Robert Staton went to Tarboro last Thursday.

James Carson returned home from the United States army at Fortress Monroe last week.

R. D. Whitehurst made a business trip to Norfolk last week and returned with a car load of horses.

On Wednesday afternoon, January the 6th, at 4 o'clock, at the residence of T. G. Carson, the bride's father, Mr. W. J. Whitehurst, of Bethel, was married to Miss Roland Carson, Rev. S. A. Cotton, of Conetoe, officiating. The attendants were: W. J. Carson with Miss Daisy Staton, J. E. Whitehurst with Miss Jennie Ward, J. T. Carson with Miss Lula Johnson, G. R. Whitehurst with Miss Trulah Ward, J. H. Manning with Miss Caddie Whitehurst, B. R. Whitehurst with Miss Cornelia Manning, James Bryan with Miss Mollie Whitehurst, J. T. Whitehurst with Miss Alice Davenport. Immediately after the marriage ceremony the bridal party and invited guests went to the residence of F. S. Gardner, at Bethel, where an entertainment was held. The bride and groom were recipients of many handsome and valuable presents. May their voyage through life be a long and pleasant one.

OAKLEY ITEMS.

Typhoid fever still continues to rage in this section. Mr. George Belcher has six cases of it in his family at present.

Mrs. S. G. Williams and little son are quite sick with bilious fever.

The Economy Bin.

A REFLECTOR reporter has examined the Economy Bin which is now being introduced in this community by the agents. It is one of the most useful kitchen articles we have seen, and, as the name implies, is economy itself. The Bins are in two sizes, one for flour and one for meal. The material used in their manufacture is extra heavy imported tin, Japan finish, making the Bin attractive as well as useful. It is absolutely proof against dampness, waste, mice, roaches or any kind of insects. The flour or meal is taken out for use through a sifter in the bottom of the Bin, the measure of quantity desired being handy and accurate. In the front of the Bin are small receptacles for spice, pepper, or other ingredients wanted in a convenient place.

Every housekeeper should have one of these Bins. The agents will take pleasure in showing it and explaining its merits whether you wish to buy or not.

Monday evening James Long received a telegram stating that his brother, Montgomery Long, of Abbeville, S. C., was very sick. His many Greenville friends wish he may be restored to health.

The Speaker announced that Swinson had been elected. Cook reminded him that it was a joint election, and he would have to wait for report of tellers.

Cook moved that a message be sent to the Senate that Swinson had received 77 votes. Jim Young opposed adjournment until the Senate could be heard from.

Cook moved to take up the bill to incorporate the Moore county and Western Railroad Company to Concord.

Kenzie objected to the consideration until referred to a committee, and protested that his objection had been entered in time. The chair ruled otherwise.

Cook, of Warren, asked during the reading, that the bill be referred to the committee on Corporations. Sutton asked to change this to Railroads which was done.

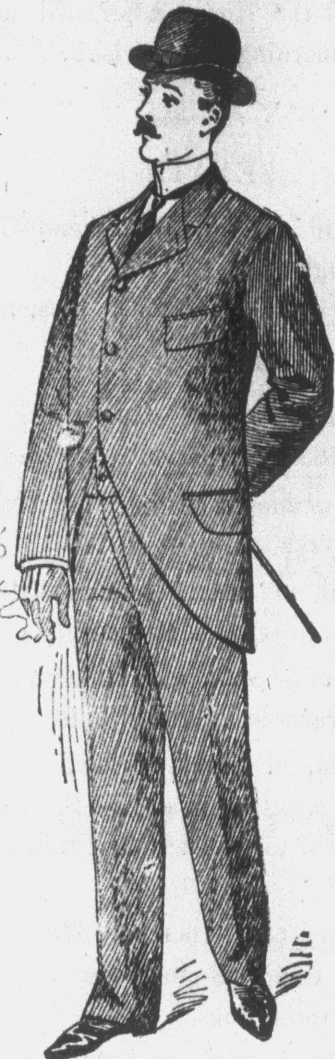

A resolution from the Senate ordering the printing of 1,500 copies of the Governor's message. The House refused to concur. A conference committee was appointed to confer with the Senate committee as follows: Lusk, Johnson and McKenzie.

Lusk's bill to take up his bill repealing the Assignment Act was taken up and passed the Third Reading. Lusk said the bill was "conceived in fraud and born in iniquity. There were two little noes registered against the passage."

TUESDAY, JANUARY 12, 1897.

SHORTER ONE WAY.

