FIRE AT WILLIAMSTON.

Two Brick Stores and Contents Destroyed.

(Special to Reflector.)

WILLIAMSTON, N. C., Jan. 4.—Lately several attempts have been made to burn buildings in Williamston, and the fire fiend paid the town another visit early this morning.

Just before 2 o'clock the night watchman discovered the fire and gave the alarm. The fire was found in a block of two brick stores owned by J. R. Mobley and occupied by A. J. Mizell and F. K. Hodges. Mizell kept a grocery and bar, and Hodges kept a toy store with a restaurant in the rear.

The fire originated in the Mizell store and is supposed to be the work of an incendiary. The flames spread rapidly to the other store and both were entirely consumed. The building was situated in the heart of the business portion of the town and it seemed almost impossible to save the remainder, but by heroic work of citizens the fire was gotten under control and confined to the two buildings named.

The losses are as follows:

J. R. Mobley, two stores, $3,000; fully covered by insurance.
A. J. Mizell, stock $2,000; insurance $1,000.
F. K. Hodges and H. Cowan, loss $150; no insurance.

DIED.

At 5.30 o'clock this morning Mr. B. S. Wilson, aged 28 years, died at the home of his parents in this town. He had been sick several weeks with typhoid fever, and during the past two weeks his condition was critical, but for the last day or two it had been hoped there was some change for the better. Yet despite this hope and the careful attention given him the dread disease could not be checked, and his spirit passed quietly away at the hour above stated.

The death of Burney Wilson brings sadness to many hearts beside his family and relatives, for his friends were legion. It also breaks the chain of a large and happy family circle. This is the first bereavement that has visited them in many years, and to his aged parents the loss is sore indeed. Four brothers and four sisters are also left to mourn his death. The family have the sympathy of the community in their affliction.

The burial will take place in Cherry Hill Cemetery Wednesday morning.

Little Annie Lyan Joyner, age 17 months, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Joyner, died at the College Hotel this morning at 2 o'clock. The death of the child was quite unexpected, she having been sick only two or three days, and the sudden shock sends a severe pang to the hearts of the fond parents. We extend sincere sympathy to them in the bereavement and commend them for comfort to Him who said "Suffer little children to come unto me."

The interment took place this afternoon at Mr. Joyner's home place, three miles from town.

A Missing Man.

Mr. John W. Sherman, a well known newspaper man of Lynchburg, Va., disappeared on the 17th of December. It is thought that he was suffering from temporary mental aberration. Any information concerning his whereabouts will be thankfully received at the Bonitz Hotel, Wilmington, N. C. or by Mrs. J. W. Sherman, Lynchburg, Va.

State papers will please copy, as Mr. Sherman is believed to be in North Carolina.

BOLD ROBBERS.

Attempt to Rob a Printing Office and the Building Set on Fire.

We regret exceedingly to learn of the disaster met by the Charlotte Observer on Saturday night. Robbers entered the office of the business manager of the job department, on the second floor of the Observer building, and attempted to blow open the safe. The paper stock in the room was instantly ignited, and the fire spread with such rapidity that the men in the newspaper composing rooms barely had time to get out, losing their coats, hats and other effects.

The second floor was wholly, and the third partly gutted. A new book binding plant had just been put in on the second floor, and this was entirely destroyed, and all the presses were more or less burned besides the loss of a $3,000 stock of paper.

The Observer's battery of Mergenthaler type-setting machines was swept by the fire, the bolts being burned off and the key-boards melted.

The loss is fully covered by insurance. The police claim to have a clue to the safe-blowers. The combination and its outworks were blown from the safe and the hinges were missing but the door withstood the shock.

While the Observer may be put to considerable inconvenience and loss by the delay of putting in a new plant, the paper will continue to make its usual appearance.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 5, 1897.

The General Assembly.

