TEACHERS' ASSEMBLY.

Important Matters at the Asheville Session.

MR. EDITOR:—Yesterday I gave you a synopsis of the work done the first two days of the Assembly at its recent session in Asheville. To-day I will continue these sketches.

At the morning session on Friday Mr. C. W. Toms of the graded school at Durham discussed "Art and Manual Training in the Public Schools" in a manner that convinced his hearers that it is a question worthy of their serious consideration.

Prof. N. R. Craighill, of the A. & M. College followed with an elegant paper upon, "The Relation of Technical Training to Intellectual Development."

He has recently come into the state, but has already impressed himself upon the people as an important factor in our educational interest.

"The Relation of Technical Training to Material Development" was presented by B. R. Lacy, Commissioner of Labor Statistics, and D. A. Tompkins of the Tompkins Manufacturing Company of Charlotte. They are practical business men and treated the subject along this line.

Following this Prof. Charles E. Brewer, of Wake Forest College discussed "The Value of Science Study for Material Development." He exhibited research and thought in his admirably prepared paper.

Dr. Henry Louis Smith, Prof. of Physics, Davidson College, gave a talk on the subject; "The Culture Afforded by Science Study." He is probably the most cultured and ready man of the Assembly, and no man appears before it who is listened to with more interest. He does not read a paper prepared upon the question but discusses it almost without notes. We would commend him as an example for all those who accept places on the programme.

"The Unity of Education" was to have been discussed at night by Dr. Kilgo, President of Trinity College. He was unavoidably absent and many regrets were expressed that he could not be heard upon this subject.

Miss Belle Kearey, of Miss., who is lecturer for the W. C. T. U. occupied the evening and gave us one of the best talks (I mean public) I ever heard by a woman. The Assembly passed a resolution endorsing heartily her work.

Saturday was devoted to sight seeing and an excursion to Vanderbilt's farm. If I were to attempt a description of his place and its surroundings I should fail to convey even a faint conception of what it is. No artist or writer can picture it upon paper. To know what it is you must see it, and with this remark we must content ourselves for the present. Later we may give some faint glimpses of what it is or will be, the loveliest place on earth.

In our next we will complete our brief synopsis of the programme, followed by some impressions of the Assembly and its work. W. H. R.

Matters Of Interest Over the State.

The Democrats of the Fifth district nominated W. W. Kitchen for Congress.

One hundred and twenty-five teachers were at the opening of the summer school at Chapel Hill.

The Democrats of the Fourth District nominated E. W. Poff for Congress.

DE MELON MIGHTY SWEET.

De new moon gone roun' de graveyard bend,
En de watchman lef' he beat;
En I hopes dis night dat de worl' won't end,
Fer de melon mighty sweet!

Oh, de melon mighty sweet,
En de watchman lef' he beat:
Hit ain't des right,
But hit's dead er night,
En de melon mighty sweet!

De rabbit run lak' he see a gun,
En de gray owl say: "Who's you?"
En I say: "Good Lawd, I'm de very one,

THE CORBETT-SHARKEY CONTEST.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—The four-round contest between Jim Corbett and Tom Sharkey drew an immense crowd to Mechanics' pavilion to-night. Sports from all over the country were in attendance. Expectations had been wrought to a high pitch, as Corbett has given a tip to his friends that he would set a rapid pace and keep it from start to finish, while his opponent's recuperative powers and courage, and his remarkable physical development, raised the question of the ex-champion's ability to put him out in four 3 minute rounds.

Betting to-day was 10 to 8 that Corbett would not stop Sharkey. There was no Corbett money in sight at these odds. The articles provide that Corbett should receive 50 per cent. of the gross receipts whether he was beaten or not, Sharkey to receive 35 per cent. of the net receipts if he stayed the four rounds. The gross receipts are estimated at $25,000. It was Corbett's first public appearance in his home city since his memorable sixty-one round draw with Peter Jackson at the California Athletic club five years ago.

First Round—Corbett first to lead his left reaching Sharkey's wind. Sharkey leads wildly. Corbett has him guessing, lands on left cheek. Several clinches follow. Corbett swings left and lands on Sharkey's forehead, Sharkey leads with left and misses. Several more clinches follow. The referee had difficulty in making them break away, Sharkey swings left and right and misses. Corbett reaches Sharkey under right eye and raises lump as the gong sounds.

Second Round—Sharkey is aggressive and swings widely. Sharkey clinches Corbett and holds on. It is now a wrestling match. Sharkey, to avoid punishment, throws his arms around Corbett repeatedly. Corbett lands on Sharkey's chest and face and head at will. Sharkey is very tired at conclusion of the round.

