SPRING & SUMMER

For three months prior to the opening of the Spring season we did vigorous and active work squeezing out from the various stock everything not quite up to date in point of present fashions. That policy was wisest, as results fully show. Our store is now full of the epic and span Novelties of the current period.

Silks, Hosiery,
Dress Goods,
Trimmings,
Suits, Gloves,
Shirt Waists,
Skirts, Ribbons,
Neckwear,
Laces, Linens,

MONDAY'S FIRE.

What the Loss of the Mill Means to
Greenville—Can the Town Afford
Not to See it Rebuilt.

The REFLECTOR was not far out of the way in placing the loss caused by the burning of the Greenville Lumber Co's plant at $50,000. We regret to know, however, that there was only $10,500 insurance on the entire property, which was entirely for the benefit of creditors, and this leaves a heavy loss on Messrs. Hines & Hamilton. Everything was swept so clean that there is no prospect of the mill being rebuilt, in fact Mr. Hines told us Monday evening that all they had was lost and they had nothing to rebuild with. This is a sad calamity unfortunate to the town as well as these gentlemen.

The truth of the situation is that this total destruction of the mill is really a more serious blow to Greenville than the big fire on February 16th that destroyed so many of our business houses. The aggregate loss then was far more than now, but it was so divided that the losses did not fall so heavily on individuals, and as soon as insurance adjustments were made rebuilding started at once. But in this instance the loss falls upon a single enterprise, and so cripples it that it cannot rebuild unaided.

An important question that should be considered is can Greenville afford for the mill not to be rebuilt? Again, can't the business men of the town hold out such inducements to these gentlemen as will enable them to rebuild their plant. Think for a moment what advantage this mill has been to the town. By its destruction 65 men are thrown out of employment, and these represented a weekly pay roll of between $300 and $400. A large number of the employees were men of families, and if the mill is not rebuilt they will have to go elsewhere to find employment.

And this is not all. Greenville has been dependent largely upon this mill for supplies of lumber to keep its building operations in progress. With this source of supply cut off it is easy to see that the advancement of the town in the way of new building will be retarded. So it is greatly to the interest of Greenville to take such steps as will secure the rebuilding of the mill. If necessary let a public meeting be held looking to this end.

A Slick Forger.

Sometime ago a negro named Alfred Hilliard was placed in jail for assaulting an officer. The negro had some money—$14—which he was afraid to take in jail with him and sent it to Mr. O. Hooker to take care of for him. It seems that another negro named Walter Smith who was in jail for a shorter term learned something about the money, and when he was released from prison made up his mind to finger some of that money. So Saturday an order for $7 with Hilliard's name signed to it was handed to Mr. Hooker. Nothing wrong was suspected and the money was handed over. Monday another order for $4, written in the same hand was presented to Mr. Hooker, and this time it flashed across his mind that the orders might be forged. Before paying this second one he went over to the jail to investigate and found that Hilliard had sent no order to him at all. While Mr. Hooker was making this investigation the fellow who forged the orders disappeared in the woods just below town.

The New Era is the name of a new weekly paper just started at Wilmington. B. E. Keith is associate editor and publisher.

Oakley Items.

OAKLEY, N. C., May 11th, 1896.

Mr. Editor, did you ever have la Grippe? If you did you can sympathize with our people. Pretty near every family is prostrate with it.

D. S. Powell, of Parmele, was here Saturday.

Crops of all kinds are looking well, good stand of corn and cotton.

Weather favorable and much work being done.

Many of our people attended church at Briery Swamp Sunday.

Bethel Items.

BETHEL, N. C., May 11, 1896.

Mrs. W. W. Andrews and daughter went to Tarboro Sunday.

W. C. Nelson was the recipient of a fine girl this morning. He is smiling pleasantly today.

Rev. Albert Barnes preached at the Bullock school house Sunday evening. He also filled his pulpit in the M. E. church here Sunday morning and night.

A. Ward is suffering with a lame foot. He stuck a nail in it last week.

We learn that Jesse James, son of M. A. James, is very sick.

Whichard Items.

WHICHARD, N. C., May 11, 1896.

The weather is warmer again and crops are doing well. The cultivation of corn, cotton and tobacco is progressing.

There was a large crowd at Briery Swamp Sunday.

Henry T. Brown, of Martin, spent Sunday and Sunday night in this section.

J. H. Small, of Washington, spent Friday here looking after legal business.

Dame "Rumor" tells a great many stories, but if she is correct this time a marriage may be reported from here at no very distant date.

A. W. Baker is quite sick with fever.

Hardeeville Items.

HARDEVILLE, N. C., May 11, '96.

The weather has been right cool for the past few days.

Most of the farmers are through setting out tobacco.

Mrs. E. Hardee spent Friday with the family of Herbert Ormond, at Ormondsville.