The Legislature meets Wednesday, 6th, for a sixty-days' session. Within such a period a great deal of good or of evil may be accomplished. It is not within our duty or our province, says the Statesville Landmark, to offer to this body any suggestions but it is proper to say that for the work it does it ought to have honest criticism or candid approbation, as its acts may suggest. The time has passed in North Carolina when any individual or body can be showered with wholesale abuse or unstinted laudation and the public accept either the one or the other as deserved unless the reasons be shown. So for its sake and our own, let us all resolve that this Legislature shall have justice. Its predecessor was a discreditable assemblage. If its record had been properly presented to the people in the recent campaign a safeguard could have been thus provided against the return of another like it; but it would not be fair to prejudge the one which meets this week, and until it has made its record it is better to refrain from comparisons. It may rise to the occasion. There are directions in which it could legislate, to the public welfare and its own credit. Perhaps it will. At all events it is not profitable to prophesy that it will not. It can help North Carolina or it can hurt her. Let us hope that it will choose the better part and that the State will be the gainer from its having assembled.

Georgia has another electrical wonder in the person of Miss Fannie Hester, of Oconee county. She is a human dynamo of remarkable powers. By running her hands through her hair she can produce a shower of electric sparks, and in the dark the tracks of her shoes can be seen sparkling as if in flames. Miss Fannie is young and pretty, and is a splendid attraction for some young man who thinks he can handle a live wire without getting hurt.

Remarkable as it may seem the heaviest contributor to the expenses of the recent presidential campaign was the United States government. The amount of campaign literature sent through the mails free on the franks of the congressmen would have cost $10,000,000 in postage stamps under other circumstances. To this must be added $5,000,000 as the cost of sending out information from the various departments in response to campaign demands, making a total of $15,000,000 that Uncle Sam is out of pocket.

Roosevelt Epigram.

While President Roosevelt was in Cincinnati a few days ago a reporter questioned him about some savage abuse of his civil service views that appeared recently in a New York paper. As possibly throwing some light on the obviously malignant character of this attack, Mr. Roosevelt said: "Just before Thanksgiving a representative of the paper in question came to me and said that he was interviewing a number of prominent men as to what they were thankful for. I told him that I was thankful that I did not read his paper." This recalls the epigram of another well-known New Yorker, now out of office, who, when asked what he thought was the explanation of the enormous circulation of another exponent of "the new journalism," replied: "There is a great number of hogs in the world, and your paper gives them swill."

Four Hundred Deserted Wives in a Kansas Town.

The officers of a Topeka charitable institution yesterday made the remarkable statement that there are over 400 deserted wives in this city of 35,000 inhabitants, and that every day adds to the list of the deserted or divorced women who appeal for work or solicit funds with which to buy bread for themselves and their children. The charitable society which has made the investigation attributes this condition to hard times and the general worthlessness of the men. The divorce mill in Topeka is running on steadily. Every week divorces are granted to men and women, incompatibility of temper being the general charge.—Topeka, Kan., Dispatch.

It has been considered a matter of sufficient importance to herald abroad that the suit of clothes which Mr. McKinley will wear on the occasion of his inauguration will be made out of cloth woven from Ohio wool. This is not intended so much as an advertisement of the superior excellence of Ohio wool as it is to call attention to Ohio wool which will be a candidate for protection against foreign free wool when Mr. McKinley gets in the saddle and calls his extra session of Congress to fix up a new tariff. But the fact that Mr. McKinley will on that occasion wear a suit of American clothes, made out of American wool, and Ohio wool, too, suggests a way by which American wool, including Ohio wool, might get a mighty boost without depending in any way whatsoever on the tariff. Let Mr. McKinley's example be followed by all the gentlemen and gentlewomen in his party and in other parties, who can like themselves out in woolen garments, and let them buy and wear United States cloth instead of sending abroad for it. This would give such a boom to the wool-growing business that the American sheep, and the Ohio sheep in particular, would become too proud and saucy to carry favor with a Congressman or to ask for protection. Let the people who want to encourage American wool patronize the American sheep. That's business that involves neither mendacity nor powder.—Wilmington Star.

