THE TEACHERS ASSEMBLY.

A Brilliant Session in the Mountains.

(Special Correspondence of Reflector.)

ASHEVILLE, N. C. June 17th, '96.

On last evening at 8:30, the North Carolina Teachers Assembly convened in its 13th Annual Session in the hall of the Asheville Female College. When President Joyner called the Assembly to order, the beautiful hall was filled to its utmost capacity, the immense audience being unable to find standing room. This meeting was only an introductory skirmish preparatory to the great battle of thought and action on to-morrow. On the rostrum, sat the officers and speakers and a large number of prominent educators. The occasion was an auspicious and inspiring one and pushing aside every sign of fear and apprehension as to the success of this session the whole assembly at once laid aside stiff formalities and leaped into the full fruition of hope and assurance.

At the proper time and in a few well chosen remarks the president introduced Hon. Wm. M. Cocke, the young, talented and eloquent Mayor of Asheville. Mr. Cocke is a young man, just passed his majority, full of buoyancy, hope and strength, possessing a strong intellectual face, with easy and graceful manners, a deep resonant voice, and a commanding appearance. As he stepped forward the audience greeted him with generous applause and for several minutes he repaid them with words of an eloquent welcome, that came forth with the fluency and ease of a flowing stream and captured the vast audience. After he finished and the applause had subsided the President said, "We have yet another treat in store for us. In this city there is a patriotic order called the Junior Order of United American Mechanics. The word Mechanic is a misnomer. The order is not a labor organization, nor composed of artisans, but is purely patriotic in its design with a motto "Our Country," and a creed, "restricted immigration and the education of the masses." With a sympathy for our work this order has craved the privilege of extending to the teachers of North Carolina a welcome to this city and has selected as its spokesman J. H. Tucker, Esq. of Asheville."

Mr. Tucker, known to all of our readers, is universally acknowledged to be one of the first, most progressing and promising young lawyers of this elegant Mountain City. The order was fortunate in their selection of spokesman to extend welcome to the Assembly.

Commanding in person, graceful in manner, onate in expression, and fluent in speech, Mr. Tucker more than met the expectation his of hosts of friends here in the city and those present from every portion of North Carolina to whom he is so well and favorably known in extending a truly hearty welcome to the Assembly. His closing remarks, in which in the name the honored dead statesman, Zebulon B. Vance, he welcomed us to this fair land, captured the audience and he received the hearty applause of the evening.

At the conclusion of Mr. Tucker's welcome the president introduced J. B. Carlyle, Professor of Latin in Wake Forest College as the Demosthenes of the North Carolina Teacher's Assembly who would respond to Asheville's welcome in behalf of the Assembly. Those who know Prof. Carlyle can better appreciate the pith and oratory of his remarks. Last night he met the requisites of the occasion. His versatile gifts, his culture, his classic mind, his grace and artistry all combined to capture both the Assembly and Asheville when he stated triumphantly that "Asheville is the greatest and finest city in North Carolina, and the Teacher's Assembly is the greatest and finest body in North Carolina; hence when Asheville and the Teacher's Assembly meet the two greatest things in North Carolina have met." This was a hit that took all parties by storm. His response closed an interesting and pleasant evening—the beginning of what promises to be the best meeting ever held by the North Carolina Teacher's Assembly.

When we have been here longer will write you something about Asheville though a drive through the city from the Depot has impressed me that language will fail to convey what may here be seen. W. H. R.

Feathered Weather Prophets.

Birds and fowls oiling their feathers indicates rain.

When birds cease to sing rain and thunder will probable occur.

Birds flying in groups during rain or wind indicates hail.

Blackbirds bring healthy weather.

Blackbirds' notes are very shrill in advance of rain.

A solitary turkey buzzard at a great altitude indicates rain.

If the rooster crows more than usual, or earlier, expect rain.

Roosters are said to clap their wings in an unusual manner before rain, and hens to run in dust and seem very uneasy.

If the crows make much noise and fly round and round, expect rain.

