The Law is Not Enforced.

A reader of the Scotland Neck Commonwealth sent a request to that paper to publish Section 1079 of the Code for the information of all concerned, and added that if this law had been enforced at Rocky Mount, a murder would not have been committed there at a recent public speaking.

Here is what the law says:

SEC. 1079.—It shall be unlawful for any person to sell or to give away, either directly or indirectly, any spirituous liquors, wine or bitters containing alcohol, within two miles of any place at which political public speaking shall be advertised to take place, and does take place, this prohibition to continue only during the day on which said public political speaking shall take place. And any person who shall violate this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than twenty dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding twenty days. Justices of the peace shall have original jurisdiction of this offence, upon view, or written information duly sworn to.

The campaign is now already pretty well advanced, but as yet we have not heard of an instance in which this law has been observed. Within the next few weeks several public speakings will take place in Greenville, and elsewhere, and according to the above law any person who sells or gives away liquor on those days within two miles of where these speakings are advertised to take place, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. It remains to be seen whether bar rooms are closed on days of public speaking, and whether the authorities take cognizance of cases of violation.

Closing of the Baseball.

The National League baseball season closed in the eastern cities last Saturday and in the western cities on Monday. The season of 1896 has been of more interest and more of a financial success than any previous year. Larger crowds have witnessed the games and better all-round playing has been done. The Temple cup games are all that is left of base ball for this year. In 1897 the season will begin about two weeks later than this season and last about that much longer in the fall. In other words, the contract season will be from April 13th to October 13th, instead of April 1st to October 1st, and the games will begin about May 1st, instead of April 16th. Baltimore won championship for the third time and Cleveland second place for the second time. Manager Tebeau has consented to play the first three Temple cup games in Baltimore today, tomorrow and next day. The three games in Cleveland will be played on October 7th, 8th and 10th.

The standing of the clubs at the close of the season are as follows:

	Won.	Lost.	Per Ct.
Baltimore,	90	39	.698
Cleveland,	80	48	.625
Cincinnati,	77	50	.606
Boston,	74	57	.565

Decided to Move.

Greenville Lodge No. 284, A. F. & A. M. held a special communication this afternoon to consider a motion to change the place of meeting from the present Lodge building to a hall down town. Thirty members were present and the vote for removal was 22 to 8. The upper story on the corner of the Elliott building now going up, the place where the Opera House formerly was, is being constructed for the use of the Masons as their place of meeting. The change cannot take place until the action of the Lodge is approved by the Grand Master.

Sparks & Allen's Show

Sparks & Allen's show arrived here Wednesday evening 4:30 o'clock and began at once to erect their tents in the rear of the Planter's Warehouse and make ready for the performance. They were greeted with a packed tent at night and general satisfaction was expressed on all sides. It was a very good show, there was not a dull feature in it. The acrobats, tumblers, contortionist and trapeze show was all up-to-date and in many instances surpassed any ever seen here. The troop of trained horses acted like humans and showed remarkable training. The trick mule was very funny and he took well. We commend this show and think it the best 25-cent show we ever saw. They had another performance today.

It Was the Way it Was Put

"I presume you gave the prisoner some occasion to strike you?" "Why, your honor, we were talking about free coinage and he made some statement that caused me to remark that he had been mislead and was arguing from the wrong premises and then he struck me." "Is that what he said to you, prisoner?" "Yes, that was the substance of it, your honor, but not the language. What he said was that I didn't know enough to pound sand in a rat hole and was talking through my hat like a jack-ass full of thistles and bull-nettles."

Land Sale.

By virtue of a decree of the Superior Court of Pitt county in the case of J. B. Cherry and the heirs at Law of T. R. Cherry against T. J. Jarvis, H. E. Daniel and W. L. Elliott, the undersigned Commissioner will sell for cash before the court house door in Greenville on Monday, the 2nd day of Nov. 1896, the following described real estate:

1. That part of lot No. 105 in the town of Greenville upon which the store formerly occupied by Mrs. R. H. Horne, now occupied by M. R. Lang now stands, and where the old Blue Front shop formerly stood, being the northern half of said lot.
2. That part of lot No. 105 in the town of Greenville upon which the store formerly occupied by Mrs. M. D. Higgs now occupied by Proctor & Co. and J. R. Cory now stands, being the southern half of said lot.
3. That parcel or track of land lying in Pictolus Township, adjoining the lands of J. J. Rollins, Metc. Holliday and others, and known as the James L. Langley place, containing 120 acres, more or less.