Lecture.

The lecture by Rev. J. W. McNamara at the Academy last night was full of important and valuable instruction. "The True Cause of the Impoverishment of American Labor" was clearly set forth, and a solemn warning given of the threatening attitude of foreignism in this country. We regret that every person in our town did not hear this lecture.

Wise and Otherwise.

People are generally judged by their mistakes.—Uncle Dick.
"Step right in, ladies and gentlemen," cried the showman; "step right in and see the educated pig add and subtract." "Pshaw," interrupted Farmer Backlots, "my old hog at home has got way over to square root."—Texas Niftings.
Children are like flowers in that they sometimes need a stick to keep them straight.—Smilax.
Farmer Hoey—"I hear your wife took a prize at the county fair for an iced cake." Farmer Rakes—"Sure." "Did they cut it?" "Cut it? They couldn't break it with an ax if they tried. That same cake has been taken prizes for the last eight years."—Yonkers Statesman.

EDISON THE DREAMER.

How He Got Rid of Some Telegraphic Drudgery.

Some one had referred to Edison as Victor Hugo when he made his appearance as an operator in our telegraph office in Boston, and it was by that name we generally spoke of him. Every device was employed to thwart his soarings after the infinite and his divings for the unfathomable, as we regarded them, and to get an amount of work out of him that was equivalent to the sum paid per diem for his services, and among them was that of having him receive the press report from New York. He did not like this, the work continuing steadily from 6:30 p. m. until 2 a. m., and leaving him no time in which to pursue his studies.

One night about 8 p. m. there came down an inquiry as to where the press report was, and, on going to the desk where Edison was at work, Night Manager Leighton was horrified to find that there was nothing ready to go up stairs, for the reason that Edison had copied between 1,500 and 2,000 words of stock and other market reports in a hand so small that he had only filled a third of a page.

Leighton laughed in spite of himself, and saying: "Heavens, Tom. Don't do that again!" hastened to cut the copy up into minute fragments and have it prepared in a more acceptable manner.

While this was occurring Edison went on receiving, and the frequent trips of the noisy dumpy box, which communicated with the pressrooms on the next floor, gave evidence that he was no longer gauging his handwriting with an ultimate view to putting the Lord's prayer on a 3 cent piece.

But all at once there was a great noise, and it was evident that Press Agent Wallace, a most profane man, was coming down the stairs, swearing and shouting as he came. Everybody grew excited except Edison, who was perhaps dreaming of the possibilities in some of the realms of electrical endeavor in which he has since won renown.

But we did not have long to wait to know the cause of Wallace's visit. Kicking open the door, he appeared to us, but he was speechless. The last note of his voice and the last remnant of a vocabulary of blasphemy which was famous throughout the city was gone. Standing there with both hands full of small, white pages of paper, he could only beckon. Leighton approached him and tenderly took the sheets of paper from him, to find that Edison had made the radical change from his first style of copy to simply putting one word on each sheet, directly in the center. He had furnished in this way several hundred pages in a very few minutes.

He was relieved from duty on the press wire and put on another circuit, while the much tried Leighton devoted himself to bringing Wallace back to a normal condition, admitting of the use of his voice and the flow of his usual output of profanity.—Walter J. Phillips in Electrical Review

What Did He Mean?
"Do you know," remarked the author, "that I look upon my work as extremely valuable?"
"Why so?"
"A burglar was in the house the other night and stole $1.47, about $20 worth of jewelry and the manuscript of my latest story. I fear I shall never get the last back, but I will have justice on that burglar, if we ever catch him!"
"My dear sir, no jury would ever convict him."
"Why not?"
"He would be regarded as a public benefactor."
And the author has been trying to figure out the other's meaning ever since.—Detroit Free Press.
