Democrats Arcused.

The best kind of news has been coming in today from the primaries held in the different townships on Saturday. At all there was a larger attendance than in past years. Contentnea township reports between three hundred and four hundred present, which is unprecedented for a primary. We take it that this indicates that the Democrats of the county are aroused to the importance of earnest work in the coming campaign, and they have started in with a determination to win.

An Able Young Man.

Rev. A. Setzer, of Catawba county, came to Greenville Saturday evening and occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening. Mr. Setzer is a student of Wake Forest College being only in his second year at that institution. All who heard him speak in highest praise of the two excellent sermons he delivered here. Such ability and command of language as he possesses is found in few young men. He returned to Wake Forest today.

Where to Register.

The REFLECTOR is requested to call the attention of all voters living in the 2nd, 3rd and 4th wards of Greenville that registration books will be open at the Greenville Iron Works the proper days. Remember that an entire new registration is necessary for the coming election.

WILL THE SENATE ELECT THE VICE PRESIDENT?

The Columbia State, after a study of special dispatches in the Chicago Record, figures out that sufficient States will have Democratic-Populist electoral fusion to throw the election of Vice President of the United States into the Senate. If Mr. Sewall does not receive a majority of the electoral votes, the election is thrown into the Senate and only the two candidates receiving the highest number of votes are eligible. These will, if fusion is consummated as now planned, be Hobart and Sewall, and the Senate being for silver, it is presumed it will of course elect the Democratic candidate. The following, from the State, shows the status of fusion up to date:

In California fusion has been perfected with the unanimous concurrence of both conventions, and an electoral ticket of five Democrats and four Populists has been put in the field. At the last State election the Democrats and Populists combined had a majority of 28,000 over the Republicans.

In Wisconsin arrangements for fusion are in progress with every prospect of satisfactory completion. The Democrats will give the Populists two of the best places on the State ticket and the Populists will vote for the Bryan and Sewall electors.

In Washington fusion is complete, the Democrats and Populists dividing the electoral ticket equally.

In Utah the Democrats and Silver Republicans will combine on the Democratic electors. The straight Populists and McKinley Republicans, neither having much strength, will probably nominate straight tickets as a matter of form.

In Minnesota fusion is established, the Democrats getting four electors, the Populists four and the silver Republicans one. "The fusion is the most complete ever known in the State."

In Wyoming Democrats and Populists each have full electoral tickets in the field, but the indications are that the Populists will withdraw theirs in return for representation on Democratic county and legislative ticket.

In Arkansas there is no fusion. Democrats, Populists and Republicans are "going it alone." Of course the Democrats will win.

In Illinois fusion has been consummated, the Democrats having 20 and the Populists four electors. The latter may vote for Sewall instead of Watson.

In Colorado the Democratic convention named as electors two Democrats, one Populist and one silver Republican, and it is probable that this division will be accepted by the other conventions.

In Michigan union is complete. The electoral ticket has ten Democrats, three Populists and one Silverite.

In Nebraska the Democrats will probably get the support of the Populists for their electoral ticket and the Populists the support of the Democrats for their State ticket. The arrangements are in progress.

In Virginia an effort is being made to secure fusion, in which case the Populists may get three of the 12 electors.

In Iowa close fusion has been perfected, the Populists getting three electors. They and the silver Republicans will get a share of the congressional and State nominations.

In Georgia there is no fusion, and each of the parties will have its electoral ticket. In the event of a failure to secure a majority for any ticket the Legislature will choose electors. Of course they will be Democratic electors.

In West Virginia there are some impediments to fusion, but "Bryan is almost certain to get all the Populist votes."

In Kentucky there is a little friction between Democratic and Populist managers, but the Populists are expected to support Bryan and Sewall.

In Alabama the Populist are demoralized by their failure to elect a State ticket in combination with the Republicans. The conservative element want to support the Bryan and Sewall electors put out by the Democrats, while the radicals want to fight it out. There is no doubt of Democratic success.

In Oregon negotiations are in progress between Democrats, Populists and silver Republicans. The plan contemplates two Populists, one Democrat and one silver Republican as electors.

