A CHARMING EVENING AT HOTEL MACON.

Completed its Work.

The Democratic National Convention has completed its work and adjourned. Today was given to the selection of a candidate for Vice President several names being placed in nomination among them Judge Walter Clark, of North Carolina. Five ballots were taken before a choice was reached, the contest being almost as spirited as over the first place on the ticket. Sewell, of Maine, was nominated on the fifth ballot.

Convention Dates.

Populist National Convention, St. Louis, July 22.

Silver National Convention, St. Louis, July 22.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, July 10th, 1896.

Hurrah for the Democratic ticket and platform! No matter what sort of a Democrat you were before the Chicago convention made the platform and nominated the ticket, it is now the proper thing for you to hurrah for the ticket and platform, and to go to work and render what aid you can towards obtaining a victory. More will be known as to the chance the Democracy has to win after the Populist and silver party conventions, both of which meet at St. Louis on the 22nd of this month. If the members of those conventions are as devoted to the cause of silver as they profess to be, they will nominate no ticket of the own, but will endorse the Democratic ticket. Should they do that the McKinley crowd would be the worst frightened men in the country not without good cause, either. Should the Populists and the silver Republicans get their backs up because the Democratic convention would not allow them to name the ticket, Mark Hanna's smile will perceptibly broaden, but let us at least hope that they will do nothing so suicidal.

There are plenty of Democrats in Washington who do not like portions of the platform and many more who wanted other men nominated, but so far as I know none of them are talking of bolting. The National convention settled the matter for them, and as good party men they are now for the ticket. The talk of President Cleveland taking part in a movement to nominate a gold Democratic ticket finds few believers here. It is brickbats to wood toothpicks that he does nothing of the kind. There can only be one Democratic ticket and that has been nominated in a regular manner by a properly constituted convention. Of course after reading the platform one cannot expect that President Cleveland will enthuse over it.

United States District Attorney Frank Clark, of Florida, who is now in Washington, and in answer to a question of how things political looked in that State: "Oh, the Democratic ticket will win as usual. There is considerable interest in the Senatorial race but it is too early yet to predict the name of Senator Call's successor, except to say that he will undoubtedly be a free silver man. A great majority of Florida Democrats favor free silver, although four of the delegates to the Chicago convention were for gold. That was simply the result of management, as the gold men were in the minority at the State convention."

Gen. W. R. Cox, of North Carolina, who is Secretary of the Senate and a good judge of the drift of political sentiment, has just returned from that state. He says: "The prospects of Democratic success in North Carolina are very encouraging. The nomination of a strong silver candidate and the adoption of a free coinage platform at Chicago went a long way toward insuring the success of Democracy. Thousands of populists will vote the national Democratic ticket, for they cannot support McKinley without stultifying themselves. And the Republicans of North Carolina are also for free silver. Their gubernatorial candidate, Judge Russell, is a silver man and their State convention declared for the white metal. Outside of the protection policy, McKinley has no special strength in the State, but although the Republicans generally favor protection, they are half as deeply interested in that question as they are in the money issue."

Ex-Congressman White, of Tennessee, thoroughly believes that the Democratic party is going to win a great victory this year because of its championing the cause of silver. He said to a group of friends in a Washington hotel: "Two months ago the cause of democracy seemed hopeless. Now the situation is changed, and the opposition is thoroughly alarmed. A little while ago it seemed impossible that the Democrats could win even in Tennessee. We will carry the State in November by 30,000 or 40,000 majority. The people are terribly in earnest, and the revolution is on. If New York and Massachusetts, want to secede from the Union I am in favor of letting them go, even as Horace Greely said of the South. "Let the erring brethren go in peace."

Those naval officers who thought that the assembling of a large squadron on the Atlantic coast meant a summer of idle loafing around the seaside resorts are waking up to their mistake. It is the intention of Secretary Herbert that the squadron assembled on the Atlantic coast shall put in some very hard work drilling and exercising, and in order that all of the officers may get their share of the work orders have been issued revoking all leaves of absence, except on account of sickness, and directing officers on waiting orders to report for duty. These orders started a fresh crop of Cuban rumors, but there is nothing in them.

Both Lost.

This story was told to some reporters at the city hall by Detective McKenna, says the Philadelphia Call.

About ten years ago a boy and girl were talking to each other about love and marriage, and each was emphatic in the assertion that the other would marry first. So they decided to make a wager, of which the terms were that the one who should wed first should celebrate the event by parading the streets clad in the garments they then wore.

This appeared very satisfactory to both as each was positive the other would be the one to pay the penalty.

This wager, of course, was kept a profound secret outside the circle of some intimate friends.

Last Monday the pedestrians on Chestnut street were greatly surprised and amazed to behold a tall man clad in a very comical costume. He wore a pair of very tight trousers, which did not reach his knees, and a pair of black stockings, which were equally wanting in length to cover his lower legs. His jacket was so small that it was bursting all over with the strain of its contents, and over all was a round schoolboy cap, perched on the back of his head. To add to the mystery of the situation the curiously groomed man was followed by a pretty young woman, who was similarly garbed in clothing that must have belonged to some child of long ago. Not much could be seen, however, of her costume, as she wore a long wrap. The reader will readily guess the explanation of the strange exhibition.

