ORIGINAL OBSERVATIONS.

The Democrats gave thanks on Thursday because the political cyclone was no worse.

McKinley will graduate from the electoral college with 272 votes. Bryan gets 175 votes.

The more we do to add to the happiness of others the more sunshine and contentment comes to us.

There is but little difference in the ways of avarice—man runs after a dollar while the dog follows a scent.

Lives of great men oft remind us that you can have a nerve sublime, and refusing to pay promptly, get your goods on six months time.

You can't get into heaven with a lying tongue or a hand that robs, and as the way to heaven is by the golden stairs, the sooner you drop your misery making and devote your life to helping those who are weary and heavy laden and add to the happiness of the entire world, the faster will you climb, the higher you can go, and the less your joints will ache as you climb up and up.—Orange (Va.) Observer.

A Dangerous Obstruction

Some of the draymen hauling to the depot have been using a portion of the sidewalk between the Farmers Home and the corner of Forbes & Moyer's prize house. Friday Policeman Cox had several hands filling up the sink in the sidewalk, and to prevent further driving on it a fence was built next to the street and two posts were set up, one of them almost in the middle of the walk. It strikes us that this last was a very silly piece of work. The danger of having posts set up in the middle of such a frequently used sidewalk can be seen at a glance. Unless a light is placed on or near the posts there is danger of people going to and from the depot at night running against them. We can't see that the town has any more right to place a dangerous obstruction on a sidewalk than an individual has, and if anyone gets hurt over those posts it will give occasion for a damage suit.

Prophet Hicks' Prediction.

Rev. Ira P. Hicks, the famous weather prophet, has made the following prediction: "The month of December will be one of the most severe that we have experienced in years. It is not likely that the storms will be dangerous, because they do not come at the periods of the year when dangerous storms are to be expected. But you will get all the old fashioned blizzards you want during the last part of that month. Things will grow interesting about the 19th of the month and will continue until December 30th. We will have a good sprinkling of bad weather before that, for the winter will begin early and be a cold one, but the centre of the worst period begins December 19th. During this time the influence of Mars will be added to others, producing a commotion on the earth's atmosphere which will be felt by all inhabitants."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

There are 119 insurance companies doing business in North Carolina.

The frontispiece of the December Review of Reviews is a reproduction of Tissot's beautiful painting, "Suffer Little Children to Come unto Me."

This is the glorious season of the year when you wear an overcoat one day, a thin coat the next, a porous plaster the third and a doctor's bill the fourth.

The foot ball clubs of North Carolina and Virginia Universities played a match game in Richmond on Thanksgiving Day, and the result was a complete defeat for the North Carolinians, the score being 46 to 0 against them. Our boys better clip their hair and look after their books, and by so doing they may be able to make a better record both for their school and for themselves than on the sporting field.

Following is the official vote for State officers: Governor: Russell 154,052, Watson 145,416, Guthrie 30,032, scattering 799; Lieutenant Governor: Reynolds 152,915, Mason 144,930, Dockery 32,940; Secretary of State: Thompson 184,085, Cooke 145,109; Auditor: Ayer 183,262, Furman 145,087; Treasurer: Worth 184,948, Aycock 144,666; Attorney General: Walser 182,345, Osborne 145,874; Superintendent of Public Instruction: Mebane 184,677, Scarborough 144,840.

Flashy Notes.

A dollar never buys much for a stingy man.

Misfortunes and imprudence are often twins.

It is better to be right and poor than wrong and rich.

Better be a lamp in the house than try to be a star in the sky.

There is no virtue in doing right simply because we have to.

How many times good fortune has come to us through our mistakes.

If we try to please everybody we shall soon have the respect of nobody.

Do what you can do well and you will soon be able to do much better.

Time is wasted trying to make a trotter out of a horse with a broken leg.

The man who thinks his sin will never find him out has deceived himself.

The man dies well who dies with the consciousness that he has done his best.

The man who loafs when he should be at work will have to work when he might rest.

There are people who would like to do good if it could be done without effort or sacrifice.

Many a man grovels in the dust who has an arm long enough to reach the sky if he would only put it out.

Many a man is screening gravel who might be dressing diamonds had he properly improved his time.—Ram's Horn.

A Fellow Feeling.

"You don't look literary," said the poet, "though you say you are. Those rags—"

"Hold!" cried the tramp. "I have been trying to make a living by selling your books!"

Then the poet put his arm around him, and they went in and ordered dinner.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27th 1896.

