WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 19.

Several important democratic conferences were held in Washington and vicinity during the present week, and the precautions taken to keep the subjects talked about at these conferences out of the newspapers have been successful. Among those taking part in these conferences were Senator Jones, chairman of the democratic National Committee; Senator Faulkner, Chairman of the Congressional Committee; Senator Butler, Chairman of the populist committee, and Senators German, Teller and Dubois, and National committeeman Scott, of the democratic advisory committee. It is enough for those who desire the election of Bryan and the triumph of free silver to know that the object of these conferences was to add to the certainty of that result, and that they were in every way satisfactory to those who participated in them. More could not be told without a violation of confidence, and without furnishing information which enable the McKimley crowd to throw obstacles in the way of certain plans. Suffice it to say that every man who participated in these conferences is certain that Bryan will be elected.

Democrats are unsparing in their criticism of Secretary Carlisle, who, by the way, is going to take the stump in Kentucky for Palmer and Buckner, for having written a letter saying in effect that he would redeem silver dollars in gold if the demand was made. Senator Faulkner declares this to be an invitation to the money sharks to raid the gold reserve of the Treasury and force the issue of more bonds, and expresses the opinion that it will be worth thousands of votes to Bryan and silver, by convincing people of the intention of the gold men to go still further than they have yet gone towards turning our financial interests over to half a dozen bankers in Europe and New York. He says this "emphasizes the necessity as well as the duty of those who believe in American financial independence to support the American policy represented by the democratic ticket."

Representative McMillin, of Tennessee, who has come off the stump long enough to finish preparing the democratic Campaign Book, says of the present situation, "From the beginning of the fight those well posted have known that the republicans had everything east of New York; that the democracy had everything south of the Potomac and Ohio rivers, and everything west of the Missouri river, and that it has got such a hold in the Northern states of the eastern portion of the Mississippi valley that the entire Maine election or the Vermont election have been insufficient to make even McKinley and Hanna feel secure. The democratic party, with all the handicaps that have placed it, is in a better position to win a victory today than it has been at this stage of the campaign in any contest in the last twenty years. We are going to win this fight. Maine and Vermont prove that the republicans are correct in their estimate of New England, just as Arkansas and Alabama proved that the democrats were correct in their estimates as to the situation in the South and West."

A well advertised public meeting of the "Sound Money League," of Washington, was attended by just seven people and three of them were newspaper reporters.

I will be prepared to show my new pattern fall and winter hats on Wednesday and Thursday next, and a cordial invitation is extended to the ladies. Come and see the beautiful new styles.
MRS. GEORGIA PIERCE.

Superior Court.

September term of Pitt Superior Court convened today, Judge A. W. Graham presiding.

The charge of Judge Graham to the grand jury was one that carried much instruction with it, giving clearly and pointedly such matters as should be called especially to their attention. He impresses the public as a man of fine legal ability, and he has the business of the court conducted in a business way.

The juries are composed as follow:

Grand Jury—W. G. Morgan, Foreman, Allen Adams, J. M. Williams, L. G. Whichard, C. J. Smith, W. R. Evans, W. G. Barnhill, M. C. Cotten, Jesse Tyson, J. D. Worthington, W. R. Ford, H. B. Smith, W. G. Carson, Cornelius Joyner, Freeman Vines, Robt. Worthington, Joseph McLawhorn, L. B. Burney

Petit Jury—F. M. Smith, E. D. Manning, T. C. Cannon, Jeremiah McLawhorn, R. J. Cobb, L. A. Mayo, W. H. Arnold, L. H. Rountree, B. H. Ives, J. A. Gardner, W. J. Norville, G. F. Evans, W. H. Cox, F. Ward.

Tillman at Kinston

In a letter to the REFLECTOR Dr. James M. Parrott, President of the Democratic Club, of Kinston, appoints the following as marshals on the 24th of September, in the grand parade to be had when Senator Ben R. Tillman, of South Carolina addresses that club.

GREENVILLE.—W. B. James, R. D. Cherry, D. J. Whichard, Jesse Speight, H. T. King, L. I. Moore, J. F. King, C. S. Forbes, J. E. Starkey, H. C. Hooker and G. M. Tucker.

QUINERLY.—J. C. Quinerly, J. B. Kilpatrick.

ROUNTREE.—H. E. Cannon.

AYDEN.—J. A. Harrington.

JOHNSON'S MILLS.—L. B. Mewborne, H. C. Smith.

FARMVILLE.—J. R. Davis, Benj. May.

FALKLAND.—J. H. Smith, T. L. Williams.

D. J. Parrott says they expect 10,000 people and that a cordial invitation is extended to Greenville and Pitt county.

I will sell at auction tomorrow, Sept. 22nd, one hundred and fifty watches and clocks on Court House square at 12 o'clock. W. S. RAWLS.

