SHOT HIS WIFE.

Another Case of Fodling With a Pistol.

Last Saturday afternoon L. F. Anderson, who lives about three miles in the country, was in town. Among the purchases he made was some whiskey and a pistol. He put the liquor under his shirt and the pistol in his pocket and went home. After supper while his wife was sitting near him, he began fooling with the pistol and snapping it. His wife had just remonstrated with him for handling the weapon so carelessly, when the usual report occurring under such circumstances was heard and a ball passed clear through Mrs. Anderson's neck right near the jugular vein.

Dr. F. W. Brown was sent for and went out to dress the wound. He says that it is almost miraculous that Mrs. Anderson was not killed instantly. However she is getting along as well as could be expected and was able to ride to town today to see the doctor.

BETHEL ITEMS.

BETHEL N. C., July 27th, 1896.
Miss Cena Cherry is teaching the public school in District No. 57.

Rev. Albert Barnes is holding a protracted meeting in the Methodist church.

Elder Samuel Moore lost a tobacco barn Saturday night by fire.

F. L. Davenport had a tobacco barn burned Saturday night.

Mr. Willie Thomas is quite sick with typhoid fever.

Our farmers in this section are all busy curing tobacco.

Oakley Items.

OAKLEY, N. C., July 27, 1896.
Mrs. W. A. Andrews is quite sick with fever.

W. T. Taylor, who has been living in Florida for the last three years, arrived home Saturday, and will spend a month at his old home.

J. E. Hines and wife, of Rocky Mount, spent Saturday night here, and left Sunday.

Our Populists friends in this section will support Bryan and Sewall. A prominent man who has heretofore been a strong Populist told your correspondent a few days ago that he should support Bryan and Sewall in defiance of Butler or Skinner, and he should also vote for Watson and the entire Democratic ticket.

More Buyers Coming.

The outlook is that the coming tobacco season is to be the most active that the Greenville market has yet had. Most all the old buyers are getting back ready for work, and there are more new ones coming here prospecting and making plans to locate than we have noticed near the opening of any former season. Greenville will be able to take care of all the tobacco that comes this way.

Still Enlarging.

Evans, Joyner & Co., are adding 20 feet to the width of the Eastern Warehouse, which will give 3,500 feet more of floor space than before. No market in this section of the State has a warehouse that will hold more tobacco than the Eastern.

NOTICE—I will be in Greenville, at the King House, on Tuesday and Wednesday, August 4th and 5th, 1896, for the purpose of examining and treating diseases of the Eye.

DR. H. O. HYATT.

"TAKE MY HAND."

J. G. WHITTIER.

A tender child of summers three,
Seeking her little bed at night,
Paused on the dark stairs timidly,
"Oh, mother! take my hand," she said,
"And then the dark will all be light."

We older children grope our way,
From dark behind to dark before;
And only when our hands we lay,
Dear Lord, in thine, the night is day,
And there is darkness nevermore.

A REDUCTION.

The economizing period is here. Bright buyers are busy these days choosing from the heaps of bargains that abound throughout the store. There are good reasons—founded in the logic of modern merchandising—why prices do range so low right now.

We are on the verge of invoicing. That brings prices down. It is the sundown of the season. That brings prices down. Many departments contain remnants and broken lots. That brings prices down. We are organizing our trade forces for a triumphant fall campaign. That brings prices down.

In fine a score of sound causes are simultaneously influencing and affecting prices all in your favor. The single fact that we are daily selling the best qualities of many lines at and below actual cost out-weighs and out-argues a thousand claims.

TUESDAY, JULY 28TH, 1896.

POSITION OF MR. BRYAN.

His Acceptance of Nomination Will Depend on Conditions Attached.

Lincoln, Neb., July 25.—Mr. William J. Bryan told a Southern Associated Press reporter to-night that his action with regard to the Populist national ticket would depend entirely upon the conditions attached to his nomination.

In answer to a question he said: "When the Populists decided to name the Vice-President first, Senator Jones chairman of the National Democratic Committee, wired me as follows: 'Populists nominate Vice President first. If not Sewall, what shall we do? Answer quick. I favor your declination in that case.' I wired immediately as follows: 'I entirely agree with you. Withdraw my name if Sewall is not nominated.'

