-i-l-e-y!" The master of ceremonies turned to Bailey and led him to the rostrum. Bailey started to speak, but the shouters continued to yell "B-a-i-l-e-y!" Bailey stopped. The master of ceremonies said, genially: "If our friend will keep still Mr. Bailey will continue his address. The gentleman speaking is Mr. Bailey." The only reply to this was a howl of disgust from the man who had been making all the noise, and he blurted out: "Why, that's the long-haired galoot that told me to holler for Bailey!" —N. Y. Tribune.

A Possibility.
Carson—Wouldn't it be a awful thing for Henpeck if his wife died?
Vokes—Not so very, unless she died by accident.
Carson—By accident! What difference would that make?
Vokes—Well, if she had time before dying she would tell him how her funeral was to be conducted, what he was to do during the remainder of his life, and appoint a place to meet him on the other side of Jordan.—Truth.

Coffure Ornaments.

Some of the new Parisian novelties in hair mounts are very beautiful—off the head at least. A bunch of luscious scarlet cherries is attached to a gold pin that is to be thrust through the knot at the back of the head, letting the cherries droop slightly just above and behind the ear. Fruit in the hair, however, under any guise of enamel and metal, is not to be commended. Its incongruity is obvious. We have accepted it on our bonnets, where its use is less distasteful than the plumage of murdered birds, but in the coiffure the association is not acceptable. French women regard their hair ornaments with great attention and take as much care to suitably complete the coiffure toilet as that of the corsage. Steel, jet, gilt and silver ornaments are especially suited to dark hair. Fair-haired women could wear amber and clear tortoise shell. For evening wear, jeweled ornaments are properly much worn. Except against a beautiful neck there is no part of a woman's toilet where gems may be so well displayed as in the hair. —St. Louis Republic.

Small Fruit Salad.

The salad is made by stripping the fruit from the stalks and piling it high on a dish and sprinkling it over with powdered sugar. This may be done with strawberries, raspberries, currants or any small fruits mixed. After the sugar is well dissolved, cover over all six large tablespoons of wine or brandy, or three tablespoons of liquor, and when the flavor is all that is desired, a little powdered cinnamon should be added. In keeping to this salad, the fruit should be lightly stirred, so that wine and sugar should be equally distributed. Any of these fruits can be made into a palatable dish separately or together, as taste dictates. —Boston Globe.

Appallingly Near.

Our fair city came appallingly near lying in ruins last night.

A fire broke out in an ash barrel in the rear of the residence of our fellow-townsmen, Mr. Balaam B. Binns, and had it not been for the fact that the ash barrel was situated about 100 feet from any other building and that there was no wind blowing and it was raining, and had not Mr. Binns discovered the fire and put it out in its incipency, it might have been our sad duty to-day to record a frightful conflagration such as the city has never known and such as we pray heaven it may never know. —Bossville Banner, quoted in the N. Y. World.

The large plantations of the Old South are doomed. Of course rich men who can afford to farm on a large scale will still hold large tracts of land, but the small farmer is seeing the folly of attempting to hold on to a thousand acres when one hundred is all that he can utilize. Large farms can only be successfully run by careful management backed by ample capital, while the small farm, which enables the farmer to thoroughly cultivate instead of scratch over as he did when he had a larger tract, will pay and pay well. This section will never gain its proper degree of prosperity until fifty and one hundred acre farms of well cultivated land will be the rule of our agriculturists.—Durham Star.
