The Greenville Market Keeps Climbing Up.

The days for the largest breaks on the tobacco market seem to be changing around. It used to be that Fridays were the big days, but last season some block sales that ran over to the next day somewhat put the farmers to changing around, and then Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays all got to be large days. While on other days the sales were fair in size, Monday was considered the poorest day of the five, less tobacco coming in on that day than any other.

This season started out pretty much the same way, with Monday behind the other sales days, but it was this Monday that has eclipsed the season's record so far, there being more tobacco on the market than any day since the opening.

Through the early morning hours there was a regular jam around the warehouses, wagons and carts coming faster than they could get inside. When the sales started at the Eastern at 9 o'clock every nook and corner of the floor was covered and the drive-way was still full of vehicles that could not find room to unload. It took two hours and a half to sell this one floor.

And the old Greenville was pretty much in the same fix, entire floor space chock full of bright-piles with several loaded wagons left standing in the drive-way. It took two hours to sell over the floor.

Down at the Star the buyers found things full up again when they struck that house at 2:30 for third sale. By now it was seen that things had to move up to prevent a block sale, and with the most rapid rattling the auctioneer could put in it took them until 4 o'clock to finish the floor.

And the Planters was still to be heard from. The buyers hurried up there and some of them wanted to engage stretchers to rest on when they found another house jam full. Seeing what was before them they waded in and the last we heard from out there the sale was still lively with a prospect of continuing until sunset.

All this in one day, and Monday at that. There was fully 150,000 pounds on the market and it sold at satisfactory prices. In quantity it broke the record of the season, and even in the entire history of the Greenville market there have been very few days when so much tobacco was here.

Weather Signs From the Sun.

If at sunrise there are many dark clouds seen in the west and remain there, rain will fall on that day.

If the sun draws water in the morning, it will rain before night.

When the sun rises with dim, murky clouds, with black beads and clouds in the west expect rain.

If the sun rises pale, there will be rain during the day.

If the clouds at sunrise be red, there will be rain during the day.

If the sun rises clear, then shadowed by a cloud and comes out clear again, it will rain before night.

Red skies in the evening precede fine mornings.

A red sun indicates fair weather.

A red evening indicates fair weather, but if the red extend far upward, especially in the morning it indicates wind or rain.

A very red sky in the east at sunset indicates stormy winds.

If the sun sets in dark, heavy clouds, expect rain the next day.

A bright yellow sunset indicates wind, a pale yellow wet.

If the sun sets pale, it will rain tomorrow.

A halo around the sun indicates the approach of a storm, within three days, from the side which is more brilliant.

If there is a ring or halo around the sun in bad weather, expect fine weather soon.

Haze and western sky purple, indicate fair weather.

A blur or haziness about the sun indicates a storm.

If the sun burn more than usual, or there be a halo around the sun in fine weather, expect rain.

When the sun in the morning is breaking through the clouds and scorching, a thunderstorm follows in the afternoon.

"Sunshine shower won't last half an hour;

Sunshine and shower rain again tomorrow."

Pale yellow twilight, extending high up, indicates threatening weather.

"As the days begin to shorten, The heat begins to scorch them."

Sundogs in summer indicates a storm.—Bosuton Transcript.

It Beat The Bike.

Alongside the highway was an old farmer ploughing out corn, and riding the razor-backed horse, man fashion, which drew the plough, was a girl of 16.

"Say, you!" called the bicycle agent, as he stopped his team, can't I sell you a bike for your daughter there.

"Agent, eh?" queried the farmer, as he leaned on the fence.

"Yes, I have the agency for a $50 bike. How many daughters have you?"

"Seven."

"Then you want at least three bikes, and I'll tell you what I'll do. If you'll take three—"

"Don't want 'em!" interrupted the old man. "You are a week too late. Seven or eight days ago them seven gals was jest dyin' fer bicycles, but I've made 'em take turns ridin' that ole horse fer half a day at a time and now you couldn't give 'em a machine for nothin'." Say, Mary!"

"What dad?" answered the girl on the horse.

"Want one of them bicycles?"

"Good Lawd, no!" she replied, as she wriggled about. "Let's finish 'ittin' around, so I kin go to bed for the rest of the week!"