"These dispatches were published in the morning papers, and the convention understood my position. In spite of this they have seen fit to nominate me. Whether I shall accept the nomination or not will depend entirely upon what conditions are attached to it. My first desire is to aid in securing the immediate restoration by the United States of the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation. The Republican platform declares that the bimetallic system should be restored, but asserts that we as a people are helpless to secure bimetalism for ourselves until foreign nations come to our assistance. We cannot afford to surrender our right to legislate for our people upon every question, and so long as that right is disputed, no other question can approach it in importance.

"I appreciate the desire manifested at St. Louis to consolidate all the free-silver forces, and regret that they did not nominate Mr. Sewall also. He stands squarely upon the Chicago platform, and has defended our cause against greater opposition than we have had to meet in the West or South. The Populist platform is on many questions substantially identical with the Chicago platform. It goes beyond the Chicago platform, however, and endorses some policies which I do not approve of. All that I can say now is that my action will depend entirely upon the conditions attached to the nomination. I shall do nothing which will endanger the success of bimetalism nor shall I do anything unfair to Mr. Sewall."

POPULIST NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

Same Old Disposition to Talk—Butler Elected Chairman.

St. Louis, Mo., July 25.—The first meeting of the new Populist National Committee was held this evening at the Lindell Hotel, and started in with as much promise for debate as was exhibited in the convention that created it. This propensity for discussion was so irrepressible that one of the members called attention to the fact that the campaign lasted but four months, and it was imperative that the committee should get down to business before that period of time had elapsed.

The committee was called to order shortly after 8 o'clock by ex-Congressman Lefe Pence, of New York, and after much discussion the following gentlemen were placed in nomination for chairman: Senator Marion Butler, North Carolina; General James B. Weaver, of Iowa; Judge H. L. Bentley, of Texas; Senator William V. Allen, of Nebraska; and John W. Breidenthal, of Kansas.

On the first ballot the result was as follows: Butler, 46; Weaver, 20; Bentley, 6; Allen, 29; Breidenthal, 19.

As sixty-one votes were necessary, there was no choice.

The second ballot resulted in the election of Senator Butler as follows: Butler, 65; Weaver, 10; Allen, 35; Breidenthal, 13.

Good Advice.

The great northern papers are beginning to realize the fact that the silver agitation is a serious matter and a thing that cannot be laughed down or ridiculed; and as a consequence nearly all of them have adopted a tone of calm, conservative argument. This is very encouraging. The one requisite at the present time is moderation in discussion, the use of facts instead of epithets. Many of the advocates of gold have been too emphatic and as severative in referring to the silver question, and many of the silver advocates have been led into the same error. Let us keep cool and settle the problem on its merits.—Norfolk Landmark.

The New Ballot Boxes.

The Charlotte News says: A good deal of curiosity was attracted to one of the rooms in the court house to-day, where the ballot boxes to be used in the coming election are stacked up. Clerk Morrow had them built according to the legislative requirements and they look like wheat bins. There are 70 boxes, 2 for each precinct in the county. As the law says that the votes on being counted are to be deposited in a duplicate box, Mr. Morrow will have to build 70 more boxes and stack another room in the court house.

Bryan or McKinley.

The New York Times is a goldbug paper and does not propose to support the Chicago platform and nominees but it has this to say, which is worthy of consideration:

"We observe a general disposition upon the part of republican organs, both speakers and newspapers, to have the democrats drop partisanship this year and join with the republicans in protecting the safety, honor and welfare of the country. What we fail to observe is any symptom of a desire on the part of the republicans to drop partisanship. They invite sound money democrats to join them in putting into power a republican administration on a platform pledged to the enactment of measures odious to democrats and as democrats believe injurious to the country."

This is a true statement of the case. It is simply a choice between Bryan, a free silver democrat, and McKinley, who represents a platform odious in every plank to a southern democrat. Choose ye this day whom you will serve.—Raleigh News and Observer.

A French Chef Wanted.

There was an interesting episode one day in a well known Washington cafe. The proprietor has a French chef in his employ, and the result is that the menu cards can be guaranteed to puzzle any American. Two gentlemen sat at a table. One was from the west, and his French education had been neglected. The other had but recently come to Washington from Paris. After reading the menu the westerner said to the waiter: "I can't read French. Bring me a good dinner."

Meantime the Frenchman was trying to figure out the words. "Pardon, monseer," he said, "eet ees not ze Francois. Eet ees not ze Eenglish. I know not what eet ees. Zere ees ze soup. Zat ees French for ze rat I want not ze rat soup. Eet ees horreeble."

The proprietor heard it, and upon investigation found that his guest was correct. There is a new French chef, who understands the French language.—Washington Star.