Hon. B. F. Aycock, Democratic nominee for State treasurer, will address the citizens at Pictolus on Saturday, Sept. 26, 1896. Everybody invited to hear this gifted speaker.

Some nights ago some one entered the yard of Mr. W. J. Fleming, a few miles from town, and stole the cushion and rug out of his buggy. He says he wishes the thief would either return the stolen articles or go back and take the buggy too.

George Woodward with piccolo Charlie Forbes with mandolin and Ollen Warren with guitar made some charming music at the central telephone office Saturday night. Eight phones were connected with central at the same time and people at the other end enjoyed the music. We hope the boys will meet there again.

The Best Company.

J. L. Stagg, Esq.,
Agent Accident Department,
Aetna Life Ins. Co.,
Greenville, N. C.

Dear Sir:—I hold accident policy No. 9787 in your Company.

On the 23rd day of June, 1896, while superintending work at my sawmill my arm was crushed between two logs.

On the 27th day of August I filed my claim with your company for indemnity for two weeks, claiming $25.

Your company, noting that my disability was for a period longer than I claimed, sent me their check dated Sept. 1st, 1896, for $26.78. This is a striking contrast with companies which prefer to scale a claim instead of paying the full amount.

I thank you and your company for this prompt and generous settlement, having paid me more than I claimed.

I commend your excellent company to those desiring the best insurance.

Yours very truly,
W. E. PROCTER.

GENTLEMEN'S FINE CLOTHING! A SPECIALTY.

It's not merely the beauty of stuff, or the stylish cut--its the fit, the finish, the exquisite stitching and pressing, the shaping of a pocket, the rounding of a corner; nothing forgotten or half done--all-round clothing. Take time to look thoroughly, to compare. There's plenty of cheap clothing, of half-price clothing. See it you want to buy it when you've seen this.

PROFITABLE PUBLICITY.

Sense in Advertising.

BY NATH'L C. FLOWLER, JR., OF NEW YORK, DOCTOR OF PUBLICITY.

There is nothing mysterious, remarkable, complicated or difficult about advertising.

Advertising is simply a suggestion, or a request, on the part of the advertiser that the public call to inspect and to buy that which the advertiser has for sale.

It is obvious that there must be something for sale if there be sale, and it is as obvious that something for sale might just as well not be for sale if nobody knows where it is and how to get to it.

The value of the greatest drama is as much in the audience as in the actors of it.

The value of a good thing is in how many people know the good of it.

There is no good to unknown good.

The best that is unknown is no better than the unwanted known.

A good thing will not sell unless people know of its goodness and where they can obtain it.

Advertising is simply the cheapest, the easiest, the quickest, and the most sensible way of connecting that which you have with those who may want it.

A Word in Season.

The greatest fight ever waged between the people and the privileged classes is now on. On the one side we see arrayed the business man, the tradesman, the farmer, the mechanic and the toiling masses. On the other side in solid phalanx are the bankers who have milked the treasury of its gold, railroad presidents who have grown rich without paying dividend, trust magnates who exact low prices from producers and extort high prices from consumers, beneficiaries of monopolies and of special privileges of every sort who have used the instrumentalities of government for the gorging of private coffers. This is the situation today.

It is a well-known truism, that all reforms start with the people and are conceded last by the privileged classes, hence this fight.

Now for our word in season. It is openly conceded by the advocates of monometalism that if the election should come off tomorrow or next week it would result overwhelmingly in favor of free coinage but by the time the idea of November roll around they hope they will have injected enough false argument, misleading and millionaire boodle into the campaign to thwart, misguide and befool the people again as they have done so often in the past. By such dishonorable, nefarious schemes, such for instance as the Democratic-Republican Convention at Indianapolis, they hope to escape the hand of retributive justice that has written their doom upon the wall.

In the face of these unvarnished facts we say to all Democrats—stand by your guns! No matter what pressure may be brought to bear, no matter what specious arguments may be advanced list not to the voice of the charmer, charms he ever so wisely. To your tents oh, Israel! and when our hosts are marshalled on the 3rd of November let it be to prove to insatiate greed and avarice that there is a power greater than their own.—Durham Sun.

Industry Dependent Upon Money Supply.

The addition of $100,000,000 or $200,000,000 to the world's money would not as a matter of course of itself bring prosperity. Even the addition of double this amount to the stock of money in the United States would not lead to any rivalry to the Garden of Eden, or of necessity set the country afire with prosperity. Money can do nothing of itself. Trade and industry are the only roads to wealth. But trade and industry are much more likely to flourish when money is abundant than when it is scarce, and do not flourish at all when money is not to be had. An expanding currency favors industry; a contracting currency strangles industry. Under the single gold standard the currency of the United States has in the past four years contracted by nearly $200,000,000. Under a bimetallic standard it should have expanded by that amount in the same time. That is why industry is for bimetalism.