Items of Interest Gathered From Our State Exchanges.

Graham Gleaner: Nearly every day last week the rain fell in torrents, but the climax was reached about Wednesday when the lower bridge over Big Alamance and the new bridge over Stoney creek at the Faucette place were washed away.

Wilmington Dispatch: The continued rains in this section, the farmers say, are damaging crops and crushing hopes. There has been hardly a day within a month that rain has not fallen in Wilmington, and, though of short duration, some of them have been unusually heavy.

Charlotte Observer: A negro woman dropped dead Wednesday in one of Dr. O'Donough's houses on North College street and that night her colored friends "waked" her, and waked the entire neighborhood, as well, making the night hideous with their boisterous singing and marching. They kept it up until about 1 or 2 a. m. No one on North College street got any sleep till their orgies were over.

Newbern Journal: The revival services held at the Free Will Baptist Church under the auspices of Rev. L. B. Stilly have been largely attended and an unusual interest has been manifested by the congregation. A good deal of enthusiasm has been aroused by the eloquent and god-like minister and it is believed that there will be many accessions to the church.

Fifty New Yorkers Control the Country Because They Control Its Money.

Dr. Chauncey M. Depew is another man whose record on the money question has given him some uneasiness of late, although it must be said in justice to his unwavering devotion to the money power that Dr. Depew has always been a consecrated goldbug. Still the genial after-dinner speaker has been guilty of some very indiscreet remarks. In speaking of the wonder accumulations which had been amassed in this country within the last few years Dr. Depew on one occasion said:

"There are fifty men in New York who can in twenty-four hours stop every wheel on all railroads, close every door of all our manufacturing, lock every switch of all telegraph lines, and shut down every coal and iron mine in the United States. They can do so because they control the money which this country produces."

Had the New York orator been the most devoted friend to bimetalism in this country he could not better have portrayed the danger arising from the money power than in the striking language which has just been quoted. It is against such a menacing condition as the one described that the advocates of bimetalism are waging such a gallant fight in this campaign—Atlanta Constitution.

Bryan's Faith—If He is Defeated It Will Be by God's Decree and for the Best.

A gentleman who met Mr. Bryan in Knoxville and accompanied him through the State, relates a conversation had with him on the train one night.

Mr. Bryan was asked about his election—if he thought he would be successful, &c. He replied that he thought there was no doubt about it, giving figures and estimates. He was so enthusiastic that the gentleman in question remarked, after the whole matter was gone over:

"I hope, of course, that you are correct and believe that you are, but look here, with such a belief in you, should you be defeated, it will kill you sure."

"Not at all," quickly replied Mr. Bryan. "We are all in the hands of the Almighty and what He does with us is wise and proper. Now if I am defeated it will be because He decrees it and it will be either for my good or the good of the country. Our fate—the fate of every living being—is in His hands, and whatever He does is sure to be the right and proper thing. No amount of abuse, deception or trickery can defeat me unless it is His will and to this I humbly bow and accept whatever is in store for me, for I am sure it is for the best."

Here's faith for you and it was so impressed on the gentleman with whom he was conversing that he is convinced defeat will not leave a mark on him.

PROFITABLE PUBLICITY.

Fundamental Advertising.

BY NATH'L C. FLOWLER, JR., OF NEW YORK, DOCTOR OF PUBLICITY.

The experience of one half million of progressive, successful advertisers says, and has said for the last fifty years, that the only indispensable medium of advertising in the regular newspaper or periodical, and that all else to be of much value, must be used in conjunction with this class of publicity.

Flyers have their use, but flyers alone have never made profit.

Circulars are valuable, but unaided circulars have never built business.

Chromos, calendars and other kinds of printed matter and advertising novelties are used extensively, and deserve to be used but none of them have, without the assistance of periodical advertising, built up and held up business.

I do not mean to say that every man who does not advertise in some periodical is a fool, but the fools are the one who do not advertise in periodicals.

Does it pay to advertise in the newspapers?

Read the answer in the experience of nearly every retailer of success.

There are some things so axiomatic in quality that one insults the truth by attempting to prove the truth of them.

The value of periodical advertising is recognized wherever there is success.

BUSY VESUVIUS.

Showers of Lava Are Increasing the Mountain's Height.