In Texas the Populist managers have fused with the Republicans and the bolting gold Democrats, the three supporting the McKinley and Hobart ticket. It is not believed, however, that the Populist vote can be delivered to McKinley.

In North Dakota the Democrats and Populists have fused, but the details are not given.

In Idaho the Democrats, Populists and silver Republicans have nominated the same electors, and Bryan will get 23,000 out of 25,000 votes cast.

In Kansas the fusion plan agreed upon gives the Democrats the electoral ticket and the Populists the State ticket. The combination is double-riveted.

In South Dakota fusion is agreed upon, but the details will not be arranged until some time this month. It is probable that Watson will be ignored in making up the electoral ticket.

In Louisiana, the Populists having a working fusion in State politics with the Republicans no fusion is likely.

In Maryland there is but a handful of Populists and they are not expected to put up an electoral ticket.

In Maine there were at the last election but 5,000 Populists. Many have gone over to Bryan and Sewall, while many who dislike Sewall will support McKinley.

In Ohio fusion has been arranged, and the Populists are to have five electors out of 23. They have polled as many as 52,000 votes.

In Tennessee the Populists are weak and no fusion arrangement has been made. They are expected to vote for Bryan and Sewall.

In Montana nothing has yet been done toward fusion. The State conventions still to be held will have to consider it.

In North Carolina there are three straight tickets, Democratic, Republican and Populist.

In Indiana the Democrats and Populists have fused by dividing the electoral vote equally.

The Touch of Midas

Midas was a king of Phrygia, dwelling upon the high table lands of Asia Minor, to whom the gods gave power to transmute by his touch every article into gold. The modern Midas, lives in Wall street, and the power of the laws of this country has furnished him an alchemy by which he transmutes such articles as he desires to gold. He is called Midas, but is known as Heidelberg, or Kleheimer, or Lazard, or Rothschild, or Belmont. He touched recently $62,000,000 of the bonds of this government and turned them into a golden profit of $8,000,000, that the government had. He has the farmers' wheat and corn and oats and hogs and meat and cattle and horses and turned them into a golden profit for himself, by means of cheapening produce and making money dear.

He touched the bone and muscle of the laborer and mechanic and artisan and made for himself a golden profit, by means of a high protective tariff.

He touched the patience and skill and toil of the small merchant and tradesman and gold flowed into his coffers, by means of trusts and combines.

He touched the administrators of the affairs of this country and reaped a golden harvest, by means of favoring legislation.

And now he is seeking to subject to his contaminating touch the suffrages of a free people, that from their wrecked liberties may flow a wider, broader golden stream into his coffers. Legend tells us that the ancient Midas perished miserably at the hands of an indignant people, whose whole produce he turned into gold. The modern Midas may profit by his example.--Durham Sun.

A Secret To Ink.

All the ink with which the United States government prints its paper money is made by one man. The father of the present manufacturer, a Mr. Eddy, invented the ink, but he never told any one how the ink was made until just before he died, when he let his son into the secret of its composition. Had a fatal accident happened to the inventor before he told his son about the ink the government printer would have been in a dilemma, for Mr. Eddy's invention is the only kind of ink that will print on the peculiar surface of the fiber of which government note paper is made.

The present Mr. Eddy employs only six men in the manufacture of his ink, and none of them is in the secret. Not one of them has yet seen Mr. Eddy in the interesting act of mixing the ingredients of which the ink is composed. He locks himself up in his own room two weeks in every year, and it is there and then that he mixes stuff enough to supply the government with ink for the ensuing 12 months and receives for this $50,000 a year.--Exchange.

Dead Ants' Heads Put to Use.

One curious fact about an ant is that the grip of its jaws or mandibles is retained for hours or even days after death. Knowing this fact has enabled the Indians of Brazil to put the heads of dead ants to use in their simple surgery. The sides of a wound are drawn together, and the necessary number of large ants are held with their heads to the ridge directly over the gash. When their jaws come together on the place where the skin has been separated, the insect's head is pinched off and left clinging to the severed skin, which they hold together until the wound is perfectly healed.--St. Louis Republic.