There is at least one Republican Senator who thinks that the McKinley administration will have to borrow money very early in its career, notwithstanding the assertions of the party stump speakers and editors during the campaign that it would never, under any circumstances, do such a thing. Senator Chandler not only thinks that the McKinley administration will have to borrow money, but he has prepared a plan for it to do so, and it is supposed that he will put it in the form of a bill, which he will introduce in Congress. His plan is in short to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to borrow as much money as may be needed to make up the difference between the government receipts and expenditures so long as there is a deficit, the loans to be made payable in a short period. Mr. Chandler seems to agree with the statements made on the stump by silver men, that the election of McKinley would mean among other things a further increase in the National debt by the Government borrowing more money, but other Republicans will favor exhausting all other methods of trying to pull through before resorting to another loan in any shape.

Even if there was a Republican majority in the Senate, they could not accomplish any tariff legislation at this session of Congress, unless some way could be devised of reconciling the wide difference of opinion among them as to what ought to be done. There is some talk of an attempt to add to the government revenues by internal revenue legislation, and the project of adding $2 a barrel to the tax on beer, which came so near being incorporated in the Wilson tariff bill by the Democratic Ways and Means committee of the last House, has been revived and may be recommended in President Cleveland's annual message. The influence of the brewers killed it when it was proposed before, and now in addition to that it will have to contend with the opposition of the high tariff Republicans who want to leave the whole revenue question just where it is in order to have an excuse for an extra session of Congress.

The vacant seat on the bench of the Court of Claims which gossip had assigned to one of the members of President Cleveland's cabinet went to Assistant Attorney General Howry, whose official duties have made him thoroughly familiar with the business of this court. Judge Howry's legal attainments are high and there is no personal objection to him, but if the idea advocated by a considerable number of silver men, hanging up all of Mr. Cleveland's nominations in the Senate, be carried out, his nomination will fail with all the rest.

Whatever may be one's individual opinions, it is clearly apparent that the action of gold Democrats, in trying to get the administration to remove Democratic officials in a number of States because they supported Bryan, is not calculated to wipe out the existing bitterness between the regular Democrats and the bolters. In the Post Office department alone attacks are being made by the bolters upon more than fifty Presidential postmasters. It is not likely that any considerable number of these, or any other officials the nomination of whose successors has to be confirmed by the Senate, will be removed, because, whatever may be the result of the proposition to take no action upon any nominations, it is certain that the Senate as at present constituted will not confirm the nomination of any gold Democrat for a position from which a man was removed for no other reason than that he followed his convictions and supported silver. That knowledge will probably prevent action by the administration on the complaints of the gold Democrats.

The four democratic Senators who bolted the nomination of Bryan—Palmer, of Ill.; Vilas, of Wis.; Gray, of Del., and Caffery, of La.—will not be admitted to the caucus of democratic Senators which will be held as soon as Congress meets, for the purpose of deciding upon a line of party policy during the session. In addition to the party caucus there will be a silver caucus, attended by the populists, the silver republicans and the democrats, and it is expected that an agreement will be reached under which the silver Senators will act together in all matters concerning finance. While it is not thought that the bolting gold democratic Senators will caucus with the republicans it is believed that they will vote with them upon financial questions.

The republicans of Washington are in a state of mind because a gold democrat has been slated for chairman of the McKinley inauguration committee, and they have made a vigorous protest against his being given the place, both to Mark Hanna and to McKinley, and the local republicans are right, too; but inasmuch as the gold democrat who has been promised the place was a big contributor to Mark Hanna's campaign fund their protest will probably count for nothing. It is customary to have all parties represented on the inauguration committee, but if this gold democrat gets what he paid for it will be the first time that a chairman of the committee has not been a member of the party which elected the President.

LETTER FROM TEXAS.

ANCIENT MISSION LABAHIA (Near Goliad) Oct. 23rd '96.

TO THE EASTERN REFLECTOR.

MR. EDITOR.—I have written several times to the REFLECTOR in 1892 and 1893, and my letters had appeared in its columns.

To-day I am standing on historical ground, sacred especially to the memory of heroic Fannin and his men, the Mission of LaBahia, on the south side of the charming and picturesque San Antonio river. On the other side a little to the north west the city of Goliad is perched on the height. LaBahia, as a mission, was founded early in the 18th century (1715) by Don Domingo Ramon. Franciscan Friars evangelized the adjacent Indian tribes. The ruins upon which I stand and write these lines, still give evidence of those glorious times of Texas' colonization by the Spaniards.