One crow flying alone is a sign of foul weather, but if crows fly in pairs expect fine weather.

Cuckos hallooing on low lands indicate rain; on high lands, fair weather.

KEEP COOL.

We show the grandest assortment of Fancy Cheviot Business Suits ever brought to Greenville. A superb collection of the choicest patterns and fabrics in ultra fashionable styles. Beautiful broken plaids, indistinct plaids, neat pin checks, fancy Clay weaves, silk mintures pin dots—the colorings, cut and the make all of the latest merchant tailor kind—the price of which is very low down.

HATS! A nice line of Straw Hats still left to select from. Your own price not refused.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 19th, '96.

President Cleveland's letter stating that he, "as an unflinching Democrat who has been honored by his party and who desires hereafter no greater political privilege than to occupy the place of private in its ranks," could not have been surprising to readers of this correspondence, in which it was positively stated, by authority, many months ago that President Cleveland was not and would not be a candidate before the Chicago convention, and that he would whenever he deemed such action desirable write a letter to that effect. What was stated then has now come to pass. That letter has been written. It was not surprising, either, in view of Mr. Cleveland's consistent opposition to silver, that he should have used that letter to make a fresh attack upon the free coinage of silver. There is a very decided difference of opinion among Democrats as to what, if any, effect the President's letter will have upon the Chicago convention, and only time will tell which are right. Republicans say they will use the letter as a campaign document if the Chicago convention adopts a free silver platform.

Secretary Lamont probably talks as little to the public ear as any man in public life, but he has a way of accomplishing what he starts out to do that many more talkative men lack. When Secretary Lamont wrote a letter opposing the bill to revive the grade of Lieutenant General of the army in order that Gen. Miles might be promoted thereto, and giving the reasons for his opposition, many supposed that Congress being anti-administration in both branches would pass the bill just because the administration didn't want it passed. But your Uncle Daniel knew better. If anybody will take the trouble to hunt it down that Miles will be found in a committee-room pigeon-hole, nicely covered with dust and cobwebs, and there it will probably remain. You couldn't persuade Secretary Lamont to say a word about it now. He got what he wanted and that ends it with him.

Representative Amos Cummings is admittedly an authority on New York politics. While in Washington this week he said: "I am sanguine that New York will go Democratic this year, it matters not what the Chicago convention does on the financial question. The people of New York state are thoroughly disgusted with the reform administrations that have produced the Baines bill and other monstrosities of legislation. They are mad all the way through and 90 per cent of them are more interested in turning down a party that encroaches on their liberties and brings back an era of blue law and puritanism than in the platform of a National Convention."

Mr. W. G. Conrad, a banker and cattleman, of Montana, and a good Democrat, says of the political situation in that state: "The Democrats can carry the State for a silver candidate for the Presidency, and if they combine with the Populists, which they probably will, they can elect the Governor easily. They might carry the legislature, too, but that would not be of supreme importance seeing that no United States Senator is to be chosen by that body. Gov. Boies seems to be the favorite Presidential candidate out our way; at least we hear more about him than of the rest. If he gets the nomination there is no doubt of his getting Montana's electoral vote."

Never was the result of a National Convention received in Washington with more apathy than that of the one which has just been held at St. Louis. Of course, when one stops to think, that is not difficult to account for. People do not enthuse over the announcement of a cut and dried affair, and the only thing that was ever for a moment in doubt about that convention was who would be the candidate for Vice President. Czar Reed remained in Washington to hear the news, and it he would only tell what he thinks about it—but he won't. Democrats do not regard the ticket nominated at St. Louis as a strong one. On the contrary, they think it would have been difficult for the convention to have picked out one that would have been weaker. Aside from the enmity of the Republican leaders because of the methods adopted by Mark Hanna, McKinley will fail to get the votes of many Republicans who regard him as a one-dea man. The bolt of silver Republicans because of the financial plank of the platform makes it doubtful whether McKinley can carry a single western state. In short, it is the opinion of the best informed Democrats that if the Democrats can't beat McKinley they could not beat anybody, and that the Republicans have added very largely to the chances for Democratic success.

