WHAT IT COST THEM.

Amounts the Candidates Paid to Get Their Offices

The newly elected officers of the county have filed with the Superior Court Clerk statements of expenses incurred by them to secure their election. Some figures from these accounts may prove interesting to our readers.

A. J. Moye, Senator elect, places his expenses at $27.10, while Slade Chapman and E. V. Cox, the Representatives, put their figures at $5.40 and $16 respectively.

W. H. Harrington, Sheriff elect, foots his amount up at $88.99½. His statement is more explicit than any of the others and is the only one that includes what was spent for whiskey as belonging in the list of campaign expenses.

J. J. Perkins, Register of Deeds elect, comes second largest in amount, placing his expenses at $87.75. His affidavit sets forth that he lost his expense book and the items are given as best they can be recalled from memory.

J. A. Thigpen, Treasurer-elect, puts his expenses at $12.75, all made in one payment to the chairman of the executive committee.

B. J. Wilson, Coroner-elect and J. R. Jenkins, Surveyor-elect, made affidavits that they spent nothing at all.

Of the County Commissioners-elect, John Thompson was the only one who had any expense, his account being even $5. W. M. King and J. L. G. Manning both making affidavits that they did not spend a cent on their election.

We did not examine closely the statements of the Constables and Justices of the Peace over the county, but most of those glanced at said they spent nothing at all.

The district and State officers had to render their statements to the Secretary of State. The Raleigh Press Visitor says that Governor-elect D. L. Russell put in his account at $599, and that Harry Skinner, Congressman-elect for this district, put his at $653.04. Perhaps the most interesting item in the Colonel's expenses is $100 to Paleman John, of Elizabeth City, the editor of the only dyed-in-the-wool Republican paper in the district.

An Insult to the South.

The New York World is a great newspaper, but that it is unfriendly to the South and the interests of this section is well known. The World has a great many subscribers throughout the South, but it does not merit a single one, as it loses no opportunity to vilify and slander the very people who are its patrons. Just read the following from a recent issue of that paper:

"The Bryan electoral vote is narrowing to the exact size predicted by the World on the basis of greed, debt, riddled poverty and ignorance. Mr. Bryan has carried the five silver-mining camp States—Nevada, Colorado, Idaho, Montana and Utah—all owned and controlled by the greedy Silver Trust. He has carried Washington, Kansas and Nebraska, three of the six purely agricultural States adjacent to the silver States and ruled by farmers who together owe more farm mortgages than they own farms. He has carried the twelve States that ruined and impoverished themselves in the Confederacy and that have so large an ignorant element that about one-fourth of the white voting population cannot even read and write. And those twenty States are all he has carried."

Left Over From Summer.

A pair in a hammock attempted to kiss. And in less than a jiffy—change.

Dragged Off By a Hog.

The one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Springs, who formerly lived here, but who now live at Blowing Rock, had a narrow escape from being devoured by a vicious hog a few days ago. The hog belongs to Col. Celt, who had bought it from Mr. Springs, but it had strayed back to its old home. The child was playing on the porch, Mrs. Springs, who was alone in the house, heard it screaming, and running out, saw the hog dragging it across the yard by the arm. The hog succeeded in dragging the child partially under a woodpile before the mother could rescue it by beating the hog over the head. The child's arm was badly injured, but otherwise it was none the worse from its terrible experience.—Charlotte Observer.

Some Billville Philosophy.

The election's over, but some of the candidates don't take a newspaper, and they're still running.

We named our last boy "Bill," in honor of Bryan, and, just like the rest of 'em, he came on the 1st of the month.

All is not lost. We've still got camp-meeting and three meals a day.

It was a campaign of education, but a powerful rainy spell.

We won't have any democratic procession in Billville. We've all got the rheumatism.

The national motto is, not to have hard feelin's; but how can folks fall ten stories and not have 'em?

Marriage Licenses.

The Register of Deeds issued license to the following persons during the first two weeks in November:

WHITE.

J. J. Smith and Mary Haddock.
W. T. Hunter and D. O. Gay.
C. P. Spruill and Sadie Short.
J. H. Thomas and Bessie L. Bailey.

COLORED.

Joe Frizzle and Rena Ormand.
Emanuel Carney and Maggie Little.
Moses Moore and Bettie Leathers.
J. H. Hines and Nora Harper.
John Williams and Harriett Korne-gay.
John Stewart and Estelle Young.
Miles Short Jr. and Arnecia Artis.

The Trusts Prosper.

"During the last week," says the New York World, "there has been an advance of 2½ per cent in the stock of the Cotton Seed Oil Trust, of 6½ in that of the Sugar Trust, of 2½ for the Tobacco and Cigarette Trust, 8½ for the Illinois Steel Trust, 3 for the National Lirseed Oil Trust, 4½ for the Rubber Trust and 5½ for the General Electric syndicate." There has been no advance in the price of cotton, tobacco or land. No doubt this is glorious news to the negroes and poor white folks who voted for McKinley. They get so much benefit out of the prosperity of the trusts, you know.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS
Monthly Illustrated
AN INTERNATIONAL MAGAZINE
Edited by ALBERT SHAW

"If only one magazine can be taken, we would suggest the REVIEW OF REVIEWS, as covering more ground than any other magazine."—Board of Library Commissioners of New Hampshire, 1896.

THIS magazine is, in its contributed and departmental features, what its readers, who include the most noted names of the English-speaking world, are pleased to call "absolutely up to date," "thoroughly abreast of the times," "invaluable," and "indispensable." It is profusely illustrated with timely portraits, views, and cartoons. Its original articles are of immediate interest, by the best authorities on their respective subjects. The Editor's "Progress of the World" gives a clear, rightly proportioned view of the history of the human race during the current month. The "Leading Articles of the Month" present the important parts of the best magazine articles that have been written in every part of the world. The newest and most important books are carefully reviewed. Indexes, chronological records, and other departments complete the certainty that the reader of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS will miss nothing of great significance that is said or written or done throughout the world.