Two Men In One.

A member of the Royal Chemical society, London, has recently demonstrated to the Society For Psychical Research a proof that man possesses two distinct consciousnesses. This he explains by the fact that persons under the influence of an anæsthetic, while not apparently conscious at the time of operations, are sometimes able, after a few days, to describe the exact details of the operation, instruments used, etc., although not informed as to those before or since. What he calls the "workaday consciousness" was absent at the time, but the "subliminal consciousness" is that which was present during the operation, and which not only felt, but saw, what was going on. Hence anæsthetics would seem to postpone rather than destroy the functions of the latter kind of consciousness.

The Poor Poet.

"The return of contributions will be expedited if a stamped envelope is inclosed," read the poet sardonically from the printed slip which accompanied his rejected manuscript. "Great Scott! Who wants to expedite their return? I'm sure mine couldn't come back any faster than they do if I had a private carrier pigeon express." And he gloomily tucked the five sonnets, the ballade and the rondeau into a fresh envelope and sent them off on their nineteenth round.—New York Tribune

In the manufactories of Alabama there are employed 33,821 hands, who turn out annually $51,226,605 worth of product.

Noah Webster, from first to last, spent 17 years on his "Dictionary of the English Language."

THE BOER WOMAN.

Plain Enough, but Kissed From the Cradle to the Grave.

The Boer woman is unlovable in appearance. Graces and modern accomplishments are unknown to her. Handsome she is not, nor is her temper angelic. Her cooking would often kill an ostrich, and her voice is not attuned to harmony. All that notwithstanding, the most kissed being on earth is the Boer woman.

From the cradle to the grave she is kissed—by great-grandfather and great-grandmother, by her grandfather and grandmother; of course she is kissed by her parents. She is kissed by her grand uncles and aunts, by cousins male and female to the last degree of kinship. She is kissed by the relatives of the above and by their relatives. Her brothers and brothers-in-law, her sisters and sisters-in law and all their children kiss her. So does her sweetheart and all her female friends and acquaintances. Her husband and children and all her relatives and female friends, residing long or short under her roof, kiss her repeatedly every day.

Whether she and her husband are in good circumstances or not, he buys or sells nothing without asking her advice and abiding by it. He undertakes no work without her sanction. She commands her married son of 50 in the same way that she did when he was 5. He obeys and kisses her just as childlike. She calls her husband by his Christian name to her friends. To others she speaks of him as "the baas." Ask her if he is her "baas." "No," he is her "man." "What white woman," she asks you, "ever had a master? Do you take me for a Kaffir woman?"

The Boer woman could not conceive the idea of having a master. In poverty most dire she has had from infancy at least one black servant. Like her mother before her, she would see her daughters perish with hunger before she would allow them to go as domestic servants. They are in her eyes the equals of the most high born dames in any land, and servants they shall never be. She detests the thought of her sons working for an employer, but often has to give way on that point.

The Boer woman has often been held up as lazy, dull, stupid and dirty. A greater calumny has never been uttered against any woman. Her intense pride and love of independence make her appear so to the European lady or gentleman who knows nothing of the conditions of life that have formed her customs and made her what she is at present.

The Boer woman, with her children, would retire to the most arid desert of Africa and live on air sooner than dwell at ease and in luxury where she contrasted unfavorably with her neighbors. She scorns the slightest patronage extended to her, no matter from whom.

She has inherited an innate love of bright colors and beautiful things. When she cannot obtain these things, she is content to wear the saddest colored garments and not be troubled by the most sordid and dreary surroundings.

She rules her "man" kind with a rod of iron. They do not know it, however, nor does she suspect it. All of them would take oath that the exact reverse was the case. Ask her to speak in church or on a platform anywhere, and she would imagine you to be crazy. "That is a man's business," she would say. Nevertheless Mrs. Boer would see to it that her "man" or son would say in church or on a platform just exactly what she wished said. Woman's rights as understood by the American woman would be utterly incomprehensible to the Boer woman were they ever so clearly explained.—Boston Transcript.

Little Johnny Fizzletop is a Manchester boy who has been obliged for many years to wear the cast off clothing of his elder brother Bob. Johnny never gets anything until Bob has finished with it. A few days ago Bob had a dreadful tooth-ache, and it was decided that the aching tooth should be extracted.

"You may pull all his teeth out if you like," said Johnny, "but I ain't going to chew with them afterward. I can tell you that straight."—London Globe.