PROFITABLE PUBLIITY.

The Business Bringing Value of Local Newspaper Advertising.

BY NATH'L C. FOWLER, JR., DOCTOR OF PUBLIITY.

(Copyright, 1896, by Nath'l C. Fowler, Jr., Tribune Building, New York.

The local paper is for local readers. It reaches nobody else, and is confined to the people of the town or city, and of the surrounding country.

Its readers live within a few miles of its place of issue, and depend upon the local stores for everything they eat and drink, for about everything they wear, and for nearly everything they use.

The circulars mailed, or delivered, to the local homes, or distributed upon the street, may and may not be read, but the local advertisement in the local newspaper is read, because the newspaper is read.

Ninety-nine per cent. of the families read the newspapers, and one hundred per cent. of everybody, with brains and money enough to buy anything, are regular readers or local papers.

The great magazine is appreciated; the story paper is read; but frequently they are skipped, and occasionally the subscription runs out; but no self-respecting man, or woman, misses any issue of the local paper, for every item in that paper, and every advertisement, has a direct bearing upon local life, local necessity, and local interest.

The local newspaper is the only medium that is indispensable to the family and to the man and woman of home and character.

The local newspaper enters the home, and may be the only medium read and re-read by every member of the family.

The advertisement in the local newspaper, per copy printed, is worth from twice to ten times as much as any in other method of local advertising.

Other mediums may be of value; advertising in the local newspaper must be of value.

The advertisement not only connects possible customers with sellers but it brings probable customers into direct touch with the goods advertised.

All local advertisers may not be successful, but there never was a successful retailer who wasn't an extensive advertiser in local newspapers.

A subscriber writes us to know if we ever saw a bald woman. No we never have, nor have we seen a woman sitting about town in her shirt sleeves with a cigar in her mouth. We have seen her though with a pipe in her mouth. We have never seen a woman go fishing with a bottle of whiskey in her hip pocket and sit on the wet ground all day and come home drunk at night, nor have we ever seen a woman yank off her coat and roll up her sleeves and say she could whip any man in town. God bless her, though she is meaner than man.—Green County Standard.

The Parson—I beg pardon you are a commercial traveler, and as we are publishing a little Temperance here, the Temperance Clarion, I thought perhaps your house might give us an advertisement.

The Traveler—Why, certainly; put us down for a page I'll send you the copy by mail.

"Thank you. What generous firm do you travel for?"

"Oh, I travel for a St. Louis whiskey house."

Good Enough for Her, Too.

The resources of a properly trained Biddy are practically inexhaustible. A short time ago I bought some very expensive hothouse grapes for a member of the family who had been sick, but they were not fancied at the time, and I asked the maid to take them away. The next morning I went to her and told her to take the fruit to the sick room.

"Sure, ma'am, Oi can't. 'Tis meself thought ye wanted them throw'd away!" with the peculiarly stupid look an Irish girl puts on and takes off with ease.

"Thrown away, Bridget!" I exclaimed angrily. "How could you be so stupid? Don't you know that kind of grapes is awfully expensive?"

"Don't be put out, ma'am," Bridget said, soothingly. "Sure, not one was wasted. Oi ate every good grape meself!"—N. Y. Herald.

FROM THE ORIENT.

Homely Bridegroom Hires Another to Stand in His Place.

A queer Arabian Nights' tale comes from the Punjab. A few weeks ago a party of weavers formed a marriage procession and started for a village in Ferozpoor. The bridegroom was bald and blind of one eye, and his father feared the bride's parents would refuse him, so the weaver advised them to present a barber's boy who was with them as the groom. The barber was dressed in the groom's wedding garments and was accepted. When the marriage was over and they had returned home the weaver demanded his bride, but the barber refused to give her up, and now they have gone to law to settle the question.

ENGLISH POTWALLOPERS.

A Picturesque Survival of One of the Oldest Franchises.

