My, where did you get them Mr. Munford?"

"Just the thing for the baby."

"The ones that will give wife solid comfort and stop that tired feeling."

"The only up to date line that I have ever seen in Greenville."

To reduce the salaries and fees so as to conform to the price of farm products. This bill calls for a committee of five to look into the salaries and fees of officers, so as to reduce them.

HOUSE.

The House met at 10 o'clock.

The committee on privileges and elections submitted a majority and a minority report in the case of Broughton against Young from Wake. The majority report favors Young, colored, the sitting member.

White, of Bertie, to amend the charter of Wellington and Powelton railway.

Currie, to allow the sheriff of Robeson county to collect arrears of taxes.

Skuiken, to provide for graded schools at Whiteville.

Lusk, regarding the Tennessee exposition, providing that for the purpose of making an exhibit there, a board of managers be created, composed of the governor, board of agriculture and nine other citizens selected by the governor; that the board of agriculture be authorized to make an exhibit and to use for this purpose any funds it may have on hand or to its credit in the treasury and to further carry out the provisions of the act $10,000 is appropriated out of the funds in the treasury and not otherwise appropriated.

Bills passed third reading as follows:

To allow Richmond county to levy a special tax.

To amend the charter of the Carolina Savings-bank, of Monroe.

Reed introduced a bill to so amend the law regarding tramps and vagrants as to remove jurisdiction from the superior court to magistrates' courts.

The Public Schools.

Today the County Commissioners met to apportion the public school fund to the several districts of the county. They made a new district out of portions of Nos. 6 and 7, in Farmville township, the new district to be known as No. 98, and also re-established district No. 21 in Swift Creek township.

This is ground hog day, and if the little fellow saw his shadow he had to go in some other part of the world to find it. No sunshine in this quarter.

Notice.

Notice is hereby given that application will be made to the Legislature of North Carolina at its present session to Charter the Greenville Bank, at Greenville, N. C. J. W. HIGGS, Pres't.

THE SOUTH.

More People Going South to Become Residents Than at Any Time Since the War.

"It is reported from all sides," says the Jacksonville (Fla.) Times-Union, "that more people are now coming to the South with the intention of becoming permanent residents than at any time since the war. The movement has become so marked that a bureau will be established in Chicago in order that the advantages of this section may be prominently put before the people of the West and Northwest, from which quarters most of the new settlers have gone. Immigrants from Europe have generally preferred to go to the West because that section has been better advertised abroad, or on account of the small cost at which land could be obtained in the newer States. The labor question in the South has also operated, to some extent, as a drawback. It is significant that most of the people now coming to the South are those who have tried the West and have become convinced that the South offers better advantages. They are, for the most part, not new settlers, not immigrants, as the term is commonly understood. The great rush to the West, which assumed somewhat the phase of a fever some years ago, has died out to a great degree. Experiment has shown that, while land may be somewhat cheaper out there, the distance from the seaboard, danger of loss of crops from drought, the severe winters and the lack of facilities enjoyed by people of the East in general has operated as discouragements. In counting up profits and losses at the end of the year the farmers have become convinced that even with large crops on big farms they cannot make as much as on smaller farms in the South, where land is cheap, the seasons longer and the markets closer. In nearly all the Atlantic Seaboard States plenty of land can be had at low prices."

A Weird Epidemic

A story as weird, fantastic and creepy as anything Poe ever wrote, Ibsen ever concocted, or Maeterlinck ever conceived, comes from Richfield Centre, Ohio. That place, according to a generous New York Herald correspondent, is suffering from an epidemic to which the smallpox, the yellow fever, the cholera, or the bubonic plague cannot hold a candle. It is an epidemic of intangible, elusive, delusive, but none the less vocalic black cats. The sombre-hued felines, or spooks of sombre-hued felines, enter the bedrooms of the people, no matter how tightly the rooms may be closed, jump on the beds, catawaul, hiss, follow the inmates around, and cut up high jinks generally, but as soon as the bedrooms are vacated the invaders disappear as mysteriously as they appear. Half the people in the town are suffering from the epidemic we are told. They believe themselves bewitched, and the doctors are unable to diagnose the condition of affairs or give any relief. The latter incline, however, it is stated to the opinion that the epidemic arises from some "sanitary derangement from which a disease that plays havoc with the imagination grows."—Richmond Dispatch.

Just try a 10c. box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever made.

Woman Will Get Ideas Here.

Every woman has natural curiosity to see how other women furnish their homes. To satisfy this 'The Ladies' Home Journal' will publish during the year interior photographic views of a hundred of the most artistic, cheerful and comfortable homes in America. These will show in detail the construction, fitting and furnishing of parlor, drawing rooms, halls, reception, music, sitting, dining, bed and bath rooms, kitchens, porches, piazzas, etc. This unique series will be full of excellent ideas for every housekeeper or homemaker. It will present views of the interiors of houses of moderate cost, which are fitted and furnished with conspicuous good taste, and at comparatively small expense.

When bilious or costive, eat a Cascaret, candy cathartic, cure guaranteed 10c, 25c.

Wife Too Expensive and the Husband Got a Divorce.

One of the exhibits in a suit for divorce recently tried in Baltimore, in which, among other things, the wife was charged with reckless extravagance, had these items as a sample of one week's expenditures by the woman in the case: Hat, $200; notions, $50; chewing gum and tobacco, $24; brushes and paints, $10; cologne, $9.75; ice cream, $7.75; oysters $10, and cigarettes, $2.75. The jury decided that this sort of thing was a trifle too much to ask any man to submit to, and helped, rather more than anything else, to influence the jury to give to the man the separation he asked for. Yet the defendant calmly asserted that there was not a purchase made in that list but was absolutely essential to her comfort. This guileless young woman positively prided herself on the fact that extravagance was one sin of which she was absolutely guiltless.