This mission was founded on a point of strategic value, inclosed a square or about 4 acres, which surrounded by massive stone walls 12-16 feet high, at the corners bastions or turrets had been erected for a better defense was indeed a powerful fortification. I had said the walls are partly tall, cacti, shrubs and wild flowers growing now on top of them, but the venerable church is still standing and divine services are occasionally held within its sacred walls. It withstood the storms of time, though the walls are perforated by many a cannon ball fired at the building during the gallant struggle that gave Texas the final liberation from Santa Anna's rule.

The church served in times of war as a last refuge of the garrison and the people that lived in and near the mission. It is still a formidable building towering high above the walls of the fort. In front of the church yet inside the fortification wall is a small square that served as a burial place according to the customs of those days and a few crosses mark the last resting place of some of those early colonists. Among the mission a number of Mexican huts are scattered, inhabited by descendants of many a noble Spanish family, but they are poor, now yet cling tenaciously to the few acres of land which were left them by their ancestors.

I linger and linger, I cannot leave the place, it seems to me as if an inward voice is telling me: "This is the last time you will behold this beautiful romantic, historic and venerable spot." Like this spot lies in ruins, so my life is a ruin, my career is check mate yet while this place lives forever in history I soon shall be forgotten by those that were so dear to me. This is, I think, the last message I send to North Carolina to my beloved ones and to my few friends.

SAN DIEGO, TEX., Nov. 20.

After I left the Mission I traveled southward through the counties of Bee, Live Oak, Nueces and Duval. In the latter county I was suddenly seized by a violent fever on a Mexican ranch. For several days I was in great danger and had not the Mexicans nursed me so tenderly, I think I would not be any more among the living. I am gradually improving and it is my resolution to stay here until my earthly career will end and a solitary grave receive my remains. I most heartily wish that North Carolina will prosper, but I also would like to see that some enterprising young and old North Carolinians would come out here and settle on the thousand and thousand uncultivated wild lands of Texas, where now so many families from the old States have found good homes, where cattle, horses, and sheep are roaming about the whole year without need of a shelter, where corn planting begins in January, where corn matures in June, cotton picking likewise begins in June.

There are thousands of so called State school lands that can be bought from the State at $1.00 per acre on forty years time (if desired) at 3 per cent. interest, so that the first payment on a 320 acre tract is but 8 dollars—and the same sum every year until paid in full. Of course if any one wishes to pay the whole amount at once, he may do so.

Where can a poor, starving man find better inducements?

My best wishes to the REFLECTOR. Respectfully,
J. A. LORENZO DE VISCONEI.

CATARRH.

His Worst Enemy Defeated by
P. P. P., Lippman's
Great Remedy.

FOR THREE YEARS HE SUFFERED—COULD

HARDLY BREATHE AT NIGHT—ONE

NOSTRIL CLOSED FOR 10 YEARS.

Mr. A. M. Ramsey, of DeLeon, Texas, was a sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form. Truly, his description of his sufferings seem little short of marvelous. Instead of seeking his couch, glad for the nights coming, he went to it with terror, realizing that another long, weary, wakeful night and a struggle to breathe was before him. He could not sleep on either side for two years. P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, cured him in quick time.

DE LEON, TEXAS.
Messrs. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga.
Gents: I have used nearly four bottles of P. P. P. I was afflicted from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet. Your P. P. P. has cured my difficulty of breathing, smothering, palpitation of the heart, and has relieved me of all pain. One nostril was closed for ten years, but now I can breathe through it readily.

I have not slept on either side for two years; in fact, I dreaded to see night come. Now I sleep soundly in any position all night.

I am 50 years old, but expect soon to be able to take hold of the plow handles. I feel glad that I was lucky enough to get P. P. P., and I heartily recommend it to my friends and the public generally.

Yours respectfully,
A. M. RAMSEY.

THE STATE OF TEXAS—County of Comanche.—Before the undersigned authority on this day, personally appeared A. M. Ramsey, who, after being duly sworn, says on oath that the foregoing statement made by him relative to the virtue of P. P. P. medicine is true.

FADS IN THINGS TO EAT.

