BUTLER AND SKINNER.

The Former Abuses Democrats Only--The Latter Fights Republicans as Well--"Kick 'Em Out."

NO NEGRO NEED APPLY FOR OFFICE.

At the Populist Convention in Raleigh, Thursday, Col. Harry Skinner was made permanent chairman. Here are a few extracts from his speech on taking the chair:

"The politician who devises any scheme to split the electoral vote in North Carolina and turn it over to McKinley is an enemy to the cause. I want to say to the Populist and Democratic committees that if they let the State go for McKinley they should both be wiped out.

Some one asked me whether we were going to take down Tom Watson or Sewall. We are not going to take down either. Whether it is necessary to run Bryan and Sewall, or a joint ticket of Bryan and Watson it will be done. But the effect will be to elect Mr. Bryan President. If our cause means anything it means that.

But whatever we do we must recognize the fact that the white man must rule in North Carolina. The time has not come for the negro to rule and govern the white people of the State and he would even endanger his own liberties."

When Mr. Butler put Oliver H. Dockery in nomination for Lieutenant Governor the Col. showed fight and among other things said:

If you are going to take the Republicans, take the machine and not a rebel. We don't want any of these Republicans. Kick 'em out. We want a straight-middle-of-the-road ticket, and nobody who could not on the stump advocate the election of Bryan and Watson.

It seems there is a preconcerted plan to fuse with the Dockery wing of the Republican party, to instigate the division of the Republicans in order that the Democrats may be landed safely into power, and they have named Oliver H. Dockery, a man above all others that meant Republicanism in North Carolina. (There were whistles and hisses). I've got the right to command the attention of this convention. I voted for Weaver when Major Guthrie voted for Cleveland! This is an attempt to divide the Republicans and give the Democrats victory. The delegates were following the party-bugs. You are following the leader who is trying to deliver you to the Democrats. Do you want to co-operate with the Democrats? (No! No! No!) If you do, do it in a manly way. Why should we vote for Oliver H. Dockery? Is there a man who will speak for Dockery and say that he will support Bryan and Watson?

Can you give us a guarantee? If you can guarantee Dockery, I'll go for him; if not, I'll fight him. (Time, time.) I don't care for time. My services to the party are such that I demand time. (Slight applause). Senator Butler has no right to dictate a ticket to this convention. What are you going to make by fusing with Dockery? How many votes can he deliver? He was defeated at his own convention. We have started pure, let us end pure. Let us name a man like Mewborne, or Cy. Thompson, or Joshua Skinner, not the tail-end of the Republican party."

Again when Mr. Butler had spoken for the nomination of Walser for Attorney General and Mr. Caldwell in obedience to his command was moving to suspend the rules and nominate this Republican by acclamation, Col. Skinner said: "I am here to object to a suspension of the rules. Why nominate Mr. Zeb Vance Walser? If it is right to nominate McKinley Walser, it is right to vote for McKinley Pritchard, and yet Mr. Butler's paper is opposing Pritchard because he is for McKinley. Mr. Walser is within the sound of my voice and I ask him to come forward and say whether he will vote for Bryan and Watson, if he will I will support him. But you are going to nominate him at Senator Butler's word (a voice we are not if he is going to vote for McKinley). He is in town and can speak for himself."

WHY DIDN'T HE READ IT?

Does Butler Try to Force Walser on The Populist Convention?

It is said that all the time while the fight was going on in the Populist Convention over the nomination of Walser for Attorney General, and the contention as to whether he was for McKinley or Bryan, &c., &c., Mr. Butler had in his pocket the following letter from Walser which requested that his position be stated to the convention, but yet Mr. Butler could give no information though it was called for again and again. Here is the letter:

Park Hotel, Raleigh, N. C.

Hon. Geo. E. Hunt and Senator Westmoreland, Convention Hall, Raleigh, N. C.

Gentlemen: My understanding has been that my name, if presented to the Populist State convention, would be used in connection with a co-operative State ticket by the Populist and Republican parties on the same line as in 1894--an official co-operation--and not an independent ticket, composed of Populist and Republicans independent of the Republican State ticket already nominated.