Third Round—Sharkey comes up with a jump and rushes the champion. Corbett was ready for him and got in a stiff punch on the chest. After a few efforts Corbett reaches Sharkey with his right. Rapid, exciting punches follow. Corbett uppercuts with his right and follows with several smashes on the chest and wind. The sailor fights desperately and lands on the champion, but not effectively. Just as the gong sounds the men are at it, hammer and tongs.

Round Four—Sharkey leads and Corbett ducks cleverly. Both men clinch, Sharkey strikes viciously at Corbett and a short mix up and a clinch follows.

TELLER SAYS HE DOESN'T WANT IT.

He Does Not Indorse the Talk of His Candidacy.

St. Louis, Mo., June 24.—Senator Teller has declared that he neither expects nor desires to receive the Democratic nomination for the Presidency.

In fact he declares that he does not aspire to the office, and does not consider seriously the talk of some of the silver men as to presenting him as a candidate.

He says that the Democrats have it in their power to name one of their number at Chicago who will get the hearty support of the silver States.

Senator Teller has gone to spend some days with his aged mother, who lives in Illinois. Before he left he talked freely with a prominent politician, who has given the substance of that interview to the public.

"The Senator was very positive in his utterances," said that gentleman today. "He convinced me of being not only thoroughly in earnest, but most emphatic in his determination not to allow himself to be considered a possibility. He pointed out that the way for success is clear if the Democrats put out a strong ticket on a bold, free coinage platform at Chicago, and said the only result of any other silver candidate would be simply to weaken the cause, for which, all should labor. He suggested that either Boies or Bland would receive the solid support of the silver men of the West, and said that he believed that there were other men in the Democratic party who would receive this support. He says the silver men who left the Republican party will wait until the Chicago convention acts and will govern themselves by what is done there; and he feels sure the right thing will be done there."

A good deal of interest is taken by politicians, and especially by the Democrats, in the probable action of the Populists. They may have it in their power to hurt the silver cause if they refuse to aid in electing a free coinage candidate. It is believed here that while the leaders of the Populist party may hold out against the Democratic ticket, no matter what the platform or who the candidate, the great majority of voters who have voted with them will fall into line and will support the Democratic nominee.

One source of great strength in the silver cause is found in the present tendency of all silver men to subordinate all other issues to that of the financial question. It is the opinion of political leaders that if they do this in earnest, they are sure to win.

TRUMPET CALLS.

Ram's Horn Sounds a Warning Note to the Unredeemed.

When angers reign mercy dies.

The life speaks loudest when the tongue is dumb.

God is as close to us in the dark as he is in the sunshine.

Whoever takes one step toward the devil will have to take two.

If we hold on to sin for a day, we may have to hold on to it forever.

Make your life a ministry of love, and God will make it a success.

Wanting to do right will amount to little, unless we decide to do it.

The man who walks by faith is in no hurry for God to explain himself.

Whenever the devil is about to strike to kill he puts on his Sunday coat.

The mission of Christ was not to teach theology, but to reveal God.

It is not those who have the best opportunities who make the best use of them.

When a sinner compares himself with a hypocrite, it doesn't make his sin any safer.

The man who is not religious at home often tries hard to be so considered in church.

No matter what appearances may be, the road God tells us to take is always the best.

Whenever the clock ticks, it brings the time nearer when the door of mercy will shut.

There are not many millionaires alive to-day whom angels do not consider poor men.

Strip Satan of the fine robe that hides his cloven foot, and he would not be dangerous.

Our great sins do not consist so much in the things we do as in those we neglect to do.

Whenever God gives a cross to bear, it is prophecy that he will also give us strength.

The man who is earnest about saving his soul will be earnest about everything he does.

If God answered all prayers just as they are made, the earth would soon return to chaos.

As soon as a man is convicted of sin, he is convinced that he cannot be saved without God's help.

"STILL HARPING ON MY DAUGHTER."

When a preacher turns fool or a woman gets mean, the one is the biggest fool and the other the meanest thing in Christendom. Here is a case in point: The Yale seniors have selected for their class planting this year a sprig of ivy from the grave of Gen. Robt. E. Lee, and Rev. Dr. Twitchell, of Hartford, in a speech Monday afternoon, referring to the matter, said:

"Gen. Lee was a good man, but he was loyal to an infamous cause. Dr. Woolsey was for the Union heart and soul, and this bronze statue would hang its head in shame were he to know that the graduating class of this college planted on the campus an ivy from Lee's grave."

The occasion of the speech was the dedication of a monument to Dr. Woolsey, whoever he was. Just how his knowing of this ivy incident could accuse a bronze statue to his memory to hang its head, is not entirely clear; but it is not our purpose to discuss this but only to observe that his ecclesiastical eulogist is to manifestly a jack.