They've Stopped Growing.

A baseball club from Eagles' store, which had been doing some lusty growing about what they could do for Greenville, came down and crossed bats with the latter Saturday evening. Our boys wiped them up with 14 to 11.

New Paper.

The Hickory Times, J. R. Whichard editor, has made its appearance. It is an eight column paper, well printed and filled with good matter. Nearly a quarter of a century in the printing office ought to qualify the editor of the Times for getting out a good paper.

All in One Day.

A farmville township man left home one morning last week to take a load of tobacco to market. Returning home late in the evening he found that his family and stock had increased during his absence. When he got through counting up the increase showed one baby, three kittens and twenty-five pigs.

MONDAY, AUGUST 3rd 1896.

THE WATCHTOWER.

Judge Robert Hughes, the ablest republican perhaps in Virginia, and a distinguished ex-journalist, has announced his purpose to support Bryan for president.

Governor Flower, flatulent goldbug, of New York, was defeated in his own home. His county, Jefferson, sends none but silver men to the democratic state convention. It was like reading a fellow out of the old party.

Ex-chief of Tammany, Richard Croker, is out for Bryan.

Rumor in Washington says that Cleveland will write a letter opposing the indorsement of McKinley. Possibly, but wait.

Efforts to have joint debates in Tennessee between Taylor, Tillman and Minams, the three candidates for governor, have fallen through.

The democrats and populists in California have agreed upon a fusion by which the democrats are to have five Bryan and Sewall electors and the populists four Bryan and Watson electors.

Newspapers in California are holding "straw election" for president. Thus far Bryan has 11,000 and Napoleon McKinley but 1,500.

McClure, goldbug flopper, puts McKinley's majority in protection robber Pennsylvania at 400,000. He and Singerly, the only two editors who pretend to be tainted with democracy in Philadelphia, are both for gold, and damning all men who are for silver.

The silver party of California are disposed to place their entire campaign funds in the hands of the democrats.

Judge W. R. Hammond, democrat, of Georgia is out for gold and against Bryan.

Butler is making too much noise in Washington, so it is reported. Butler is losing his head because he is so much "bigger" than he thought it possible for him to be.

Watson will stay in the race come what may. He is a huge fraud.

McKinley is out of jail and has spoken twice. His jailor, Hanna, let him out.

Here is the latest we have seen as to Dave Hill: "All doubt concerning the attitude of Senator David B. Hill toward Bryan and Sewall, the candidates of the democracy for president and vice president, was removed Sunday night by full confirmation of the report that Senator Hill had invited Mr. and Mrs. Bryan to dine with him and a few friends at Wolfert's Roost, the senator's home near Albany, this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Hoke Smith's successor, Ex-governor Francis, of Missouri, is an extreme Wall street "sound money" advocate. "Thar now!"

The New York Journal says the votes of bankers and railroad presidents are not so numerous as Hanna thinks. It says:

"The New York Central, Pennsylvania, and Southern Pacific railroads employ over a hundred thousand men, but the presidents of those roads control just three votes. We have the Australian ballot system now in almost all the states in the union."

The Washington Posts says: "Ex-Senator G. Davis, the father-in law of Senator Elkins, has come out for the Bryan and Sewall ticket. He presided last Saturday night at a democratic meeting at Elkins, the home of the senator, and made a speech favoring the democratic nominees."—Wilmington Messenger.

The Demand for Literature.

In no former political campaign has there been such a demand for literature as in the campaign which has just opened.

No sooner had Mr. Bryan delivered his great speech in Madison Square Garden, excepting the democratic nomination, than orders were received from all parts of the country asking for copies of the speech. It has kept the force of men employed at the national headquarters busy for the last weeks supplying these orders. As a campaign document, the popularity of Mr. Bryan's speech has never been equaled in American politics.

From the state of California alone an order has been received for 300,000 copies. Though California was the first state to order copies of the speech directly, others have rapidly followed suit. These orders which are now on file at national headquarters have come from every state in the union and constitute in the aggregate a demand for over 5,000,000 copies of the speech.