If occasion should arise please state my position to the convention.

I am for State co-operation between our two parties, with the great purpose of preserving civil liberty to the people of North Carolina.

Respectfully,
ZEB VANCE WALSER.

Democratic Convention.

A convention of the Democratic party of Pitt county is hereby called to meet at the Court House in Greenville, on Thursday, September 10, 1896, at 12 o'clock M. for the purpose of nominating candidates for the Legislature and the various county offices.

In accordance with the party plan of organization primaries will be held at the usual places in each township on Saturday, September 5, 1896, at 3 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of appointing delegates and alternates to said convention and to nominate candidates for Constable and three Justices of the Peace for each Township, and also to select an Executive Committee of five persons for each voting precinct. The several townships are entitled to appoint the following number of delegates and alternates, to wit: Beaver Dam 4, Belvoir 2, Bethel 5, Carolina 7, Chicod 14, Contentnea 14, Falkland 4, Farmville 5, Greenville 18, Pactolus 4, Swift Creek 8.

All voters who favor the election of Democratic candidates and the success of Democratic principles are cordially invited to participate in these primaries.

By order of the Democratic Executive Committee of Pitt county.

MR. BRYAN'S SPEECH.

Reconstruction of Society is Not Being Sought.

EQUALITY BEFORE THE LAW.

Income Tax and Free Coinage.

Following is the speech in full delivered by Mr. Bryan at Madison Square Garden, New York, upon being notified of his nomination for President:

"Mr. Chairman, Gentlemen of the Committee, and Fellow citizens: I shall at a future day and in a formal letter accept the nomination which is now tendered by the notification committee, and I shall at that time touch upon the issues presented by the platform. It is fitting, however, that at this time, in the presence of those here assembled, I speak at some length in regard to the campaign upon which we are now entering. We do not underestimate the forces arrayed against us, nor are we unmindful of the importance of the struggle in which we are engaged; but relying for success upon the righteousness of our cause, we shall defend with all possible vigor the positions taken by our party. We are not surprised that some of our opponents, in the absence of better argument, resort to abusive epithets, but they may rest assured that no language, however violent, no invectives, however vehement, will lead us to depart a single hair's breadth from the course marked out by the National Convention. The citizen, either public or private, who assails the character and questions the patriotism of the delegates assembled in the Chicago Convention assails the character and questions the patriotism of the millions who have arrayed themselves under the banner there raised.

THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.
"It has been charged by men standing high in business and political circles that our platform is a menace to private security and public safety: and it has been asserted that those whom I have the honor, for the time being, to represent not only meditate an attack upon the rights of property, but are the foes of social order and national honor. Those who stand upon the Chicago platform are prepared to make known and to defend every motion which influences them, every purpose which animates them, and every hope which inspires them. They understand the genius of our institutions, they are staunch supporters of the form of government under which we live, and they build their faith upon foundations laid by the fathers. Andrew Jackson has stated with admirable clearness, and with an emphasis which cannot be surpassed, both the duty and spirit of government. He said: "Distinctness in society will always exist under every just government. Equality of talents, of education, or of wealth cannot be produced by human institutions. In the full enjoyment of the gifts of heaven and fruits of superior industry, economy, and virtue every man is equally entitled to protection by law." We yield to none in our devotion to the doctrine just enunciated. Our campaign has not for its object the reconstruction of society. We cannot insure to the vicious the fruits of a virtuous life; we would not invade the home of the provident in order to supply the wants of the spendthrift; we do not propose to transfer the rewards of industry to the lap of idleness. Property is and will remain the stimulus to endeavor and the compensation for toil. We believe, as asserted in the Declaration of Independence, that all men are created equal; but that does not mean that all men are or can be equal in possessions, in ability, or in merit; it simply means that all shall stand equal before the law and that government officials shall not, in making, construing, or enforcing the law, discriminate between citizens.

