His Statement False.

When D. L. Russell spoke in Greenville on Saturday, 3rd inst., he gave as his reason for not engaging in a joint debate with the Democratic candidate for Governor, that joint discussions in the eastern counties where the speakings would be attended by a large number of colored people would provoke strife and bad feeling between the races, and he did not want to be a party to creating such disorder.

But this was just a dodge. He ought to have been in Greenville on Tuesday and seen the falsehood stamped on his assertion by the joint debate between J. H. Small and J. B. Respass. These two gentlemen, one a Democrat and the other a Republican, spoke here to a mixed crowd, and no one could ask to see a more orderly and well behaved audience than that which set before these two speakers.

Russel knew when he made the assertion that there was no more likelihood of disturbance being created at a joint discussion in the eastern counties than in any other portion of the State.

ng Savage in Jail.

A Scotland Neck special to the Richmond Dispatch says: Young Savage, the colored man who was arrested here some weeks ago for stealing goods and escaped from the Sheriff, and was subsequently captured in Philadelphia, is now in jail at Halifax awaiting his trial at November Court.

Savage made a confession that he had three confederates, but refused to give their names, saying he had sworn never to reveal them. When he was arrested in Philadelphia he had a letter on his person addressed to W. T. Smith. It was from Scotland Neck, but in the letter was a clipping from the Scotland Neck Commonwealth giving an account of Savage's escape from the officer, and this served to clinch Savage, who confessed at once to the detective who arrested him that he was the man wanted.

Through to Farmville.

Telephone connection was made with Farmville today. Manager Atkins was out there and placed phones in the stores of R. L. Davis & Bro. and W. M. Lang. The through line works like a charm, conversation over it being very distinct indeed.

The Farmville line runs by the store of C. D. Smith at the old Cobb store, 8 miles from town, where a phone has also been placed.

This new line is No. 8, all phone on it having the same connection at central office.

Smith and Hooker's horse, Bird Eye, won one of the races at Norfolk yesterday.

A poll of the compositors employed on the Chicago newspapers showed the following result: Tribune, for Bryan, 63; for McKinley, 42. Record, for Bryan, 82; for McKinley, 5. Chronicle, for Bryan, 60; for McKinley, 10. Inter Ocean, for Bryan, 57; for McKinley, 13. Times-Herald, for Bryan, 55; for McKinley, 4.

The gold bug papers, and the Republican party declare that there is enough money in the country to do business. Where is it? In the hands of the monopolies and being used to corrupt voters! That ought to be stopped also. Our free institution, and free ballot, are fast passing under this buying system. If the Republicans can buy the election, it is farewell to American independence. — Durham Sun.

Gov. Carr has called a flower congress to meet at Asheville October 21, 22 and 23, for the purpose of deciding upon a national flower and asking congress to adopt their choice. Gov. Carr has invited the governors of the various states to appoint delegates to attend this convention, and favorable replies have already come from the governors of Missouri, Nebraska, Pennsylvania, North Dakota, Ohio, Louisiana, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Maryland.

Hon. George Fred Williams, the brilliant young Democratic nominee for Governor of Massachusetts, has made a decidedly interesting if not prophetic discovery in regard to the nomination of Mr. Bryan. Said he a few evenings ago in his tammany Hall speech: "On July 10 Columbus discovered America. The idea of the republic was conceived on that date; on July 10th Andrew Jackson refused to charter the United States banks, and on July 10, 1896, William Jennings Bryan was nominated for President of the United States." Surely if there is any virtue in omens the foregoing discovery is a most suspicious sign, especially in view of the fact that Major McKinley received his nomination on July 18th, the fatal day on which the star of Napoleon was forever extinguished.

A Wife's Ten Commandments.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 2.—William Semeckbier, a well-to-do merchant, was granted a divorce today by Judge Hancey from his wife, Tillie, who it was proven beyond a doubt had been guilty of many indiscretions which a good wife would have shunned. William said that in spite of her own frailty, she was a most exacting wife, and added to the Biblical decalogue ten commandments of her own, which she had prepared and insisted that he should obey. He had a neatly engrossed copy, which he showed the Court. It reads thus:

- These are the new Commandments ten, Which wives make for married men:
- 1—Remember that I am thy wife, That thou must cherish all thy life.
 - 2—Thou shalt not stay out late at night, When lodges friends, and clubs invite.
 - 3—Thou shalt not smoke indoor or out, Or chew tobacco roundabout.
 - 4—Thou shalt with praise receive my pies, Nor pastry made by me despise.
 - 5—My mother thou shalt strive to please, And let her live with us in ease.
 - 6—Remember, 'tis thy duty clear To dress well throughout the year.
 - 7—Thou shalt in manner mild and meek Give me thy wages every week.
 - 8—Thou shalt not be a drinking man, But live on Prohibition plan.
 - 9—Thou shalt not flirt, but must allow Thy wife such freedom, anyhow.