Articles of Diet Which Are Alleged by Cranks to Have Medicinal Value.
Celery is invaluable as a food for those suffering from any form of rheumatism, for disease of the nerves, and nervous dyspepsia.
Lettuce for those suffering from insomnia.
Watercress is a remedy for scurvy.
Peanuts for indigestion. They are especially recommended for corpulent diabetics. Peanuts are made into a wholesome and nutritious soup, are browned and used as coffee, are eaten as a relish simply baked, or are prepared and served as salted almonds.
Onions are almost the best nerve known. No medicine is so useful in cases of nervous prostration, and there is nothing else that will so quickly relieve and tone up a worn-out system. Onions are useful in all cases of coughs, colds and influenza; in consumption, insomnia, hypochondria, scurvy, gravel and kindred liver complaints. Eaten every other day they soon have a clearing and whitening effect on the complexion.
Spinach is useful to those with gravel.
Asparagus is used to induce perspiration.
Carrots for sufferers from asthma.
Turnips for nervous disorders and for scurvy.
Raw beef proves a great benefit to persons of frail constitution and to those suffering from consumption. It is chopped fine, seasoned with salt, and heated by placing it in a dish of hot water. It assimilates rapidly and affords the best nourishment.
Eggs contain a large amount of nutriment in a compact, quickly available form. Beaten up raw with sugar they are used to clear and strengthen the voice. With sugar and lemon juice the beaten white of egg is to relieve hoarseness.
Honey is wholesome, strengthening, cleansing, healing and nourishing.
Fresh ripe fruits are excellent for purifying the blood and toning up the system. As specific remedies oranges are aperient. Sour oranges are highly recommended for rheumatism.
Cranberries for erysipelas are used externally as well as internally.
Lemons for feverish thirst in sickness, for biliousness, low fevers, rheumatism, coughs, colds, liver complaints, etc.
Blackberries as a tonic. Useful in all forms of diarrhea.
Tomatoes are a powerful aperient for the liver, a sovereign remedy for dyspepsia and indigestion. Tomatoes are invaluable in all conditions of the system in which the use of calomel is indicated.
Figs are aperient and wholesome. They are said to be valuable as food for those suffering from cancer; they are used externally as well as internally.
Apples are useful in nervous dyspepsia; they are nutritious, medicinal and vitalizing; they aid digestion, clear the voice, correct the acidity of the stomach, and are valuable in rheumatism, insomnia and liver troubles. An apple contains as much nutriment as a potato in a pleasanter and more wholesome form.

Grapes dissolve and dislodge gravel and calculi and bring the stomach and bowels to a healthy condition.
Pie plant is wholesome and aperient; is excellent for rheumatic sufferers and useful for purifying the blood.—House-keeper.
A Frosty Mine.
The ice-covered regions of the far north doubtless contain many treasures which the inhabitants of sunnier climes would fain possess. Deposits of coal have been found in Greenland, and precious metals are known to exist within the arctic circle. Whether these riches of the north will ever be distributed through the marts of the world is a question for the next century to answer. At present the most northerly mine in existence is said to be that of Omalik on the Fish river in the northwest corner of Alaska in latitude 65 degrees north. It produces lead and silver, principally the first named, and its lodes are very rich. But the severity of the climate is a serious obstruction to the working of the mine, which has to be abandoned every year about the beginning of October, only to be resumed late in the following spring.—Youth's Companion.

BRIEF BUT INTERESTING.

The Story of an Interview with the Grand Old Man.

The correspondent of a London paper was seated on the stairs leading from the peers' gallery one day, when Mr. Gladstone happened to come downstairs unobserved by him. As the correspondent blocked the way the Grand Old Man said to him, politely: "Will you kindly let me pass?" The question at once suggested a brilliant idea to the newspaper man. He rushed to the telegraph office and sent this dispatch to his paper: "I had a somewhat brief but profoundly interesting conversation with Mr. Gladstone last evening, meeting the right honorable gentleman in the lobby," etc. Mr. Gladstone never denied the authenticity of the half column of conversation that followed.

A MYSTERY OF THE RIFLE.

Unaccountable Result of Shooting from a Vise.

Something that no man understands is why a rifle, clamped in an immovable vise, will not put a bullet in the same hole every time, even if the wind does not interfere. A correspondent of Shooting and Fishing, tells how he put a rifle of .22 caliber into a vise and fired it ten times, the sights being always aimed directly at a mark. The bullets went all over a four-inch circle at 50 yards. Theoretically all ought to have gone into the same hole.
A man who holds his rifle gripped hard at one time and easily at another will not shoot as well as one who takes the same hold of his rifle every time. The best results are obtained from bench rests when the man puts his shoulder against the rifle butt.

Died.

We regret to learn of the death of Mr. H. A. Rountree, which occurred about a quarter past 3 o'clock this afternoon at the home of his mother, Mrs. L. C. Rountree, in this town. About two weeks or more ago he had a yellow chill but had so far recovered as to be able to get up and walk about in the house. Last Monday he had another chill and was very sick from it, but again rallied and was thought to be doing very well, when today he had a sudden relapse and passed away. He was nearly 31 years old and leaves a wife and two children. To these and his mother and brothers we extend sympathy.

The interment will take place tomorrow in the family burying ground on the Rountree farm, near town.