Year after year and century after century Vesuvius puffs away. The first recorded eruption of Vesuvius was in 79 A. D., when Pompeii and Herculaneum were overwhelmed.
Between the first and sixth centuries nine eruptions are recorded, and since that epoch there have been 48 great ones.

The last destructive eruption was on April 26, 1872, when about 50 sightseers were killed and more than 40,000 people fled from Naples. Of the present condition of the ominous monster the Paris Herald says: Ve-suvius is 150 feet higher than it was nine months ago. The constant showers of porous lava have filled in one side of the old hollow crater and have built up the new cone, which, from its bold outlines, has greatly changed the appearance of the summit and is still changing it slightly every day. Formerly the volcano, as seen from Naples, had a rounded top, but now it comes to a wedge point.

A year ago visitors looked into the hollow of the old and somewhat cooled off crater. Of late they have gone inside the boundaries of the old crater to get a good look at the new cone, from the summit of which, at intervals of a few minutes, there is a gust of steam, laden with red hot ashes, which are sent into the air 200 feet or more. Before the steam has drifted away there is another rumble, a sound of watery explosion, and another shower of ashes.
Thus from a distance in the daytime there seems to be a constant curl of white vapor from the summit, but at night each separate eruption throws up a vivid light, which then fades away in a dull glow.

The natives who live on the slope of the mountain say that after the new cone has been built somewhat higher it will fall in of its own weight and close the present breathing hole. Then the mountain will be like a corked up bottle. A new vent will have to be made, and in the making of this vent there will be a fierce eruption, an overflow of lava and the formation of a new crater.

There was, indeed, a general belief that the renewed and growing activity of the volcano would lead to some sort of eruption, but it was hoped that it would be nothing more serious than a flow of lava down over the old and hardened beds. The last outbreak and the flow toward Resina, in the direction of the buried city of Herculaneum, was, therefore, not unexpected.

The large cone is simply a heap of cinders dignified by size. The ride to the foot of the cone consumes five hours, but it requires only ten minutes to reach the top of the funicular railway. Then there is a walk of ten minutes up the jagged edges of the huge crater to the bowl, and in this is the little cone thrown up by the recent eruptions.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Vogt and Huxley.

Like Huxley, his English prototype, Vogt was also an admirable lecturer. Vogt never allowed the opportunity of a pun to escape him, and his bonmots were at times hardly more elegant than they were appropriate, but, for all that, he was very popular, and equally so with the few women students of his class as with the men. He spoke in French with a decided German intonation, frequently relieving himself of a sigh brought about by an uncomfortably asthmatic condition.
His powerful bodily frame, dispro-portionably shortened through a generous development of tissue about the equatorial region, was in marked contrast to the tall and nearly upright carriage of Professor Huxley, whose slightly stooping head and shoulders reduced somewhat what might otherwise have been considered a more than average height. Huxley never entered the class lecture room except in a dress in which he was immediately prepared to go to the street; Vogt rarely appeared without a coat which did not in one or more places show visible signs of underlying shirt sleeves.

It Comes Right On.

Tremendous tobacco breaks on the Greenville market have ceased to be novelties, having become almost daily occurrences. Today there was a regular overflow of the weed, many wagons left standing outside that could not get in the warehouses at all. The Planters started the sale and held three hours, consuming the whole morning on one floor. That house and the East, together had enough tobacco for a whole day's sale to say nothing of what the Greenville and Star had. Piles were jammed in on every foot of space of the floors and driveways. Mark this: if tobacco was not bringing satisfactory prices on the Greenville market you would not see such immense quantities of it coming here day after day. Our market and warehousemen take the lead.

CASH HOUSE

Wilson Air-Tight Heater.

With Patent Automatic Smoke Doors.

The Wilson Heater, which is a stove for house heating, is the most remarkable that has ever been patented.

In the first place it radiates more heat than any stove known, and will save 25 per cent. in fuel over any stove made.

Second, with two or three ordinary sticks of pine stove wood it will keep the fire from 36 to 48 hours, and with ordinary care the fire will never go out.

Third, being entirely closed at the base there is no danger of fire, and it is the cleanest stove in use. It is not necessary to remove the ashes oftener than once a month. These stoves are made in different styles—the small one, which is made for bed rooms, is specially recommended for health well as comfort.

The Wilson Heater has a great advantage over any similar stove, because it has Patent Automatic Smoke Doors, which prevent the smoke from coming into the room when you take the top off to put in the wood. These doors are so constructed that they can be taken off and put back on in one minute. These stoves can be seen at our store, come and look at them.