Part of the Petition Can Be Complied With.

Last week a petition signed by many of the business men of Greenville was sent to Mr. J. R. Kenly, General Manager of the Atlantic Coast Line asking that the the schedule of the Kinston branch be shortened one hour each way. Mr. Kenly gave the matter careful consideration and replied very promptly. As our readers may fully understand the situation the REFLECTOR publishes below Mr. Kenly's letter to the petitioners:

WILMINGTON, N. C., Jan. 9th, 1897.

GENTLEMEN. Your petition of blank date requesting that the schedules of the passenger train on the Kinston Branch be changed so as to permit the morning train to pass Greenville one hour later and the evening train to pass there one hour earlier was duly received. The matter has had my careful consideration.

My desire always is to meet the wishes of our patrons as far as it is practicable. I find that we can, without serious consequences to the interests of the traveling public in Eastern North Carolina, arrange to leave Greenville with the morning train about thirty (30) minutes later, which I have directed to be done at the next change of Timetable following the one now in the hands of the printers. I hope this will be satisfactory to the petitioners.

With regard to the evening train: I am sorry that it is impracticable to make any change in its time without serious inconvenience and injury to other important interests. This schedule is controlled by the "Shoo Fly" train from Norfolk. You suggest that in order to overcome this difficulty the morning train into Norfolk be made earlier and the evening train leave their earlier. I think you would hardly make this suggestion if you knew that the morning train now leaves Rocky Mount at 6:15 A. M., passes Tarboro at 6:45 A. M. and reaches Norfolk at 10:30 A. M. The train remains in Norfolk until 2:25 P. M., giving the people only about four (4) hours in Norfolk. To run the Norfolk train into that point at an earlier hour would seriously inconvenience the Rocky Mount and Tarboro travel which is quite large. The train now leaves those points as early as it should do to properly accommodate the traveling public.

The evening train over the Kinston Branch, when the number of stops it has to make is taken into consideration, is quite fast. It has to run between stops at a speed considerably over thirty (30) miles an hour, which is as fast as we care to run a local passenger train of this kind.

We have a constant pressure from the line of the Norfolk & Carolina Railroad and from Norfolk to have the "Shoo Fly" from Rocky Mount reach Norfolk later, and leave there later. We have resisted the change for the reason that we thought it important to maintain the connection with this train at Hobbgood, in order that passengers from Norfolk and vicinity could reach all points via our Line in Eastern North Carolina at a reasonable hour in the evening, and particularly as this is the only train by which passengers can leave Norfolk in the P. M. and reach their destination in Eastern North Carolina on the same day.

I trust this explanation will be entirely satisfactory.

Very respectfully,
J. R. KENLY,
General Manager.

THE LEGISLATURE.

At 1:21 the House adjourned until Monday morning at 11 o'clock.

SENATE.

Called to order by Lieutenant-Governor Doughton.

Prayer by Rev. Dr. J. A. Weston.

BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS.

Anthony, to amend chapter 277 the Laws of 1895, in relation to divorce.

Clark, to amend chapter 117, Laws of 1885 in relation to stock law.

McNeill, to amend section 210 of The Code, in relation to pauper suits.

Moye, to prevent discrimination between various legal tender bills.

Ashburn, of Surry, to amend the Federal Constitution, so that the State be permitted to restrict the rights of suffrage.

Anderson, to instruct our Representatives in Congress to vote for the Cameron resolutions.

Clark, to prevent a public officer accepting free passes or franking privileges.

Atwater offered a Senate resolution to investigate the charges of bribery.

A bill to count the vote for Governor and other State officers on the first Tuesday after the meeting of the General Assembly was adopted. It provides that immediately after the counting of the vote the Governor shall be sworn in, and that the other State officers shall take the oath of office as soon after the vote is published as may be convenient, and enter upon the duties of their offices.

A Lighthouse With No Lantern.

The most extraordinary of all lighthouses is to be found in the Hebrides, Scotland, on Armish rock, which is separated from the Island of Lewis by a channel over 500 feet wide. On this rock a conical beacon is erected, and on its summit a lantern is fixed, from which night after night shines a light which is seen by the fishermen far and wide. Yet there is no burning lamp in the lantern, and no attendant ever goes near it, for the simple reason that there is no lamp to attend to, no wick to trim and no oil to replenish.