Mrs. Jennie Hardee and daughter, Miss Cora, spent Friday afternoon with Mrs. N. H. Bedard.

Herbert Ormond is the happiest man at Ormondsville. It's a boy.

We are glad to say that Whitmel Hardee is so that he can be up again.

Little Robert Heath, the son of Louis Heath, died Thursday evening from congestive chill. Many sympathize with the bereaved family.

There was a picnic Saturday at Hookerton.

J. F. Barwick, of Grifton, was here Friday begging tobacco plants. He said he thought most of his begging was in vain.

Little Miss Ada Tucker, of near Greenville, has been visiting friends and relatives at this place for several weeks. She returned home Saturday.

Shipments by Water.

Today some of our tobacco men made a shipment of twenty-five hogsheds of tobacco to Richmond by water. They find freights much cheaper that way and there is not but about a days difference in the time of delivery.

TUESDAY, MAY 12TH, 1896.
Going 'a Fishing.

The reservoir pond and creek banks are lined these days with fisher lads and lasses, to say nothing of gray beards and grizzled heads. It would surprise you to know the number of people who try their luck at beguiling the fishy cat and toothsome perch, not to mention the smaller fry, to come forth and nibble the bait of worms and "sich."

One of the surprising things in connection with going 'a fishing is the amount of patience and persistence it develops in the average man. We have known men who were ready to dance an Irish jig all over the premises, when their wives happened to keep them waiting a minute or two for their meals, who will sit for hours in the sun on the hard, bare ground, or the jagged surface of an old log, waiting for a fish to come their way.

If the amount of patience that is expended on fishing were developed in other channels, people would have no further need for nervines and other agitation soothing drugs to quiet the nerves that the hurry and worry of business upsets so frequently nowadays.

So, perhaps, going 'a fishing is the best spring tonic a man can take as it gives him an opportunity to fill his lungs with fresh air, it drives away dull care, the blues are forgotten in the excitement of a good catch and the mind lets go for a time the perplexing problems of business and politics. If you have nothing pressing just now take a day off and go fishing. It is warranted to do you good.—Durham Sun.

Once Wealthy But Fills a Pauper's Grave.

There died at the county poor house yesterday a woman who 30 years ago wore silks and satins and looked from her carriage window as it rolled by her broad acres of fertile soil at the dozens of slaves who moved at her beck. Her name was Mrs. Rebecca McNeely and her life for the past 20 years has been a struggle and a hopeless, crushing sorrow. Before the war she owned hundreds of acres in Rowan county and she lived in luxury. But with the defeat of the Confederacy came adversities in fortune and year after year her remaining pittance dwindled away. Mrs. McNeely had no relatives in this county save one married daughter, who lived near her old home at Mill Bridge.

But her daughter did not seem disposed to provide for her, so one day last year the poor old creature plodded her way to the poor house to spend the remainder of her days off the charity of the county. It was hard for the old woman in her 75th year to have no home to shelter her head, but there was no alternate.

There is truth stranger than fiction in the history of this county home inmate's life, which if recorded from the days of her pride and wealth to the pauper's grave in which her mortal remains were laid, would fill a volume made up of all the shades of life.—Salisbury Herald.

Who are the Twelve Best Known North Carolinians?

Raleigh News and Observer: A concern in New York wrote yesterday to a gentleman in Raleigh asking for the names of the twelve best known people in North Carolina, writing that "by best known, we mean the names that would be recognized or remembered by the largest number of people."

The gentleman gave the following list: Julian S. Carr, Durham; Thos. J. Jarvis, Greenville; Matthew, W. Ransom, Minister to Mexico; Geo. T. Winston, Chapel Hill; Washington Duke, Durham; A. B. Andrews, Raleigh; John C. Kilgo, Durham; Charles E. Taylor, Wake Forest; Walter Clark, Raleigh; O. H. Dockery, Rockingham; Charles D. Melver, Greensboro.

Original Observations.

The man in love with himself never has a rival.

Where there's a will there's always a won't.

The cattle raiser now prepares to shed his steers.

It hurts a man pretty badly sometimes to fall into an error.

Look not upon the wine when red unless you want an aching head.

You are not needed at college now unless you take the base ball course.

The natural supply of gratuitous advice always largely exceeds the legitimate demand.

He serves his country best who don't steal everything he gets his hands on while in office.

Some people live so completely off of their neighbors that they never sing except in a borrow tone voice.

It is when a woman tries to whistle that the great glory of her mouth is seen without being very much heard.—Orange (Va) Observer.

Yes, We're Growing Old.