Says the London Globe: "The last of the 'potwallopers' is dead. His name was Richard Atkinson, his age 97, and the scene of his potwallowing glories the ancient borough of Pontefract. The 'potwallower' was a man who acquired the franchise by the extraordinary process of having boiled his own pot in the constituency for six months before the election. As an electoral class they were, as was natural, sublimely corrupt, and were deservedly abolished in 1832. They were, however, a picturesque survival of, probably, the oldest franchise, next to that of the '40-shilling freehold-er.'"

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

—The Schenectady Locomotive works are using for certain parts what is called "stepped iron," a mixture of 70 per cent. good iron and 30 per cent. steel, of which the castings obtained are about 25 per cent. greater in strength than common cast iron.

—North Carolina has a mica output of 100,000 pounds a year. New Hampshire produces about 25,000 pounds, South Dakota 18,000 pounds and New Mexico 1,000 pounds. The mica of North Carolina is of the best quality and brings the highest price.

—Our exports of iron and steel and their products for the first nine months of this year amounted in value to about $32,000,000, the largest by over $4,000,000 in the history of the country. Included in this sum were 135 locomotives, which were mostly sent to South America.

—The world's record for lumber cutting is claimed for the Port Blakely mill of Port Blakely, Wash. During the ten months of this year up to the end of October 83,676,212 feet of lumber had been cut at this one mill, and it is estimated that the total output for 1895 will be at least 105,000,000 feet. Loaded in regular car lots, this amount would make a train more than 60 miles long.

—An apostle of physical culture, according to the Medical Record, says that nervous headache may be cured by the simple act of walking backward for ten minutes. "It is well to get in a long, narrow room, where the windows are high, and walk very slowly, placing first the ball of the foot on the floor, and then the heel. Besides curing the headache, this exercise promotes a graceful carriage."

—"The large part played by alcohol as a cause contributing to insanity receives fresh confirmation in the 40th report of the commissioners in lunacy," says the British Medical Journal. "For the five years ending 1893 alcoholism was the predisposing or exciting cause in 20.8 per cent. of male and 8.1 per cent. of female lunacy. Intemperance is credited with 25.6 per cent. of male and 19.9 per cent. of female general paralytics."

DEER HUNTING BY LOCOMOTIVE

The Reason Some Adirondacks Railroad Men Didn't Feast on Venison.

Once in awhile the engineer of a train on Dr. Seward Webb's Adirondack railroad has a race with a deer. Sometimes it happens that the frightened deer won't leave the track and is killed. One night in September, when Pat Cummings was pulling the through train down to Utica, he walked back to Conductor Clarke, while his fireman was taking water at Nehosene, and said:

"Bill, I killed a deer back there by the river. It was a fine big buck. He run ahead of me for a long piece, and I could see him plain. When I hit him he went up over the pilot higher'n he ever jumped before in his life. I bet. He landed just out there in the ditch, and I had a notion to stop and get him, but I was afraid you'd kick."

"I wish you had stopped," said Clarke. "The next time you catch a deer that way you stop. It won't take so long to get him, and we can easily make up the time. Deer meat is too scarce and too high to let it go like that."

Cummings said he surely would stop the next time, and Clarke got the agent to telegraph to the agent at Horseshoe to send the section men down to the river with their hand car to get the deer. It was after 11 o'clock, but the section men started out, and after a smart pull got down to the river. They looked a long time, but could find no deer. Up and down the track they went, and at last were just about to give up in disgust when one of the men found it. It lay out on the bank of the ditch beside the track. It was a fine large yellow dog.

Now if you ask Pat Cummings if he has killed a deer lately you want to be ready to dodge, and dodge mighty quick, for Pat is a husky citizen.—N. Y. Sun.

Waste of Happiness.