If these figures are not prophetic of democracy's overwhelming success in November, they show at least that never before in the history of this country have the people been more thoroughly aroused to the gravity of pending issues or sought more earnestly to ascertain the truth. Usually in the distribution of campaign literature the initial steps are taken by the national committee, but in the present campaign the popular demand for speeches and other documents has rendered unnecessary to a large extent, the exercise of this discretion.

One explanation of this demand is found in the fact that heretofore the issues of the campaign have been generally understood, or at least readily accepted by partisans arrayed against each other. In the present campaign, however, such a knowledge does not exist. Moreover, a spirit of independence has made its appearance among the masses. The people have shown a disposition to study the great problems of the day for themselves and to arrive at a solution of some kind according to their own methods of thought. This spirit of independence has brought hundreds and thousands of converts into the democratic stronghold. At no time has the democratic party been afraid to submit its cause to the people. To every man whose mind is not clouded by ignorance or greed the principles of the democratic party cannot fail to appeal successfully. In the calm, deliberate and patriotic judgment of the American people the cause of democracy is secure. No matter how much gold is dumped into the campaign by republican syndicates, it cannot purchase the deep rooted convictions of those who have made a deliberate study of the money question nor arrest the triumphant march of the democracy to success in November.

Such a demand for campaign literature, therefore, in spite of the millions which republican syndicates have put up, is indeed a most auspicious and gratifying indication. It dispels whatever doubt may have clouded the hope of democratic success and makes the victory of the people certain.—Atlanta Constitution.

Brooks—I say, Smithers can you spell blind pig?
Smithers—Of course.
"Well, let me hear you."
"B-l-i-n-d-p-i-g."
"No, that's wrong."
"Well, let me hear you spell it."
"B-l-i-n-d-p-i-g."
"You left the two i's out."
"Yes, if I put the two i's in it would not be blind, would it?"

Sang the Song at His Grave.

The remains of Professor F. Nicholson Crouch, the composer of "Kathleen Mavourneen," were buried Monday under the auspices of the Confederate Society in the Confederate lot at London park cemetery. The funeral was intended to be private, but four or five hundred people, mostly women, gathered about the humble home of the Crouch family on London street and the efforts of a squad of policemen were required to keep open a gangway for the mourners.

The combination hearse and carriage, a new device, was used. This is a large carriage, with a seating capacity for sixteen persons, the coffin being raised upon the roof of the carriage. The service of the Episcopal church was read by Rev. Robert H. Payne, of Calvary church, a select choir singing appropriate hymns. After the body had been lowered into the soldier's grave the choir sang "Kathleen Mavourneen." There were perhaps a thousand people gathered about, and many of them were moved to tears.—Washington Post.

CATARRH.

His Worst Enemy Defeated by
P. P. P., Lippman's
Great Remedy.

FOR THREE YEARS HE SUFFERED--COULD

HARDLY BREATHE AT NIGHT--ONE

NOSTRIL CLOSED FOR 10 YEARS.

Mr. A. M. Ramsey, of DeLeon, Texas, was a sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form. Truly, his description of his sufferings seem little short of marvelous. Instead of seeking his couch, glad for the nights coming, he went to it with terror, realizing that another long, weary, wakeful night and a struggle to breathe was before him. He could not sleep on either side for two years. P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, cured him in quick time.

DE LEON, TEXAS.

Messrs. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga. Gent: I have used nearly four bottles of P. P. P. I was afflicted from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet. Your P. P. P. has cured my difficulty of breathing, smothering, palpitation of the heart, and has relieved me of all pain. One nostril was closed for ten years, but now I can breathe through it readily.

I have not slept on either side for two years; in fact, I dreaded to see night come. Now I sleep soundly in any position all night.

I am 50 years old, but expect soon to be able to take hold of the plow handles. I feel glad that I was lucky enough to get P. P. P., and I heartily recommend it to my friends and the public generally.

Yours respectfully,
A. M. RAMSEY

THE STATE OF TEXAS--County of Comanche--Before me, undersigned authority on this day, personally appeared A. M. Ramsey, who, after being duly sworn, says on oath that the foregoing statement made by him relative to the virtue of P. P. P. medicine is true.