Body Turned to Stone.

Christian Bartholomew died in Elkhart in 1893. The remains were taken to Gothen and interred. A short time ago it was discovered that the body had been buried in the wrong lot, and last week it was taken up. When the body was uncovered, instead of finding it in an advanced stage of decay and dust, as expected, it was perfectly preserved, with every line of the form and face almost as natural as when laid away, four years ago. On closer examination it was found that the flesh and bone had turned to stone. When the workmen came to take the body out of the ground it required the combined strength of five men to raise it to the surface. The face was as white and as smooth as marble and perfect in every feature. The strange sight was viewed by a number of people.

Swearing.

If ever I wish I had no ears, it is when I hear a boy swearing.

Who made you?

Who keeps you alive?

Who gave you a tongue?

Who gave you speech?

Who clothes and feeds you?

Who put a soul in your body?

Who sent His Son to be your friend and Savior?

Who opens heaven for you?

Whose earth do you live on?

Whose sky is over your head?

Whose sun shines upon you?

Whose Sabbath do you rest on?

All the answers will be—God. Is

He not great and good! Should you not love Him, and mind Him, and enjoy Him?

Yet, what does the swearer do? He takes God's name in vain. He uses it upon a thoughtless and wicked tongue. Did not God see there would be swearers, and did He make any law against swearing? Yes. "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain; for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh His name in vain"; that is, God will hold him guilty who takes His name in vain.

It is said that an ex-mayor of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., upon a certain occasion, gave every newsboy and bootblack of that city a new hat, in the inside crown of which, in each case, were the following words neatly printed in gilt or circular pieces of black paper:

"Don't drink, don't swear, don't chew, don't smoke! Be industrious, work hard, play hard and you will never be hatless."

"With the best-wishes for your future welfare!"

A Piece of News.

A little girl came home from Sunday school not long ago with an air of great importance as she bustled into the room where her parents were sitting. "Mamma," she cried, "did you know the widow of Nain's son was dead?" As her mother stared at her in utter bewilderment she went on importantly: "He is. I heard it in Sunday school this morning."

Jewels That Live.

Beauty, money and fame cannot be carried beyond the horizon line that shuts around this cradle of a world, but love, joy, peace, gentleness, faith, meekness, temperance are jewels which by their very nature will survive the transit of the world invisible.—F. E. Willard.

"I am so Tired."

That expression finds vent with all classes, and while often used idly, there is much in it; in fact the mere speaking of the four words seen to give rest, more especially if they are heard by a sympathizing laborer, or bosom companion.

Tired, yes, tired of the monotonizing tread mill of labor, tired of walking the same streets many times a day, tired of all except loved ones and life. Life is the last thing a sane man tires of. For many there is no rest from the tread mill, for by it the body is fed and clothed, and to stop to rest is to stop existing. Those who can rest often, will not, for the sake of saving a dollar, and others who would, cannot afford it.

The American system of working day and night, and studying on Sunday how to work more, grows on the people, and a man cannot put down his business without losing it. Tired and can't rest. God pity us all.—Burlington News.

CATARRH.

His Worst Enemy Defeated by P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy.

FOR THREE YEARS HE SUFFERED--COULD HARDLY BREATHE AT NIGHT--ONE NOSTRIL CLOSED FOR 10 YEARS.

Mr. A. M. Ramsey, of DeLeon, Texas, was a sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form. Truly, his description of his sufferings seem little short of marvelous. Instead of seeking his couch, glad for the nights coming, he went to it with terror, realizing that another long, weary, wakeful night and a struggle to breathe was before him. He could not sleep on either side for two years. P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, cured him in quick time.

DE LEON, TEXAS.
Messrs. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga. Gentls: I have used nearly four bottles of P. P. P. I was afflicted from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet. Your P. P. P. has cured my difficulty of breathing, smothering, palpitation of the heart, and has relieved me of all pain. One nostril was closed for ten years, but now I can breathe through it readily. I have not slept on either side for two years; in fact, I dreaded to see night come. Now I sleep soundly in any position all night. I am 50 years old, but expect soon to be able to take hold of the plow handles. I feel glad that I was lucky enough to get P. P. P., and I heartily recommend it to my friends and the public generally. Yours respectfully, A. M. RAMSEY.

THE STATE OF TEXAS—County of Comanche.—Before the undersigned authority on this day, personally appeared A. M. Ramsey, who, after being duly sworn, says on oath that the foregoing statement made by him relative to the virtue of P. P. P. medicine is true. A. M. RAMSEY.
Sworn to and subscribed before me this, August 4th, 1891. J. M. LAMBERT, N. P., Comanche County, Texas.

Not Much of an Appetite.

Walter Nettles, the colored drayman, was a frightened man this morning when he went to the stables. Last night he fed the big iron gray as usual, giving him a gallon of corn and a gallon of rough rice, besides the usual amount of hay. During the night the horse broke into the feed bin and ate 50 ears of corn. This morning Walter fed her as usual, giving her one gallon of corn and hay. The horse after finishing her repast walked out in the lot and began to eat grass. Walter went in the feed bin for a piece of harness and discovered the corn gone. Then he was scared, sure enough. Upon estimation he found the horse had eaten 6½ gallons of corn besides the hay and grass. The horse is all right seemingly.