There is a time in the life of every individual when a circus constitutes the acme of enjoyment pure and undefiled. No champagne in after life ever proved the intoxicating draught as did those early libations of red circus lemonade and no dissipation in maturity ever came up to the exhilarating pastime of feeding peanuts to the elephant. But when in after years we find that circus seats are hard and trying on the spine, when the clown's jokes fail to move our risibles of mirth, when the animals look no more ferocious to our stated optics than our next door neighbor's Thomas cat, when the glare and glitter and spangles begin to loom up dim and tawdry, then are we most forcibly reminded that time has crept on apace and, in adding to our annual milestones, he has stolen away our capacity for youthful pleasure as embodied in the circus.—Durham Sun.

OUTLOOK FOR DEMOCRACY.

Col. Julian S. Carr was in Raleigh a short time yesterday, returning to Durham from Southern Pines. He expressed himself greatly pleased with his trip.

"It was not so much what I heard in the convention that impressed me," he said, "but the wonderful development of Southern Pines and the surrounding section. The progress there has been amazing. Land that a few years ago went begging at sixty-five cents an acre now brings from $20 to $30. The culture of the grape and the peach is fast transforming the section into a combination of vineyard and nursery. It is already developing into a great section."

"How are the political skies?" I asked the gentleman from Durham whose name is now so frequently mentioned for Governor.

"I think the situation is clearing up vastly the last few weeks," he replied. "Everybody is more hopeful and the Democrats are becoming sanguine of success. I am thoroughly convinced that if the National convention at Chicago nominates a silver candidate we will sweep the State. And I think the silver men will surely control that convention, nominate the candidate, and write the platform. The chances of the silver men controlling at Chicago and sweeping the State are ten to seven in our favor.

"Another help to the Democratic party in the State is the disgraceful proceedings in the Republican conventions now being held, the rows that have prevailed, and the pandering to the negroes and loading up colored delegations. The people of the State are thoroughly disgusted with it all. It brings back to them the days of '69 and '70 and is a stench in the nostrils of all decent men."—Raleigh News and Observer.

The Execution of Holmes.

Seldom is the execution of a criminal a matter of such intense satisfaction as that of H. H. Holmes, in Philadelphia, last Thursday morning.

Never did the scaffold perform a better day's work or vindicate more nobly the cause of outraged humanity.

Though few were so credulous as to believe the story of his marvelous confession, which appeared in the newspapers of the country several weeks ago, no one doubted that he was a most accomplished artist in his line of work and that perhaps the only reason which renders it impossible for him to have committed all the deeds which he acknowledges in his confession is that Satan himself would have manifested more compassion.

After shocking the refined instincts of society by his alleged confession he was bold enough to declare his innocence on the scaffold and to protest against the taking of his life.

The only regret about the matter is that a common execution was too good for such a criminal.—Atlanta Constitution.

A man mortgaged his farm to buy some diamond earrings for his wife. The wife took in washing to pay for the interest on the mortgage, but on the first job she lost one of the "sparks" in the suds whereupon, she tried to hang herself in the barn, but the rope broke and she fell on a Jersey cow worth $150 and broke its back. Her husband undertook to shoot the cow to put her out of her misery, but the gun busted and destroyed both his eyes and the wife ran away with a lightning rod peddler. The mortgage is still on deck and bids fair to live to ripe old age.—Ex.

FASHION AND FANCY.

Various Articles for the Feminine Wardrobe.

While many ladies do not like to order their standard suits very early in the season, as, toward the end of April, new styles may appear, they may with perfect safety arrange for all the accessories and minor items of their wardrobe for the entire summer.

The petticoat is an important factor in fashionable dressing. One may have dress skirts made with lighter material for linings and with less bulky and cumbersome fittings than heretofore, provided a suitable petticoat is secured. There are firm and reliable makes of haircloth that stand out under the weight of all skirts of ordinary fabric. With skirts made on this plan, one well-made petticoat serves for the entire outfit for street costumes. These may be in gray or black haircloth, and should be fitted with the utmost nicety. For evening dresses a white haircloth one answers the same purpose. Silk petticoats are in very general use, although many ladies who have worn them for years are making up fine, firm qualities of moreen, and like them very much better. There is a certain springiness to the moreen petticoat that one does not find in silk, which, unless very carefully cut, is likely to wind around one's ankles and make walking a weariness rather than a pleasure.

As to white petticoats, the variety and elegance of the importers' stock are simply bewildering. They remind one of the old-fashioned christening dress of an infant, such masses of tucks, puffs, ruffles, lace and embroidery are they. There is a fancy among exceedingly dainty and fastidious women for making petticoats of fine nainsook and finishing them with a single wide hem-stitched hem. Another favorite model is made on the Spanish flounce idea. Half of the length of the skirt is gored, the remaining portion being set on of straight breadths. This may have a hem-stitched hem or a plain one with a narrow flounce of lace. In all cases the hem should be the full width of the flounce, as it is much more desirable if the flounce is sewed through more than one thickness of the fabric.