10—Thou shalt get up when baby cries. And try the child to tranquilize. These my commandments from day to day, Implicitly thou shalt obey.

The husband said that Tillie had declared: "That is the way to treat men," when her own guilt was discovered.

A Chain of Evil.

Look at the drunkard. He's somebody's son. I don't know whose; and perchance somebody's husband—bleary-eyed, wretched fellow! I go up to him and say: "Poor drunkard, how came you here?" "I am here because that is here." "What is that?" It is the open saloon." I walk up to the saloon and say, "Oh, open saloon, the worst thing this side of damnation, how came you here?" "I am here because that is here?" "What is that?" "The statute law." I walk up to the statute law and say, "How came you here?" Because that is here." "What is that?" "The legislator." I walk up to the legislator, and say, "Why are you here?" "Because that is here." "What is that?" "The old deacon in the church who voted for me." Brother, you have seen a chain of iron links. This is a chain with five links in it. Let us go back again to the drunkard, "Where are you going?" "To hell." "Why?" "The Bible says no drunkard shall enter the Kingdom of Heaven." "Deacon, where are you going?" "Oh, I am going to Heaven. Away back yonder, forty years ago, I was converted, once in grace, alluz in grace." I have often wondered why a fellow didn't eat a big dinner and then sit dawn and say to his wife, 'Wife, once full' alluz full.' But I say to the old deacon, "Old fellow, the other end of your chain is going to hell." "Oh, well, I ain't." "You old hypocrite, don't you know that when the other end of the chain drops into hell, chug! you'll fall right in along with it?"—Golden Censor.

The Next House.

There will be 358 members of the next House. The New York Journal figures that 185 will be for free coinage; 162 against it; and 10 doubtful. The New York Times claims that the gold men will have 212, but in its calculation claims all of Wisconsin, West Virginia, 3 from California, 20 from Illinois, 12 from Indiana, 11 from Iowa, and 12 from Michigan. Such claims show how unreliable is the table. In the Journal's estimate, North Carolina is put down 6 for gold and 3 for silver. Unless the people's honest convictions are smothered, North Carolina will send 9 silver men to the House. Failure to do so will show that in three districts the people have voted for gold candidates while professing to favor free coinage. Will they be led into this Mark Hanna trap?—Raleigh News and Observer.

Dr. Talmage's Wise Words.

"During the last six presidential elections I have been urged to enter the political arena, but I never have and never will turn the pulpit in which I preach into a political stump. Every minister must do as he feels called on to do, and I will not criticize him for doing what he considers his duty; but all the political harangues from the pulpits from now until the 3rd of November will not in all the United States change one vote but will leave many ears stopped against anything that such clergymen may utter the rest of their lives."

Watch Out For Them.

Information comes to the News and Observer that for several weeks past there has been a steady importation of negroes into the State by McKinley's agents. They have been scattered throughout the larger towns, and it had been supposed the Democrats had not caught on to the scheme. It will be well for Democrats everywhere, particularly in the larger towns, to watch out for these importations and challenge them when they attempt to vote.—Raleigh News and Observer.

A Royal Editor.

One of the most interesting of newspapers is the New Zealand Te Pahi Matariki, or Pleiades, or Seven Stars. It enjoys the distinction of having a king for an editor. His royal highness Tawhiao is not, it is true, an independent sovereign like Emperor William, but when he descends from the royal throne to the editor's "easy chair" then, indeed, is he monarch of all he surveys, even of that otherwise independent personage, the "printer's devil."

The Pleiades is a small eight page paper, three columns on a page. It is printed in the English and native tongues. Sometimes the translation is in the center column, sometimes in one of the outside columns.

The Maori language is a Polynesian dialect. It closely approaches that of the Sandwich Islands, of the Navigator group and of Hawaiian.
Names of these mutually understand one another.

Some merchants stop their advertisements when times are bad. This is suicidal. The most brainy merchants increase instead of decrease their advertising in times of depression. It is obvious that when the public is in a condition to need more coaxing to spend money, then is the time to coax more.—Durham Sun.

Wilson Air-Tight Heater.

With Patent Automatic Smoke Doors.

The Wilson Heater, which is a stove for house heating, is the most remarkable that has ever been patented.

In the first place it radiates more heat than any stove known, and will save 25 per cent. in fuel over any stove made.

Second, with two or three ordinary sticks of pine stove wood it will keep the fire from 36 to 48 hours, and with ordinary care the fire will never go out.

Third, being entirely closed at the base there is no danger of fire, and it is the cleanest stove in use. It is not necessary to remove the ashes oftener than once a month. These stoves are made of different styles—the small one, which is made for bed rooms, is specially recommended for health as well as comfort.

The Wilson Heater has a great advantage over any similar stove, because it has Patent Automatic Smoke Doors, which prevent the smoke from coming into the room when you take the top off to put in the wood. These doors are so constructed that they can be taken off and put back on in one minute. These stoves can be seen at our store, come and look at them.