SAFETY OF PROPERTY RIGHTS.
"I assert that property rights as well as the rights of persons, are safe in the hands of the common people. Abraham Lincoln, in his message sent to Congress in December, 1861, said: 'No men living are more worthy to be trusted than those who toil, none are less inclined to take or touch ought which they have not honestly earned.' I repeat his language with unqualified approval, and join with him in the warning which he added, namely: 'Let them beware of surrendering a political power, which they already possess, and which power, if surrendered, will surely be used to close the doors of advancement against such as they, and to fix new disabilities and burdens upon them, until all of liberty shall be lost.' Those who daily follow the injunction: 'In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread,' are now as they ever have been, the bulwark of law and order—the source of our nation's greatness in time of peace and its surest defender in time of war.

"But I have only read a part of Jackson's utterance; let me give you his conclusion: 'But when the laws undertake to add to those natural and just advantages, artificial distinctions, to grant titles, gratuities and exclusive privileges, to make the rich richer and the potent more powerful—the humble members of society, the farmers, mechanics, and the day laborer—who have neither the time nor the means of securing like favors for themselves, have a right to complain of the injustice of their government. Those who support the Chicago platform indorse all of the quotations of Jackson—the latter part, as well as the former part.

"We are not surprised to find arrayed against us those who are the beneficiaries of government favoritism—they have read our platform. Nor are we surprised to learn that we must in this campaign face the hostility of those who find a pecuniary advantage in advocating the doctrine of non interference when great aggregations of wealth are trespassing upon the rights of individuals. We welcome such opposition—it is the highest indorsement which could be bestowed upon us. We are content to have the co-operation of those who desire to have the government administered without fear or favor. It is not the wish of the general public that trusts should spring into existence and override the weaker members of society; it is not the wish of the general public that these trusts should destroy competition and then collect such tax as they will from those who are at their mercy; nor is it the fault of the general public that the instrumentalities of government have been so often prostituted to purposes of private gain. Those who stand upon the Chicago platform believe that the government should not only avoid wrong doing, but that it should also prevent wrong doing; and they believe that the law should be enforced alike against all enemies of the public weal. They do not excuse petit larceny but they declare that grand larceny is equally a crime; they do not defend the occupation of the highwayman, who robs the unsuspecting traveler, but they include among the transgressors those who through the more polite and less hazardous means of legislation, appropriate to their own use the proceeds of the toil of others. 'Thou shalt not steal,' thundered from Sinai and reiterated in the legislation of all lands, is no respecter of persons. It must be applied to the great as well as the small; to the strong as well as the weak; to the corporate person created by law as well as to the person of flesh and blood created by the Almighty. No government is worthy of the name which is not able to protect from every arm uplifted for his injury the humblest citizen who lives beneath the flag. It follows as a necessary conclusion that vicious legislation must be remedied by the people who suffer from the effects of such legislation and not by those who enjoy its benefits.

CATARRH.

His Worst Enemy Defeated by

P. P. P., Lippman's

Great Remedy.

FOR THREE YEARS HE SUFFERED—COULD

HARDLY BREATHE AT NIGHT—ONE

NOSTRIL CLOSED FOR 10 YEARS.

Mr. A. M. Ramsey, of DeLeon, Texas, was a sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form. Truly, his description of his sufferings seem little short of marvellous. Instead of seeking his couch, glad for the night's coming, he went to it with terror, realizing that another long, weary, wakeful night and a struggle to breathe was before him. He could not sleep on either side for two years. P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, cured him in quick time.

DE LEON, TEXAS.

Messrs. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga. Gent: I have used nearly four bottles of P. P. P. I was afflicted from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet. Your P. P. P. has cured my difficulty of breathing, smothering, palpitation of the heart, and has relieved me of all pain. One nostril was closed for ten years, but now I can breathe through it readily.

I have not slept on either side for two years; in fact, I dreaded to see night come. Now I sleep soundly in any position all night.

I am 50 years old, but expect soon to be able to take hold of the plow handles. I feel glad that I was lucky enough to get P. P. P., and I heartily recommend it to my friends and the public generally.

Yours respectfully,
A. M. RAMSEY

THE STATE OF TEXAS—County of Comanche.—Before the undersigned authority on this day, personally appeared A. M. Ramsey, who, after being duly sworn, says on oath that the foregoing statement made by him relative to the virtue of P. P. P. medicine is true.