While the chemise is a part of all well-kept underwear stocks, the knitted vest, either in gossamer, silk or wool, is much more generally worn. It absorbs the perspiration in summer, fits the figure without wrinkles and is by many thought to allow of a much better fit of the dress waist. At all events, it has become a standard article of wear, and is so much approved that there must be a good reason for its continuance. The gossamer vest is also worn as a corset cover, and is by many preferred to those made of muslin except for dressy wear. The bicycle has had much to do with modifying certain articles of apparel. The corset waist and the hygienic waist have become so important for wheelwomen that it is fondly hoped that much better shapes will be furnished than heretofore. Many of those in use, while they have points of advantage in bust, waist and hip shapes, have such exceedingly awkward and uncomfortable shoulder straps that they cannot be tolerated. A number of makes have a strap so arranged as to bunch out just above the shoulder blades, absolutely spoiling the figure and suggesting wing bones, which, while they may be desirable from an esthetic point of view, are not particularly ornamental when they push out into the back of one's dress waist.

Hosiery for the coming season is to be divided equally between black and colors. Every woman has a certain number of black hose for standard, but equally, if she desires to be stylish, she must have those of various light colors, and should have at least one pair to match each dressy costume. The boot hose, those with black feet and ankles and fancy tops, are best liked. The new all-black hose, with very wide, extremely elastic tops, are becoming the wheelwoman's favorite. With these long hose and very short, full drawers of black goods, many women and themselves sufficiently well equipped as to underwear.

Manufacturers are struggling with the subject of union suits, but up to date the ideal model has not appeared. Women who have tried them complain that the underwear draws and pulls and makes them uncomfortable. They are scarcely able to tell why, but all the same, very few of them like it. This is a pity, as the union suit, if properly constructed, would be of immense advantage to wheelwomen and those who are inclined to be stout. It will be necessary to make them on entirely new lines, if they are to meet with any permanent popularity. They are endurable for extremely thin people, but lack bust fullness and sufficient room to fit the curves of the figure.

Cannon Ball's Wonderful Flight.

The most careful experiments ever made on the flight of a cannon ball were those conducted by the English authorities in the jubilee year. The experiment was made with a 22-ton gun, and it was found that a ball fired from this monster made a flight of 128 1/2 feet over 12 miles before it struck the ground. Careful timing with an improved chronometer proved that the ball was 69 1/2 seconds making the 12-mile journey and that the highest point it attained was 17,000 feet above the earth's surface.

CATARRH. THE DAILY REFLECTOR.

His Worst Enemy Defeated by
P. P. P., Lippman's
Great Remedy.

FOR THREE YEARS HE SUFFERED--COULD

HARDLY BREATHE AT NIGHT--ONE

NOSTRIL CLOSED FOR 10 YEARS.

Mr. A. M. Ramsey, of DeLeon, Texas, was a sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form. Truly, his description of his sufferings seem little short of marvelous. Instead of seeking his couch, glad for the night coming, he went to it with terror, realizing that another long, weary, wakeful night and a struggle to breathe was before him. He could not sleep on either side for two years. P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, cured him in quick time.

DE LEON, TEXAS.
Messrs. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga.
Gents: I have used nearly four bottles of P. P. P. I was afflicted from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet. Your P. P. P. has cured my difficulty of breathing, smothering, palpitation of the heart, and has relieved me of all pain. One nostril was closed for ten years, but now I can breathe through it readily. I have not slept on either side for two years; in fact, I dreaded to see night come. Now I sleep soundly in any position all night. I am 50 years old, but expect soon to be able to take hold of the plow handles. I feel glad that I was lucky enough to get P. P. P., and I heartily recommend it to my friends and the public generally.

Yours respectfully,
A. M. RAMSEY
THE STATE OF TEXAS--County of Comanche--Before the undersigned authority on this day, personally appeared A. M. Ramsey, who, after being duly sworn, says on oath that the foregoing statement made by him relative to the virtue of P. P. P. medicine is true.
Sworn to and subscribed before me this August 4th, 1891.
J. M. LAMBERT, N. P.,
Comanche County, Texas.

Catarrh Cured by P. P. P.

(Lippman's Great Remedy) where all other remedies failed.
Rheumatism twists and distorts your hands and feet. Its agonies are intense, but speedy relief and a permanent cure is gained by the use of P. P. P.
Woman's weakness, whether nervous or otherwise, can be cured and the system built up by P. P. P. A healthy woman is a beautiful woman.
Pimples, blotches, eczema and all disfigurements of the skin are removed and cured by P. P. P.
P. P. P. will restore your appetite, build up your system and regulate you in every way. P. P. P. removes that heavy, down-in-the-mouth feeling.
For blotches and pimples on the face, take P. P. P.
Ladies, for natural and thorough organic regulation, take P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, and get well at once.