In this connection we notice that the Washington Post, speaking of the Confederate re-union to take place at Richmond next week, says:

The fact that a host of the men and women of the South, the soldiers of the lost cause, and their families and fellow-citizens, can meet at the capital of the Confederacy to lay the corner-stone of a monument to Jefferson Davis, without provoking acrimonious comment in any quarter, proves that a great and happy change has been wrought in very recent years.

The Post is too early. The re-union hasn't occurred yet. When it does many a bray, like that of the Rev. Dr. Twitchell, will fall upon the public ear; for mind you, this is a campaign year and it is necessary to work the Northern vote for all it is worth. If not, why should Chairman and Senator Thurston, in seconding the nomination of McKinley at St. Louis last week, have affronted the Southern delegates, many of whom were Confederate soldiers, and others whose fathers were Confederate soldiers, by rattling it off after this fashion:

"True, the enemies of the nation have ceased to threaten with the sword;" "but free trade and free coinage hold no less menace to American progress than did the armed hosts of treason and rebellion."

An Essay on Cleanliness.

A London magazine submits the following essay on "Cleanliness" as the product of a twelve-year-old boy in the grammar grade:

"Do not go and say that you are feared of making yourself clean, just because it is cold and it hurts to get the dirt off, or because the suds get in your eye. For when you are clean people do not edge away from you, never mind about your clothes, but they say unto you like our teacher that is next to godliness. Be thankful unto him because your mothers can afford soap, and because they make you use it. Also when your mother puts her fingers down your coat-neck afore breakfast and peeps to see if there is any black there, and then sends you back to the sink to wash yourself better, say unto her, yes mother, also smiling. On Saturday night say also unto her, mother don't forget to get my bath tub red-dy for me, and a new piece of soap, for I love to wash myself course of cleanliness for it is next to godliness. Do not be same as them there Blacks and Amerikens, and Ingoes, which just splashes their faces with water and no soap, and never gets inside of a tub, only a paddlin about bits of rovers. When you say to a dirty boy, 'Dirty Dick want the stick,' only say it about once, so as he can't say as you are wicked. Say unto him, look at the thoteful cat, which spits on its pores just to get a bit of lather for a fair start, and then wipes its nose, and into its eyes, also behind its ears, not counting over. Then say unto him as it will actshelly lick itself when it can't get its pores, rather than be hitehing anywhere round. Tell him to look at the necks of the masters and superintendents and preachers, and he will never find a ring, which is always a sine as you have not gone far down."

It takes some men a long time to find out that they can never become rich by keeping all they get.

This world is full of green pastures which have been prepared expressly for the Lord's sheep.

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

—A little flour dredged over the top of a cake will keep the icing from running.

—Fruit cake can be preserved for a long time by placing it in a box with an apple, and keeping in a cool place. If the apple shows signs of rotting, it must be replaced by a good one.

—A most delicious homemade flavoring may be prepared by grating into one-half pint of alcohol the yellow rinds of four lemons. Shake this daily for three or four weeks, and at the end of that time it will be ready for use.

—A Delicate Pudding.—Cream a pound of butter and sugar, add eight well-beaten eggs, flavor the mixture with nutmeg. Line a pudding dish with thin puff paste, pour in the pudding and set in a very hot oven for ten minutes. Serve without sauce.—N. Y. Ledger.

—Baked Ham.—Soak the ham in cold water over night; trim, wipe dry, cover it with a paste made of flour and water and bake in a slow oven. When done, take off the crust and peel off the skin; allow to cool, glaze and garnish with carrots and herbs cut into fancy shapes.—Harpers Bazar.

—Banana Charlotte.—Makes a good dessert and one capable of being prepared in a hurry. Cut the sides of a quart mold with slices of sponge cake. Cover the bottom of the mold with a thick layer of thinly sliced banana. Fill the mold with stiff whipped cream and set it aside in the ice box until wanted, then remove carefully from the mold and serve.

—Apple Rice Pudding.—Pare, quarter and core three tart apples and spread loosely in a buttered agate pudding dish. Add three-quarters cupful of sugar and three tablespoonfuls rice to one quart of milk; turn the mixture over the apples, spread a few bits of butter over the tops and bake in a moderate oven four hours. Serve hot with sweetened whipped cream.—Orange Judd Farmer.

—Colds, With or Without Fever.—On going to bed, let the feet and legs be bathed in a warm bath. Drink freely of warm, thin gruel or warm weak tea with plenty of milk in it. If there is pain in the head, apply a mustard poultice on the back of the neck until the skin is red and painful. If there is pain in the chest, the side or any part of the abdomen, put the mustard plaster directly over the painful part until the same effect is produced.—Liverpool Mercury.

LUCKY PIGS—UNLUCKY OPALS.

Former with Two Legs No Good and Later for Folk Born in October.