Stop Borrowing.

It is surprising sometimes to see how many people there are who borrow their neighbor's paper rather than subscribe for it themselves. This is not confined to any particular section or locality. They can be found in every neighborhood. Many of these borrowers hardly wait for the ink to get dry on their neighbor's paper before they get hold of it, and often never return it. We have heard subscribers remark of different people, "I can't keep my paper for Mr. So and So. Very often I never have the chance to see it at all."

This is not only unjust to the neighbor who subscribes and pay for his paper, but it is unjust to the publisher as well.

We are sorry to say that we have people of this kind in our midst. How much better it would be if all who are able to subscribe to a paper, would do so, rather than to borrow their neighbor's paper. Be neither borrower nor lender in this respect.

CATARRH HIS WORST ENEMY

DEFEATED

For Three Years He Suffered—Could Hardly Breathe at Night—One Nostril Closed for Ten Years.

Mr. A. M. Ramsey, of De Leon, Texas, was a sufferer from Catarrh in its worst form. Truly, his description of his sufferings seem little short of marvelous. Instead of seeking his couch, glad for the night's coming, he went to it with terror, realizing that another long, weary, wakeful night and a struggle to breathe was before him.

DE LEON, TEXAS.

Messrs. Lippman Bros., Savannah, Ga., GENTS: I have used nearly four bottles of P. P. P. I was afflicted from the crown of my head to the soles of my feet. Your P. P. P. has cured my difficulty of breathing, smothering, palpitation of the heart, and has relieved me of all pain. One nostril was closed for ten years, but now I can breathe through it readily.

I have not slept on either side for two years; in fact, I dreaded to see night come. Now I sleep soundly in any position all night.

I am 50 years old, but expect soon to be able to take hold of the plow handles. I feel glad that I was lucky enough to get P. P. P., and I heartily recommend it to my friends and the public generally.

Yours respectfully, A. M. RAMSEY.

FOOLS OR KNAVES.

Which of the Two Is the More Harmful
In the Domestic Circle?

An old question often asked is, Which do most harm to the world, fools or knaves? But, old as it is, no one has yet answered it satisfactorily to all—that is, authoritatively and decisively. And no one can, for it is one of those questions which depend on circumstances—one of those seesaw conditions where now one is uppermost and now the other, and no one can say which is supreme.

The fools, who are many, with the best intentions in the world, work infinite mischief even to those they love best and would serve most loyally. For one thing, as a rule, they are chatterboxes and let out everything they ought to keep to themselves. If they are your guests, meaning no harm, they gossip about your domestic affairs, discuss your character, tell all the little circumstances of your daily life, and, being fools, unwittingly distort all they relate and exaggerate into importance the veriest trifles that may have occurred. A sharpened accent in a hasty contradiction—even good folk are given to these puny bursts of irritation—is made into the sure sign of deep seated disagreement, and you and your husband, who live like turtle doves in the main, with just an occasional, very occasional, peck, are presented to society as profoundly inharmonious and always quarreling. You cannot quite understand what your sympathetic friends would be at when they speak to you compassionately, sigh and say, "Poor dear!" You do not know why you should be pitied, not having overheard your fool when he or she reported that little scene of domestic life where you had perhaps tenderly, perhaps obstinately, maintained that the shield was red when your husband declared it was blue. Thus the little spurt came, and the fire died down as soon as it was kindled, like a match that catches but does not burn. But your fool made it into a serious confagration, and only one of many like unto it. So with all your domestic concerns in detail, if you have a fool as your guest—one who does not understand the very alphabet of good breeding in the reticence imposed on all who are admitted into the intimacy of a family.

A fool of this kind is mischievous beyond all after remedy. In this gossip mongering world of ours it needs but the slightest push to set the snowball a-rolling, when it gathers as it goes till it is out of all proportion with the original nucleus. A great many of those disastrous surmises and those evil reports which flit about the world like specters in the twilight are the undesignated work of fools—fools as foolish as was that silly knave who used his master's formula to call up a demon water carrier—a bheesti not quite after the pattern of good old 'eathen Gunga Din—and could not lay him again, though well nigh drowned by the creature he had invoked. Between a fool and a knave, then, as a guest, the fool is the worst, because the knave cannot do more harm, and the chances are that, having brains and counting the cost and the gain of his own actions, he will refrain from setting about his which will do him no good and may come smashing back on his own pate in the form of an action for libel, with damages to follow.—Philadelphia Times.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS

Edited by ALBERT SHAW

"If only one magazine can be taken, we would suggest the REVIEW OF REVIEWS, as covering more ground than any other magazine."—Board of Library Commissioners of New Hampshire, 1896.

THIS magazine is, in its contributed and departmental features, what its readers, who include the most noted names of the English-speaking world, are pleased to call "absolutely up to date," "thoroughly abreast of the times," "invaluable," and "indispensable." It is profusely illustrated with timely portraits, views, and cartoons. Its original articles are of immediate interest, by the best authorities on their respective subjects. The Editor's "Progress of the World" gives a clear, rightly proportioned view of the history of the human race during the current month. The "Leading Articles of the Month" present the important parts of the best magazine articles that have been written in every part of the world. The newest and most important books are carefully reviewed. Indexes, chronological records, and other departments complete the certainty that the reader of the Review of Reviews will miss nothing of great significance that is said or written or done throughout the world.