GAME BIRDS GOING.

Quail and Prairie Chickens Are Growing Very Scarce.

If Some Steps to Replenish the Stock in This Country Are Not Taken They Will Soon Become Extinct—Gun Clubs Are to Blame.

Western lovers of that beautiful sport, hunting wild game birds, must be well satisfied with the vigilance of the Illinois game warden, Mr. Blow, aided by those gentlemen who hold similar positions in adjacent states. Energetic as their efforts are, however, it is to be feared they come too late to save the prairie chickens (pinnated grouse.) No measures, it is certain, can ever make them as plentiful on our prairies as they were a quarter of a century ago. Even if their slaughter were forbidden for a term of years, the utmost vigilance on the part of Mr. Blow and his assistants could not prevent the annual destruction of large numbers. Quail are becoming equally scarce, and unless the different hunting clubs take some steps to replenish the stock, game of the grouse family will soon become extremely rare.

England has always been a great game preserving country, but even there, where the game laws are very stringent, it has been found necessary to import large numbers of birds from foreign countries.

The dark-necked pheasant (phasianus colchicus) has long reigned as the king of English game birds. This pheasant was first brought from Asia, but has been indigenous in England for centuries. They are polygamus in their habits, and as the brilliant plumage of the male bird is in contrast to the somber brown of the hen, good sportsmen can easily distinguish them apart. They invariably let the females pass unscathed, so that the supply is fairly well maintained.

It is impossible, however, when a covey of partridges gets up, to distinguish the different sexes, so that both male and female have to fall alike to the unerring aim of the English country gentleman. Consequently they would become very scarce could not eggs and birds be obtained from abroad. The first imported were the French, or red-legged variety (caccabis urfa), but they proved very unsatisfactory, as when disturbed they prepared to run rather than fly. In addition, they did not interbreed with the native variety, but being larger and more pugnacious threatened to exterminate them. A few years ago it was discovered that the Hungarian partridges not only very nearly resembled the English species, but would interbreed, and dwell in harmony with it. This discovery has led to the importation of myriads of these birds; indeed, the business has grown to such proportions that over a dozen firms are engaged in it, and last season over 100,000 brace were shipped from Fiume on the Adriatic, the only port for the large extent of country over which these birds are trapped.

Most of them are taken on the broad plains and low foothills of the Carpathians, and in the valleys of the Bohemian Alps. In the dense woods that clothe the lower spurs of the latter, pheasants are also very plentiful and large numbers are trapped and imported. In England live Hungarian partridges bring about $1 to $1.25 a brace (male and female), pheasants $2.25 to $2.50; partridges' eggs, $3 to $10 a hundred, and pheasants' about $7, a pretty high price considering that only about 80 per cent. of these eggs are fertile. They are usually hatched by bantams, or common barnyard fowls.

Both partridges and pheasants are prolific egg producers, their nests containing from 13 to 17 eggs, olive-brown in color, much rounded at one end, but pointed at the other. Their nests, however, are always on the ground, and the owners make but slight attempts to conceal them, so that the contents fall an easy prey to their many enemies. The English variety lay measurably well in confinement, but their eggs are frequently infertile. This, however, is not the case with the Hungarian birds, who, if not too closely confined, lay large numbers of eggs, a surprising percentage of which will hatch out. The young birds are much hardier and easier to raise than those of the English variety.

Their hardiness would enable them to withstand the rigors of this climate. So if some of our gun clubs, who have large territories at their command, were to obtain a consignment, their preserves would soon be stocked with this very desirable game bird. They never fly high, so that the expense of inclosing a few acres of land suitable for them to breed on would be trifling.

Another bird which has attracted the attention of gamepreservers in Ireland and Scotland, who control large areas of waste land, is the guinea fowl (gallina numidica). They are occasionally met with in this country in a domesticated state, but those who have shot them in the African jungles will readily acknowledge that few game birds surpass them, either in the excellence of the sport they furnish or their edible qualities. This bird has been strangely neglected by epicures in this country, though he is really better eating than any other of the domesticated fowls. In consequence hunting clubs could obtain large numbers