They—the girl with the violets and the girl with the feather box—came into the public tearoom and settled at one of the small tables. She of the violets studied the menu. It was her treat. She of the box drew her gloves off and then began to study her neighbors. Presently the order was given. It was not for a chocolate eclaire and a pickle, by the way. Then she of the violets began to draw off her gloves, her companion chattering about others at luncheon in the room. Suddenly she stopped her chatter and gasped: "Margaret! What a beauty. Where did you get it? Aren't you afraid to wear it?" "What?" Oh, my opal? Why, Charley brought me the stone from Mexico last spring, and mother had it set for me at Christmas. No, I'm not afraid to wear it. It's perfect nonsense about opals being unlucky. I don't believe in such things, anyhow. I'm not the least bit superstitious." "Well, I wouldn't wear an opal for anything, unless I had been born in October. It may be nonsense, but since Christmas you've lost your purse—" "Only a dime and a glove buttoner and some samples in it!" "—And your watch; and two stick pins; to my certain knowledge; and I believe it was that opal!" "Nonsense! It wasn't the opal at all. It was my pig." "Your pig?" "Yes. My lucky pig! You know Katharine gave me a dear little one, cut out of ebony, for Christmas, and on New Year's day I took it off my watch chain to show to some one, and between us we dropped it; and as I stepped back to see where it had fallen I stepped on it and broke off two of its legs. Wasn't it awful? Of course with only a two-legged pig I'm bound to have the lamest sort of luck this year." "That was hard luck. But I thought you weren't superstitious." "Well, I'm not. But everyone knows about lucky pigs. And the idea of blaming it on my opal. Why, opals can't do any harm, anyhow. My birthday's the 7th of October."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Borchgrevink, the Norwegian Explorer. Borchgrevink is a Norwegian, some 30 years of age, of medium height and of modest mien, and has the typical Scandinavian fairness of hair and floridity of complexion. His face gives signs of that determined spirit and fixity of purpose which Norse explorers have shown from the early vikings to this latest voyager. His hardships, incident to service before the mast in a whaler, were almost ignored, and he dwelt on the Antarctic sea and its conditions. The intelligent audience noted his impersonal and retiring disposition, and showed its own appreciation by generous applause.

Worked Themselves Out.

W. L. Scott, the coal bagon of Erie, was a dyspeptic. He once said to me as we sat at the table together in the dining room of the Fifth Avenue Hotel: "I will give you $1,000,000 for your stomach." Charles Broadway Rouss is offering $1,000,000 for a pair of eyes. What lesson do we draw from this? The insatiable thirst for money, money, money, is at the bottom of it all.—New York press.

Driven to Suicide By a Corn.

Joseph Haggarty, of Hoboken, N. J., two months ago pared a corn on his left foot with his pocket knife. The corn grew worse and he had his toe amputated. Then blood poisoning set in and he was told that the leg would have to be amputated. To this Haggarty would not consent. He said he would rather lose his life than his leg. He swallowed carbolic acid. He waited a while but death did not come fast enough, and with his pocket-knife he cut several deep gashes in his left wrist. Finally, he threw himself out of a window to the sidewalk. He died two hours.

The First.

The REFLECTOR is under many obligations to Dr. W. H. Bagwell for a fine nut-meg cantelope this afternoon. This is the first we have seen and it tasted like old times.

Our Ticket.

We give our readers the Democratic ticket in today's issue as nominated at Raleigh yesterday. It is first class in every respect. There is not a weak man on the ticket. There is not a man but who is above reproach. There is not a man on it but for whom every good citizen of North Carolina ought to feel proud to vote.

We will have more to say to-morrow as to particulars and individuals.

FIRE IN KINSTON.

M. Mark's Clothing Store and Stock Damaged—Timely Arrival of the Engine Prevented a Great Loss.

(Special to Daily Reflector.)

KINSTON, N. C. 26.—Last night about 9:30 o'clock the fire alarm was given and the fire proved to be in a branch store of M. Mark's on North Queen street under the new opera house. The building was possibly damaged about $150, and the stock was damaged considerably by water, and slightly by fire.

R. C. Strong was the first one to discover the fire, and as soon as the clerk of the store arrived, Mr. Strong, in some way, got the keys in his possession and would not allow any one to enter the store, not even the proprietor, and as soon as the engine was at work and they were ready to throw water, Mr. Strong opened the door and two nice streams were thrown in and the fire soon extinguished.

The fire originated in the rear of the store under a short clothing counter near the wall, and under this counter the floor had burned clear through. There seems to be right much suspicion to the origin of the fire, because kerosene smelled very strong in the rear of the store and several things were examined, and was supposed to be saturated with oil.

The building is owned by S. H. Loftin.

But for our powerful engine no doubt the entire opera house and stores underneath would have been burned.