The way in which this peculiar lighthouse is illuminated is this: On the Island of Lewis, 500 feet or so away, is a lighthouse, and from a window in the tower a stream of light is projected on a mirror in the lantern on the summit of the Armish rock. These rays are reflected to an arrangement of prisms and by their action are converged to a focus outside the lantern, from which they diverge in the necessary direction. The consequence is that the light intends and purposes a lighthouse exists which has neither lamp nor lighthouse-keeper and yet gives as serviceable a light-taking into account the requirements of the locality—as if an elaborate and costly lighthouse with lamps, service room, bedroom, living room, store room, oil room, water tanks and all other accessories were erected on the summit of the rock.

THE CITY OF BETHLEHEM.

It Is a Small and Unattractive Place at the Present Time.

It is a little city, and it does not take many people to crowd it; but, besides being the birthplace of Jesus, it is the birthplace of Israel's great warrior-king, David.

Bethlehem today has barely 8,000 inhabitants and in appearance is not attractive. The streets are too narrow for vehicles—in fact, there is but one street in the town wide enough for carriages, and it is so very narrow that they cannot pass each other in it. The streets were made for foot travelers, donkeys and camels.

Bethlehem is about five miles south of Jerusalem. Leaving the larger city by the Yafa gate, we take a carriage and ride rapidly over the fine road built but a few years ago. The carriage we are in and those we meet are wretched affairs. The horses are to be pitied, first, because they are not well cared for, and, second, because their drivers are regular jehus who drive them "furiously" up hill and down. In less than an hour we are in the market place of Bethlehem, in front of the Church of the Nativity.

Let us suppose we have arrived on Christmas eve, in time to wander about and to become acquainted with the little city.

Of course it has changed in appearance since the time of the birth of Christ. It is larger and better built. Now, as then, the houses are of stone, and, as cities and customs change but little in the east, we may safely infer that modern Bethlehem houses are much like those of 1,900 years ago. Perhaps some of the old buildings that were in existence so long ago may still be standing. Of course the great Church of the Nativity was not then erected, nor were any of the large religious buildings we see. These are the memorials of a later date, built in honor of him whose earthly life began here. One would have to be unmindful of his surroundings and very unimaginative not to wonder what the place was like on that night the anniversary of which we are celebrating.

We know that then, as on this Dec. 24, it was filled with people. But those people had come for a different purpose. Augustus Caesar, the master of the then known world, had issued an imperial decree ordering a general registration of all his subjects. This was for the purpose of revising or completing the tax lists. According to Roman law, people were to register in their own cities—that is, the city in which they lived or to which their village or town was attached. According to Jewish methods, they would register by tribes, families and the houses of their fathers. Joseph and Mary were Jews and conformed to the Jewish custom. It was well known that he and Mary were of the tribe of Judah and family of David and that Bethlehem was their ancestral home. Accordingly they left the Nazareth home, in the territory of Zebulun, and came to David's "own city," in the territory of Judah.

They came down the east bank of the Jordan, crossed the river at Jericho and came up among the Judean hills and valleys till they reached Bethlehem. It was a long journey and a wearisome one, and on arriving a place of rest was the first thing sought. Evidently they had no friends living in the place, or, if they had, their houses were already filled. It was necessary that shelter be had and immediately. In the khan, or inn, there was no room. So there was nothing to do but occupy a part of the space provided for cattle. It was not an unusual thing to do and is often done today in these eastern villages. In fact, they were about as comfortable there as in any khan. At a khan one may procure a cup of coffee and place to lie down on the floor, but each guest provides his own bed and covering. This was all Joseph and Mary could have obtained in the inn had there been room for them. And here in Bethlehem, in a stable, or a cave used for stabling animals, Jesus was born, and Mary "wrapped him in swaddling clothes and laid him in a manger."—Edwin S. Wallace in St. Nicholas.

Tommy Suggests a Remedy.

"I can say of our neighbor, Hark-along," observed Mr. Tucker, "that he gives away a great deal in charity and that his left hand never knows what his right hand is doing."

"Why doesn't he take boxing lessons?" asked Tommy Tucker.

Quill Pens.

Quill pens are still used by some old gentlemen who have always been accustomed to use them. They are used by some attorneys and bank officials in writing signatures. They appear as stage properties in plays in which the action is laid prior to the introduction of steel pens, and nowadays some ladies write with quill pens.—New York Sun.

A Queer Cure.

In Spain a favorite panacea, in theory, for the whooping cough is found in three hairs plucked from the back of an ass. This remedy is not often resorted to in actual practice, however, from an accompanying belief that the ass from which the hairs have been plucked will decline as the patient is restored to health and will die when the cough is completely gone.