There is nothing which we waste more than happiness. Even those who are thrifty and prudent in other directions are prodigal here. They stint and plan to save a halfpenny, but they are often indifferent about the loss of days of happiness. We do not enjoy our friends until they die or we lose them in some other way. The early spring and summer days pass without our realizing their beauty. We rush through a holiday trip and miss half the scenery, because we are in a hurry, or cross or anxious about worthless trifles. Nearly every old or even middle-aged man who looks back honestly on his life will admit that, however wretched he may be now, opportunities of happiness were given to him. A French writer recorded what most of us know from experience to be true when he said that many people could be made happy with the happiness which is lost in the world. We lose happiness because we often scorn calm, quiet pleasures, and seek only for those that excite. Or we make the mistake of thinking that happiness lies only in big sensational events, instead of in the small, trifling incidents of daily life. Or we seek for it in the future rather than in the present, which is like a man looking for his hat when it is all the time upon his head.—Home Queen.

CATARRH. THE DAILY REFLECTOR.

GIVES YOU THE NEWS FRESH EVERY AFTERNOON (EXCEPT SUNDAY) AND WORKS FOR THE BEST INTERESTS OF—

His Worst Enemy Defeated by

P. P. P., Lippman's
Great Remedy.

FOR THREE YEARS HE SUFFERED—COULD

HARDLY BREATHE AT NIGHT—ONE

NOSTRIL CLOSED FOR 10 YEARS.

Mr. A. M. Ramsey, of DeLeon, Texas, was a sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form. Truly his description of his sufferings seem little short of marvelous. Instead of seeking his couch, glad for the night coming, he went to it with terror, realizing that another long, weary, wakeful night and a struggle to breathe was before him. He could not sleep on either side for two years. P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, cured him in quick time.

DE LEON, TEXAS.
Messrs. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga.
Gents: I have used nearly four bottles of P. P. P. I was afflicted from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet. Your P. P. P. has cured my difficulty of breathing, smothering, palpitation of the heart, and has relieved me of all pain. One nostril was closed for ten years, but now I can breathe through it readily. I have not slept on either side for two years; in fact, I dreaded to see night come. Now I sleep peacefully in any position all night. I am 50 years old, but expect soon to be able to take hold of the plow handles. I feel glad that I was lucky enough to get P. P. P., and I heartily recommend it to my friends and the public generally.
Yours respectfully,
A. M. RAMSEY

THE STATE OF TEXAS—County of Comanche.—Before the undersigned authority on this day, personally appeared A. M. Ramsey, who, after being duly sworn, says on oath that the foregoing statement made by him relative to the virtue of P. P. P. medicine is true.

That Game of Ball.

The Kinston Free Press in speaking of the game of ball between Kinston and Greenville says:
"Last Wednesday the Kinston ball club went to Greenville and "played ball," but not very hard. The Greenville boys were not in "practice," and weren't "in it" even a little bit.

"Most all the Kinston boys played good ball, but Frank Lewis on second, Ben Stanly in the box, and Dunk Morton in the box the last two innings, are worthy of special praise. All know that "Pat" Stanly can play ball with the best of them. Greenville did not score at all the two innings that Morton pitched. Frank Lewis covered himself with glory on second, caught everything that came in reach, and won the hearts of the Greenville girls. * * * "The Greenville people were all nice and clever to our boys, and Kinston hopes to have an opportunity soon of trying to make it pleasant for them here.

"The Greenville DAILY REFLECTOR had a nice account of the game before the train left. Brother Whitchard is a good newspaper man and a "bustler." Our boys like him, if he is red-headed." The REFLECTOR will add that it believes the defeat the Greenville boys met that day was a good thing for them. It put the boys on their mettle, and they have gone to practicing with a determination of showing that they can play ball.

While the colored base ball club was out practicing Friday afternoon, one of the players at the bat caught the ball flat on his mouth. The blow knocked him dead for about ten minutes.

Some drummers who seemed to have more nickels than they know what to do with, amused themselves Friday evening while waiting for the train by throwing them to a crowd of negro boys around the depot and seeing them scramble for the coins.

New Census.

The Free Press says that a new census of Kinston is to be taken at once by direction of the Town Commissioners. The REFLECTOR has tried to awaken an interest here in having a new census of Greenville taken, but no authoritative steps have yet been taken. There ought to be a new census of the town.