The Rocky Mount Argonaut speaks in this way of a certain class of men to be found in every community:

Often men, from thorough selfishness, or inexcusable thoughtlessness, seem perfectly willing to contribute nothing to a measure that redounds to the general good while they are as much and often more benefited than others who help all they can.

Is it right, morally, to expect your more public spirited neighbors to spend their money for something that equally benefits you? Think of it calmly and ask yourself the question. Is it right? Is it honest?

An Indiana editor was going to marry a rich widow. Everybody said it was for her money and it made the editor weep to be accused of such mercenary thoughts and he persuaded the widow to turn over all her wealth to her daughter, so people couldn't say that. She did. Then the editor changed his mind and eloped with the daughter.

LIFE IN NICARAGUA.

Some of the Curious Customs of the Easy Going Natives.

The routine of daily life in Nica ragua is much simpler than in colder climates; there are no carpets to gather dust and moths, and there is very little furniture and few pictures and bric-a-brac to be dusted and cleaned. The clothing of the children is also much simpler, and the fash ions are not variable. The children of the lower class wear no clothing until 12 or 14 years old, and in the upper class one garment, a sort of shirt, is enough for home wear, and children sometimes go on the street in this simple garb. What marketing is not brought to the door is done by the master of the house, and so the women are free to loil in their hammocks and nurse their babies.

The delight of going shopping is entirely unknown. If anything in the dry goods line is wanted a serv ant is sent to the shop, who brings home an armful of whole pieces of the desired goods. If none of these suits, or if the senora desires to look at others, these are carried back, and another and another armful are brought. This same servant can be trusted to pay for whatever is bought, for they are very honest in money matters, only indulging in small pilferings. One of the servants at the college was accustomed to go to the treasurer every month to draw the salaries of the teachers, and she used to have each one's money wrapped up in a different part of her dress, and she never made a mistake by giving the wrong sum to any one.

While the women are very affec tionate, if death invades their homes you do not see the despair and gloom that so often reign with us in like affliction; they seem to thoroughly take in their religious belief that their dear ones are translated to hap pier scenes and that the separation is only temporary. The women of the family do not go to the cemetery with their dead; only the male mem bers and friends. There are no hearses, and the coffin is borne on their shoulders, and they are reliev ed by different relays every little way. Colored coffins are used for young people, blue being a favorite color. The coffin is usually rented by the lower class just for the fu neral, and the body is removed at the grave and interred in the ground, with nothing to preserve it from contact with the earth. The wealthy have vaults, or niches in the brick wall surrounding the cemetery, but these are only rented, and it is noth ing unusual to read an advertisement in the paper that if the relatives of such and such a one do not pay the rent of the vault, the body will be removed by such a date.

After a death in a house, the piano, if the family is rich enough to own one, is removed from the sala, or parlor, to the back of the house, and though it may be moved in a room or two nearer its former station dur ing the year, it is not opened for that length of time. After the death of the wife of President Gavala, his daughters lent their piano to Mrs.
Guzman, the wife of the Nicaraguan minister to this country, who had just come there as a bride, so that it might be used during their year of mourning and not be spoiled by being shut up and gathering damp ness, for during the rainy season ev erything mildews which is not ex posed to sunshine occasionally. —

Superstitions.

If you drive through a Russian village about 10 p. m., you will be struck by the absolute quiet that pervades the scene. Not a creature, man or dog, is visible moving about, the place has the air of a deserted village. Suppose by some rare unto ward chance you come upon a group of men standing together, apparent ly in conversation, you will notice that they speak in subdued tones and whispers, and wait so long as you please you will never hear them laugh. The cause is simply this:
These Russian peasants believe in evil spirits; but, unlike the Chinese, they believe that they are attracted,
not frightened, by sounds. And so, if some unlucky fate decrees that the mujik be out of doors after 11 p. m., he is a painfully silent man. This feeling also extends to some of the southern towns. Kiev, the holy city of Russia, is a model in this respect.
After 10 p. m. you may practically have the streets to yourself. —Black wood's Magazine.

Wilson Air-Tight Heater.

With Patent Automatic Smoke Doors.

The Wilson Heater, which is a stove for house heating, is the most remarkable that has ever been patented.

In the first place it radiates more heat than any stove known, and will save 25 per cent. in fuel over any stove made.

Second, with two or three ordinary sticks of pine stove wood it will keep the fire from 36 to 48 hours, and with ordinary care the fire will never go out.

Third, being entirely closed at the base there is no danger of fire, and it is the cleanest stove in use. It is not necessary to remove the ashes oftener than once a month. These stoves are made in different styles—the small one, which is made for bed-rooms, is specially recommended for health as well as comfort.

The Wilson Heater has a great advantage over any similar stove, because it has Patent Automatic Smoke Doors, which prevent the smoke from coming into the room when you take the top off to put in the wood. These doors are so constructed that they can be taken off and put back on in one minute. These stoves can be seen our store, come and look at them.