Clams' Eggs.

The clam's eggs are carried by the mother on her gills. When there are fish in the water with them, the mother clams discharge the eggs, which soon hatch, but if there are no fish they carry the eggs until they decay. The reason of this strange behavior is this: When the eggs are set free in the water, they soon hatch, and the little ones swim about until they find some fish to which to attach themselves. They live for a time on the mucus of the fish and then drop off, sink to the bottom and form burrows for themselves. This curious semiparasitic life is no doubt a reversion to the habit of some ancient ancestor.—Margaret W. Leighton in Popular Science Monthly.

Mail from New York city to the German Emperor will be delivered in 44 days.

The Story of a Rose.

Only a rose!

It lay between the faded pages of an old book.

A man, beholding it, looked down the distance and the days, dreaming of the past years.

A woman paused, and bending over it pressed with quivering lips its crumbling petals.

Only a rose!

Then as the evening shadows gloomed over it a voice cried, startling the silence:

"Mamma, who's been in the parlor a-foolin with this book? They've gone and lost the place where I was readin at."—Chicago Times-Herald.

THE GARDEN GATE.

The garden gate is broad and low,
And, swinging back, discloses
A wealth of bloom, a flower sweet,
A paradise of roses.

At morn upon my way to town
I linger there a minute,
To greet the mistress of this bower,
The fairest flower within it.

She pins a rose upon my coat,
"To make the town seem brighter,"
Her smiles, her kiss, her parting words
All make my toil seem lighter.

And when at dusk I leave the town,
With all its dust and noises,
My spirit, like an uncaged bird,
Mid country fragrance poises.

I sing along the budding lane
That leads where my true love waits,
Ah, there 'mongst the bloom of roses,
She's leaning upon the gates.

Most Wonderful City.

The most wonderful city within the limits of the United States, and which has no existence whatever during the summer months, is Fish City, Mich. This municipal oddity is built on the ice of Saginaw bay regularly every winter and is occupied by men and their families who are engaged in catching, cleaning and packing lake trout and whitefish for the market. Fish City is situated in the same cove nearly every winter and is built of rough pine boards. In the winter of 1893-4 it had a population of nearly 3,000 and in 1894-5 almost twice that number.—St. Louis Republic.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS
Monthly Illustrated
AN INTERNATIONAL MAGAZINE
Edited by ALBERT SHAW

"If only one magazine can be taken, we would suggest the REVIEW OF REVIEWS, as covering more ground than any other magazine."—Board of Library Commissioners of New Hampshire, 1896.

THIS magazine is, in its contributed and departmental features, what its readers, who include the most noted names of the English-speaking world, are pleased to call "absolutely up to date," "thoroughly abreast of the times," "invaluable," and "indispensable." It is profusely illustrated with timely portraits, views, and cartoons. Its original articles are of immediate interest, by the best authorities on their respective subjects. The Editor's "Progress of the World" gives a clear, rightly proportioned view of the history of the human race during the current month. The "Leading Articles of the Month" present the important parts of the best magazine articles that have been written in every part of the world. The newest and most important books are carefully reviewed. Indexes, chronological records, and other departments complete the certainty that the reader of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS will miss nothing of great significance that is said or written or done throughout the world.

Messrs. Allen Warren & Son expressed 30,000 cabbage plants to Conetoe this morning. They were of good size and looked in fine shape. They were gathered and packed ready for shipment in three hours after receiving the telegram. What's the matter with Riverside? She's all right.

May Their Number Increase.

We overlooked stating yesterday that another month with THE DAILY REFLECTOR ended on the 10th, and pay day had come again. A few of the faithful remembered it anyway and dropped in to leave a quarter. Those who never wait to be dunned or reminded but come right along just so and pay a thing because they owe it are the kind we love to see. Dunning is the most unpleasant business in the world, and if our readers knew how much this office disliked to even hint at such a thing they would never wait for us to say "please pay up" any more. In fact it ought to be unnecessary.

Lighting a Cigar With Ice.

Recently a prominent lawyer arrived in Washington for a consultation regarding some patent cases. During the conversation a match to light a cigar was lacking, and the Washingtonian remarked that a piece of ice would do just as well. The lawyer laughed and was incredulous and a wager was made. The Washingtonian took a piece of clear ice about an inch thick from the water cooler, whittled it into the shape of a disk, and with the palms of his hands melted its two sides convex, thus giving the form of a double convex lens or burning glass. With it he focused the sun's rays on the ends of his cigar and lastly set it on fire.
